FORDHAM. 84191

The prefaces to the three preceding editions are also included.

SMITH. Counterpoints in Canon Law; a Reply to the Pamphlet "Points in Canon Law," and to the American Catholic Quarterly Review of October, 1878. By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D., formerly Professor of Canon Law, author of "Notes", etc., of "Elements of Ecclesiastical Law", member of the Commission of Investigation of the Diocese of Newark, etc. . . . Newark, N. J.: J. J. O'Connor & Co., Publishers and Printers to the Diocese of Newark, 1879. 12mo, pp. iv, 105. FORDHAM. 84192

The pamphlet to which this is a reply was written by Rev. P. F. Quigley, D.D., who criticised adversely Dr. Smith's "Elements of Ecclesiastical Law." The copyright is in the name of Sebastian B. Smith, whose address to the reader is dated, Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin (February 2), 1879. The preface is by the very Rev. F. J. Pabisch, D.D., LL.D., President of Mount St. Mary's of the West. Title and description from Clifford McGuinness of Fordham University. See note to 84195 below.

SMITH. Elements of Ecclesiastical Law. Compiled with reference to the Syllabus, the "Const. Apostolicae Sedis" of Pope Pius IX., the Council of the Vatican and the latest decisions of the Roman Congregations. Adapted especially to the discipline of the Church in the United States. By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D., formerly Professor of Canon Law, author of "Notes," etc., etc. New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and Einsiedeln: Benziger Brothers, Printers to the Holy Apostolic See. 1877. 8vo, pp. (2), 461, (1).

C., FORDHAM. 84193

This is the first volume of the "Elements," although not so numbered, with approbations dated March 25 and April 28, 1877, and copyright of 1877 by Benziger Brothers. In the preface (undated) a supplementary volume was promised, which appeared in 1882, and a third volume in 1888.

SMITH. [The same title.] Second Edition. [Preface dated 1 January, 1878.] New York. 1878. 8vo. 84194

Includes a number of changes and additions, among the latter being extracts from the laws of the United States concerning matters under discussion.

SMITH. [The same title.] Third Edition. [Preface dated Feast of the Immaculate Conception (December 8), 1880.] New York. 1880 or 1881. 8vo. 84195

Shortly after publication of the first edition, several articles in criticism of the work appeared in the "Catholic Universe," of Cleveland, Ohio, under the signature of Rev. P. F. Quigley, D.D., which were reprinted in pamphlet form under the title, "Points in Canon Law," to which Dr. Smith replied in his "Counterpoints in Canon Law." In order to have the disputed points determined by authority, a copy of the book was sent to Rome, to His Eminence Cardinal Simeoni, Prefect of the Propaganda, to have it thoroughly examined. The examination was made by two Consultors, doctors in Canon Law, and their recommendations for revision were scrupulously followed in this third edition, the preface of which gives an account of the controversy and includes the two reports of the Consultors, accompanied by a letter from Cardinal Simeoni, dated 21 April 1879, all of which were reprinted in the later editions.

SMITH. [The same title.] Fourth Edition. [A reissue of the revised third edition.] New York. 1881 or 1882. 8vo. 84196

SMITH. Elements of Ecclesiastical Law. Compiled with reference to the Syllabus, the "Const. Apostolicae Sedis" of Pope Pius IX., the Council of the Vatican and the latest decisions of the Roman Congregations. Adapted especially to the discipline of the Church in the United States. By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D., formerly Professor of Canon Law, author of "Notes," "Counter Points," etc. Vol. I. Ecclesiastical Persons. Revised according to the animadversions of the Roman Consultors appointed by the Cardinal Prefect of the Propaganda. Fifth Edition. New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and Einsiedeln: Benziger Brothers, Printers to the Holy Apostolic See. 1883. 8vo, pp. (2), xx, 7-475, (2).

FORDHAM, NYBA. 84197

SMITH. Elements of Ecclesiastical Law. Compiled with reference to the Syllabus, the "Const. Apostolicae Sedis" of Pope Pius IX., the Council of the Vatican and the latest decisions of the Roman Congregations. Adapted especially to the discipline of the Church in the United States. By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D., formerly Professor of Canon Law, author of "Notes," "Counter Points," etc. Vol. I. Ecclesiastical Persons. Sixth Edition, Completely revised according to the Decrees of the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore. New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, and Einsiedeln: Benziger Brothers, Printers to the Holy Apostolic See. [1887.] 8vo, pp. (2), xxvi, 7-559, (2).

C., NYBA. 84198

The Third Plenary Council of Baltimore was held Nov. 9-Dec. 7, 1884, and its decrees published in 1886 (our no. 72900, vol. 17), exhibit the actual canon law of the Church in the United States. This sixth edition was therefore revised to conform to these decrees, with new imprimaturs dated 14 and 17. January, 1887, new copyright 1887, and preface to the sixth edition, Paterson, N. J., February 20, 1887. A new section was also added, called Part IV, the new Diocesan Consultors in the United States, according to the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore; also supplementary notes.

SMITH. [The same title.] Seventh Edition. [Preface dated May 12, 1889.] New York. 1889. 8vo. BM. 84199

There is added to this edition an outline of the manner in which our consultors and irremovable rectors proceed in electing bishops, as set forth by the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore in 1884.

SMITH. [The same title.] Eighth Edition. [Preface dated March 19, 1891.] New York. 1891. 8vo. 84200

Several articles and chapters were rewritten or remodeled for this edition, including those on the publication of ecclesiastical laws, and on Papal Consistories.

SMITH. Elements of Ecclesiastical Law. Compiled with reference to the latest decisions of the Sacred Congregations of Cardinals. Adapted especially to the discipline of the Church in the United States. By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D., formerly Professor of Canon Law, author of "Notes on the Second Plenary Council of Baltimore," "Counter-points in Canon Law," "New Procedure in Criminal and Disciplinary Causes of Ecclesiastics," "Compendium Juris Canonici," "Marriage Process," etc., etc. Vol. 1. Ecclesiastical Persons. Ninth Edition. Carefully revised by the Author. New York, Cincinnati, Chicago: Benziger Brothers Printers to the Holy Apostolic See. [Colophon:] Printed by Benziger Brothers, New York. [1893.] 8vo, pp. (2), xxx, 7-589, list of books, etc., 10, (1). FORDHAM. 84201

In this edition a change was made in the wording of the title. The preface to the ninth edition is dated May 2, 1893, which is presumed to be the date of publication. To this edition was added the Brief of Pope Leo XIII establishing the Apostolic Delegation in the United States, 24 January 1893, with an account of the origin and history of Apostolic Delegations.

SMITH. Elements of Ecclesiastical Law. Compiled with reference to the latest decisions of the Sacred Congregations of Cardinals. Adapted especially to the discipline of the Church in the United States. By S. B. SMITH. The Marriage Process in the United States. By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D. Author of "Elements of Ecclesiastical Law,"

"The New Procedure," "Compendium Juris Canonici," etc., etc. New York, Cincinnati, Chicago: Benziger Brothers, Printers to the Holy Apostolic See. 1893. [Colophon:] Printed by Benziger Brothers, New York. 8vo, pp. 435. C., ST. FRANCIS XAVIER. + [n. d.] 8vo, pp. 435. NYP. 84212

"The subject of these pages—the marriage process—is comparatively new in this country. Down to the year 1884, marriage disputes, even those involving the validity of marriages already contracted, were, as a rule, decided, with us, by the bishop, or also by rectors of parishes, and sometimes even by assistant priests, without any judicial formalities whatever. This mode of procedure was naturally open to serious inconveniences, and was calculated to imperil, in many cases, the stability and indissolubility of marriages. To obviate these disadvantages, the S. C. de Prop. Fide, in 1884, issued the Instruction Causae Matrimoniales for this country. This Instruction or law substantially lays down and makes obligatory here, in matrimonial contentions involving the validity of a marriage contracted, the manner of proceeding which is prescribed by the general law of the Church and obtains throughout the entire Church. This mode of deciding marriage disputes is judicial, and is to be conducted by the bishop's court for marriage causes. . . . The stability and sanctity of marriage require that valid marriages shall be protected against wanton and malicious attacks, and that invalid ones shall be either rendered valid or judicially declared invalid. To accomplish these ends is the aim of the procedure outlined in this work."—PREFACE, dated Paterson, N. J., January 2, 1893. Copyright, 1893, by Benziger Brothers.

SMITH. The New Procedure in Criminal and Disciplinary Causes of Ecclesiastics in the United States. Or a clear and full explanation of the Instruction "Cum Magnopere," issued by the S. Congr. de Prop. Fide, in 1884, for the United States, By Rev. S. B. Smith, D.D. Formerly Professor of Canon Law, Author of "Notes," "Elements of Ecclesiastical Law," "Counter Points," Etc. Fr. Pustet, Printer to The Holy See, And The S. Congregation of Rites. Fr. Pustet & Co., New York and Cincinnati. 1887. 8vo, pp. xv, 7-298. C., ST. FRANCIS XAVIER. 84213

First edition of this work, with imprimatur dated 23 March, 1887, copyright 1887 by E. Steinback, and preface May 1, 1887. The Instruction "Cum Magnopere" supersedes the Instruction of S. C. de P. F. dated July 20, 1878, and prescribes the manner in which "our Prelates are bound to proceed when they are about to impose preventive or repressive punishments."

SMITH. The New Procedure [etc. as above] . . . Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged. Fr. Pustet, Printer to the Holy See, and the S. Congregation of Rites. Fr. Pustet & Co., New York and Cincinnati. 1888. 8vo, pp. iv, (2), v-vi, (2), vii-xv, 7-304. FORDHAM, NYBA. 84214

Preface to the second edition dated Paterson, N. J., March 20, 1888. Several documents were added to the appendix.

SMITH (Seth). 1826. To be continued annually. The United States' Almanac. Comprising calculations for the latitudes and meridians of the Northern, Southern, and Western States; with a variety of public information and interesting masonic matter; together with the Tariff, or Rates of Duty, Conformabl[e] to the existing laws, on the first of July, 1824; and the Constitution of the United States Epitomized. Selected in order to be extensively useful throughout the Country, to Travellers and Residents. By Seth Smith. Philadelphia: R. Desilver, 110, Walnut Street. 1826. 8vo, pp. 56, (3). Folded sheet, "Constitution of the United States Arranged and Epitomized," in six columns, facing title; and list of Churches in Philadelphia, facing p. 56.

AAS. 84218

The almanac for 1825 was by David M'Clure; the above is the second, and the first by Smith. Continued annually until 1837, the later issues having the words, "Calculated by Seth Smith," in the imprint. In 1829 the title reads "Desilver's United States Almanac," and from 1830-1837, "Desilver's United States Register and Almanac," published by Robert Desilver, No. 110 Walnut Street. In some years two or more editions were issued. There is a complete series in the library of the American Antiquarian Society, this and the following title being obtained through the courtesy of Clarence S. Brigham.

SMITH. The Washington Almanack, for the Year of Our Lord 1845: Being the First after Leap Year; containing 365 days, And after the 4th of July, the sixty-ninth of American Independence. Arranged after the system of the German calendars. . . . Care-

Printed by King & Baird, 9 George Street, Philadelphia. [1844.]* 4to, pp. 34, (2), including two titles. AAS. 84219

The "Washington Almanac" for 1846 was also calculated by Smith. Three issues of that year in the library of the American Antiquarian Society have varying imprints as follows: (1) Philadelphia: Hogan & Thompson, 30 North Fourth Street. King & Baird, Printers, Philadelphia; (2) Philadelphia: R. Wilson Desilver, 18 South Fourth Street. King & Baird, Printers, Philadelphia; (3) Philadelphia: Kay & Brother, 183½ Market Street. King & Baird, Printers, Philadelphia. Still another issue at the Huntington library has the following imprint: Philadelphia: Thomas Cowperthwait & Co., . . . Printed by King & Baird, . . . The almanac for 1847 has not been seen; that for 1848 was calculated by Charles F. Egelmann.

The name of Seth Smith appears for several years as a teacher in the Philadelphia directories, and in 1833 as teacher at the Franklin Institute.

SMITH (Seymour R.). Series of Letters to "The Hackettstown Gazette" giving an account of some of the things which "C. More" [Seymour] saw on a journey part way across the continent.—Seymour R. Smith. SMITH (Sol[omon Franklin]), b. 1801, d. 1869. The Theatrical Apprenticeship and Anecdotal Recollections of Sol. Smith, Comedian . . . Philadelphia: Carey and Hart. 1845. 12mo. Printed covers. 84236

An edition of this date was in the catalogue of the library of J. H. V. Arnold, sold by Leavitt & Co. in April, 1879. Through the courtesy of Mr. Edward Carey Gardiner, we are informed that the record books of Messrs. Carey & Hart contain the following entries:

Dec. 3, 1845,	5000	Sol Smith
Feb. 17, 1846,	1000	" "
Aug. 6, 1846,	1000	" "
Sept. 22, 1847,	1000	" "

The first edition was therefore published in 1845, and some copies may have been so dated. Mr. Gardiner says, however, that when the day of publication was near the following year, the custom was to put the next year's date on the title-page, as in the following entry.

SMITH. The Theatrical Apprenticeship and Anecdotal Recollections of Sol. Smith, Comedian, Attorney at Law, etc. etc.; comprising a Sketch of the First Seven Years of his Professional Life; together with some Sketches of Adventure in After Years. . . . Philadelphia: Carey and Hart. 1846. [Verso of title:] Printed by T. K. & P. G. Collins. Stereotyped by L. Johnson & Co., Philadelphia. 12mo, frontispiece, illustrated title-page, title, pp. 7-215, (1), and printed covers. 6 other plates. H., NYH., P. 84237

Copyrighted by Carey & Hart in 1845. Dedicated to Mirabeau B. Lamar, Ex-President of Texas, St. Louis, July 4, 1845. Besides the border design on the cover title, there are eight woodcut plates, including the illustrated title, all from drawings by F. O. C. Darley, engraved by Butler & Roberts, Alex. Anderson, Brightly, and H. Kinnersley. The appendix, pp. 199-215, contains reprints of sketches relating to the author, among them "Anecdotes by Phazma," originally contributed by M. C. Field to the "New Orleans Picayune," of which he was an editor.

A later issue, also published in 1846, found at the Harvard College Library, is described by T. Franklin Currier as being in a probably original cloth binding, with four pages of advertising added, with the printer's name omitted from the verso of the title and the stereotyper's name printed in capitals, but in general from the same stereotype plates.

SMITH. The Theatrical Apprenticeship and Anecdotal Recollections of Sol. The second issue has cover title: "The City that was. By Stephen Smith, M.D. Souvenir Edition. Issued by the Semi-Centennial Meetings of the American Public Health Association in honor of the approaching Centennial of Dr. Smith, Founder of the Association." The semi-centennial meeting referred to was held in November, 1921, and in a preface signed by Mazyck P. Ravenel, M.D., President of the Association, which was added to this edition, he makes the statement that "in 1864, Dr. Smith was made a member of the 'Council of Hygiene' of New York City. The investigations of the Council were organized and supervised by him, and its report in 1865 so impressed and aroused the public by its revelations as to bring about the act of legislature, April 21, 1866, creating the Metropolitan Board of Health, endowed with almost autocratic powers." Chapter 4 is a reprint of Dr. Smith's address before the Legislative Committee, as it "appeared in The New York Times of March 13, 1865. . . . It consisted of a detailed presentation of the facts recorded and sworn to by the medical inspectors employed by the Citizens' Association, together with photographic illustrations which were made by them." Other chapters deal with the progress of sanitation in England, the United States and New York City. Chapter 6 is devoted to the legal work of Dorman Bridgeman Eaton, who prepared the bill to create a Metropolitan Board of Health and carried through other reforms.

Also: Analysis of Four Hundred and Thirty-Nine Recovered Amputations in the Continuity of the Lower Extremity. By Stephen Smith, M.D. [New York. 1871.] 8vo, pp. (6), 7-141. sg. Forms part 1 of vol. 2 of the United States Sanitary Commission's "Surgical Memoirs of the War of the Rebellion," 1871, and possibly also issued separately. The cases were those of soldiers wounded during the Civil War, and tables are included giving the initials, the regiment, and the occupation of each patient, the battle and date at which the wound was incurred, as well as the surgical information. The word which appears in the above title as "continuity" is "contiguity" on that of the "Memoirs."

Among Dr. Smith's professional works are his "Hand-book of Surgical Operations," of which five editions were published in 1862-1863; "Manual of the Principles and Practice of Operative Surgery," 1879, a new edition of which, "The Principles and Practice of Operative Surgery," appeared in 1887; and "Who is insane?" 1916, etc. His first contributions were published in the "New York Journal of Medicine," and he was connected editorially with that journal, 1853-1860, first as co-editor and from 1857 as editor in chief. His name appeared also as editor of its continuation, the "American Medical Times," from 1860-1863. He was for some years New York correspondent of the London "Lancet," and a frequent contributor. He contributed historical articles to Bryant and Buck's "American Practice of Surgery," 1906-1911, and to Stedman's edition of the "Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences," 1913-1917, and an article on Hospital Construction and Organization in the Johns Hopkins Hospital's "Hospital Plans," 1875. Dr. Smith was instrumental in founding the American Public Health Association, being its first president. As a member of the Council of Hygiene in New York he worked toward the establishment of the city's Board of Health, and was for some time a commissioner. He drafted the law which created a State Board and also that for a National Board, becoming a member of the latter. A letter from him, giving a history of the National Board and a plea for conferring upon it all public health duties and powers exercised by the central government, appeared in one of the Board's publications, "Remarks before the Committee of Public Health of the House of Representatives," 1884. He was also for many years a member of the State Board of Charities, and Commissioner of Lunacy. A sketch of Dr. Smith by M. P. Ravenel forms pp. 30-33 of the American Public Health Association's "A Half Century of Public Health," 1921, the whole volume being dedicated to him, while he himself contributed a History of Public Health, 1871-1921, pp. 1-12. C., P. 84281

Continued through 24 semi-monthly numbers, pp. 1-192, the last issue being that for April 2, 1827. A note "To the Public" in the first number states that "The Herald is not presented to the public as a new work. A periodical paper, bearing this name, was published for two years in the state of New York, and was discontinued." In the last number the editors explain that because of the establishment of several other papers devoted to disseminating the doctrine of Universalism, the "Herald of Salvation" will be discontinued.

According to Sawyer's "Memoir of Rev. Stephen R. Smith," 1852, p. 150, the first series of the "Herald of Salvation" was edited by Henry Fitz, and published in Watertown, New York. He also states on p. 195 that that periodical was combined with two others in April, 1825, to form "The Universalist." This was first edited by J. S. Thompson, assisted for about three months by Mr. Smith, who at that time moved to Philadelphia. After the first half year it passed into the latter's hands in that city, and the last number was published on March 15, 1826, the month before the first issue of the new series of the "Herald."

SMITH (Sydney K.). Life, Army Record, and Public Services of D. Howard Smith. By Sydney K. Smith. . . . Louisville, Ky. The Bradley & Gilbert Company. 1890. 8vo, pp. 210. Portrait.
C., H., HEH., NYP. 84322

Dabney Howard Smith was colonel in the 5th Kentucky cavalry, C.S.A. under John H. Morgan. Preface: "That portion of it which relates to his war record has been prepared from notes of his own . . . and from other well-authenticated sources, both Federal and Confederate, which bear the stamp of truth and lend it additional value."

SMITH (Sylvanus), b. 1829, d. 1917. Fisheries Of Cape Ann. A Collection of Reminiscent Narratives of Fishing and Coasting Trips; Descriptive Stories of "Sandy Bay" and "The Harbor"; also Some Interesting Comment on Fisheries Legislation and Cause of the Decline of the Fisheries; with a Prophetic Glimpse Into the Future. Written by Captain Sylvanus Smith of Gloucester, Mass., In his 86th Year. [Gloucester:] Press of Gloucester Times Co. 1915. 8vo, pp. 131, and illustrations in the text. Portrait.

H. 84323

Reprinted with minor changes from articles originally published in the "Gloucester Times." Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier. According to a letter from Mr. Sylvanus Smith of Stanfield, Oregon, the book was printed at the author's expense, and some 400 copies were distributed among his friends and libraries of the neighborhood, none being sold. The letter also stated that the work was compiled from old diaries, ships' papers, etc., as well as being written from a remarkable memory.

[SMITH.] The Gloucester Fisherman, Gloucester, Massachusetts. [Colophon:] The Andover Press. Andover, Massachusetts. [1912.] 16mo, pp. (24), and printed cover. Portrait and folded map.

WHS. 84324

"Compiled by Sylvanus Smith, who began life as a fisherman at the age of seven, and was captain of his own vessel at the age of nineteen, and followed the vicissitudes of that life until 1864, when he went into the business of sending out vessels for fish and cured them for market. He has continued in this fish business actively and with much success until 1908, when the business was incorporated under the name of Sylvanus Smith & Co. It is a pleasure to say that Mr. Smith is still with us as president of the company, aged 83." On the last page: "Compliments of Sylvanus Smith & Co., Inc. producers, curers and wholesale dealers in fish, Gloucester, Mass."

The printed paper cover has a copy of a pen and ink sketch, and it is dated 1916 or 1918. The pamphlet may have been written earlier and re-issued with a new cover. The illustrations show styles of a date earlier than 1916. Title and information from Miss Annie A. Nunns.

SMITH (Sylvester), b. 1820, d. 1911. The First Methodist Episcopal Church in New Haven, Conn. An Historical Sketch read Sunday, June 23, 1889, in the First Methodist Church, at the Centennial Celebration of the introduction of Methodism into New Haven, by Sylvester Smith. Published by the Official Board of the Church. [Verso of title:] Press of Tuttle, Morehouse & Taylor, New Haven. [1889.] 8vo, pp. 40, and illustrated covers.

NYH. 84325

Dates supplied by Miss Ethel L. Scofield of the New Haven Colony Historical Society. The pamphlet includes a list of the Methodist churches in New Haven and vicinity in 1889, with the names of the pastors, local preachers, trustees, stewards, class leaders, and Sunday school superintendents.

[SMITH (Thaddeus).] Point au Pelee Island. A Historical Sketch of and an Account of the McCormick Family, who were the first white owners on the Island. Amherstburg, Echo Print. Co. 1899. 8vo, pp. (8), 43, and printed cover. C. 84330

Author's name from printed cover. The island, which belongs to Canada, is situated in Lake Erie. According to pp. 29-30, Mr. Smith was one of three Americans who formed a partnership under the name of Smith, Williams, & Co., to buy land there, plant a vineyard, and establish a wine business. He, himself, moved to the island in 1867, and later became the sole owner of the vineyards. The pamphlet contains an account of the descendants of Alexander and Elizabeth (Turner) McCormick. Information from Ernest Kletsch.

SMITH (Theobald), b. 1859. . . . Investigations into the nature, causation, and prevention of Texas or Southern Cattle Fever. Made under the direction of Dr. D. E. With title heading: "Biblioteca del Boletín de la Sociedad Agrícola Mexicana."

Also: Sewage disposal on the farm, and the protection of drinking water . . . Washington: Government Printing Office. 1896. 8vo, pp. 20. Dr. Smith is the author and joint author of other reports on the infectious diseases of cattle, swine and poultry, published in the bulletins of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington. For a sketch of his work, see De Kruij's "Microbe Hunters," 1926, pp. 234-251.

SMITH (Theodate L[ouise]). The Montessori System, in theory and practice. An Introduction to the pedagogic methods of Dr. Maria Montessori. By Dr. Theodate L. Smith, of Clark University. With some reports of American experience. Illustrated from photographs taken for this book. Harper & Brothers, Publishers, New York and London. MCMXII. 12mo, pp. viii, (4), 77, (1), incl. 13 plates. Frontispiece. C., H., NYP. 84333

SMITH (Theodore). Three | duetts, | for two performers | on one | harpsichord | or | piano forte. | Composed by | Theodore Smith. | Philadelphia | Printed For G. Willig No. 185 | Market Street Between 4th and 5th Street. | Where may Be had a great variety of the | Newest Vocal and Instrumental Music etc etc etc. | [1797?] 4to, pp. 13, engraved. C. 84334

In the Library of Congress copy it is evident that an earlier inscription on the engraved title has been erased, and the imprint of Willig substituted. Mr. Sonneck in his "Bibliography of Early Secular American Music," 1905, described a copy in the possession of the Hopkinson family of Philadelphia, in which the earlier imprint could be distinguished as that of I. C. Moller, 136 [?] North Third Street Between . . . [?]. John Christopher Moller, professor of music, was, according to Philadelphia directories, at 163 North Third Street in 1793, at a different address in 1791, and does not appear at all in the list for 1794, so that it is probable that the first issue which had his name in the imprint was published about 1793. Willig's address in 1796 was 165 Market Street. In 1798 he was located at 185 High, which according to the street directory was commonly called Market, Street. As the directories during the following years use the name "High," in preference to "Market," it seems likely that the reissue was before 1800, possibly in 1797. Information as to Library of Congress copy from Miss Clare C. Martin.

The American edition was reprinted from an undated English edition published by Longman & Broderip at some time after 1779. The composer, whose works were published in the last decades of the eighteenth and first of the nineteenth century, appears to have lived both in Germany and in England, according to the third edition of Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians," vol. 4, 1928. Other American reprints of pieces by him were published in Philadelphia as late as 1816.

SMITH (Theodore Clarke), b. 1870. American Statesmen. General Index to the American Statesmen Series. With a Selected Bibliography. By Theodore Clarke Smith. Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin and Company. The Riverside Press, Cambridge. MDCCC. [Colophon:] The Riverside Press. Electrotyped and printed by H. O. Houghton & Co. Cambridge, Mass., U. S. A. 8vo, pp. (8) including engraved series title, v-vi, (2), 473, (1). Frontispiece. C. 84335

With half-title: "Large-Paper Edition. American Statesmen. Edited by John T. Morse, Jr. In thirty-two volumes. Vol. xxxii. General Index. Theodore Clarke Smith." Verso of title: "Five Hundred Copies Printed." Information from Mr. Ernest Kletsch.

The small paper issue, to accompany the ordinary sets, has the half-title: "Standard Library Edition. American Statesmen," etc., vol. xxxii. 12mo, pp. (8), v-vi, (4), 473, 1 leaf with imprint on verso, and frontispiece. It includes a note giving the abbreviations used to indicate the different volumes of the series, not included in the large paper edition. H., HEH., NYP.

According to the author's preface, dated Brookline, Mass. August, 1900, the volume was intended to make the American Statesmen Series serve the purpose of a reference work on American history from 1750 to 1874. It contains an index of names, pp. 1-176, a topical index, pp. 177-380, and a bibliography intended to aid the reader to investigate in greater detail men and events treated in the series, pp. 381-473.

[SMITH.] American Statesmen. General Index to the American Statesmen Series. With an Epitome of United States History. Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin Company. The Riverside Press, Cambridge. [1917.] 12mo, pp. (12) including engraved series title, [3]-455, (1). Frontispiece.

C., CU., H. 84336

This edition forms vol. 40 of the series, in the "Standard Library Edition." The publishers state that there was no large paper issue of this edition of the index. With copyright of 1900, and of 1917 by Houghton Mifflin Company. According to the publishers' note, "Volumes 1 to xxxi were indexed by Professor Theodore Clarke Smith in 1900, and the work has now been extended by George Burnham Ives to include Volumes xxxii to xxxix." Contains an index of names, pp. 3-164, a topical index, pp. 165-337, and an Epitome of the United States History, to 1916, prepared by David Maydole Matteson, pp. 339-455.

C., H., HEH., NYP., UP., UTEX. 84339

Vol. 1, 1831-1877, vol. 2, 1877-1882. Dr. Smith has attempted to set forth the life of the President as far as possible in his own words. He had access to the large collection of papers left by Mr. Garfield, which had been carefully arranged and indexed by Joseph Stanley-Brown. He also received much information on personal matters from Mrs. Garfield and other members of the family. Included in the paging are maps of Chickamauga Battlefield at 11.15 A. M. and 3.40 P. M. of Sept. 20, 1863.

SMITH (Thomas), of Portland; b. 1702, d. 1795. Extracts from the Journals kept by the Rev. Thomas Smith, late pastor of the First Church of Christ in Falmouth, in the county of York, (now Cumberland,) from the year 1720, to the year 1788, with an Appendix, containing a variety of other matters, selected by Samuel Freeman, Esq. Portland: Printed by Thomas Todd & Co. 1821. 12mo, pp. 164, index (3), appendix 154, additions to the census and corrections (2).

AAS., B., C., H., NYP., WHS. 84350

The appendix has a separate title-page with the following imprint: "Portland: Printed by A. Shirley. 1821." It contains extracts of letters, proceedings of the town of Falmouth, accounts of religious and charitable societies, a census and valuation of estates in the state of Maine taken in the year 1820, etc. The section on Indian Wars in the neighborhood of Casco Bay, pp. 67-82, is a compilation taken from the works of Mather, Hutchinson, Sullivan, Holmes, and Hubbard.

[SMITH.] The great Duty of Gospel Ministers to preach, not Themselves, | but Christ Jesus the Lord; | Together, with the Nature | and Purposes of the Office it self, considered as a Service | Ministers engage in and subject themselves to—to their Fellow | Christians for Christ's Sake. | A | Sermon | Preach'd at the | Ordination | of the Reverend | Mr. Solomon Lombard, | To the Work of the Gospel Ministry and the | Pastoral Charge of the Church of Christ | in Gorham-Town, December 26, 1751. | . . . | Boston: Printed and Sold by S. Kneeland, in Queen-Street, 1751. | 8vo, pp. (4), 2, 63, list of books (1).

AAS., BA., H. 84351

Half-title: "Mr. Smith's Sermon at the Ordination of Mr. Solomon Lombard."

SMITH. Journals of the Rev. Thomas Smith, and the Rev. Samuel Deane, pastors of the First Church in Portland: with notes and biographical notices: and a summary History of Portland. By Wm. Willis. Portland: Joseph S. Bailey. 1849. [Verso of title:] F. W. Nichols & Co., Printers. 8vo, pp. 483, erratum (1). 3 portraits, double map. Wood-engravings in text.

AAS., B., C., H., HSP., NYP., WHS. 84352

The portraits of Smith and Deane are inscribed, "J. H. Bufford. Lith.," and that of Ichabod Nichols, "Engd. by J. Andrews and H. W. Smith. Ball and Ballard Print." The map is of Portland at the time of the conflagration, 1775. According to Mr. Willis's preface, he had issued this revised edition of Smith's journal because the first was exhausted. Mr. Deane's journal and numerous notes and biographical sketches were added, and for much of Freeman's material in the appendix, he substituted a history and description of Portland.

SMITH. A | Practical | Discourse, | to | Sea-faring Men. | Preached in Falmouth, | First Parish, | Lord's Day, A. M. April 28th 1771. | From CVIITH Psalm, 23d verse to 32d inclusive. | By Thomas Smith, M.A. | Boston: Printed and Sold by John Boyles, in Marlborough-S. | MDCCLXXI. | 8vo, pp. 40.

UTS. 84357

The portrait was engraved by P. Roberts from the painting by W. Derby. The plates have the imprint, Printed for Thos. Kelly & Richd. Evans, 17, Paternoster Row, and are dated variously from Nov. 27, 1824, to January 21, 1826. The introduction contains a sketch of the early history of missions, and includes brief accounts of the work of Eliot, Brainerd, and others among the Indians, and of the Danish mission to Greenland in 1721. The main part of the book is devoted to the history of five missionary societies with chapters relating to America in each part as follows: the United Brethren, or Moravians, descriptions of work in Greenland, the West Indies, North and South America, and Labrador, vol. 1, pp. 1-205; Baptist Missionary Society, the mission in Jamaica, pp. 567-588; London Missionary Society, mission in Demarara, vol. 2, pp. 320-365; Church Missionary Society, mission in North West America, pp. 492-508; Wesleyan Missionary Society, mission in the West Indies, pp. 512-628.

SMITH. History and Progress of the Missionary Societies; containing faithful accounts of the Voyages, Travels, Labours, and Happy Results of the Various Missionaries who have been sent out for the purpose of Evangelizing the Heathen, and other unenlightened Nations, in different Parts of the Habitable Globe: including the latest discoveries, and embracing many valuable and interesting facts connected with the spread of the Gospel. The whole forming a complete missionary repository, illustrated by numerous interesting engravings. Compiled and arranged from authentic documents, by the Rev. Thomas Smith, late Minister of Trinity Chapel, Holborn; editor of the new and complete Concordance to the Holy Scriptures, etc. With a continued history to the present time. To which is also added, an interesting narrative of the great success attending the judicious exertions of that zealous and persevering missionary, the Rev. John Williams, in the South-Sea Islands. . . . London: Thomas Kelly, 17, Paternoster Row, [1838]—MDCCCXXXIX. [Verso of title:] London: Richard Clay, printer, Bread Street Hill. 2 vols., 8vo, engraved title, printed title, pp. iii–xvi, 588, 12 plates; 848, 18 plates and portrait of Smith.

The title of vol. 2, and the engraved title of vol. 1 are dated MDCCCXXXVIII. Title supplied by Charles Martel.

SMITH. The Origin and History of Missions; containing faithful accounts of the Voyages, Travels, Labors and Successes of the Various Missionaries, who have been sent forth to evangelize the heathen; Compiled from Authentic documents; forming a Complete Missionary Repository; illustrated by numerous engravings, from original drawings made expressly for this work. To be issued from the press in fourteen successive numbers, part of the first numbers to constitute the first, and the remaining numbers the second volume. By the Rev. Thomas Smith, minister of Trinity Chapel, London, and Rev. John O. Choules, A.M. Newport, R. I. . . . In Two Volumes. . . . Boston: Published by S. Walker, and Lincoln & Edmands. Sold also by Crocker & Brewster, and Pierce & Parker. 1832–[1834.] 2 vols., 4to, engraved title, printed title, pp. iii–viii, x, (2), ix–622, 18 plates and 1 map; engraved title, printed title, xiv, 600, 3 plates and 1 map.

AAS., C., NYP., UP. 84359

Though there is no date on the printed title of vol. 2, and the engraved title is dated 1833, the copyright date on the verso of the former is 1834. Mr. Choules, with the assistance of officers of a number of boards, has continued up to about 1831 the accounts of the societies included in the London edition, and has added in vol. 2 the histories of a number of other organizations, both European and American. Among the latter are the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, pp. 234–400, pp. 345–400 being devoted to missions among the Indians; the American Baptist Board of Foreign Missions, pp. 401–503, the mission to the Indians, pp. 491–500; the American Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society, pp. 504–538, chiefly missions among the same race; the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, pp. 539–562, domestic missions, pp. 540–547; Western Foreign Missionary Society, pp. 568–569; Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians, pp. 569–571. In this edition as in the first there is no full account of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, or of its early work in this country. The appendix, vol. 2, pp. 593–600 contains an “Historical View of Roman Catholic Missions,” reprinted from the “American Quarterly Register” for February, 1832.

SMITH (Thomas), of Kentucky. A Sermon delivered in Madisonville, Hopkins County, Ky. On the One Supreme God, and His Son Jesus Christ; August 20th, 1821. By Thomas Smith. . . [Hopkinsville?] D. S. Patton, Printer. 1821. 8vo, pp. 40.

Title supplied by Mrs. Charles F. Norton, from a copy in the library of Transylvania University. It is probable that the printer was David S. Patton of Hopkinsville, Christian County, Kentucky, a neighboring town to Madisonville. He was later a member of the legislature, and also of the electoral college of the state in 1832 and 1836. The fact that the "Kentucky Republican" of Hopkinsville was authorized to print state advertisements in January, 1820, makes it likely that there was a press there in the following year also. Information from Clarence S. Brigham. See also his "Bibliography of American Newspapers," part 2, 1914, and Collins's "Historical Sketches of Kentucky," 1874 edition, vol. 1, pp. 369-370, and vol. 2, p. 773.

This important collection contains thirty-three documents relating to the discovery and exploration of Florida, New Mexico, etc., dating from 1516 to 1794, and mostly taken from the archives of Simancas. Among them are the following: Instrucion que debia observar el capitan Hernando de Alarcon en la expedicion á la California, 1541, pp. 1-6; Relacion del suceso de la jornada que hizo Hernando de Soto, 1539-1543, pp. 47-64; Carta de Fray Toribio Motolinia á el Emperador Carlos V, contra Fray Bartolomé de las Casas, 1555, pp. 67-88; Nueva-España, Nueva-Galicia y Nueva-Mexico, 1537, Carta escrita por D. Antonio de Mendoza, virey de Nueva España, pp. 119-139; Relacion del suceso de la jornada que Francisco Vazquez [de Coronado] hizo en el descubrimiento de Civola, 1542, pp. 147-154; Relacion que dió el Capitan Joan Jaramillo, de la jornada que hizo á la tierra nueva, de la qual fue General Francisco Vazquez de Coronado, 1542, pp. 154-163; Relacion de la jornada que hizo á descubrir en la Mar del Sur el Capitan Hernando de Grijalva, 1533, pp. 163-172; Relacion, ó diario, de la navegacion que hizo Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo con dos navios, al descubrimiento del paso del Mar del Sur al norte, 1542, pp. 173-189; Relacion de la Florida para el Ilmo. Señor Visorrei de la Na. España, la qual trajo Fr. Grego. de Beteta, 1549, pp. 190-202.

SMITH. Grammar of the Pima or Névome, a language of Sonora, from a manuscript of the XVIII century, edited by Buckingham Smith. New York: Cramoisy Press. 1862. [Verso of title:] J. Munsell, Printer, Albany. [Second title-page:] Arte de la Lengua Névome, que se dice Pima, propia de Sonora; con la Doctrina Christiana y Confesionario añadidos. San Augustin de la Florida. Año de 1862. 8vo, grammar pp. 97, Doctrina Christiana y Confesionario 32.

AAS., B., C., H., NYP. 84380

Series title: "Shea's Library of American Linguistics. V." The "Doctrina Christiana" has a separate title-page as follows: Doctrina Christiana y Confesionario en Lengua Nevome, ó sea la Pima, propia de Sonora. San Augustin de la Florida. Año de 1862. [Verso of title:] Impreso en la casa de Joel Munsell, Albany, Estado de Nueva York. Improved title of our no. 2124, vol. 1. The Munsell catalogue states that 160 copies were printed in octavo and 80 on large paper.

According to the editor's advertisement, the author of the work is unknown, but he was probably a Jesuit missionary. The manuscript may have been brought to Spain after the suppression of the order in Mexico in 1767. It was obtained by Mr. Smith from the collection of the late Bartolomé Gallardo of Toledo, and is now in the library of the New York Historical Society. It is a quarto volume of nearly 200 leaves, containing the Arte de la Lengua Pima on ff. 1-59; the Doctrina Christiana en lengua Nevome on 4 ff.; the Confes[ionari]o en lengua Pima on 12 ff.; and the Vocabulario en lengua Nevome on ff. 61-182. The vocabulary still remains unpublished.

SMITH. A Grammatical Sketch of the Heve Language, translated from an unpublished Spanish manuscript. By Buckingham Smith. New York: Cramoisy Press. 1861. 8vo, pp. 26.

AAS., C., H., NYP. 84381

Series title: "Library of American Linguistics. III." One hundred copies printed on small paper in octavo, and a few copies on large paper in quarto. Some copies have the imprint: London: Trübner. 1862. Improved title of our no. 28252, vol. 7.

According to Mr. Smith's introductory notes, the Heve, a dialect of the Pima language, was spoken in the middle of the 18th century by the Eudeve, a people living chiefly in the province of Sonora. The title of the manuscript upon which this grammar was based, is: "Arte y Vocabulario de la Lengua Dohema, Heve ó Eudeva," and it contains in addition a vocabulary of the language in two alphabets, and a Cartilla, or primer. The original is now in the library of the New York Historical Society, in the "Buckingham Smith" collection.

SMITH. An Inquiry into the Authenticity of Documents concerning a Discovery in North America claimed to have been made by Verrazzano. Read before the New-York Historical Society, Tuesday, October 4th, 1864. By Buckingham Smith. New-York: Printed by John F. Trow. M DCCC LXIV. 8vo, pp. 31, and printed front cover. Folded map. AAS., BA., C., NYP., WHS. 84382

Printed for Dr. George H. Moore, of the New York Historical Society; two hundred and fifty copies on small paper in octavo, and one hundred and twenty copies on large paper in quarto.

SMITH. The Narrative of Alvar Nuñez Cabeça de Vaca. 1851. See our no. 9771, vol. 3; also "Relation," below.

SMITH. Relation of Alvar Nuñez Cabeça de Vaca. Translated from the Spanish by Buckingham Smith. . . . New York [Albany, Printed by J. Munsell]. 1871. Large 8vo, pp. x, (2), 11-300. 2 portraits. AAS., C., NYP. 84383

On verso of title: "Edition, 100 Copies only." A revised edition of our no. 9771, vol. 3. The portraits of Fray Juan Xuarez and Fray Juan de Palos have the following inscriptions: "Etchd by H. B. Hall Morrisania N. Y. 1871. From the original portrait in the Cowvent of Tlatelalco." Mr. Smith died while the first sheets of this volume were passing through the press. Mr. Henry C. Murphy of Brooklyn together with other friends completed its publication. A memoir of Mr. Smith by Dr. J. Gilmary Shea appears on pp. 255-263.

[SMITH.] † Señor: Por cunplir con la obligacion . . . [Apalachian and Timuquan documents, with translations. Madrid? 1858?] Folio, 14 leaves. C., NYP., WHS. 84384

Collation: Blank leaf containing the editor's manuscript presentation inscription; letter in Spanish addressed to the king of Spain, dated "San Aug[ust]in de la Florida y Abril 1 de 1688," and signed by Diego de Quiroga y Lossada, pp. (2); letter in Spanish addressed to the governor, Don Diego de Quiroga y Lozada, dated "S. Agustín y feb[rer]o 19 de 1688 a[ño]s," and signed by Fr. Marçelo de S. Joseph, one page, verso blank; one blank leaf; reproduction of a manuscript letter in the language of the Indians of Abalahchi addressed to the king, and signed by the caciques, 2 leaves; translation of the same into Spanish, pp. (4); letter in Spanish addressed to the governor D. Diego de Quiroga y Losada, dated "17 de febrero de 688 años," and signed by Fr. Fran[cis]co de Roxas, one page, verso blank; one blank leaf; reproduction of the manuscript of a letter in the language of the Indians of Timucua addressed to the king, and signed by the caciques, one page, verso blank, and one blank leaf; translation of the same into Spanish, pp. (2); one blank leaf at the end.

Edited by Buckingham Smith, and printed while he was in Spain, before his return in September, 1858. Fifty copies were printed for presentation. There is no title-page. Two copies which have been examined have the following inscriptions in manuscript: (1) "James Lenox Esq, these copies in seven sheets of official documents in Spanish and in two of the ancient tongues of Florida, Apalachian and Timuquan, from his ob. st. Buckingham Smith. New York: Jany 9th, 1860." (2) "Plowden C. I. Weston Esq. this copy of original papers in the Spanish and in two of the early languages of Florida—Apalachian and Timuquan—with the compliments of his obedient servant, Buckingham Smith. January, 1860." The copy in the Library of Congress is inscribed: "Peter Force, Esq., these documents (seven sheets) in the Spanish and two of the early tongues of Florida (Apalachian and Timuquan) from his friend and obedient servant Buckingham Smith. Washington City, Jan'y, 1860." On the reverse of this leaf: "1 of 50 copies." The group of manuscripts from which these sheets were printed is now in the library of the New York Historical Society. The first letter, forwarding the others to the king, seems to be the original, and the others are apparently contemporary transcripts, probably those made at the time for this purpose. The two reproductions of manuscript letters are close imitations, but not real fac-similes.

For Mr. Smith's report on his "reconnaissance" of the Everglades, see pp. 10-38 of Senate Report 242, 30th Cong., 1st Sess., 1848. For other works translated and edited by him, see "Rudo Ensayo," our no. 73899, vol. 18; also Soto (Hernando de). A biographical and bibliographical memoir by J. G. Shea is included in the edition of Mr. Smith's translation, "Relation of Alvar Nuñez Cabeça de Vaca," 1871. See also the obituary in the American Antiquarian Society Proceedings, April 1871, pp. 29-31.

Mr. A. J. Wall states that the Buckingham Smith Collection of manuscripts was, through the bequest of the latter, acquired by the New York Historical Society in February, 1872. It consists for the most part of transcripts and abstracts from original documents in Spanish archives, dating from 1500 to 1786, and relating chiefly to the early settlement of Florida, but also to Central America and the West Indies. There are in all nineteen bound volumes, and three boxes of miscellaneous manuscripts. The principal volumes of the collection may be listed as follows: North American Manuscripts, 1500-1560 (64 transcripts); the same, 1561-1593 (69 transcripts); the same, 1607-1786 (47 transcripts); Florida Manuscripts, 1526-1743 (90 transcripts). Also included in these volumes are copies and tracings of important early maps of America and of signatures affixed to the original documents. After Mr. Smith's death, his library of printed books was offered for sale to the New York Historical Society, by the administrators of his estate, and was purchased and presented to the Society by John David Wolfe in 1872.

The firm of Thomas H. Smith and Son of New York, which had been engaged in the tea trade with China, failed in July, 1828, owing besides other debts, over $700,000 in duties to the United States. Mr. Smith died in September of the same year, and the remaining partner being unable to discharge the debts, the Senate initiated a measure empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to make a compromise with the agent of the firm. This was also reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee of the House, and in June, 1832, an act to that effect was passed by Congress. Offers made by the agent were at first unsatisfactory, and different from propositions presented before the passage of the act, amounting merely to release of claims against the government for seizure of property, estimated at about $171,000, and to surrender of debenture bonds at about $90,000. The matter, with documents relating to the case, was referred to Congress, which refused to interfere. The negotiations were continued until finally in 1835 the affair was settled by the agreement of the agent to pay in addition, the sum of $200,000 in money.

Improved title of our no. 12967, vol. 4, and no. 61198, vol. 14. It is a work of fiction, written in the humorous style of the period. The location of the story is supposed to be in the state of New Jersey, at a village originally named Tantalus, later corrupted to Turtulus, then to Turtulee, and finally to Turkeytown, according to "a pamphlet published some years since by the learned Adnojah Peacock." The New York Historical Society copy has a manuscript inscription on the fly leaf, "To Dr. Wm. Darlington with the compliments of the author," followed on the next leaf by the signatures of I. Lacey Darlington and J. Smith Futhey. Inserted is a manuscript note by Mr. Futhey, stating that the book was by Thomas Lacey Smith, M.D. It is also attributed to Dr. Smith by his relative, Thomas L. Smith, Jr., of New Albany, Indiana, in a letter to Mr. Charles Martel dated in December, 1927, giving the dates of the author's birth and death, March 23, 1805, and January 23, 1875. SMITH (Thomas P.). An Address delivered before the Colored Citizens of Boston in opposition to the Abolition of Colored Schools, on Monday Evening, Dec. 24, 1849. By Thomas P. Smith. Boston: For sale by Bela Marsh, No. 25 Cornhill. 1850. 8vo, pp. 12, and printed front cover. H. 84410

Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier. In 1849, 202 colored persons signed a petition to the Boston school committee requesting that the Smith School on Belknap Street, which was the one which colored children were expected to attend, be given up and these children be allowed to enter the other public schools of the city. Thomas P. Smith was a leader of the opposition among the colored people themselves to this abolishment. He had himself been educated at the Smith school and for two terms at Phillips Academy, Andover. He believed that while separate schools might be unnecessary where colored people were "as scarce as hen teeth" they might be "extremely politic, expedient, and useful" in large cities. See "Report of a Special Committee of the Grammar School Board . . . on the petition of sundry colored persons," Boston, 1849.

SMITH (Thomas P[eters]). A | Sketch | of the | Revolutions | in | Chemistry. | By Thomas P. Smith. | Philadelphia: Printed by Samuel H. Smith, | No. 118, Chesnut Street. | M, DCC, XCVIII. | 8vo, pp. 40. AAS., BA., C., HSP., NYP. 84411

Half-title: "Annual Oration delivered before the Chemical Society of Philadelphia, April 11th, 1798." Mr. Smith was a member of the American Philosophical Society, and contributed to its "Transactions" an "Account of a Kettle for boiling Inflammable Fluids," vol. 4, 1799, pp. 431-432, and an "Account of Chrystallized Basaltes found in Pennsylvania," pp. 445-446 of the same volume. An abstract of a communication to the Conseil des Mines, "Note sur la fabrication du fer et de l'acier avec la houille, d'après les procédés de M. William Reynolds . . . par M. Thomas P. Smith, de Philadelphie," forms pp. 52-60, of vol. 13 of the "Journal des Mines," 1802-1803. Mr. Smith also was the author of notes in the "Medical Repository," vol. 3, 1800, pp. 253-257, "On Crystallization," and of "Geological Remarks" on some of the lower parts of New Jersey, on pp. 151-154 of the same volume.

[Colophon:] John Childs and Sons, Printers. 8vo, pp. vi, 130. NYP. 84416

The two issues vary only in the title imprint; the printed sheets, and even the original cloth binding being the same in both and both made in England. This edition consists of a reprint on pp. 1-60 of the author's two lectures entitled, "Epidemics considered with relation to their Common Nature and to Climate and Civilization," Edinburgh: Edmonston & Douglas, 1856; to which were added extracts from his official reports on contagion and quarantine, including an account of the preventive measures taken in Baltimore during the cholera epidemic of 1849, pp. 79-82. According to the British Museum Catalogue the same sheets were reissued in paper covers, with a new title on the front cover dated London, 1870.

SMITH. Results of Sanitary Improvement, illustrated by the operation of the Metropolitan Societies for improving the dwellings of the industrious classes, the working of the Common Lodging-Houses Act, etc. By Southwood Smith, M.D. *London: Charles Knight, 90, Fleet Street, Publisher (by appointment) to the General Board of Health, and the Poor Law Board; and J. Published at the request of the Society. Fredericton, Printed by J. Simpson, at the Royal Gazette Office. 1857. 8vo, pp. 31, and printed cover. BA. 84419

Among Smith's many contributions to the press are a series of 48 articles on Canadian railways in "Engineering," vols. 25-31, London, 1878-1881; "Our New Wheatfields in the North-West," in the "Nineteenth Century," vol. 6, 1879, pp. 10-22; and, "The Development of the Locomotive," in "Transactions" of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, vol. 3, 1890, pp. 110-125. For a biographical sketch, see "Transactions" of the Society, vol. 4, 1891, pp. 337-339.

SMITH (Thomas W.). A Narrative of the Life, Travels and Sufferings of Thomas W. Smith: comprising an account of his early life, adoption by the Gipsys; his travels during eighteen voyages to various parts of the world, during which he was five times shipwrecked; thrice on a desolate island near the South Pole, once on the coast of England, and once on the coast of Africa. He took part in several battles on the coast of Spain and Peru and witnessed several others; was once taken by pirates, from whom he was providentially delivered, placed in a small boat and set adrift at a great distance from land, without the means for conducting her to the shore.—He afterwards took part in four minor engagements with savages near New Guinea. Written by himself. Boston: Published by Wm. C. Hill, 24 Cornhill; New-Bedford, Thomas W. Smith; Portsmouth, Wm. B. Lowd; Exeter, A. R. Brown, 1844. 12mo, pp. 233, vii. B., C., H., NYP. 84420

The author states that he was born in Lewisham, England, and after his many voyages settled in New Bedford, Mass. He then started to study for the ministry, but his health and financial embarrassments prohibited him from finishing the course.

SMITH (T[homas] Watson). History of the Methodist Church within the territories embraced in the late Conference of Eastern British America, including Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Bermuda. By T. Watson Smith, of the Nova Scotia Conference. Vol. I. Halifax, N. S., Methodist Book Room, 125 Granville Street, 1877. [Verso of title:] *Printed and Published for the Proprietor, by A. W. SMITH (T[homas] W[est]). Annals of Alexander Hamilton Post No 182 Department of New York, Grand Army of the Republic, during the years 1884 to 1900. Compiled and arranged by Past Commanders F. S. Bartram and T. W. Smith. New York: The Bartram Press, 126 William Street. 1900. 8vo, pp. 202, (2). Frontispiece portrait and 1 plate. NYP. 84423

The author's full name appears on page 153.

SMITH. The Story of a Cavalry Regiment. "Scott's 900", Eleventh New York Cavalry. From the St. Lawrence river to the Gulf of Mexico 1861-1865. [Portrait of Smith.] By Thomas West Smith, private of troop F. Published by the Veteran Association of the Regiment. [Verso of title:] W. B. Conkey Company. Printers and Binders. Chicago. [1897.] 8vo, pp. viii, 344, roster of the regiment (33). 2 portraits and 17 plates.

C., HEH., NYP. 84424

The preface is dated New York, September, 1897. According to the roster, Smith enlisted when he was 17, at New York, June 11, 1862, and was discharged June 10, 1865.

SMITH (T[homas] W[ood]), b. 1838, d. 1894. Millennial State No. 2. By Isaac Sheen, and The Way of Life. By T. W. Smith. [Colophon:] Printed at the office of the True Latter Day Saints' Herald, Plano, Kendall Co., Ill. [1869.] 8vo, pp. 4. NYP. 84425

First advertised in the "Saints' Herald," September 1, 1869. "The Way of Life" forms pp. 2-4.

SMITH. The "One Baptism;" its mode, subjects, pre-requisites, and design. Who Shall Administer? By Elder T. W. Smith. Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Plano, Kendall Co., Ill. [Colophon:] Printed at the True Latter Day Saints' Herald Office, Plano, Ill. [1870.] 8vo, pp. 18, with serial heading, No. 6. IND., NYP. 84426

First advertised in the "Saints' Herald," January 15, 1870.

[SMITH.] The "One Baptism;" its Mode, Subjects, Pre-Requisites and Design. Who shall administer? Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Plano, Ill. [Colophon:] Printed at Herald Office, Plano, Kendall County, Illinois. [1879.] 8vo, pp. 16, with serial heading, No. 6. IND., NYP. + Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lamoni, Iowa. [Colophon:] For Sale at Herald Office, Lamoni, Decatur Co., Iowa. [1882?] 8vo, pp. 16, with serial heading No. 6. IND. 84427

An edition without the author's name, but containing the same text, first advertised in the "Saints' Herald," May 15, 1879. Probably the Lamoni issue was printed soon after the removal of the publishing house to that place in 1881. Information from Miss Inez Davis of the Reorganized Church, Independence, Mo., as to this and the following title.

SMITH. The "One Body;" or, the Church of Christ under the Apostleship, and under the Apostasy. By Elder T. W. Smith. Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Plano, Kendall Co., Ill. [Colophon:] Printed at the True Latter Day Saints' Herald Office, Plano, Ill. [1871.] 8vo, pp. 16, with serial heading No. 20. IND. 84428

First printed in the "Saints' Herald," October 15, 1871, and advertised in pamphlet form in the same number.

[SMITH.] The "One Body;" or, the Church of Christ under the Apostleship, and under the Apostasy. Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Plano, Ill. [Colophon:] Printed at Herald Office, Plano, Kendall County, Illinois. [1879.] 8vo, pp. 12, with serial heading, No. 20. IND., NYP. + Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lamoni, Iowa. [Colophon:] For Sale at Her- ald Office, Lamoni, Decatur County, Iowa. [1882?] 8vo, pp. 12, with serial heading No. 20. IND. 84429

The edition without the author's name was first advertised in the "Saints' Herald," May 15, 1879, and reissued probably soon after the publishing house was moved to Lamoni in 1881.

SMITH. Songs of Zion: For the Use of the Children of the Kingdom. By Thomas W. Smith, An Elder in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Printed at the Herald Office, Plano, Ill. [1875.] 24mo, pp. 24. 84430

First advertised in the "Saints' Herald," July 1, 1875. An issue with 32 pp. was listed in the number for October 1 of the following year. Miss Inez Davis of Independence, Mo., notes an edition with the same title and imprint, pp. 40 and printed covers, and information on back cover supplying the date 1879. She also describes an edition, Printed at the Herald Office, Lamoni, Iowa, 24mo, pp. 48, and printed cover, which was first advertised in the "Saints' Herald," July 21, 1888.

SMITH. Spiritualism viewed from a Scriptural stand-point. By Elder T. W. Smith. Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Plano, Kendall Co., Ill. [Colophon:] Printed at the True Latter Day Saints' Herald Office, Plano, Ill. [1870.] 8vo, pp. 20, with serial heading, No. 9. IND., NYP. + [A different edition. Same imprint. 1875?] 8vo, pp. 20, with serial heading, No. 9. IND., NYP. + [Lamoni?] Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. [1881?] 8vo, pp. 20, with serial heading, No. 9. IND. + Published by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lamoni, Decatur Co., Iowa. [1882?] 8vo, pp. 20, with serial heading, No. 9. IND. 84431

First advertised in the "Saints' Herald," June 1, 1870, the advertisement continuing until March 13, 1901. Though the paging is the same there are two editions, the first concludes with "Addenda" on p. 20, and in the second and later issues these and other additions are incorporated on pp. 19-20. Except for changes at the beginning and the end, the four issues are in the main from the same plates. It seems probable that the issue which omits the place of publication appeared at about the time of the removal of the publishing house to Lamoni, in 1881, and that another issue with the name of that place in the imprint would be published soon after. Information as to the last two issues from Miss Inez Davis.

Thomas W. Smith coöperated with President Joseph Smith, 3rd, in compiling "A Manual of Practice," for the use of the church, our no. 83293, vol. 20, and also contributed many articles and letters to the "True Latter Day Saints' Herald." In 1873 he became an apostle in the Quorum of Twelve, and most of the time thereafter was engaged in missionary work in this country, the Society Islands and Australia. For a biographical sketch, see J. and H. C. Smith's "History" of the Reorganized Church, 1903, vol. 4, pp. 678-683.

SMITH (T[imothy] S.). A Dissertation on Indian Treaties, Traders, Manners & Customs, from Experimental and Actual Observation. By T. S. Smith, Esq. Bridgeport, Conn. Printed by

C. H. Weeks. 61, Water, St. 1849. 8vo, pp. 16, and printed cover. NYP. 84432

The author's fuller name appears in the prefatory notice on the back of the title. The pamphlet relates his experiences as an Indian trader in Ohio and Indiana from 1819 to about 1849.

SMITH. Missionary Abominations Unmasked: or, A View of Carey Mission. containing an Unmasking of the missionary abominations, practised among the Indians of the St. Joseph Country, at the celebrated missionary establishment, known as Carey Mission, under the superintendence of the Rev. Isaac M'Coy. By Timothy S. Smith. Copyright secured. Royalton, (M. T.) Printed at the Beacon Office, South-Bend, Ind. 1833. 8vo, pp. 16. HEH. 84433

Title from a fac-simile in the catalogue of the Sturges sale at the Anderson galleries, January 15-16, 1923. The pamphlet sold for $560. The mission station of Carey was established by Isaac McCoy and other Baptist missionaries, in the autumn of 1822, on a site in Michigan in the neighborhood of the Potawatomi and Ottawa Indians. It was continued until 1831, when the board directed its removal to Indian Territory, to work among the Shawnees. Many of the Indians wished to follow him, and this movement was opposed by the Catholic missionaries who had come into the region. "A worthless fellow, not a Catholic, whose tongue, as far as he was personally known, could not injure any body, was prompted to publish a pamphlet, complaining of mismanagement at Carey during its existence. This poor creature had, no doubt, been encouraged to hope that he could sell his pamphlets, so as to realize some moneyed "reward of iniquity," in which he doubtless was disappointed. The style of the book was wretchedly bad, and the story contained its own refutation: and we could not, therefore, notice it by a reply." Smith stated in his "Dissertation on Indian Treaties," that he moved from the state of New York to Fort Defiance, on the Maumee River, in 1819, and was appointed Post Master there. Besides his trading with the Indians he held a number of other local offices in that region. He settled in the neighborhood of Carey in 1826, and might have been among the traders who are mentioned by McCoy as demoralizing the Indians with whiskey. See McCoy's "History of Indian Baptist Missions," 1840, pp. 174, 413, and 461; also Slocum's "History of the Maumee River Basin," 1905, pp. 527-30, and 580.

SMITH (Titus), b. 1768, d. 1850. A Lecture on the Mineralogy of Nova Scotia. By Mr. Titus Smith, delivered on March 5, 1834, before the Halifax Mechanics' Institute, and printed by order of the Institute. Halifax. 1834. 8vo, pp. 36. 84434

Title from Morgan's "Bibliotheca Canadensis," 1867, and from the heading of the reprint included in the "Magazine of Natural History," vol. 9, London, 1836, pp. 368-375, 575-593.

SMITH. Wild Flowers of Nova Scotia. By M. Morris. Executed from nature, of the full size of the flowers, accompanied by information on the history, properties, etc. of the subjects, by T. Smith. Pt. 1, 2. Halifax, N. S., and London, 1840. 4to, pp. (4). 6 plates. BM. 84435

"Six coloured plates, with two leaves of descriptive letter press. No more published."—British Museum.

Also: "Conclusions on the Results on the Vegetation of Nova Scotia, and on Vegetation in general, and on Man in general, of certain Natural and Artificial Causes deemed to actuate and affect them," in "The Magazine of Natural History," vol. 8, London, 1835, pp. 641-662. This dissertation was cut from a colonial paper, in which it had the following heading: "Natural History of Nova Scotia. The following Paper was read by Mr. Titus Smith, the Philosopher of the Dutch Village, before the Halifax Mechanics' Institute, on Wednesday evening, the 14th January. It abounds with original views, minute and curious information, and furnishes additional evidence of the richness of those stores which a life of observation and reflection has accumulated in a naturally powerful mind." According to Lawson's "History of the Townships of Dartmouth, Preston and Lawrencetown," 1893, from 1802 for forty years Smith made surveys for the government in all parts of the province. His manuscript journal and report of the first survey are preserved with the Public Records of Nova Scotia. Mrs. Lawson states that the map which he prepared at that time and a note book containing part of the journal are in the possession of the Nova Scotia Historical Society; and that his extensive knowledge of the province appears in the published report of his evidence before the Durham Commission of 1838. For many years he contributed a weekly article on agriculture to the "Acadian Recorder," of Halifax. See Lawson, pp. 208-218.

SMITH (Titus K.). Altruria. By Titus K. Smith. Altruria Publishing Company, 39 Cortlandt Street. New York. [Verso of title:] Press of Jenkins & McCowan, New York. [1895.] 12mo, pp. 120. c., NYP. 84436

Preface dated May 31, 1895. One of the chapters treats of an imaginary visit to New York, on July 4th, 1914, setting forth the great improvements that might result from the adoption of his co-operative plan.

SMITH. Co-operation. How every man may become the owner of his home as easy as he can pay his rent, By Titus K. Smith . . . New York: Concord Co-operative Printing Company, Ltd. 1887. 12mo, pp. 31. c. 84437

[SMITH.] An Examination of the Question of Anæsthesia, arising on the Memorial of Charles Thomas Wells, presented To the United States Senate, 2d Session, 32d Congress, and referred to a Select Committee, of which the Hon. Isaac P. Walker is Chairman. Prepared for the information of said committee. [Washington. 1853.] 8vo, cover-title, and pp. 103. NYP. 84445

In the introduction to the 1858 edition, Smith states that the work was first published in the second session of the 32d Congress (1852-1853), at Washington. Some of the depositions are dated in January, 1853. Mr. Smith's pamphlet and the memorial of Mr. Wells presented the claims of the father of the latter, Horace Wells, a dentist of Hartford, to being the first to discover the practical value of anæsthesia when he made use of nitrous oxide in 1844; it was also urged that his heirs should receive any financial reward incidental thereto. The occasion was the agitation in Congress toward the appropriation of the sum of $100,000 to purchase from Dr. William G. T. Morton of Boston the surrender of patents issued to him and Dr. Charles T. Jackson, after their introduction of the use of ether in surgery in 1846. The superior claims of Dr. C. W. Long of Georgia who had operated with ether as early as 1842, and of Dr. Jackson, who had suggested its use to Dr. Morton, were also brought forward by supporters. Dr. Jackson recognized Dr. Long's priority, and Congress let the whole matter drop. Flagg's "Art of Anæsthesia," 1922, contains fac-similes of documents relating to Dr. Long's operation. See also an article by Sir James Paget in the "Nineteenth Century," vol. 6, 1879, pp. 1119-1132. See also Isaac P. Walker's Answer to "An Examination of the Question of Anæsthesia," Washington, 1853.

SMITH. An Examination of the Question of Anæsthesia, arising on the Memorial of Charles Thomas Wells, presented to the United States Senate, Second Session, Thirty-Second Congress, and referred to a Select Committee, of which the Hon. Isaac P. Walker is Chairman. Prepared for the information of said committee. By the Hon. Truman Smith, U. S. Senator from Connecticut. New York: John A. Gray, Printer, 16 & 18 Jacob Street, fire-proof buildings. 1858. 8vo, pp. viii, 5-135. H., NYP., SG., UP. + [Same imprint.] 1859. 8vo, pp. viii, 5-154. NYP., SG., WHS., Y. 84446

An introduction added in the 1858 edition gives a summary of the action of Congress in relation to the proposed reward for the discovery of the use of anæsthesia in surgery. The 1859 issue is from the same plates with an appendix added, pp. 137-154, containing letters by Mr. Smith, affidavits, etc., relating to the controversy, reprinted from the "Journal of Commerce," and the "Evening Press" of Hartford. On the title-page of this issue is pasted a printed slip, signed and dated, Jos. Wales, 170 William St., New-York, December, 1858, stating that he desires to present to the public the accompanying history of anæsthesia, in order to support the claims of his relative, the late Horace Wells, to the honor. Most of the material in the appendix was also printed in the pamphlet, "Anæsthesia! The Greatest Discovery of the Age!"

[Louisville, Ky.] Courier-Journal Print. [1875.] 8vo, pp. 28, and printed front cover. C., NYP. 84479

In the preface dated Durham, [N. H.] September, 1874, the compiler makes the following statement: "My grandfather, Hon. Valentine Smith, took much interest in the genealogical record of his family, and collected a large number of notes and data which made the foundation of the following sketches. To these the investigations of my uncle, Ballard Smith, and after his death, of my uncle, Joshua B. Smith, added many more definite and supplemental facts. Their notes I have simply arranged and put in consecutive form."

Title supplied by Albert C. Bates from a copy owned by a member of the Connecticut Historical Society. According to the narrator, he was the son of an African prince, was captured as a boy by enemies, and sold on board a Rhode Island ship. He was named Venture by his first owner, who had bought him as a private venture, and he assumed the surname of Oliver Smith, his last owner, who had allowed him to purchase his freedom. In the 1897 edition of the Narrative, H. M. Selden states that there is a tradition that Venture's amanuensis was Elisha Niles of Chatham, who had been a school-teacher, and also a Revolutionary soldier. According to the same authority, the following epitaph appears on Venture's headstone in a graveyard in East Haddam: "Sacred to the Memory of Venture Smith, African. Though the son of a King, he was kidnapped and sold as a slave, but by his industry he acquired money to purchase his freedom. Who Died Sept. 19, 1805, In ye 77th Year of His Age."

"The Traditions of Venture! known as Venture Smith," compiled by Mr. Selden form pp. 31-41. He makes the statement that several editions have been published by the family of Venture, "and by them circulated throughout the county, but more in the towns contiguous to his home, where the subject was well known for his abnormal strength, industry and goodly character Copies of the remarkable autobiography were also sent by purchasers to friends abroad. It has long been out of print. To meet the demand for a new edition and to include traditions gathered by correspondence, personal intercourse with the aged and supplemented by some account of his family, is the object of the compiler."

SMITH (Victor), d. 1865. Charges against Victor Smith and the evidence upon which they are based. [Washington. 1863.] 8vo, pp. 24. P. 84483

Mr. Victor Smith was the former collector of customs of the Puget Sound District, to which office he had been appointed as a protégé of Secretary Chase. The charges are embodied in letters of Dr. A. G. Henry, later surveyor general of Washington Territory, addressed to the President, and written in Washington in March, 1863, and in other documents, including an indictment in the Third Judicial District of the Territory, also a "memorandum made by the President after a full examination of the case," which is dated March 16, 1863. Mr. Smith had made himself disliked in various ways, and especially by forcibly removing the custom house from Port Townsend to Port Angeles, the site of a new city to be called Cherburg, which he was interested in developing. On May 8th, 1863, Mr. Lincoln wrote to Mr. Chase: "My mind is made up to remove Victor Smith . . . I do not decide that the charges against him are true. I only decide that the degree of dissatisfaction with him there is too great for him to be retained." A new collector was therefore appointed for the district, and when Mr. Smith was sent back later as a special agent of the Treasury, he constructed at Port Angeles a building which was leased to the government for the custom house. In 1865, however, both Dr. Henry and Mr. Smith were lost at sea on the steamer Brother Jonathan, and in the same year the custom house was moved back to Port Townsend. See Snowden's "History of Washington," 1909, vol. 4, 166-176, Nicolay and Hay's "Abraham Lincoln," 1894, vol. 2, p. 335, and Schuckers's "Life" of Chase, 1874, pp. 492-493.

SMITH (Vivus W[ood]), b. 1804, d. 1881. . . . Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Onondaga Salt Springs [for 1855]. Superintendent's Office, Syracuse, Jan. 18, 1856. To the Hon. Orville Robinson, Speaker of the Assembly . . . Vivus W. Smith, Superintendent. [Albany: C. Van Benthuyzen. 1856.] 8vo, pp. 38. NYP. 84484

With heading: "State of New-York. No. 75. In Assembly, Feb. 11, 1856." Mr. Smith was appointed Superintendent in 1855, and made annual reports to the legislature for the years from 1855 to 1864. These were also issued separately with paper covers. Also: . . . Communication from the Superintendent of the Onondaga Salt Springs, in answer to a resolution, relative to the number of persons employed, their duties, &c., during each of the last thirty years, at said springs. [Albany, 1862.] 8vo, pp. 2. NYP. With heading: "State of New York. No. 99. In Assembly, February 25, 1862."

The Onondaga Salt Springs Reservation, which originally included much of the site of the present city of Syracuse, and other territory around Onondaga Lake, was among the lands acquired by the State through treaties with the Indians in 1788 and 1797. In the latter year the legislature passed the first law regulating the leasing of land and the manufacture of salt in the reservation, and the first superintendent was appointed. The actual manufacture was carried on by private companies under state supervision, with duties on each bushel inspected. The superintendent was to report annually to the legislature. These reports were printed regularly in the state documents, and also issued separately. The first report was that for 1797, and though the State disposed of the last salt lands in its possession by sale to manufacturers in July, 1908, a final report was issued for 1909 in which the superintendent stated that he expected to wind up the business of the state during the coming year. For a list of the reports and other documents relating to the Onondaga Salt Springs, see A. R. Hasse's "Index of Economic Material in Documents of . . . New York," 1907, pp. 274-279. A sketch of the history of the springs from the time of Lallemand's mention of them in his "Relation," 1647, is found in Clark's "Onondaga," 1849, vol. 2, pp. 7-44. The treaty of 1788, in which the salt lake is mentioned specifically, is found in Hough's "Proceedings of the Commissioners of Indian Affairs . . . in the State of New York," 1861, pp. 197-203.

Mr. Vivus W. Smith, after a brief newspaper experience in western Massachusetts became a prominent journalist and politician of central New York. He bought the "Onondaga Journal" in 1827, and in 1829 united it with the "Syracuse Advertiser" to form the "Onondaga Standard," which with John F. Wyman he edited for a few years. In 1839 he was one of the founders of the "Western State Journal" which became in 1844 the "Syracuse Weekly Journal." This paper was connected with his family for many years. He was also for a few years on the staff of the "Ohio State Journal," and was connected with other newspapers in New York City and elsewhere. Biographical sketches are found in Bruce's "Onondaga's Centennial," 1896, vol. 2, pp. 191-192, and in the "National Cyclopædia of American Biography." See also French's "Gazetteer" of the state, 1861, pp. 475-476.

SMITH (V[olney] V[oltaire]). V. V. Smith, Lieutenant Governor of Arkansas, vs. A. H. Garland. Letter of Governor Smith, and opinion of Hon. T. D. W. Yonley. Chicago: Lakeside Press, Clark and Adams Streets. 1874. 8vo, cover-title, and pp. 111.

Elisha Baxter and V. V. Smith were elected governor and lieutenant governor respectively in 1872, as candidates of one of two Republican groups. Joseph Brooks, the gubernatorial candidate of the other group, forcibly disputed the election, but in May, 1874, Baxter was recognized by Grant. Thereupon Baxter turned his back upon the carpet bagging element, and approved a bill passed by the legislature calling for a constitutional convention. The constitution adopted by the convention was ratified, and in accordance with it, an election was set for October 13, in which A. H. Garland, a Democrat, was elected governor. In his letter dated Oct. 1 of that year, Smith claimed that the new constitution was illegal, and that the election when held would be invalid; that if Baxter wished to retire from the governorship before his four year term had expired, he, Smith, would be the only legal successor. He went to Washington, but received no support from the Republican leaders. On November 23rd Governor Garland offered a reward for his arrest, but he was never taken. President Grant soon after appointed him as consul to St. Thomas. See Rhodes's "History," vol. 7, 1906, pp. 86-88, and Staples's "Reconstruction in Arkansas," 1925, pp. 395-433.

Professor Smith, who was formerly the headmaster of the Leeds School of Art in England, was invited by the city of Boston in 1871 to organize its instruction in drawing, and in the same year was appointed by the State Board of Education as an agent to promote art education in Massachusetts. On the establishment of the State Normal Art School in 1873, he also became its director. His service to the city continued till 1881, and to the state until 1882, when though his valuable contributions to art education were recognized in the report of an investigating committee of the legislature, his opponents were able to bring about his dismissal. Of special interest is his "Report" to the School Committee on the condition of drawing in the public schools of Boston, 1880, which contains a summary of his work in that city. As State Director of Art Education he prepared annual reports for the years, 1872-1876, and 1879-1881, which were printed in the "Annual Report" of the State Board of Education, and separately. In 1882 Professor Smith returned to England and became the head of the art department of the Technical College at Bradford. A description of his work and influence and reprints of many of his reports and papers forms a considerable part of vol. 1, 1885, of Clarke's "Art and Industry," published by the U. S. Bureau of Education, while an appreciation of him written after his death is found on pp. xlii-xlvi of vol. 2, 1892. Information as to Professor Smith has been furnished by the courtesy of his daughter, Mrs. May Smith Dean, who also published an account of her father in her "History of the Massachusetts Normal Art School," 1924, pp. 4-20. Besides the titles listed above, Professor Smith published a number of other addresses and reports on art education and was the author of a series of drawing books entitled, "American Text-Books of Art Education," which led to a controversy with the publishers of the rival Bartholomew series, described in four of the five following titles.

Preface signed and dated: Willard J. Smith. Galien, Mich., Dec., 1891. The debate was carried on between Wingfield Watson in support of James J. Strang, and William W. Blair for the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, on the following propositions: 1st, that James J. Strang was the lawful successor of Joseph Smith; 2d, that Joseph Smith, of Lamoni, Iowa, was regularly appointed as the successor of Joseph Smith the martyr. According to a note in the "Saints' Herald," vol. 38, 1891, p. 714, the debate resulted in a victory for the Reorganized Church. Title and information from T. Franklin Currier.

SMITH. Whitmerism Unmasked: Being a Brief Examination of the Claims of the So-called Church of Christ, By Elder Willard J. Smith. [n. p. 1888?] 16mo, pp. 25, and printed cover. H. 84550

Signed: Willard J. Smith. Holstein, Grey Co., Ont. Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier. The author was an elder in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and the date is suggested by a reference to the "Saints' Herald," for December 10th, 1887. At this period that Church was carrying on a controversy with the followers of David Whitmer, another group of Mormons.

SMITH. The | New Creation | brought forth | In the Holy Order of Life; | wherein | The Immortal Birth is Revealed, and | the Precious Pearl, out of the Mixture | Extracted. | From one who dearly loveth the Creation of | God, and patiently waiteth to behold its | Perfect freedom, | William Smith. | Reprinted in the Year 1738. | 12mo, title, verso blank; contents 1 page, "To the Reader" pp. i-iv, poem v, text 1-91. Four leaves without signature, A-L in fours, and M in two. HSP. 84552

Possibly printed by Andrew Bradford in Philadelphia. Its resemblance in size-format and typography to the work of that printer was first recognized by Mr. Charles R. Hildeburn, who bought this copy from the bookseller Charles L. Woodward for the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, several years after the publication of his "Issues of the Press in Pennsylvania," which accounts for its not being included in that record. A comparison with Moses West's "Treatise concerning Marriage" (Hildeburn no. 590), printed about the same time, shows similar type and style of pagination; and the square star shaped ornaments which serve as a tail piece on page 91, were often used by Bradford, as in the "American Weekly Mercury" for August 31 and September 21, 1738, and in the title border of Leeds's "American Almanack" for 1733. No advertisement of its publication, however, has been found in the Philadelphia and New York newspapers of 1738.

The first edition was published at London in 1661. In the 1738 reprint the address "To the Reader," pp. i-iv, begins on the verso of the contents leaf, and is signed "W. S. Given forth in Worcester-County Goal, where I am a present Sufferer in Bonds, for Obedience to the Command of Jesus Christ: In the First Moneth, 1661." The poem, page v, is on the verso of page iv. A list of the author's writings is given in Joseph Smith's "Catalogue of Friends' Books," 1867, pp. 601-612.

The copy described is in old leather binding and is preceded by the following pamphlet, which appears to have been issued with it: "A | Sermon | Preached by | William Dewsbery | At White-Hart-Court Meeting in | London, May 16. 1688." | No title-page, heading only. 12mo, pp. 24. A-C in fours.

JCB. 84553

Title supplied by Lawrence C. Wroth. The first edition, London: Printed for Eben. Tracey at the Three Bibles on London Bridge, 1703, is entered in the Term Catalogue for the Michaelmas Term, October-November, 1702, and there are also entries for December, 1703, 1708, and 1711. The earliest editions located are, London, 1703, perhaps the first, belonging to Mr. A. C. Bates, and the fifth edition, London, 1708, belonging to Mr. W. M. Stone, both by the same publisher. This work should be distinguished from the anonymous book for children with a similar title, written in verse. The following list is based upon Mr. Bates's bibliography of the latter, "The History of the Holy Jesus, a list of editions of this once popular Children's Book," Hartford, 1911. Acknowledgment is due to Mr. Bates for further information, to Mr. C. S. Brigham, and Mr. W. M. Stone.

The History of the Holy Jesus. Containing A brief and plain Account of his Birth, Life, Death, Resurrection and Ascention into Heaven; and his coming again at the great and last Day of Judgment. Being a pleasant and profitable Companion for Children; compos'd on Purpose for their Use. By a Lover of their precious Souls.

Boston: Sold by B. Gray, at the North-side of the Market. 1745. 32mo. Advertised in the "Boston News Letter" of January 31, 1745, the title continuing, "To which is added, two excellent Hymns, one on the presence, the other on the absence of the Lord Jesus Christ; and a Body of Divinity for little Children." According to the News Letter of February 7, the work was also "Adorn'd with sixteen Cuts." Mr. Bates suggests that in the absence of further evidence this may be assumed to be the first edition. Perhaps printed by J. Bushell, B. Allen, and J. Green.

The Fourth Edition. Boston, Printed for D. Gookin in Marlborough-street. 1747. 32mo, 24 leaves, including portrait of the author and fifteen other woodcuts. BATES COLLECTION. The portrait is signed I. T. in the upper right hand corner, "and it is believed that all of them, except perhaps the two smallest, are the work of James Turner. Probably they are identical with the sixteen which appeared in the 1745 edition." Mr. Bates thinks this edition was probably printed by John Draper, who did some printing for D. Gookin in 1746; but it seems more likely that the sixteen cuts remained in the possession of the same printers who got out the earlier and the next four editions. According to the sketch of Turner in Stauffer's "American Engravers," 1907, vol. 1, he was engraving in Boston as early as 1744.

The Fifth Edition. Boston, Printed by J. Green. 1748. 32mo, 24 leaves, including frontispiece portrait of the author, and 15 other woodcuts. AAS., lacking the portrait.

The Sixth Edition. Boston, Printed by J. Bushell and J. Green, 1749. 32mo, 24 leaves, including portrait and 15 other woodcuts. BATES COLLECTION, HEH., JCB. See also, the Ives sale catalogue, 1891, no. 1129, and Goodspeed's catalogue IV., October, 1900.

The Seventh Edition. New-London, Printed and Sold by John Green, 1754. 32mo, 24 leaves. NYP., lacks first and last two leaves.

The Eighth Edition. New-London: Printed and Sold by T. Green, 1762. 32mo, 24 leaves. "There are eighteen illustrations, fourteen of which are from the identical blocks used in the fourth edition," Bates, pp. 6-7, from a copy in a private collection.

Boston: Printed and Sold by Z. Fowle. 1765. 32mo. From an advertisement in Watts's "A Preservative," 1765, Evans no. 10201, according to Mr. Brigham.

The Eleventh Edition. Boston: Printed and Sold by Z. Fowle at his Printing Office, in Back-Street. 1766. (Price 4 Pence.) 32mo. Bates, p. 7, from a copy in a private collection.

The Fifteenth Edition. Boston: Printed by I. Thomas, for Z. Fowle, in Back-Street, near the Mill-Bridge. (Price 6 Coppers.) [1767?] 32mo, 24 leaves, including portrait and 18 other woodcuts. Dr. C. L. Nichols's "Isaiah Thomas," 1912, p. 40, describing his copy now AAS. Dr. Nichols, on the authority of Mr. Bates, states that this edition was probably printed during the few weeks of Thomas's stay with Z. Fowle on his return from Halifax in 1767.

The Tenth Edition. New-London: Printed and sold by T. Green. 1769. 32mo, 24 leaves, including 17 woodcuts, according to Mr. Stone's account of a copy seen by Mr. Goodspeed in 1910. YALE. Imprint supplied by Miss Anne S. Pratt.

The Twenty-fourth Edition. Boston: Printed and Sold by Ex. Russell, in Queen-Street. 1771. 32mo, frontispiece, title, pp. 5-46, including 16 other woodcuts, and probably a final leaf, making 24 leaves in all. AAS., lacking frontispiece and all after p. 32, and B., lacking frontispiece and all after p. 30. The three following are variant imprints of the same edition.

The Twenty-fourth Edition. Boston, printed for and sold by J. Boyles in Marlborough Street. 1771. 32mo, frontispiece, title, pp. 5-46, including 16 other woodcuts, and probably a final leaf, making 24 leaves in all. AAS., lacking the final leaf, and A. C. BATES, imperfect. Identical with the Russell edition.

The Twenty-fourth Edition. Boston: N. E. Printed, and Sold by N. Coverly, near the Liberty-Tree. MDCCLXXI. (Price 6 Coppers.) 32mo, frontispiece, title, pp. 5-46, including 16 other woodcuts, and probably a final leaf, making 24 leaves in all. AAS., lacking frontispiece, pp. 45-46 and final leaf. Identical with the Russell edition.

The Twenty-fourth Edition. Boston: Printed for, and Sold by Isaiah Thomas, in Union-Street. 1771. 32mo, frontispiece, title, pp. 5-46, including 16 other woodcuts, and probably a final leaf, making 24 leaves in all. BU., lacking frontispiece and final leaf. Identical with the Russell edition.

The Twenty-Fifth Edition. Boston: Printed and Sold by John Boyle in Marlborough-Street, 1774. 32mo, 24 leaves, including portrait of the author, and 18 other woodcuts. AAS., B., C., PEQUOT.

The Twenty-Sixth Edition. Boston: Printed for John Boyle in Marlborough-Street. 1779. 32mo, 24 leaves, including portrait of the author and 21 other woodcuts. AAS., lacking the portrait, PEQUOT.

The First Worcester Edition. Worcester, (Massachusetts) Printed by Isaiah Thomas, and sold at his Book Store. MDCCCLXXVI. 32mo, frontispiece, title, pp. 5-43, (5), including 18 other woodcuts; printed covers containing 4 more woodcuts. AAS. In this edition, according to Mr. Brigham, the frontispiece portrait of the author is replaced by a picture of "The Reverend Mr. Instructwell, teaching the Principles of the Christian Religion to Masters Learnwell and Goodwell."

SMITH (William), Senior, Associate Justice of New York, b. 1697, d. 1769. The Complaint of James Alexander and | William Smith to the Committee of | the General Assembly of the Colony | of New-York, &c. | [New-York, Printed by John Peter Zenger, 1736.] Folio, pp. 19. A-E in twos. HEH., NYP. 84554

Title from heading of page 1. The affidavit at the end is signed: "Ja. Alexander. Wm. Smith. Sworn the Twenty seventh Day of December, 1735. Before S. Johnson." The printing could hardly have been done before January, 1736. Improved title of our no. 729, vol. 1. When Messrs. Smith and Alexander were counsel for John Peter Zenger in his trial for libel in April, 1735, they filed exception as to the commissions of the Supreme Court Justices De Lancey and Philipse, and as a consequence were disbarred by the court. They brought the above complaint before the committee of the general assembly. See Osgood's "American Colonies in the Eighteenth Century," 1924, vol. 2, pp. 459-462.

[SMITH.] The First Commencement of the College of New Jersey, 1748. [Colophon:] New York, July 1872. 8vo, pp. 8. 84555

Reprinted from the anonymous account in Parker's "New-York Gazette revived in the Weekly Post-Boy," November 21, 1748, to which is added the following prefatory note: "The following report of the proceedings was prepared at the request of the Trustees of the College by William Smith, at that time a leading lawyer of the New York Bar and published in the principal New York newspaper." Title supplied by James Thayer Gerould from the copy at Princeton University.

SMITH. Mr. Smith's Opinion | Humbly Offered to the | General Assembly | of the | Colony of New-York, | One the Seventh of June, 1734. At their Request. | Occasion'd by sundry Petitions of the Inhabitants | of the City of New-York, Westchester County & Queens-County, | to the said General Assembly, praying an Establishment | of Courts of Justice within the said Colony by | Act of the Legislature. | Published at the Request of the said General Assembly. | [Royal arms.] | . . . | Printed and Sold by William Bradford in the City of New-York, | 1734. | [At foot of page 45:] Errata of some Errors in the fore-going Sheets . . . [and] Errata of some Errors in the following Sheets of Mr. Murray's Opinion . . . [Accompanied by:] Mr. Murray's Opinion | Relating to the | Courts of Justice | In the Colony of | New-York; | Delivered to the General Assembly of the said | Colony, at their Request, the 12th of June, 1734. | [No imprint.] 2 parts folio, Mr. Smith's Opinion, pp. (2), 45; Mr. Murray's Opinion, pp. 44, mispaged 1-36, 34-41. Sheets a-k in twos, and l in three, besides title; and A-L in twos. NYP. 84556

The appendix to Mr. Murray's Opinion contains minutes of Provincial Council meetings from Nov. 25, 1727, to Aug. 30, 1728. In the New York Public Library copy there is a supplementary list of errata in a contemporary hand on a separate leaf, correcting the appendix, pp. 35-41.

The General Assembly resolved, June 14, 1734, "that Mr. Justice Philipse, and Col. Morris, jun. desire Messrs. Smith and Murray to deliver a Copy of their Arguments, spoke before this House upon that Subject, to Mr. Bradford, the King's Printer, who is hereby Ordered forth-with to Print the same, and to deliver one Copy thereof to each Member of this House." Although Mr. Smith's Opinion was delivered first, on the 7th of June, and Mr. Murray's on the 12th, the latter was printed first, as shown by the two lists of errata on the same page. The publication was advertised in the "New-York Gazette," no. 465, September 16-23, 1734. Following the title and synopsis of Mr. Smith's Opinion, the advertisement reads, "To which is added The Opinion of Mr. Murray, . . . Printed by order of the General Assembly, and, Sold by William Bradford."

Because of the efforts of the opposition party to have the court of exchequer abolished, Mr. Smith and Mr. Murray were asked to give the arguments for and against its legality as established by prerogative. Mr. Smith took the ground that English courts had always been under statutory regulation, and that with the abolishment of the Star Chamber a "decisive pronouncement had been made against prerogative tribunals." In the colonies it was even more important that the judges should have the support of the legislature, as they were more dependent on the executive. Mr. Murray argued that courts of equity had come in as part of the body of English laws. See Osgood's "American Colonies in the Eighteenth Century," 1924, vol. 2, pp. 457-458.

[SMITH.] Some Observations on the Charge given | by the Honourable James De Lancey, | Esq; Chief Justice of the Province of | New-York, to the Grand Jury, the | 15th Day of January, 1733. | [Colophon:] New-York. | Printed and sold by J. Peter Zenger, Price 1 s. 1733-4. | Folio, pp. 18. C., NYP. 84557

Improved title of our no. 19341, vol. 5, and according to Prof. Osgood, very likely to have been written by William Smith and James Alexander. De Lancey's "Charge" on libels, our no. 19340, related to the legality of the court of exchequer as a court of equity, a question brought up in Smith and Alexander's "Arguments of the Council for the Defendant," in Rip Van Dam's case, 1733. He took the position of the Governor's party that the court of exchequer had long existed in England, and had heard equity suits, and that this jurisdiction had come in to the colony with the rest of the English common law. These "Observations" give the view of the party to which Smith and Alexander belonged, that a court of equity could not be established by common law but should have a statutory basis. See Osgood's "American Colonies in the Eighteenth Century," 1924, vol. 2, pp. 449-450.

The authorship has also been attributed to Lewis Morris, the deposed chief justice, by Livingston Rutherford in his book on John Peter Zenger, 1904, p. 34. It would seem more probable, however, from the following extracts, that it was written by one of his close associates like Mr. Smith, as the extracts refer to himself and to his removal from office. From page 1: "Tho' what I have to say on it will be very far short of what may be said; the late Chief Justice (as I am well informed) having it under Consideration, and intending to be very particular, both on that and the Judgments given by the Honourable Judge Phillipse on that Head." From page 18: "And the late Chief Justice was as much of that Opinion as any other, and perhaps had so continued had there not been a Plea to the Jurisdiction of that Court, which put him upon making a more strict Enquiry, by which he found it neither had, nor could have such a Jurisdiction; and that the Exercise of it in the Supream Court was much less to be prohibited, should they exceed their Bounds, than the Chancellor was; and that it was of dangerous Consequence to the Liberties of the People: His Arguments on this Head are publick [our no. 50849, vol. 12], and to this Day remain unanswered. It is supposed the Promoters of the Contrary Opinion would answer them if they could, and show wherein the late Judge has been mistaken in any Thing he has advanced in those Arguments, that he may have an Opportunity of Retracting or maintaining what has been there delivered, that the World may judge who is in the Right: For what ever his Adversaries may think, or how much soever they or the Governour may be pleas'd with the Displacing of him, and doing what they can to crush him, the Inhabitants of this Province will not be easily brought to think, That the Displacing of him is any Answer to his Arguments. It may possibly deterr all his Successors from declaring what they take to be the Law, where the Governour or the King is concerned, lest such Declaration prove Fatal to them," etc.

Corrected title of our no. 731, vol. 1, and no. 30380, vol. 8; being a reply to our nos. 30379 and 30378. On verso of the title are six lines of errata; the Vindication is signed on page 15, "Ja. Alexander, Wm. Smith, New-York, April 9th, 1734;" and is followed by the Supplement, pp. 16-20. See also Van Dam (Rip), The Arguments of the Council for the Defendant, 1733, William Smith and James Alexander being the counsel.

In Dexter's "Biographical Sketches of the Graduates of Yale College," vol. 1, p. 211, there is included among the publications of William Smith "A Protest in Council [concerning the founding of King's College], May 30, 1754." As members of the Provincial Council of New York, William Smith and James Alexander dissented from the report of a committee of the Council, which on May 30, 1754, approved the petition of the trustees of King's College for a charter. This dissent, ac-ording to Fernow and van Laer's "Calendar of Council Minutes," N. Y. State Library Bulletin, no. 58, 1902, was among the New York colonial manuscripts at Albany, vol. 78, p. 126. The calendar stated that it was "not to be published." Under date of October 31, when the Council approved the patent of the college, the minutes note again Mr. Smith's dissent, which alleged that the charter had been drawn in such a manner as to favor the Church of England to the disadvantage of the Dissenters. In November of the same year William Livingston brought before the General Assembly, a bill embodying the ideas of the dissenting party, with the title, "An Act, further to establish and to incorporate a College within this Colony, for the Education and Instruction of Youth in the liberal Arts and Sciences." This was dropped, and an act substituted for raising money for the College by means of a lottery. See "Journal of the Votes and Proceedings," vol. 2, 1766, pp. 404, 412-423. In the papers of William Smith, the historian, now in the New York Public Library, is a "Dr. of Protest intended to have been made by Messrs. Alexander and Smith in case the College Bill in Decr. 1754 came up from the House and was rejected by the Council." The draft does not appear to be in the handwriting of James Alexander, or of either of the Smiths, father or son.

Among the Jay Papers in the possession of the New York Historical Society is a manuscript in the hand of Justice Smith of an "Agreement made among Lawyers," dated 28th July, 1729, and signed by Wm Smith, S: Clowes, Jos: Murray, Ja: Alexander, Jno Chambers, and H. Wileman. This is printed in full in Stokes, vol. 4, 1922, p. 513, and according to that authority furnishes information as to requirements for admission to the bar in New York during the first half of the eighteenth century, which would otherwise be lacking.

For biographical accounts of Judge Smith, see Maturin L. Delafield's "William Smith," 1881, reprinted from the "Magazine of American History," vol. 6, April and June, 1881, and Dexter's Yale Graduates, vol. 1, pp. 207-211.

C., HEH., UP. 84559

The book relates partly to the Company's trade in supplying negroes from Guinea to the British plantations in America and the West Indies. Mr. Smith was sent by the Royal African Company in 1726, to "take exact Plans, Draughts, and Prospects of all their Forts and Settlements; as also of all the principal Rivers, Harbours, and other Places of Trade, on the Coast of Africa, from Gambia to Whydah." He returned in 1727, and published at about that time "Thirty different Draughts of Guinea," described below. According to Astley's "New General Collection of Voyages," vol. 2, 1745, p. 464, "on Examination, the Performance seems to be a Work rather made-up from some imperfect Materials left by Mr. Smith, and supplied from other Quarters, than a genuine Relation composed by himself . . . the Customs and Manners of the Gold Coast, and the whole Account of Benin, are taken from Bosman," etc.

Some copies contain a slip of errata. Mr. Smith's full name is taken from the document found on p. 214 in which he is instituted as minister of St. John's Parish, Nevis, and which is signed by Walter Hamilton, the governor of the Leeward Islands, and dated the 18th day of April, 1716. The author was born at Yarmouth in Norfolk, and matriculated at Queen's College, Oxford, in 1707, aged 17, receiving his B.A. in 1710, according to Foster's "Alumni Oxonienses," vol. 4, 1892. It appears from the document that he arrived in Nevis in 1716, and he states that he remained there for upwards of five years, settling later for some years in Lincolnshire. The letters which are undated were written after his return to England, and are chiefly desultory reminiscences of his observations both in the West Indies and elsewhere. A manuscript note in the Library of Congress copy gives 1749 as the date of Mr. Smith's death.

[SMITH (William), Junior, Historian of New York, b. 1728, d. 1793.] The | Candid Retrospect: or, The American War examined, by Whig Principles. Charlestown: Printed by John Wells, jun. at No. 71, Tradd-street. | MDCCCLXXX. | 4to, pp. 30, and a blank leaf. A-D in fours, the title and a final blank leaf being apparently part of sheet D. BM. 84564

The "Candid Retrospect" fills pp. 3-14, and Appendixes I to VI, in smaller type, pp. 15-30. Title and description from a photostat reproduction in the New York Public Library, from the British Museum original. The authorship of the pamphlet was revealed in the extracts made by Dr. A. Everett Peterson from entries in the manuscript diary of Mr. Smith, now in the New York Public Library, for the Chronology included in Stokes's "Iconography," vol. 5, 1926, under various dates of 1780 and 1781. Justice Smith wrote on January 6th, 1780: "I can not be satisfied that it is even yet prudent to publish the Paper I have long had by me under the Title of the Candid Retrospect, as it exposes the writer to the violence of both Parties." On July 20th of the same year there is an entry in the diary that he had sent the manuscript to Mr. De Rossett in Charleston, to bring out in that city, as "it may be useful to publish there to work a Change in the Whiggs. It is best to have it believed here to be a composition there." On November 17th he wrote that it was published on Saturday, September 30, as "I find by the Carolina Papers," and that he had forwarded one of the pamphlets to Rivington, later the publisher of the New York edition. See Stokes, pp. 1100, 1113, 1118, and 1122. Mr. Lewis Henry De Rossett was a loyalist who had been expelled from North Carolina (Sabine's Loyalists, vol. 1, p. 376), and was at this time with General Sir Henry Clinton in Charleston as Commissary of Prisoners. See his memorial preserved, with other papers relating to the American Loyalists, among the Audit Office Records in the Public Record Office in London; or, the New York Public Library transcripts of the same, vol. 47, pp. 468-492. The pamphlet was reprinted as follows:

[SMITH.] The | Candid Retrospect; | or | The American War examined, | by | Whig Principles, | Charlestown printed:—New-York re-printed [by James Rivington]. MDCCLXXX. | Sq. 12mo, pp. 28. A—D2 in fours. C., H., HEH., MHS., NYH. 84565

Improved title of our no. 10666, vol. 3. The following entry appears in the author's manuscript diary for November 17th, 1780: "Yesterday I wrote to Rivington & inclosed him one of the Pamphlets De Roset has published at Charles Town. I recommended . . . the Republication of 10 Thousand Copies at the Charge of the Public or by Subscription to be given away and advised that the Appendix be taken in as Notes—to prevent Disconnection in the Perusal . . . he promised me an answer upon the Subject." On November 22nd he noted that he had written to General Robertson urging that ten thousand copies be printed, this being at Rivington's suggestion. "Rivington says if he prints 5000 he will be obliged to charge 1/ for each & if less more, so that the more he prints the less he can sell them for." A copy was sent to General Robertson, and another to General Clinton. On December 6th Mr. Smith wrote that the latter had authorized him to speak to Rivington about the republication "& intimate that it should be at the public Expence." The following day the printer sent for a copy of the pamphlet as he had just received "Orders from Head Quarters for the Edition of it." On January 30th following is the entry: "At last the Candid Retrospect is out. Rivington this Instant sends me 100 copies." On February 1st he states that "Rivington has struck off 3000 Copies . . . & given out 50 to Mr. Shoemaker & 60 to the Board of Directors of loyal Refugees & 100 to me & made up 400 for Genl. Arnold." In this edition, following the author's wishes, the material in the appendix of the earlier edition was distributed as footnotes through the text.

The pamphlet recounts what the author considers mistakes on the part of both Great Britain and the colonies, and urges compromise and reconciliation. An analysis of the work by Dr. Peterson is printed in Stokes, vol. 5, pp. 1126-1127. It was reprinted twice in Rivington's newspaper, the "Royal Gazette," first in the issues for March 28, 31, and April 4, 1781, and again in the same paper for August 29, September 1 and 5 of that year. See the Chronology in Stokes, vol. 5, pp. 1122-1127, especially under the above dates of November, 1780 to February, 1781.

The dedication "To the Right Honourable George, Earl of Halifax, Viscount Sunbury, First Lord Commissioner of Trade and Plantations, &c. &c." is dated New-York, 15 June, 1756. The author states in his preface that the work is based chiefly on the Provincial Laws, the Minutes of the Council, the Journals of the General Assembly and other government records. He also acknowledges his indebtedness to Colden's "History of the Five Indian Nations," and to Charlevoix. The history proper covers pp. 1-180, while a description of the province, geographical, political, etc., forms pp. 181-255. The folded plate has the title, "The South View of Oswego on Lake Ontario," an explanation, and the inscription, I. Mynde sculp. The "View" gives the forts and buildings on both sides of the Onondaga River, where it empties into Lake Ontario.

The Lenox uncut small paper copy in the New York Public Library has a leaf measurement of 11 by 8½ inches, with an inner margin seven eighths of an inch in width. The W. L. Clements Library copy of the same size is in the original bluish paper covers.

On June 3d, 1902, there was sold at Sotheby's in a miscellaneous collection, no. 188 of the catalogue, a copy described as the author's own, which was bought by Francis Edwards. In the same year it passed into the hands of Dodd, Mead & Company of New York, and then into the library of Henry F. De Puy, at whose sale in April, 1920, it was bought by the Rosenbach Company, who still owned it in 1930. Mr. Luther S. Livingston wrote to Mr. De Puy, on January 2d, 1903, that he had been informed by Mr. Edwards that the book was reputed to have come from a member of the Smith family in Warwickshire. The volume is interleaved with writing paper containing some additions by the author, and there are also corrections on the printed pages. According to the De Puy sale catalogue, 41 of these interleaves are covered with neatly written manuscript notes and additions; and 42 pages of the printed text contain marginal notes for interlineations. In addition to this there are many corrections in spelling, such as the crossing out of the "u" in the words "honour," "labour," etc. The book is in contemporary board covers without any back strip to cover the sewing, and it does not contain the plate of Oswego. In a prefixed note, dated at the Manor of Livingston, 6 Decr. 1777, the author wrote: "Twenty Years are elapsed since this Work was published, in all which Time I have had no Leisure to read it. Some Years ago I had this Volume interleaved, with a View to correcting the Impression, and making Additions. When the MSS was sent Home in 1756, I trusted the Examination of the Proofs, to my Friend Doctor [Benjamin] Avery of Guy's Hospital, London, who changed the Orthography to his own Taste.—In running over it within two Days past, I have corrected it in some Places. If there is a Continuation of the History, it should precede the Chapters beginning at page 183; but I am surprized at the great Alterations, which the Changes since the Publication will render Necessary. I have Materials for a Detail of our Transactions to the present Time; and last Winter put it into Form from 1731 to 1762. From that Period, I have the Materials in two Books of Memoirs, and Letters of Correspondency, with a Collection of political MSS. What is prior to 1762, I propose to finish in Draft this Winter for a fair Copy. The subsequent Matters would carry me into a prodigious Extent and I do not mean to reduce them to the Form of a Narrative like the former published & unpublished Part of the History." The manuscript which was sent to England in 1756 for the printing of this edition has not been found, and perhaps it was not preserved. The manuscript of the continuation from 1732 to 1762, now in the New York Public Library, is described below under the date of its printing in 1826.

A few copies of the 1757 edition were printed on larger and thicker paper, with wider inner margins. Descriptions follow of three such copies which have come into the market:

1. Huntington Library, San Marino, Cal., measuring on the leaf 11½ by 9½ inches, with inner margin 1½ inches in width. On thick paper, bound in contemporary red morocco, richly ornamented with gilt tooling, gilt edges, and containing the folded plate of Oswego. Formerly in the library of William Beckford, Esq., at Font-hill Abbey, Wilts., it passed at his death into the hands of his daughter, the Duchess of Hamilton, and was no. 2063 of the third portion of the Beckford part of the Hamilton Palace Collections, sold at Sotheby's in July, 1883. Bought at that time by Ellis & White, it was no. 303 of the F. S. Ellis sale at the same galleries in November, 1885. It was later acquired through Robert H. Dodd by E. D. Church, and was bought with the rest of his collection by Henry E. Huntington in April, 1911.

2. William Evarts Benjamin, New York City, has a leaf measurement of 12⅞ by 9⅜ inches, with inner margin 1½ inches in width. On thick paper, bound in crimson levant morocco by W. Pratt for H. Stevens, edges entirely uncut, and with the folded plate from a small paper copy inlaid and inserted. On the inside of the front cover is the book-plate of Robert Hoe. The book was bought by Robert H. Dodd as no. 3101 of part 1 of the sale of the Hoe library, in May, 1911, and later sold by him to the present owner.

3. The Rice-Menzies copy, probably on thick paper, bound in green levant morocco by W. Matthews, elegantly tooled, gilt edges, and containing the folded plate, which was no. 2088 of the John A. Rice sale at Bangs's in March, 1870, and later no. 1863 in the catalogue of the William Menzies sale at Leavitt's in November, 1876, where it was described as a "splendid large paper copy, believed to be unique." At the latter sale it was bought with the small paper copy in purple morocco, no. 1864, and other books, for Mr. Stephen Whitney Phœnix of New York. On his death in 1881, most of his library, with the exception of heraldry, genealogy and local history, was bequeathed to Columbia University, but we are informed that the large paper Smith was not included with the rest.

Cadwallader Colden, whose sympathies were with the executive in the controversies of the period, while Mr. Smith's were on the side of the assembly, criticized the work as partisan. See his correspondence with Mr. Smith and other papers on the subject, printed in New York Historical Society's "Collections," second series, vol. 2, 1849, pp. 193-214; also those to his own son, "Collections," Publication Fund vol. 1, 1868, pp. 177-235, vol. 2, pp. 203-212. A new printing of several of the letters is found in the "Letters and Papers of Cadwallader Colden," vol. 5, "Collections," 1921, pp. 283-295, 310-319. In the author's manuscript continuation of his history, later edited by his son and first published by the New York Historical Society in 1826, he left a reply to Colden's criticisms of January 15th and February 17th, 1759, which is found in a footnote on p. 51 of the published work.

The dedication to the Earl of Halifax and the plate are omitted in this edition. The printer evidently divided the work which he was printing from the earlier edition into three takes which were set up simultaneously. He estimated that the first would take only 160 pages, and had the second compositor number his first page 161; similarly in the second case he estimated that the amount given would require 195 pages, pp. 161-256, and the third compositor began with page 257. In each case twelve more pages were required, and were supplied by inserting signatures *L and *R, the first 12 coming between 160 and 161, and the other 12 between 256 and 257. These star leaves were irregularly paged *145-*150, (1), *151, *143-146 for the first insertion, and 241-*252 for the second.

The second leaf has the following advertisement: "To the citizens of the united states. The re-publication of this volume is the first part of a plan undertaken at the desire of several gentlemen of taste, who wish to supply their libraries with histories of their native country. Should the design meet with public encouragement, the most valuable histories of the other provinces shall be re-published in regular succession by the public's humble servant, Mathew Carey. Philad. April 9, 1792."

A copy at the New York Historical Society, in old calf, has the signature [A] as originally printed in four leaves, the second and third leaves being blank and intended to be cancelled, as not included in the pagination. Inserted in the same copy is a frontispiece "View of Columbia College in the City of New York," Anderson Del., Tiebout Sculp., from the "New-York Magazine" for May, 1790, but with the name of the magazine erased from the top margin.

SMITH. History of New-York, from the First Discovery to the Year M.DCC.XXXIII. To which is annexed, a description of the country, with a short account of the inhabitants, their religious and political state, and the constitution of the courts of justice in that colony. . . . By William Smith, A.M. With a Continuation, From the Year 1732, to the Commencement of the Year 1814. Albany: Printed by Ryer Schermerhorn. Sold by himself and G. Forbes, Albany; H. Stockwell, Troy; A. Seward, Utica; and Andrus & Starr, Hartford. 1814. 8vo, pp. 511, contents (1).

AAS., B., C., H., HEH., NYP., WHS. 84569

The "Continuation," pp. 391-505, followed by notes, covers the years from 1732 to 1747, and was written by Mr. John Van Ness Yates, according to Dr. George H. Moore in the Catalogue of the New York Historical Society, 1859, p. 550.

SMITH. [Caption of page 1:] Continuation of the History of New-York. [Serial title:] Collections of the New-York Historical Society, for the year 1826. Volume IV. New-York: Printed for the Society, by J. Seymour. 1826. 8vo, title of Collections for 1826, vol. 4, verso blank, dedication to the Earl of Dalhousie, verso blank, advertisement by the author's son, verso notice by the Society, contents, verso blank, pp. 308. BA., C., HSP., NYH., NYP. 84570

Covers the period from 1732 to 1762, in seven chapters. This continuation was left in manuscript by the historian, and was edited with a few verbal alterations and corrections by his son William, the historian of Canada, according to the latter's "Advertisement," dated Quebec, August 4th, 1824. His dedication to the Earl of Dalhousie is dated Quebec, August 10th, 1824.

The original manuscript of this part of the work is owned by the New York Public Library. It is a part of the collection of William Smith Papers, which includes one atlas folio volume, seven folio volumes and one portfolio of loose papers secured in 1915 by the Library from the London bookseller Francis Edwards, with the addition of six boxes of miscellaneous papers secured in 1919. The manuscript of the "Continuation" fills 230 unnumbered pages of vol. 1 (the atlas folio) and includes the period 1732-1758, or pages 1-272 of the published work. The manuscript is continued on pp. 421-475 of vol. 2 of the Smith Papers, covering the period 1759-1762, or pp.

272-308 of the published work, with five explanatory paragraphs omitted at the end. The four following volumes and parts of two others contain the further continuation of the history under the title: "Historical Memoirs of the Province of New York, or, Journal of Public Events, from 1753 to 1783." This material remains entirely unpublished. It is followed by a variety of historical material, notes, transcripts and a few inserted printed documents and newspapers relative to the history of the colony, chiefly in the autograph of William Smith, whose bookplate appears in two of the volumes. It seems probable, from a comparison of the published part of the manuscript with the printed text, that a clean copy was made for the use of the printer, who did not preserve it after the work appeared in print. The few improvements in phraseology to be found in the manuscript in another hand (probably that of the author's son) were included in the fair copy furnished to the New York Historical Society for publication. The printed text is, almost without exception, a verbatim copy of that in the original manuscript as corrected, only a very few verbal changes having been made. Nothing is omitted or added except the five paragraphs omitted at the end. These consist of a brief personal explanation of the reasons for writing the continuation, written by the author for the information of his son, and form no part of the history itself. There are, however, scores of passages of the original manuscript, crossed out by the author, which remain unpublished and which contain much of historical importance.

The Continuation was first issued independently, as vol. 4 of the Collections, but when the Society decided to issue a reprint of the history of 1757, that volume number was assigned to the original work and the Continuation was renumbered vol. 5. Some copies of the Continuation were issued exactly as above except that before the title of the Collections for 1826, was placed a new title of the Collections for 1830, vol. 5. H., NYH. It was later reissued as vol. 2 of the following set.

SMITH. The History of the late Province of New-York, from its Discovery, to the Appointment of Governor Colden, in 1762. By the Hon. William Smith, Formerly of New-York, and late Chief Justice of Lower Canada. Vol. I. [II.] New-York: Published under the Direction of the New-York Historical Society. 1829. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. xvi, 320; (6), 308.

B., BA., C., H., HSP., MHS., NYH., NYP., WHS. 84571

First or series title: Collections of the New-York Historical Society, for the year 1829. [1830.] Volume IV. [V.] New-York: Printed for the Society. 1829. [1830.]

Vol. 1, first issue. Collation: title of Collections for 1829, vol. 4, verso blank, title of History, verso blank, Notice pp. [v]-vi, Contents, verso blank, Memoir [ix]-xvi, 320. NYH., Astor and Bancroft copies in NYP. In this issue it should be noted that there is no copyright on the verso of the title; the pagination of the Notice [v]-vi allows for the Collections title as well as the title-page of the History; as in the earlier volumes 1-3 of the Collections there are no regular running headings, each page merely bearing at the top the number of one of the Parts I-V of the History; printed on somewhat thinner paper than the 1830 thick paper edition. The Lenox copy in NYP. of this issue has in vol. 1, following regular History title-page, a copy of the History title-page of the second issue with copyright notice on its verso; and in vol. 2, following regular Collections title-page, a Collections title-page reset in different type and printed on a yellower, stiffer paper, with a pencilled notation on its upper margin: "Reprint of the title, for George H. Moore," [then Librarian New York Historical Society.] Both these title-pages are inserted and not a part of the original work.

Vol. 1, second issue. Collation: title-page of the History with 1829 copyright notice on verso, Notice pp. [3]-4, Memoir [ix]-xvi, 320. Two NYH. copies, one on thick, one on thin paper, Ford copy in NYP. on thick paper. In this issue the copyright is added on verso of title and, since there is no series title, the Notice is paged [3]-4. The Contents is omitted. Running headings are added in italics at the top of each page of text, History of New-York on pp. 2-249, and Appendix on remaining pages. Generally printed on somewhat thicker paper than first issue but there is an impression on thin paper in NYH. With exceptions noted, printed from same setting of type as first issue. In this edition the dedication to the Earl of Halifax and the author's preface are omitted. The Memoir was written by the author's son, William Smith of Canada and treats briefly of the public and private life of his father. A change contemplated by the author was carried out when the description of the Province, pp. 181-255 of the first edition, was placed at the end as an appendix, pp. 251-320.

The "Notice" by the Committee of Publication of the Society, dated, City of New-York, Nov. 16, 1829, and signed by John W. Francis, John Delafield, and David Hosack, states that the "present volumes, now for the first time associated, contain the History of the State of New-York from its first discovery to the year 1762 . . . with the author's last alterations and additions from the original manuscripts." The first volume is a reprint of the original edition of 1757, and carries the account to 1732. The source of the changes in this first part of the history has been discovered to be the author's own copy of the first edition with manuscript notes. A comparison of that volume with this one published by the Society in 1829, shows that a large number of the author's corrections and additions were incorporated in the latter work. The changes in orthography made by Mr. Smith were mainly in modernizing the spelling of words such as governour, publick, etc., with a few corrections of errors. Some such changes indicated by him were not introduced. Many of his long notes were added sometimes following closely, and sometimes varying in form. On the other hand many of his notes were not printed, especially in the latter part of the book where whole passages written on the margins and inserted leaves are disregarded. It seems probable that the author's own corrected copy of the first edition was not used for printer's copy but that another volume, possibly of a later edition, was prepared for that purpose by someone, no doubt William Smith, the son, editor of the Continuation, who only reproduced the notes which he felt would add value to the new edition. Additional indications of this are the clean appearance of the book, the fact there is nothing to show that some notes are not to be printed, and occasional alterations of spelling in which the author's revised spelling is not used though more in accordance with modern usage than the form actually printed, e. g. the author on page 46 corrected Messilimakinæ to Michilimakinack, while the form in the 1829 edition, page 63, is Messilimakinac.

Vol. 2, first issue. Exact reissue of the Continuation of 1826, with addition of new title-page as vol. 5 of the Collections, dated 1830, inserted before title-page of vol. 4 of the Collections, dated 1826, and having no title-page as vol. 2 of the History. H., NYH. Issued with vol. 1, first issue.

Vol. 2, second issue. Collation: title of Collections for 1830, vol. 5, verso blank, title of the History, vol. 2, 1829, verso blank, dated Advertisement by the author's son, verso blank, pp. 308. NYH., Astor and Bancroft copies in NYF. Leaves containing History title and Advertisement on thick paper, leaf containing Collections title and pp. 1-308 on thin paper for the most part. Issued with vol. 1, first issue.

Vol. 2, third issue. Collation: title of the History, vol. 2, 1829, verso blank, dated Advertisement, verso blank, pp. 308. NYH., Ford copy in NYF. This issue lacks Collections title-page and is generally found printed on somewhat thicker paper than in first issue, though there is a thin paper copy in NYH. Issued with vol. 1, second issue.

In the second and third issues of this edition of the Continuation the dedication to the Earl of Dalhousie, the notice by the Society, and the contents are omitted. The notice was no longer required because of the statement by the Committee in vol. 1. The preliminary pages are from a different setting of type from that of the 1826 issue, but the text, pp. 1-308, is from the same except that running headings in italics were added, Smith's Continuation of the on the verso, and History of New-York on the recto of the leaves.

SMITH. The History of the late Province of New-York, from its Discovery, to the Appointment of Governor Colden, in 1762. By

AAS., BA., C., JCB., NYH., NYP. 84572

Vol. 1, first issue. Collation: half title, verso blank, title-page dated 1829, verso containing copyright notice, Notice [v]-vi, Contents, verso blank, Memoir [ix]-xvi, 390. NYH., Astor copy in NYP. Another copy of this issue of vol. 1 has the same collation, except that the 1830 title-page has been inserted after the 1829 title-page, though not a part of the volume. Lenox copy in NYP., lacking half title.

Vol. 1, second issue. Same collation as first issue, except that title-page is dated 1830. Copies on both thick and thin paper in NYH.

Vol. 2. Collation: half title, verso blank, title-page dated 1830, verso containing copyright notice, undated Advertisement, verso blank, Contents, verso blank, 390. Two copies in NYH., one on thick and one on thin paper; Astor copy on thick and Lenox copy, lacking half title, on thin paper, NYP. Issued with both issues of vol. 1.

The issues of this edition are, except for the Memoir, from a larger size of type than that of the preceding edition. The other preliminary pages are reset, as an examination of the Notice, pp. [v]-vi, makes clear, marked differences appearing in the number of lines on the two pages and the fact that the date follows instead of precedes the names of the committee. Many of the longer footnotes are taken from the text and placed at the end, vol. 1, pp. 383-390 and vol. 2, pp. 377-390. The running headings are in roman instead of italic type, the wording of the headings in vol. 2 having been changed to read uniformly with those of vol. 1. Both vols. issued with half titles, though frequently they have been removed in rebinding. The paper of both volumes is thicker than in any previous edition in most of the copies issued, though there are thin paper copies in NYH. and NYP.

Colophon of nos. 2-4: New-York: | Printed by J. Parker, at the New-Printing-Office, in Beaver-Street. | By whom Letters to the Author are carefully delivered. |

Numbers 2-4 paged consecutively 5-16, were published on Sept. 14 and 21, and Oct. 5 of the same year. On p. 14 of the anonymous "Preface" written by Livingston in 1754 for his reissue of the "Independent Reflector," he states that "thro' the irresolution or corruption of the Printer [Parker] and his various devices to embrace the Reverberator, that paper was not continued beyond four Numbers."

That Smith was a moving spirit in the publication is made evident by a manuscript in his hand in the collection of his papers, in the New York Public Library, having the heading: "The Reverberator. Number I Thursday Sept. 1753." Below is a prefatory note or prospectus of the proposed publication which is practically the same as the following which appeared in the first issue of "The Occasional Reverberator?"

"The Enemies of Liberty, and a Freedom of Reflection, having by the most iniquitous Arts, engrossed the New-York Mercury, and utterly excluded their Antagonists from a fair Hearing in that Paper; and the Printers of the Gazette declining the Insertion of any Thing, that savours of political or religious Controversy; the Author has thought proper to set up this, and proposes to continue it on Fridays, as often as occasion shall require.

"From the Independent Reflector, against whom the most foul-mouthed Invectives are perpetually disgorged, which the Design of his Paper prevents him from answering, I hope, for frequent Assistance . . .

"As it cannot be expected, that the Author should support this Paper at his private Expence, he has fixed the Price for Subscribers, at Ten Shillings per Annum, for fifty two Papers . . . and those who decline subscribing may purchase them of the Printer at Three Pence each."

As is evident from the above, the "Reverberator" was published in support of "The Independent Reflector," the organ of William Livingston, John Morin Scott, and William Smith, our no. 34452, vol. 9. Smith's connection with the latter weekly is made very clear by another draft in his hand, also in the New York Public Library, of an article with a heading above for a projected periodical, "The New York Guardian," to be published "Thursday November 1752." The "Guardian" was never brought out but the first number of the "Independent Reflector" appeared on Thursday, Nov. 30, 1752, and the number for January 18, 1753, contained Smith's article, signed "A". The same signature is found at the end of many of the contributions to that paper. For "Independent Reflector," see Clarence S. Brigham's "Bibliography of American newspapers," in American Antiquarian Society Proceedings, 1917, pp. 443-444.

The "Independent Reflector" in its series of articles on public and religious questions had antagonized the Church of England group so influential in the colony, especially in the discussions relating to the preponderance of that body in the government of King's College. Replies were published in Gaine's "New-York Mercury." Other articles supporting the "Reflector" were published in Parker's "New-York Gazette," and one signed by "Philo Reflector" caused the withdrawal of some of Parker's subscribers. Finally when neither Gaine nor Parker would longer print the contributions in support of the "Reflector," in their papers, the "Occasional Reverberator" was started, but as stated above, Parker refused to print more than four numbers. For an account of the controversy, see Ford's "Journals of Hugh Gaine," 1902, pp. 9-19, and Sedgwick's "Memoir of the Life of William Livingston," 1833, pp. 74-96.

"Philo Reflector" was a composite of Livingston, Smith, and Scott. Among the William Smith papers in the New York Public Library, is a manuscript of the preface to the edition of "The Craftsmen," our no. 17350, vol. 5, republished by them in 1753, and the handwriting of all three can be distinguished in various parts of the draft, which is signed "Philo-Reflector." Information as to the above manuscripts from Wilmer R. Leech.

The first number of the "Occasional Reverberator" was an attack on Hugh Gaine, and the later ones carried on the dispute with the Episcopalians.

The volumes of the "Laws of New-York," published in 1752 and 1762, our nos. 53730 and 53732, vol. 13, were digested by William Livingston and William Smith. For an account by Victor H. Paltsits of the collection of the papers of Chief Justice Smith sold en bloc at Sotheby's in June, 1919, and acquired shortly thereafter by the New York Public Library, see Stokes's "Iconography," vol. 6, 1928, p. 229. A memorial of Mr. Smith dated 8th September, 1782, and other papers relating to his claims against the British government for his losses incurred as a loyalist, are found in vol. 3, pp. 349-354, and vol. 5, pp. 75-76, 131-132, and 395, of the series of transcripts prepared for the New York Public Library of papers relating to the American loyalists preserved among the American manuscripts in the Royal Institution. A later memorial of his, dated 17th March, 1784, with evidence on the memorial, is included in the similar series of transcripts of papers on the same subject among the Audit Office papers in the Public Record Office, vol. 44, pp. 607-631.

+ [Another issue with same title, imprint and date.] 8vo, pp. (16), 55, 26. HEH., WHS. 84577

Improved title of our no. 96, vol. 1. Dr. Smith was one of the agents appointed by the Illinois and Wabash Land Companies to manage their affairs in Congress. The 1802 prospectus of his "Works" includes, among writings to be printed in the later volumes of that collection, papers on the Illinois and Wabash lands. The historical introduction of thirteen pages gives a sketch of the purchase of lands on the east side of the Mississippi River, from the Kaskaskia, Peoria, and Cahokia tribes of the Illinois Indians, by William Murray and others for the Illinois Company, in July, 1773; and of the purchase of lands on both sides of the Wabash River, from the Piankashaw Indians, by Lewis Viviat and others for the Wabash Company, in October, 1775; together with an account of the merging of the two companies by Articles of Union, and Constitution, ratified April 29, 1780, under the name of the United Illinois and Ouabache Land Companies.

The two Indian Deeds of 1773 and 1775 form pp. 1-26; and are followed by a "State of Facts," dated December, 1791, 27-30; with arguments, documents and memorial submitted therewith to the Senate and House by the committee, James Wilson, William Smith and John Shee, 31-51; and the reports of the Senate and House committees on the preceding memorial, 52-55. Bound in the same contemporary bluish gray paper covers are a Memorial of January, 1797, and three additional statements relating thereto, which had evidently also been issued separately at different times, for distribution to the members of Congress. They are on three different kinds of paper, and of two styles of typography, no. I. being printed apparently by the printer of the "Memorial," and nos. II. and III. by a different printer. The titles of these four documents formerly entered briefly as our no. 34294, vol. 9, are as follows:

Memorial | of the | Illinois and Wabash | Land Company. | 13th January, 1797. | Referred to Mr. Jeremiah Smith, | Mr. Kittera, and | Mr. Baldwin. | Published by order of the House of | Representatives. | Philadelphia: | Printed by Richard Folwell. | [1797.] pp. 8. Signed by James Wilson, President, on behalf of the Company.

No. I. | To the | Committees | of the | Senate & House of Representatives, | on the | Illinois and Wabash Memorial. | [n. p. n. d.] pp. 8.

No. II. | Additional Statements | by the | Agents of the | Illinois and Wabash Land Companies. | [n. p. n. d.] pp. 7.

No. III. | To the | Honorable Committees | of the | Senate & House of Representatives | of the United States, | on the | Illinois and Wabash Land Purchases. | [n. p. n. d.] pp. 7.

The three statements are unsigned but at the close of the third is a note that the "Agents appointed by the Illinois and Wabash Companies to manage this business in Congress, are the President and Council, viz. James Wilson, Esq. President, Robert Morris, Esq. William Smith, D.D. John Steinmetz, and John Nicholson, Council." The supply of the three statements following the Memorial evidently gave out, and a new printing of that part of the pamphlet was included in the copies which were issued later, paged continuously with the Memorial, pp. 9-26. There appears to have been a second issue of the Account as well, for there are several type changes in that part of the work in the second issue in HEH. The Boston Athenæum Library has a separate issue of the "Memorial" of January 13, 1797, without imprint, and bound in a volume of the House Documents, 4th Cong., 2nd sess., 1796-1797.

[SMITH.] An Account of the Proceedings of the Illinois and Ouabache Land Companies, in persuance of their purchases made of the Independent Natives, July 5th, 1773, and 18th October, 1775. Philadelphia: Printed by William Duane, No. 106, Market Street. 1803. 8vo, pp. 14, 74. H., HSP., NYP., P., WHS. 84578

Issued following the "Memorial of the Illinois and Ouabache Land Companies . . . presented at the sessions, 1802," our no. 34295, vol. 9, and included in the same contemporary bluish gray paper covers. On page 3 of the "Memorial" it is stated that the "Account" is annexed for the convenience of members of Congress. The sheet marks are not continuous, so that it is likely that the latter was also issued separately. The Memorial of 1797, and the three other statements of the agents of the United Illinois and Wabash Companies bound with the first edition are also reprinted here.

Contents: Introduction, pp. 3-14; Indian Deeds, pp. 1-21; State of Facts, 21-24; arguments, documents and memorial submitted therewith, pp. 25-41; reports of Senate and House committees on the preceding memorial, pp. 42-44; Memorial . . . 13th January, 1797, pp. 45-53; additional statements numbered I-III, pp. 55-74.

Plate. APS., BA., HSP. 84579

In Griffin's Catalogue of the Washington Collection in the Boston Athenæum, it is stated that the authorship is attributed by means of a letter from Washington to Smith, quoted as follows: "I thank you for your printed account of Washington College. Mount Vernon 25th. Augt. 1784." A partial reprint is found in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, vol. 2, pp. 65-76.

A separate issue of the new material contained in the second edition of Dr. Smith's "Discourses," the same sheets being used, although this necessitated including a reprint of the sermon, "On planting the Sciences in America," which had already appeared in the first edition. The gap in the paging of the appendices results from the fact that some material was omitted as having appeared in the first edition. According to the preface on the second preliminary leaf, "A New Edition of the Author's Discourses on public Occasions, during the War in America, being now in the Press, with the following additional Discourses and Pieces; he thought it was incumbent on him to publish the additional part separately, that he might do no Injustice to the Purchasers of the former Edition, to whose kind Encouragement it was owing that a second was so soon wanted." The New York Historical Society copy lacks the last two leaves, pp. 103-106.

Signed "William Smith." Title supplied by Miss Laura E. Hanson. The charter had been withdrawn by an act of November 27, 1779, because of the clauses insisting on the allegiance of its officers to the British government, and because of the alleged pro-British attitude of Provost Smith and others. Its estates were given to the newly chartered "University of the State of Pennsylvania," and Dr. Smith devoted himself to the development of an academy in Chestertown, Md., into Washington College. In March, 1789, the Assembly restored the charter of the College of Philadelphia, stating that the Act of 1779 was "repugnant to justice, a violation of the constitution of the commonwealth, and dangerous in its precedent to all incorporated bodies, and to the rights and franchises thereof." Dr. Smith returned to Philadelphia as head of the revived College. In September, 1791, the two Philadelphia institutions were united as the "University of Pennsylvania," under a charter drawn by him, Dr. John Ewing being elected provost. See Carey and Bioren's "Laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," 1803, vol. 2, pp. 223-229; vol. 3, pp. 302-306; vol. 4, pp. 110-112; and, H. W. Smith's "Life and Correspondence of the Rev. William Smith," 1880, vol. 2, scattered pages.

SMITH. Agreement between William Smith and others as William Smith & Co. and certain adventurers and proposed settlers concerning 1,000,000 acres of land in Nova Scotia. [Philadelphia.
1765?] Folio, pp. 4. 84583

Title from Hildeburn, no. 1614, where the date is given as about 1759. Our change is made for the following reasons. Alexander McNutt, the promoter of colonization in Nova Scotia, visited Philadelphia in 1764, and aroused interest in his projects among numbers of prominent Pennsylvanians. In March of the following year he returned to Nova Scotia, with a few families of settlers, and agents of those interested in obtaining grants of land. On April 30, 1765, Governor Wilmot of Nova Scotia wrote to the Lords of Trade, enclosing a list of applicants for lands, in which appear the names of ten Philadelphia companies and individuals, with the amount of land applied for in each case. Among them are "William Smith [possibly the Provost of the College of Philadelphia] & Co., Philadelphia, 100,000 acres," and "Dr. [Benjamin] Franklin & Co., Philadelphia, 200,000 acres." The Grant Books at Halifax show that grants of land, in what is now New Brunswick, were issued to William Smith and others, on October 31st, 1765. A vague reference to the failure of settlers destined for this property "of Dr. Smith & Co.," because of insufficient preparation, is found in the copy of a letter from Jno. Eagleson to Rev. Dr. Alison, dated at Halifax, October 23, 1767, which is in the collection of the Franklin papers in the library of the American Philosophical Society. Franklin wrote in 1772, in his reply to the Report of the Board of Trade, that those "many principal persons in Pennsylvania," as is observed in the representation, "whose names and association lie before your Majesty in Council, for the purpose of making settlements in Nova Scotia," have, several years since, been convinced of the impracticability of exciting settlers to move from the middle colonies and settle in that province; and even of those who were prevailed on to go . . . the greater part of them returned with great complaints against the severity and length of the winters." See Smyth's edition of the "Writings of Benjamin Franklin," 1906, vol. 5, pp. 508-509; Raymond's "Colonel Alexander McNutt and the Pre-Loyalist Settlements of Nova Scotia," in Royal Soc. of Canada, "Proceedings and Transactions," for 1911, 3rd ser., vol. 5, sect. 2, pp. 85-86; Eaton's "Alexander McNutt, the Colonizer," in "Americana," vol. 8, 1913, pp. 1074-1076; and Sawtelle's paper on "Acadia: the Pre-Loyalist Migration and the Philadelphia Plantation," in the "Pennsylvania Magazine," vol. 51, 1927, pp. 244-285. Congdon, Chief Clerk of the Department of Lands & Forests of the province.

The dedication to "His Excellency George Washington, Esq. General and Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States of America," is signed and dated, William Smith, G. Secretary, June 24, 1782. According to the preface, the "design of the following work . . . is only to extract, abridge and digest under distinct heads, the several parts of Ahiman Rezon, so as to be most intelligible and useful to Operative Masons in America." The digest is preceded by a letter of John Locke containing "Certayne Questyons, with Answeres to the same, concernynge the Mystery of Maconrye," said to have been originally written by the "Hande of Kynge Henrye the Sixthe of the Name," together with a glossary for the same, pp. 1-12; the Ahiman Rezon, itself, comprises pp. 13-114; a collection of Masons' songs, pp. 115-144; the Smith Sermon, which had been printed separately in 1779, see no. 84668 below, forms pp. 145-162 and has a separate title-page as follows:

A | Sermon | Preached in | Christ-Church, Philadelphia, | (For the Benefit of the Poor) | by appointment of and before | the General Communication | of | Free and Accepted Masons | of the | State of Pennsylvania, | On Monday, December 28, 1778. |

delphia. | Philadelphia: Re-printed by Hall and Sellers. | MDCCLXXXIII. | It is followed by a "Short Account of the Procession of the Brethren to and from Church," pp. 163-164, and "A Prayer, by William Smith, D.D. and Grand Secretary, At the Opening the First Grand Communcation, December 20th, 1779, in the Grand Lodge of Philadelphia, after some Years Interruption from the American War," pp. 165-166.

The frontispiece is an engraving of "The Arms of ye most Ancient & Honorable Fraternity, of Free and Accepted Masons," above and "The Arms of the Operative or Stone Masons," below, Printed by Kinnan & Leacock.

[SMITH, editor.] The | American Magazine | and | Monthly Chronicle for the British Colonies. | Volume I. | Containing | From October 1757 to October 1758 | inclusive. | By a Society of Gentlemen. | . . . | Philadelphia. | Printed and Sold by William Bradford, at the Corner House in | Front and Market-Streets. | [1757-1758.] 8vo, pp. (2), 656, index (6). HSP., JCB., NYP. 84585

Improved title of our no. 1133, vol. 1. Published in thirteen monthly numbers, that for October, 1758, being called a supplement to vol. I., and the last number published. The discontinuance is explained on p. 656, "as several of the principal hands who first engaged in it, are now obliged to give their constant attention to other matters, the carrying on the work falls too heavy on the remainder, so that it has been determined to discontinue it, at least for some time." Smith is well known to have been the editor. On November 10, 1757, he wrote to George Washington asking his assistance in procuring subscribers, and furnishing material for the account of the war to be published in each number. "Send the Subscribers Names for the Magazine to me, but do not mention my name to any Body . . . W. Smith." See S. M. Hamilton's "Letters to Washington," vol. 2, 1899, pp. 233-234. Besides editing the magazine, Smith wrote for it several series of articles: "The Antigallican," "The Planter," "The Prattler" (authority: T. H. Montgomery's History of University of Pennsylvania, 1900, p. 334), and "The Watchman" (reprinted from newspapers, according to Mott's History of American magazines, 1930, p. 81). "The Hermit," which appeared in eight numbers, was reprinted in his "Works," 1803, part 2 of vol. 1, pp. 93-152. "An earnest Address to the Colonies," no. 5 of "The Watchman," in April, 1758, was reprinted in the 1759 and 1762 editions of his "Discourses," and in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 1, pp. 188-192. According to the 1802 prospectus of his collected "Works," which credits him with all of the above works except "The Prattler," Smith had intended to reprint some of the other series also.

On the title-pages of the first twelve numbers appears a woodcut of an Indian, with a gun, standing between two colonists. The Englishman is apparently offering him a Bible and a legal document, and the Frenchman, a tomahawk and a bag of money. Below is the proverb, "Prævalebit Æquior." A facsimile title-page of the first number (October, 1757) appears in Oberholtzer's "Lit. Hist. of Phil.," 1906, p. 65. The magazine was printed on two kinds of paper. There are a number of mispagings which are different in the thin paper and thick paper copies, and the sheetmarks differ on what should be pp. 281 and 283. Nevertheless the pages do not appear to have been reset.

In the preface to the first number it is stated that "the society of managers here, as well as their correspondents abroad, are persons whose talents and views in life are very different, and that neither religious nor party distinctions, nor any other consideration but the intrinsic merit of those concerned, had any share in pointing them out to bear a part of the work. Some are accordingly of one temper and disposition, and some of another. Some are grave and serious, while others are gay and facetious; some have a turn for matters of state and government, while others are led to the study of commerce, agriculture or the mechanic arts; some indulge themselves in the belles-lettres and in productions of wit and fancy, while others are wrapt up in speculation and wholly bent on the abstruser parts of philosophy and science."

AAS., C., HEH., HSP., JCB., NYP. 84586

Improved title of our no. 25577, vol. 7. The "Pennsylvania Journal" for November 1, 1764, contained a "Protest" signed by John Dickinson and nine others against the action of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania in choosing Dr. Franklin to serve as agent of the province in England. Isaac Hunt in his anonymous "A Humble Attempt at Scurrility," 1765, pp. 10-11, wrote that the "Protest" was "well known to be drawn up by the pitiful Mr. D——n, revised, corrected and amended by the Rev. Sentiment-dresser-General of the Pr——ry Party," [Dr. Smith]. See also Hunt's "No. III. A Continuation of the Exercises, in Scurrility Hall," 1765, p. 7: "Pr. . . . But tell me, did the Black Smith write the answer? Sir J. What is it 'to you or I who did it? May Bee would ha' done it better: but they would not trust him. It was 'fundamentally conceived' by cousin Ned: and the Doctor lent the obstetrick Hand."

Reprinted by H. W. Smith in his "Life" of the Provost, vol. 1, 1879, pp. 587-590, and also issued separately in 1878 with title beginning "The Reasons on which were founded, The Protest offered by certain members of the Assembly." It was also included by Ford in his edition of the "Writings of John Dickinson," vol. 1, 1895, pp. 147-154. Dr. Franklin published in reply his "Remarks on a late Protest," [1764], our no. 25576, vol. 7. A German translation of the "Protest" and the "Remarks" upon it was printed by Sauer at the time, our no. 66215, vol. 15. Though Mr. Dickinson prepared in manuscript "Observations on Mr. Franklin's Remarks," printed by Ford, pp. 155-167, the "Answer" by Dr. Smith was chosen to carry on the printed controversy. This was included by H. W. Smith in the list of his ancestor's works found in the "Life," vol. 2, 1880. William Franklin wrote to William Strahan on February 18, 1765, that since his father had left for England "Mr. Allen one of the principal Propy Tools in Pensylvania has employ'd that Miscreant Parson Smith, and two or three other Prostitute Writers to asperse his Character . . ." and that Mr. Hughes, one of his father's friends, had published an advertisement offering to pay £10 to the Hospital for every charge they could prove, provided they would pay £5 for each which they failed to prove. "But this Challenge they were afraid to accept, and therefore still kept their Names concealed; but they endeavoured to turn all Mr. Hughes's Challenge into Ridicule . . . by an anonymous Answer. He, however, published a Reply with his Name subscribed, in which he has lash'd them very severely for their Baseness. Not being able to answer this, they employ'd one Dove . . . to publish a Print with some Verses annex'd, vilifying my Father and some of the most worthy Men of the Province. By way of Revenge some Writer [Isaac Hunt in his "A Humble Attempt?"] has attack'd them in their own Way, and turn'd all Dove's Verses against Mr. Allen . . ." See Smyth's "Writings of Benjamin Franklin," vol. 10, 1907, pp. 219-220.

The type was kept standing for some time, slight differences being noted in three copies, which may be called A, B and C, in the New York Public Library, and which are in the main from the same setting of type. The most marked differences are as follows: p. 3 of copy A ends with the word "Protesters." The other two copies, B and C, have two lines from p. 4 moved back to this page to make room for a few additional words on line 20 of page 5 and for a new clause at the foot of that page. On p. 21, line 23, of copy C there is a change in wording, and at the foot of that page two more lines are given in the quotation, the reference to Churchill being transferred to p. 22, which ends with an N. B. note, not found in copies A and B. Reprinted in Walker's "Extracts from Chief Justice William Allen's Letter Book," 1897, pp. 99-131.

A translation of Smith's "Answer to Mr. Franklin's Remarks," 1764, above. Sauer is given as the printer in Hildeburn, and in Seidensticker's "First Century of German Printing in America," 1893, and though some of the ornaments in this work resemble those in the Sauer quarto "Bible" of 1763, we cannot say with absolute certainty that this pamphlet was from his press.

Improved title of our no. 7876, vol. 2. Signed: "By Order, and in Behalf of, the Trustees-General, William Smith, Secy." For a German translation, see "Eine Kurtze Nachricht," below. H. W. Smith in his "Life" of the Provost, vol. 1, 1879, p. 88, from the minutes of the trustees, gives the number of copies printed of the English and German versions of this History as follows: "English copies, 800, Dutch copies, 1,000, Dutch and English copies, 500, 2,300 in all." It is possible that this means that some copies were made up containing both the English and German versions.

The Society as formed in 1754 consisted of fifteen persons headed by the Earl of Shaftesbury, and with Dr. Samuel Chandler as Secretary. Lieutenant Governor Hamilton, Chief Justice Allen, Richard Peters, Benjamin Franklin, Conrad Weiser and William Smith were asked to serve as the trustees in Pennsylvania. In a letter of May 30th, 1754, Mr. Smith in accepting the responsibility for himself and the others dwelt upon the political value of assimilating the Germans rather than allowing them to be drawn off by the French into their settlements on the Ohio. The purposes of the society were to be accomplished by "encouragement of pious and peacable ministers and schoolmasters," and by establishing schools. See H. W. Smith's "Life," vol. 1, passim.

AAS., B., H., HEH., HSP., JCB., NYP. 84589

An attack on the Quakers for their policy in the Assembly of refusing support to plans for the defense of the Province, and accusing them of influencing the ignorant German vote by improper means. The remedy suggested is the forcing of all members of the Assembly to take the oath of allegiance to the king, and disenfranchising the Germans until they should understand the language and constitution of the Province. Means of bringing about this education are outlined.

Reprinted from an article by Smith published in the London "Evening Advertiser," according to Scharf and Westcott's "History of Philadelphia," vol. 1, 1884, p. 250.

Cross's anonymous "Answer to an invidious Pamphlet," 1755, p. 2, our no. 17666, vol. 5, stated that the "person who wrote the letter is very well known to be a Smith, a proper tool enough for the club who employed him." Isaac Hunt in his anonymous "No. VI. A Continuation of the Exercises in Scurrility Hall," 1765, p. 3, speaks of "the cursing perjured parson . . . from whose virulent pen can flow the pestilential Streams of the Brief State . . ." According to a manuscript note in a copy seen by Rich, Smith was assisted by Franklin. For extracts from the pamphlet, see the "Monthly Review," vol. 12, pp. 191-199, March, 1755. A different setting of type from that of the first edition, though the same title-page was used, the upper lines of type were brought closer together to make room for the words "second edition." It contains in the footnotes to pp. 31-32, an "Extract of a Letter, dated Philadelphia, January 2. 1755," not found in the first edition.

The letter is dated "Philadelphia, December 8, 1755," and the postscript, "December 15th." Includes a discussion of the published criticisms, both favorable and adverse, of the writer's "Brief State," and defends his previous position. The attack upon the Quakers in the Assembly for neglecting the defense of the Province is continued, and some of the Indian raids are described. At the foot of p. 88 is an announcement of the forthcoming third edition of "A Brief State." For a synopsis, see the "Monthly Review," vol. 14, pp. 208-223, March, 1756. An abridgement in French is included on pp. 21-78 of the "État présent de la Pensilvanie," 1756, our no. 19370, vol. 5, which is usually attributed to the Abbé Jean Ignace de la Ville. In a letter to Bishop Secker, dated, Philadelphia, November 1st, 1756, Smith claims the authorship of another article on the same subject, as follows: "To conceive Your Lordship, however, with what temper I have managed my part of the opposition to such destructive tenets, I enclose a paper called Plain Truth, which I hope your Lordship will also peruse, as it will give a most striking representation of the present state of the province, and the moderation as well as warmth of those arguments by which we are obliged to combat the doctrines that have so long most unnaturally tied up our hands, and exposed us to be passively Slaughtered by a cruel foe." See H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 1, pp. 145-149. For a reply to the above attacks, see "A True and Impartial State of the Province of Pennsylvania," 1759, our no. 60742, vol. 14. See Hildeburn's note on the latter title.

SMITH. Montgomery states in his "History of the University of Pennsylvania," 1900, p. 290, that of seven graduates, before whom the second part of this discourse was delivered, four entered the ministry. The second part of this discourse, which was delivered May 17, 1757, was first printed in Smith's "Discourses," 1759, pp. 129-155. The entire discourse is reprinted, with some corrections made by Bishop Newton, in Smith's "Additional Discourses," 1762, pp. 5-53; in his "Discourses," 1762, pp. 117-165; and, in his "Works," 1803, vol. 2, pp. 308-350. It is inaccurately stated in Smith's "Works," 1803, vol. 2, p. 337, that the second part was delivered in May, 1761. The last leaf contains an advertisement of Smith's "Discourses on Several Public Occasions," London, 1759.

After some copies had been published the leaf C 2 of the appendices, containing part of the author's preface to the reprint of the General Idea of the College of Mirania, was cancelled. C., НЕН., JCB., NYP., WHS. That this cancellation was intentional is shown by the fact that the reprint of this preface in the "Works," 1803, omits the part printed on the missing leaf. A mistake in the paging would indicate two more pages lacking, but except for the cancelled leaf, C 2, signatures B and C are complete. Note on verso of title: N. B. The Discourses and Essays that are marked with an Asterisk, in the foregoing Title Page, and also one of the Funeral Discourses, were not in the First Edition, and are to be had separately.

From the same setting of type as the preceding issue, but with a different imprint. Probably the later issue, as the second leaf of the preface to the reprint of the General Idea of the College of Mirania has been cancelled in all four of the copies examined. A copy in the Huntington Library has the following collation: pp. xvi, 128, 17-112, 31, (2), 39-160; signatures B-K, i.e. pp. 17-112, of "Additional Discourses" above were substituted for signatures K-P, i.e. pp. 129-224, both being from the same setting of type, except for the discourse numbers and the signature marks.

On the verso of the second leaf, Smith acknowledges the assistance of David Rittenhouse, Thomas Jefferson, Jonathan Williams, and Benjamin Rush. The appendix, pp. i-v, contains some of Franklin's papers referred to in the eulogium. Reprinted in Smith's "Works," 1803, part 2 of vol. 1, pp. 42-92. In this reprint he added a postscript, pp. 91-92, which contains "Verses on the late Dr. Franklin" by Rev. Jonathan Odell, secretary of the British province of New-Brunswick. According to a family tradition related in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 2, p. 344, Smith was taxed by his daughter Rebecca on his return home, with not having meant all that he said of "old Ben Lightning-rod." He is said to have laughed heartily, without either affirming or denying the charge.

the pamphlet, is found on pp. 487-489 of vol. 1 of H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost. The appendix contains "Copies and Extracts of sundry ancient Charters and Papers referred to . . . in the foregoing Sheets," and the "Author acknowledges himself indebted . . . to a worthy Gentleman long conversant in the Affairs of Connecticut . . ." for them.

By her charter of 1662 Connecticut was granted jurisdiction over the lands included between lines formed by the extension of her northern and southern boundaries, westward to the South Sea, with the exception of that lying in New York. She claimed that these lines included land which Pennsylvania believed to be hers under Penn's charter. In 1753 the Susquehanna Company of Connecticut bought lands of the Indians at Wyoming. In 1768, however, the Proprietaries of Pennsylvania obtained an Indian deed for land claimed by this company. These contradictory claims led to violence by the Connecticut settlers on one side and the Pennsylvania lessees on the other, and finally to disputes between the governments of the two provinces. The difficulties were not settled until 1782, when the Commissioners appointed for the purpose by Congress, decided in favor of Pennsylvania. See Winsor, vol. 5, p. 180, and vol. 6, 680. See also the Colonial Records of Pennsylvania, vol. 13, 1853, p. 475.

Mrs. Watts' comparison of the copies of the two issues in the John Carter Brown Library shows them to be in the main from the same setting of type, with slight changes on pp. 73-75, and pp. 89 to the end. This issue contains a postscript by Smith, pp. 93-94, dated Jan. 14, 1774, stating that "After about two hundred Copies of this Work had got abroad, I was favored with the following Resolves past Yesterday in the honorable House of Assembly, and am glad of an Opportunity to insert them in what Copies remain unsold. . . ." A reprint, without the postscript but with a reproduction of the map, forms pp. 125-214 of "Documents relating to the Connecticut Settlement in the Wyoming Valley," Pennsylvania Archives, ser. 2, vol. 18, 1893.

Montgomery in his "History of the University of Pennsylvania," 1900, p. 360, referring to this exercise, states: "The latter had been arranged by the Provost before his departure for England four months before, he writing the Dialogue, and 'one of the sons of this Institution' writing and setting to Music the Ode—no less a one than Francis Hopkinson." However, Hopkinson's "Miscellaneous Essays," 1792, vol. 3, pp. 83-88, where this title is reprinted, states that the ode was by Francis Hopkinson and the dialogue by the Rev. Mr. Duché.

Title supplied by Miss Elinor Gregory. The copy in the Washington Collection at the Boston Athenaeum is stitched with a copy of Smith's "Two Sermons," 1789, on the title-page of which is a presentation inscription by the author. The four following titles are given in the bibliography of H. W. Smith's "Life," 1880. It is probable that the Provost edited if he did not write them:

Dialogue, &c. For the commencement in the College of Philadelphia, May 30th, 1765. [Philadelphia: W. Dunlap. 1765.] HSP. Hildeburn, no. 2159, attributes the authorship to Richard Peters, on the basis of the original manuscript in Peters' handwriting.

An Exercise, containing a Dialogue and two Odes Performed at the ... Commencement, in the College of Philadelphia, May 20th, 1766. Philadelphia. 1766.

HSP. H. W. Smith in his "Life" of the Provost, 1880, states on p. 393 of vol. 1: "Dr. Smith, as usual, prepared a Dialogue and two Odes, performed at the Public Commencement, . . . May 20th, 1766." However, the following note appears with the reprint in the "Pennsylvania Gazette" for June 5, 1776: "Written, chiefly, by one of the candidates, Thomas Hopkinson, B.A." For a more complete title, see our no. 61643, vol. 14.

An Exercise, containing a Dialogue and two Odes, Performed at the Public Commencement . . . November 17, 1767. Philadelphia. [1767.] HSP. H. W. Smith in his "Life" of the Provost, 1880, states on p. 408 of vol. 1: "Dr. Smith prepared for the occasion 'An Exercise, containing a Dialogue and two Odes.'" However, the following note appears with the reprint of the dialogue in the "Pennsylvania Chronicle" for November 23, 1767: "... an elegant dialogue, written in verse by Thomas Coombe, B.A. was also spoken on this occasion; and an Ode, set to Music, was sung by Mr. John Bankson." The "Pennsylvania Gazette" for November 26 also states that the dialogue was written by Mr. Coombe. For a more complete title, see our no. 23389, vol. 6.

An Exercise containing a Dialogue and two Odes, performed at the Commencement of the College of Philadelphia, June 5, 1770. Philadelphia. [1770.] H. W. Smith in his "Life" of the Provost states on p. 457 of vol. 1: "The College Commencement took place on the 5th of June. Dr. Smith wrote and published An Exercise containing a Dialogue and two Odes, there performed. They were printed by Cruikshank & Collins." The reprint of the dialogue in the "Pennsylvania Gazette" for June 14, 1770, does not disclose the author's identity.

Besides assisting in the actual writing or editing of the "Exercises" listed above, Smith encouraged similar attempts on the part of his students. See our nos. 23387-9, vol. 6, 32978, vol. 8, and 61643, vol. 14. According to J. F. Fisher, every "commencement or exhibition, every occasion of general rejoicing or grief, was an opportunity for the public pronouncement of dialogues, odes, elegies, some of which possess great beauty and animation." Prefixed to Smith's funeral sermon of 1754, on W. T. Martin, a student, are five short poems by classmates of the latter. The Provost also wrote a critical review published in Thomas Godfrey's "Juvenile Poems," 1765, and edited, and wrote the preface of Nathaniel Evans's "Poems on Several Occasions," 1772. See Fisher's "Some Account of the Early Poets and Poetry of Pennsylvania," in Hist. Soc. Penn. "Memoirs," vol. 2, pt. 2, 1830, pp. 86-88, 93-94.

Signed and dated on p. 81: "W. Smith. Hermitage on Long-Island, March 2, 1753." The postscript, pp. 81-86, is dated April 10th of the same year.

On p. 84 appears a quotation from the "Monthly Review," vol. 4, pp. 37-38, November, 1750, as follows: "That even both our Universities (not forgetting that in the Metropolis of a neighbouring Kingdom) are render'd of little Use to the Public, or to the Welfare of Religion, by the idle Doctrines and corrupt Manners which prevail in them, is a Truth equally notorious and melancholy: and [an] effectual Scheme for a thoro' Reformation, or (if this is impossible, thro' the Perverseness of their Members) a total Abolition of them, wou'd merit the Attention of every Lover of his Country, every Well-wisher to true Christianity, and to civil and religious Liberty." In Smith's copy, now belonging to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, he wrote in the margin opposite these lines, "This Quotation was raz'd out of most of the Copies before they got abroad; the author considering it as injuriously applied." This erasure, found in one of the Library of Congress copies, is described by Ernest Kletsch, as follows: "The quotation has pasted over it a piece of blank paper. The sentence just preceding the quotation beginning, 'But . . . ' has been obliterated with a wavy ink mark beyond the word 'But' to the end of that line. The connection is made twelve lines below with the last two words of the line, 'The Risque.'"

Franklin wrote on May 3rd to Smith in commendation of the allegorical pamphlet with its scheme of education, but expressed a wish that not only the quotation from the Review had been omitted, but also other expressions of resentment on pp. 65 and 79. See H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 1, pp. 25-26.

Reprinted in Smith's "Additional Discourses," 1762, pp. (2), 39-106; a second corrected edition forms no. 1 of the Second Appendix in Smith's "Discourses," 1762, and pp. 165-229 of part 2 of vol. 1 of his "Works," 1803. In the former, the verses supposed to have been spoken at the opening of the College of Mirania are omitted, and in the latter they are somewhat revised.

This note is appended to an advertisement of "A General Idea . . ." in the "New-York Gazette" for April 16, 1753: "Messieurs Printers, Notwithstanding all our Care to correct the Press, I find one very material Error has escap'd us, occasion'd by the great Haste in printing the last Sheets. It is no less than Partiality (Page 79, l. 32.) for Impartiality. This I observ'd on the first Opening of the Piece, after I left you Yesterday; and therefore, I question not, there may be still some Errors; but where they can't prevent the Meaning, as this manifestly does, the candid Reader will excuse them. Yours, &c. W. Smith. Long-Island, Friday-Morning."

Formerly attributed by Rich and Allibone to Thomas Hutchins, the maker of the maps, who was assistant engineer on Bouquet's expedition and later geographer of the United States. Bouquet himself has also been called the author. The authorship was first assigned conclusively to William Smith of Philadelphia by Mr. A. R. Spofford, former librarian of Congress, on the strength of a letter in the Force collection written in Smith's own hand, addressed to Sir William Johnson, and dated "Philada. 13th January 1766." In this he speaks of raising money for "our college," and in closing says: "Mr. Croghan set out the Day before I expected he he would, else I purposed sending you a Copy of Bouquet's Expedition to Muskingum, which I drew up from some Papers he favored me with; & which is reprinted in England, & has had a very favorable Reception. . . ."

The introduction describes Bouquet's successful expedition of 1763, to relieve Fort Pitt from the siege of the Shawnees, Delawares and other Indian tribes. Because of lack of men he was unable to follow up his victory at Bushy Run, and depredations by the Indians continued. He was despatched again by General Gage in 1764, to force them to make treaties of peace, and to release their prisoners, in both of which aims he was successful. The appendices, pp. 61-71, contain: I. Construction of Forts against Indians; II. Account of the French Forts ceded to Great Britain in Louisiana; III. Number of Indian Towns, situated on and near the Ohio River, and its branches . . . ; IV. Names of different Indian Nations in North-America, with the Numbers of their Fighting Men. The list in the final appendix was used by J. F. D. Smyth without acknowledgment, and with the order reversed, in his "Tour in the United States," 1784, copied in turn by Trumbull in his Indian Wars, and by Buchanan in his "Sketches of the History, Manners, and Customs, of the North American Indians," 1824. The folded map contains: 1. "A General Map of the Country on the Ohio and Muskingham Shewing the Situation of the Indian-Towns with respect to the Army under the Command of Colonel Bouquet by Thos: Hutchins Asst: Engineer;" 2. "A Topographical Plan of that part of the Indian-Country through which the Army under the Command of Colonel Bouquet marched in the Year 1764. by Thos: Hutchins. Asst: Engineer." The former occupies the center of the map and is separated by a design of acanthus leaves from the topographical plan and illustrations of Indian life which surround it. A process reproduction of the whole on a reduced scale faces p. 374 of Avery's "History of the United States," vol. 4, 1908. Plate II. gives diagrams of the plan of encampment, line of march, "Disposition to receive the Enemy," and general attack. Plate III. is a "Plan of the Battle near Bushy-Run Gained by His Majesty's Troops, commanded by Colonel Henry Bouquet over the Delawares, Shawanese, Mingoes, Wyandots, Mohikons, Miamies & Ottawas, on the 5th: and 6th: of August, 1763. From an Actual Survey By Thos: Hutchins Assistant Engineer." For modern reproductions of the plates, see notes on the London edition, 1766. H. W. Smith in his "Life and Correspondence of the Rev. William Smith," 1880, vol. 1, p. 378, says of this edition: "Some copies on fine demi-paper at 10s. the copy, and some on common paper at 8s." No authority has been found for this statement of H. W. Smith, no modern bibliographer consulted has mentioned the paper and no copies on finer paper have been examined.

An appendix, "Rout from Philadelphia to Fort-Pitt," is added in this edition. For a French translation, see below "Relation Historique." The plates of the earlier edition are re-engraved, the map and the plan of the Bushy-Run battle being on a reduced scale. The acanthus leaves and illustrations of Indian life are omitted in the map and the "topographical plan" (re-named a "survey") is below the general map instead of surrounding it. There are two copper plates of drawings by Benjamin West added, the second of which has his signature. The first has the following inscription: "B. West invt. Grignon sculp. The Indians giving a Talk to Colonel Bouquet in a Conference at a Council Fire, near his Camp on the Banks of Muskingum in North America, in Octr. 1764." The second is inscribed: "B. West invt. Canot sculp. The Indians delivering up the English Captives to Colonel Bouquet, near his Camp at the Forks of Muskingum in North America in Novr. 1764." Process reproductions on a reduced scale of both plates are found in Avery, vol. 4, pp. 374 and 375; and one of "The Indians giving a Talk" in Winsor, vol. 6, p. 695. Re-engravings of this plate appeared in Knox's "A New Collection of Voyages," 1767, vol. 2, facing p. 198, and in the "Royal American Magazine," for December, 1774, the former by Basire and the latter by Paul Revere. Reproductions of the plates in this edition have been noted as follows: An adaptation of the plate giving the plan of the Bushy-Run battle, in Rupp's "Early History of Western Pennsylvania," 1846, facing p. 145, and a process reproduction on a reduced scale, in Winsor, vol. 6, p. 693; an adaptation of the whole map, with no attempt at making it a facsimile, in Hildreth's "Pioneer History," 1848, and a process reproduction on a reduced scale of the upper part, in Winsor, vol. 6, p. 696; a re-engraving of this part, between pp. 198 and 199 of Parkman's "Conspiracy of Pontiac," vol. 2, 1875; a re-engraving by J. Hulett of the plate showing the plan of encampment, the line of march, etc., in Knox's "A New Collection of Voyages," 1767, vol. 2, facing p. 223. The New York Public Library also has a large paper copy in which the plates are on thinner paper.

An abstract of this work, including re-engravings of two of the plates forms pp. 186-227 of vol. 2 of Knox's "A New Collection of Voyages," London, 1767, our no. 38163, vol. 9. A reprint of the "Historical Account," including the introduction and text, without the appendices, but with an English translation of Dumas' preface to the Amsterdam edition of 1769, appeared in "The Olden Time," vol. 1, pp. 203-221, 241-261, Pittsburgh, May and June, 1846, and in Robert Clarke and Company's reprint of that periodical, 1876.

Series title: "Ohio Valley Historical Series. [No. I.] Bouquet's Expedition against the Ohio Indians." According to Thomson's "Bibliography of the State of Ohio," 1880, no. 1069, 250 copies were printed on small, and 50 on large paper. Reprinted from the London, 1766, edition, the map, plans and plates, being reproduced by the American Photo-Lithographic Company, using the "Osborne Process." Parkman, beside writing the introduction, furnished the translation of Dumas' sketch of Bouquet taken from the French edition, "Relation Historique," Amsterdam, 1769.

Improved title of our no. 50865, vol. 12, which was attributed to Robert Morris. The tract, however, is mentioned in the prospectus, 1802, of Smith's "Works," among those which he intended to publish in that collection, although it did not appear in the two volumes issued in 1803. Further proof of his authorship appears in W. B. Sprague's

"Annals of the American pulpit," 1859, vol. 5, p. 160: "In 1791 a company was incorporated to make a canal from the Delaware near Philadelphia, to the Schuylkill, about seventeen miles away from the city. In this project Dr. Smith took a deep interest. He was, from the first, one of the Board of Directors, and for a time its President. The matter became a subject of controversy, and a Committee of the Canal Company sent an Address or Memorial to the Legislature, of which the Doctor, though not the Chairman of the Committee, is understood to have been the author."

An advertisement, dated "Monday, March 2d, 1795," appeared in "Dunlap and Claypoole's American Daily Advertiser" of the same date, as follows: "... This Day is Published, and to be Sold by Zachariah Poulson, jun. No. 80, Chesnut street.— And at the Philadelphia Library. An Historical Account of the Rise, Progress and Present State of the Canal Navigation in Pennsylvania ..." According to the copyright notice engraved on the map of Pennsylvania, it was copyrighted June 13, 1791, by Reading Howell, the cartographer, as "copied from his larger Map." It has the inscription J. Trenchard Sculp.

A later issue of the above, with pp. 79-80, added, containing, "An act to enable the President and Managers of the Schuylkill and Susquehanna navigation, and the President and Managers of the Delaware and Schuylkill navigation, to raise, by way of lottery, the sum of four hundred thousand dollars, for the purpose of completing the works in their acts of incorporation," approved April 17th, 1795, and signed by George Latimer, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Robert Hare, Speaker of the Senate, and Gov. SMITH. An Humble Representation, | By William Smith, D.D. | Provost of the College, Academy, | and Charitable School, of Philadelphia; in Behalf of the said | Seminary, and by Appointment | of the Trustees thereof. | [London. 1762.] Folio, pp. 4.

HSP., NYP. 84622

The title is endorsed on the lower part of p. 4, so as to appear on the outside of the document when folded. The appeal, addressed "To all Charitable Persons, and Patrons of Useful Knowledge," is dated, London, 1762, and was prepared by Dr. Smith after his arrival in England in March of that year, when sent by the Trustees of the College to raise money for the institution. The statement was based to some extent upon a similar address "To all Charitable Persons, Patrons of Literature, and Friends of Useful Knowledge," given him by the Trustees at this time, and which according to Stillé's "Memoir" of Dr. Smith, 1869, p. 24, was the work of Richard Peters, their president. Dr. Smith's appeal dwelt upon the importance to the mother country of keeping up the standards of culture in the colonies, and counteracting the influence of Roman Catholic Institutions, by such Protestant "seminaries" as the College of Philadelphia. A reprint, omitting the footnotes which give lists of the Trustees and Chief Masters and a brief note as to the subjects taught in the College and Academy, is found in the "Life" by H. W. Smith, vol. 1, 1879, pp. 295-298. Dr. James Jay arrived in England in the early summer committed to a similar effort on behalf of King's College in New York, and on the advice of the Archbishop of Canterbury, united with Dr. Smith in an application for a Royal Brief. On August 12th, according to the Minute of the King's Council, the Brief was ordered to authorize Drs. Smith and Jay "to make a Collection throughout the Kingdom from house to house, for the joint and equal benefit of the two Seminaries, and Bodies corporate aforesaid." The King started the subscription with £400 for the College of New York, and £200 for that of Philadelphia. On August 24th Smith and Jay signed a power of attorney appointing three persons to print and distribute copies of the Brief, and to receive the money collected thereon. 11,500 copies were printed to be sent to all the clergy of the kingdom, and were accompanied by a circular addressed to them, adapted from Dr. Smith's earlier appeal. At the same time a similar address was printed for use in approaching the general public. See the following title. Further information and reprints of documents relating to the undertaking are found in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, vol. 1, 1879, pp. 283-358, and Montgomery's "History of the University of Pennsylvania," 1900, pp. 382-429.

Title endorsed on the lower part of p. 4, so as to appear on the outside of the document when folded. Addressed "To all Friends of Religion and Patrons of Useful Knowledge," and dated and signed, "London, Sept. 9, 1762. William Smith, James Jay." Contains much of the material included in the preceding title with changes and omissions adapting it for more general use. In the footnote giving facts about the colleges, this issue has a list of the Governors of the College of New York, and of the Trustees of the Philadelphia institution, omitted in the corresponding note of the issue addressed to the clergy.

Improved title of our no. 34476, vol. 9. From the following notice in the "New-York Gazette," for March 12, 1753, it appears that this was not published until 1753. "Note, That Copies of the Indian Songs, above mention'd, have been obtain'd and Tomorrow will be published, together with other Pieces relating to the Indian Nations: To which is subjoin'd, a Letter to the principal Ladies of the Province and City of New-York. Price One Shilling." Weyman's name first appears with Parker's in the imprint of the "New-York Gazette," in 1753. The book may be attributed to Smith on the authority of his statement in one of the sermons printed in his "Works," 1803, vol. 2, p. 214. In speaking of the "Speech of a Creek Indian," there reprinted, he says that he "published it in London among some other writings of my own fifty years ago." The Indian Songs of Peace were among the writings published with the "Speech of a Creek Indian," 1754, see that title below. The American Fables alluded to in the title were verses printed in the "New-York Gazette," of April 6 and May 11, 1752, and April 16, 1753. The first of these, "The Mock Bird and the Red Bird," had previously appeared in the "Pennsylvania Gazette," for March 24, 1752, and was also reprinted in the "Speech of a Creek Indian," 1754.

[SMITH.] A | Letter | from a | Gentleman in London, to his | Friend in Pensylvania; | with a | Satire; | containing | Some Characteristical Strokes | upon the | Manners and Principles | of the | Quakers. | . . . London: | Printed for J. Scott, at the Black Swan, in Pater- | Noster-Row. 1756. | 8vo, pp. (4), 23.

C., H., HEH., JCB., WHS. 84627

Improved title of our no. 40287, vol. 10. Attributed to Smith on the authority of Joseph Smith's "Bibliotheca Anti-Quakeriana," 1873, the pamphlet being an attack on the Quakers, especially in connection with their pacifism in the Indian war. The letter comprises pp. 1-7, and the satire, written in verse, pp. 9-23. The writer's position is consistent with that of William Smith's anonymous "Brief State of Pennsylvania," 1755, which is commended in the introduction. Doubts expressed of the disinterestedness of the motives underlying "Mr. F's voyage to England" are also in harmony with Smith's attitude toward Benjamin Franklin. Information from Lawrence C. Wroth and Ernest Kletsch.

SMITH. A Memorial for the Established or Parochial Schoolmasters in Scotland, addressed to the great men in Parliament, . . . By William Smith, as Commissioner of said Schoolmasters. London, Jan. 31, 1750. 84628

Title from H. W. Smith's "Life and Correspondence of the Rev. William Smith," 1880, vol. 2, p. 534. Smith signed as president of a "late general meeting of Scots schoolmasters," an article published in "Scots Magazine," vol. 12, pp. 487-492, October, 1750, entitled "Some reflexions on education, with a modest scheme for augmenting schoolmasters livings. Humbly offered to the impartial consideration of the publick," and dated Ab[e]rn[eth]y, Nov. 5, [1749.] A final note states that "One of our number is to go up to London to petition for leave to bring in a bill for the above effect, and will set out about the 25th of November." No doubt the memorial of January 31 relates to the bill in question.

The oration antagonized John Adams and his party because Smith urged reconciliation with Great Britain. In C. F. Adams' "Familiar Letters," 1876, p. 167, he says: "The oration was an insolent performance. A motion was made to thank the orator, and ask a copy, but opposed with great spirit and vivacity in every part of the room, and at last withdrawn, lest it should be rejected, as it certainly would have been, with indignation. The orator then printed it himself, after leaving out or altering some offensive passages. This is one of the many irregular and extravagant characters of the age. I never heard one single person speak well of anything about him but his capabilities, which are generally allowed to be good. The appointment of him to make the oration was a great oversight and mistake."

Some copies do not have list of errata on p. 44. The resolution of Congress appointing Dr. Smith to prepare the oration, and an introductory note by him, explaining a few alterations from, and additions to the speech as delivered, are found on the second leaf.

The second edition appears in general to be from the same setting of type as the first. The upper lines of the title are brought closer together to make room for the words "Second Edition." Signature A, pp. 1-8, however, has been reset, but with almost no change. In four cases the lines end on different words, and the word "relicts" in the eleventh line from the bottom on p. 3, is corrected to "relict."

SMITH. Personal Affliction and frequent Reflection upon | human Life, of great Use to lead Man to the | Remembrance of God. | A | Sermon, | Preach'd on Sunday Sept. 1, 1754, in | Christ-Church, Philadelphia; | Occasioned by the | Death of a beloved Pupil, | Who departed this Life, August 28, 1754, | in the 16th Year of his Age. | By W. The "beloved pupil" was William Thomas Martin, one of the sons of Josiah Martin of Long Island, who were tutored by Smith during his first two years in this country, and who were sent to the Academy of Philadelphia to continue their education. See Montgomery's "History of the University of Pennsylvania," 1900, pp. 186, 205-207. Five short poems, which Smith calls a "collection of tears," by Martin's classmates and friends, F. Hopkinson, S. Magaw, J. Duché, T. Barton, and P. Jackson are printed with the sermon, pp. viii, as is also a hymn to be sung after the discourse, p. (1) at the end. Reprinted in Smith's "Discourses," 1759, pp. [1]-34, 1762, [1]-26; and in his "Works," 1803, part 1 of vol. 1, pp. [1]-21.

[SMITH.] Plain Truth; | addressed to the | Inhabitants | of | America, | Containing, Remarks | on a Late Pamphlet, | entitled | Common Sense. | Wherein are shewn, that the Scheme of Independence | is Ruinous, Delusive, and Impracticable: That were | the Author's Asseverations, Respecting the Power of | America, as Real as Nugatory; Reconciliation on | liberal Principles with Great Britain, would be exalted Policy: And that circumstanced as we are, | Permanent Liberty, and True Happiness, can only be | obtained by Reconciliation with that Kingdom. | Written by Candidus. | [Four lines of quotations from Thomson.] | *Philadelphia: Printed, and Sold, by R. The leaf before the title contains an address of the printer to the public on the freedom of the press. The dedication to John Dickinson follows the title, and the fourth leaf contains an introduction, on the verso of which is the following: "Memorandum. Only a small number being Printed of this first Edition, is one reason why it is retailed at no less than Three Shillings. N.B. Large Allowance to those who buy per the Hundred or Dozen. If a numerous Second Edition (upon Small Types) should be desired, the Price will then be determined in proportion to its Number; especially to those, who are pleased to engage with the Printer for some certain Quantities, before it again goeth to the Press." The text forms pp. 1-66, and is followed by a "Publication of Rationalis," also relating to "Common Sense," pp. 67-78, and an "Extract from the second Letter to the People of Pennsylvania; being that part of it which relates to Independency. By a Writer under the Signature of Cato," dated Philadelphia, March 11th, 1776, pp. 79-84. The latter is one of a series of letters so signed, which were written by Smith, and appeared in several newspapers in the spring of that year. See our final note on Dr. Smith. Although the address of the printer, the first leaf of signature [A], found in the copy belonging to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, is included in the collation on the Library of Congress printed card, according to information from Ernest Kletsch, curator, it was not in the copy when catalogued. The Boston Public, Harvard, and New York Public Library copies also lack the address, but the Huntington copy has it laid in at the end, pasted at the inner margin to two other leaves, the first with the caption title, "A few more Words, on the Freedom of the Press, Addressed by the Printer, to the Friends of Liberty in America . . ." and the second, "A Short Answer to some Criticisms, which were Exhibited under the Signature of Aristides . . ." Information from Willard O. Waters.

This reply to Paine's pamphlet had been variously assigned to Alexander Hamilton, Rev. Charles Inglis, Joseph Galloway, and others. Mr. Hildeburn, after examining the evidence, attributed the authorship to George Chalmers, but Mr. P. L. Ford states that Chalmers had left the country in 1774. He gives among others the following reasons for assigning it to Smith: Oliver Wolcott wrote on the title-page of his copy which is now in the Library of Congress, "Dr. Smith of Phila.;" one of Cato's letters which were written by Smith is included in the pamphlet; and "an examination of the matter proves . . . that the author is both a Pennsylvanian and Episcopalian; that he is a warm admirer of Dickinson and General Montgomery; that he dislikes Franklin and the New Englanders; that he approves of the proprietary government; that he sympathizes with the colonies up to the point of independence; and that he very eagerly argues the right of Pennsylvania in the land question between that State and Connecticut." See "The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography," vol. 12, 1888, pp. 421-424. Although it is not certain that Dr. Smith was the author, this and the following titles contain improvements and additions to our entries under Candidus and Plain Truth, see our no. 10671, vol. 3, and p. 176, vol. 15.

+ [Same title and imprint.] 8vo, pp. (6), [9]-64, 57-64, 73-80, 73-78, 1 leaf lacking, 89-96. AAS., H. The numbering of the pages in this and the following Philadelphia issues begins with the first preliminary leaf, the text starting on p. 9, the errors being caused by neglecting to change the original numbers.

+ [Same title, with the addition of a one line quotation from Horace. Same imprint and date.] 8vo, pp. (6), [9]-64, 57-64, 73-86, [79]-84, (2). AAS. This issue has the Horace quotation in the title, as in the later editions which contain the additions, but is similar to the earlier issues in that it contains only an extract of Cato's letter.

Plain Truth; | addressed to the | Inhabitants | of | America, | Containing, Remarks | on a Late Pamphlet, | entitled | Common Sense: | Wherein are shewn, that the Scheme of Independence | is Ruinous, Delusive, and Impracticable: That were | the Author's Asseverations, Respecting the Power of | America, as Real as Nugatory; Reconciliation on | liberal Principles with Great Britain, would be | exalted Policy: And that circumstanced as we are, | Permanent Liberty, and True Happiness, can only be | obtained, by Honorable Connections, | with that Kingdom. | Written by Candidus. | [4 lines of quotation from Thomson.] | Philadelphia: | Printed and Sold, by R. Bell, in Third-Street. | MDCCLXXVI. | 8vo, title, pp. 5-64, 57-64, 73-80, 73-84. C., P. The title-page in this issue has the phrase, "obtained by Reconciliation," altered to "obtained, by Honorable Connections," as in that with the words "Second Edition" on the title, which it resembles in other respects. It seems, however, to precede the issues with the earlier form of the title which contain the Additions, since it resembles the first edition in giving only the extract from Cato's letter instead of the whole. The Library of Congress copy lacks the address of the printer. This edition differs from the preceding in having 12 new lines added in the memorandum on p. [8], and this and the following Philadelphia editions differ from the first in the caption title on p. 9, which appears thus: "Plain Truth; | containing, | Remarks on a late Pamphlet, | entitled Common Sense," instead of "Plain Truth; | containing | Remarks on a late Pamphlet, entitled, | Common Sense."

Plain Truth; | addressed to the | Inhabitants | of | America, | Containing, Remarks | on a Late Pamphlet, | entitled | Common Sense. | Wherein are shewn, that the Scheme of Independence | is Ruinous, Delusive, and Impracticable: That were | the Author's Asseverations, Respecting the Power of | America, as Real as Nugatory; Reconciliation on | liberal Principles with Great Britain, would be | exalted Policy:

And that circumstanced as we are, | Permanent Liberty, and True Happiness, can only be | obtained by Reconciliation with that Kingdom. | Written by Candidus. | [1 line of quotation from Horace, and 4 from Thomson.] | Philadelphia: | Printed, and Sold, by R. Bell, in Third-Street. | MDCCLXXVI. | 8vo, title, pp. 5-64, 57-64, 73-96, (6), title of the Additions (2), 97-135. c. A new edition, pages renumbered, with the following alterations and additions. A line from Horace is added on the title, above the Thomson quotation, the lower lines of the page being dropped to make room for it; the memorandum on the verso of the Introduction leaf is omitted; Cato's letter is given in full, with a different heading: "Cato's Letter (being his Second) to the People of Pennsylvania. On that reception, which may be proper for British Commissioners, who are at present (March 11th 1776) supposed on their Voyage, to treat with the Honorable, the American Continental Congress. —With some Observations against American Independency," pp. 87-96; the list of books is omitted, and Bell's advertisement of Simes' Military Guide is printed at the foot of p. 96; 6 unnumbered pages are added containing "Extract, from the Journal of the proceedings, of the honorable the American Continental Congress, held at Philadelphia, September fifth 1774. Being that part of their Address to the Inhabitants of the Province of Quebec, which enumerates, the glorious Rights of the Englishmen, and English subjects: Among which are included, the Liberty of the Press;" pp. (2), 97-135 are added with a separate title-page and imprint as follows: Additions | to | Plain Truth; | addressed to the | Inhabitants | of | America, | Containing, further Remarks | on a Late Pamphlet, | entitled | Common Sense: | wherein, | Are clearly and fully shewn, that American Independence, | is as illusory, ruinous, and impracticable, as a liberal | reconciliation with Great Britain, is safe, honorable, | and expedient. | Written by the Author of Plain Truth. | . . . | Philadelphia: | Printed, and Sold, by R. Bell, in Third-Street. | MDCCLXXVI. | In some copies the additions are printed in part on bluish paper, with a slip usually pasted on the verso of the title of the additions, which states: "To every Purchaser. The impossibility of obtaining White, constituted the Law of necessity, for part of these Additions to appear in Blue. The Philosopher reacheth beyond outward appearances.—The Patriot surmounteth every difficulty. And the Bookseller industriously attempteth business, agreeable to the prescriptions and decrees, of the British and American Laws of Freedom, concerning The Liberty of the Press. Third Street, April the 24th, 1776." The Library of Congress copy of this issue lacks the preliminary leaf, "The Printer to the Public: On the Freedom of the Press." A "second edition" with the words "by Reconciliation with that Kingdom," in the title, was advertised in "The Pennsylvania Gazette," for May 8, 1776, and was said to have "subjoined a Defence of the Liberty of the Press." The issue with the words "Second Edition" on the title-page has the title altered to read "by Honorable Connections, with that Kingdom."

+ [Another issue with same title and imprint.] 8vo, pp. 64, 57-64, 73-96. (8), 97-136. BA., C., H., HEH., HSP., JCB., M., NYP., WHS. This issue differs from the preceding as follows: the reference to Ferguson in the footnote on p. 109 does not cite the exact work, and the quotation marks are omitted; two new paragraphs are inserted on p. 135, while the last two paragraphs of the issue described above are rewritten and found on p. 136; an advertisement of Robert Bell dated Philadelphia, April 10th, 1776, is added at the foot of the page. The Harvard, Library of Congress, and the New York Public Library copies lack the first leaf, "The Printer to the Public: on the Freedom of the Press." One of the Wisconsin copies of this issue in a bound volume of Revolutionary pamphlets also lacks the address, but is preceded by 2 leaves, the first entitled, "A few more Words, on the Freedom of the Press, Addressed by the Printer, to the Friends of Liberty in America," and the second, "A Short Answer to some Criticisms, which were Exhibited under the Signature of Aristides." These leaves may not have been issued with the pamphlet, but are the same which were laid in at the end of the Huntington Copy of the first edition.

In this edition the quotation from Horace does not appear on the title. The address of the Printer to the Public is included on the first leaf, pp. [1-2]. The memorandum on the fourth preliminary leaf contains a note as to a possible third edition and the price at which it might be issued.

This is a reprint of the first Philadelphia edition. It is usually bound with Almon's edition of Paine's "Common Sense," listed in the note to our no. 58214, vol. 14, and the whole preceded by a half title, as follows: "Common Sense, and Plain Truth. (Price Eighteen-Pence.)," on the verso of which is the following advertisement: "The public have been amused by many extracts from the Pamphlet entitled Common Sense, which have been held up as Proof positive that the Americans desire to become independent; we are happy in this opportunity of publishing Plain Truth; which we take to be as good a Proof that the Americans do not desire to become independent. . . ."

† Second Edition. [Same title, imprint and collation.] BA., C., H., HEH., JCB., NYP., WHS. A reissue of the first London edition from the same setting of type, and does not follow the second American edition. Usually bound with Paine's "Common Sense." The two works are preceded by a half-title, "Comon Sense and Plain Truth. The Second Edition, Corrected. (Price Eighteen-Pence.,") The second London edition of "Plain Truth" is also issued with issues of "Common Sense" having half titles for the third and fourth editions. On the verso of these half titles is the same advertisement as on the first London edition.

A Welsh translation of "A Sermon on the Present Situation of American Affairs." The introduction is dated "Brysto, Hydref [October] yr 21, 1775." On the last page is a note in English regarding the "monies reimbursed to the Colonies," giving the numbers of troops raised in each colony and the amount of reimbursement; also the "message from our late good King to the House of Commons . . ." in consequence of which the return was made. Title and information from Randolph G. Adams.

SMITH. The Recommendation of William Smith, A.M. Provost of the College of Philadelphia, in America, to the University of Oxford, by the Arch-Bishop of Canterbury & others. London: MDCCLIX. [Verso of half-title:] Fifty Copies privately printed, for Horace W. Smith. Philadelphia, 1865. 4to, pp. 12, and printed front cover. HSP., WHS. 84646

Reprinted from a copy formerly in the possession of Dr. J. H. Brinton; no copy of the original can now be located. The reprint begins as follows: "To the University of Oxford. The underwritten Representation in behalf of William Smith, Cl., M.A., . . ." is signed and dated: "Thos. Cant, R. Duresme, John Sarum, R. Asaph, J. Gloucester, Z. Oxford. London, 12th March, 1759." The document suggested that Smith be granted the degree of Doctor of Divinity, which he received in consequence on March 27, 1759. The recommendation and the diploma are reprinted in the 1802 prospectus of Smith's "Works," pp. lvi-lxi; and, in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 1, pp. 198-202.

A translation of Smith's "Historical Account," taken from the London, 1766 edition. For another issue of the same sheets, see below "Voyage Historique." The maps and plates are re-engraved from the London edition of 1766, the two parts of the map appearing separately. West's two plates are re-engraved by "P. V. S." An adaptation of the "Marche du Colonel Bouquet," or "topographical plan," is in Avery, vol. 4, 1908, p. 374. The preface includes a biographical sketch of Bouquet by Dumas. It is translated into English in "The Olden Time," vol. 1, pp. 203-207, May, 1846; and pp. x-xvi of it are translated in the Cincinnati 1868 edition of the "Historical Account."

C., HSP. 84648

Improved title of our nos. 60451, vol. 14, and 62116, vol. 15. No title-page, title from heading of p. 1. Supplied by Ernest Kletsch. A reply to Latrobe's "Remarks on the Address of the Committee of the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal Company," 1799, our no. 39219, vol. 10. Attributed to Smith on the authority of H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 2, p. 410. In December, 1798, petitions of the Select and Common Councils of Philadelphia, the managers of the Marine and City Hospitals, the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal Company, and other citizens, were presented to the Pennsylvania Senate, asking for state aid in procuring a good water supply for Philadelphia. A Senate committee was appointed and it reported favorably on January 12, 1799, recommending the completion of the Delaware and Schuylkill canal as the best means. However, Latrobe, who was chosen as the engineer, proposed pumping water to the city by steam power, instead of obtaining it by means of the canal. See "Journal of the Senate of . . . Pennsylvania," 1798 [-1799], pp. 23, 27, 36, 41, and 68; and, Scharf and Westcott's "History of Philadelphia," 1884, pp. 499-500.

 vost | of the | College and Academy | of | Philadelphia. | [Philadelphia. 1803?] 8vo, pp. (2), [65]-196. GTS., HSP., Y. 84649

The pamphlet contains sermons numbered 5-14, which are not included in vols. 1-2 of the "Works" printed and published by Hugh Maxwell in 1803. As the style of printing closely resembles that used by him in the latter, and the sheet marks are all for "vol. III" it is probable that this selection represents a portion of a proposed third volume, which apparently was never published in full. On the contemporary blue paper cover of the General Theological Seminary copy is the manuscript date 1803.

Delivered on July 4, 1790. Reprinted in Smith's "Works," 1803, vol. 2, pp. 287-307. On the last three pages appear: "Proposals For Printing by Subscription, A Body of Sermons, Upon the most important Branches of Practical Christianity. By William Smith, D.D." This does not give the full details of the plan which appear in the "Proposals . . ." attached to his "Two Sermons," below.

On page 255 of his "Works," 1803, vol. 2, p. 255, Smith stated that "Messrs. Dilly . . . besides the small edition printed at the expense of the Chamberlain [see the third London issue], had published in a short time two elegant editions, in a large size on his own account."

In the main from the same setting of type as the first London issue. The paragraph, however, at the foot of p. 14, continued on p. 15, has been reset because the lines were too crowded in the first issue. In the first issue the signature mark at the foot of p. [1] is A, and in the second it is B, but the third signature is C in both. At the foot of p. 13 in the first issue is a figure 4, omitted in the second; and at the foot of p. 25 in the first is a figure 3, while in the second issue is a figure 1.

An extract of a letter from Dr. Price to Dr. Franklin, printed in Smith's "Works," 1803, vol. 2, p. 254, states that "The chamberlain of London has just ordered ten thousand copies of Dr. Smith's Sermon to be printed at his expense, in so cheap a form as to be sold at two-pence each."

Title of the former issue supplied by Randolph G. Adams. Two typographical errors appear in the titles of the two issues listed above, M.D. for D.D., and Six-Penbe in the price. Probably the text of the sermon was set up before the preliminary leaves, and by the time they were set it had become apparent that there would be a demand for another edition, so that the type of the preliminary leaves was kept standing, while the sermon had to be reset. The Library of Congress copy listed above includes the first issue of the title, with the second edition of the text. Finally the errors in the title were corrected, and the copies with the second issue of the title, but having the preliminary leaves except for those corrections from the original setting of type, and with the second edition of the text, were published as below.

Dedication to George Washington on p. [3]. Some copies have a slip of "corrections" pasted on p. [4]. The appendix, pp. 30-35, contains a brief life of "Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus," whose "Character is briefly touched in the foregoing Sermon," and the last page, a short account of the procession to and from Church, &c. A reprint on wood pulp paper, with the same collation, was acquired by the New York Public Library in 1897. It has as its only title-page a reprint of the original one, and there is no printer, date or place of printing given, but it is apparently from the latter half of the nineteenth century. Other reprints are in the edition of the "Ahiman Rezon," edited by Dr. Smith in 1783, pp. 145-146, and in his "Works," 1803, vol. 2, pp. 43-72.

Issued with a new title-page from the same setting of type as the "Speech of a Creek Indian," below. In October, 1754, the "Monthly Review" lists this issue among books recently published. The leaf at the end of the Account advertises nine volumes of that review, 1749-1753, as published in March, 1754, and lists the more important works noticed therein.

ling.) | 8vo, pp. ix, 32. HSP. 84672

Title supplied by Dr. Thomas L. Montgomery. Introduction signed, Philomathes. Plans for starting a college in New York were causing much discussion at the time, two years before the date of the charter of King's College, and Smith's pamphlet brought him into the controversies upon that subject. It was advertised in the "New-York Gazette revived in the Weekly Post-Boy," October 23, 1752, as to be published "to-morrow." The copy owned by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania contains marginal notes by Smith, and according to Thomas H. Montgomery's "History of the University of Pennsylvania," 1900, pp. 186-188, he intended to reprint it in his collected works. It was not, however, included in the two volumes published in 1803.

 pp. 68. HSP., JCB., NYP. 84673

Improved title of our no. 17463, vol. 5. The copy at the Historical Society of Pennsylvania has the misprint in the fourth line corrected. The advertisement, pp. iii-iv, states: "Of the following Pieces, it may be proper to observe, that the Indian Speech was done into English, with the Assistance of a Person of some Learning, that was accustomed to Composition. Yariza's Letter, together with the Songs and Fable, are the Work of another Hand, said to be a plain Countryman, in the Colony of New York, that has maintained a long Commerce with the Indians, and understands their Language. . . . The Pieces are taken (with no Alteration but the polishing some of the Verses) from Copies printed at New York, which being a Place of the greatest Commerce with the Indian Nations, we cannot doubt of their Authenticity." Smith concluded his sermon before the 18th, or Royal Regiment of Ireland, on May 8, 1768, with this speech of a Creek Indian, and it is reprinted with the sermon in his "Works," 1803, vol. 2, pp. 201-224. In a note on p. 214 concerning the Indian speech, he states: "How I came to the possession of it, and published it in London among some other writings of my own fifty years ago; what right I had then to publish it, and afterwards to conclude this Sermon with it, . . . will appear from the following introduction to a republication of it, in the Columbian Magazine for June 1790, p. 367, &c. running as follows, . . . 'The first draft of this celebrated Speech is said to have been taken, in short-hand, in a council of the Creek Indians, about the year 1748. It came into the hands of a deputy of Sir William Johnson, Secretary for Indian Affairs, a gentleman of the name of Wralax, in the year 1752; who communicated his notes of it to a gentleman (then living at New-York) who has long been honourably distinguished in the republic of letters, in Pennsylvania, who is particularly eminent in rhetorical compositions, and whose writings, even now, notwithstanding his advanced age, discover all the fire and energy of the most lively youthful imagination. After having been first published in a New-York Gazette, it was, by the same gentleman, republished with some other Indian compositions, in London, about the beginning of the year 1754; and a very high character is given of the work in the Monthly Review for April, of that year [vol. 10, pp. 285-293].'" B. The Church-Wardens are requested to deli- | ver this Representation (together with the Brief) to the | Clergy as soon as it comes to their Hands; and, it is | hoped they will do every thing else in their Power to | forward this pious Design. | [London. 1762.] 4to, pp. 4.

CU., JCB., Y. 84674

Title printed on the lower part of p. 4 so as to appear on the outside of the document when folded. Based on Dr. Smith's earlier "Representation," the appeal, dated on p. 1, London, 9th Sept. 1762, begins "Reverend and Worthy Gentlemen," and is signed by William Smith and James Jay. It gives a brief account of the two colleges, and their claims to the support of those interested in religion and learning, and requests the clergy to use their influence to advance the cause. Dr. Smith mentions in a letter of April 12, 1763, that 11,500 copies of the Royal Brief were printed, which suggests that an equal number of the appeal prepared to accompany it were issued. For a reprint of the latter with the omission of footnotes, see H. W. Smith's "Life," vol. 1, 1879, pp. 309-313. For other documents relating to the collections for the colleges, see above "An Humble Representation . . ."

SMITH. Two Sermons, | delivered in | Christ-Church, Philadelphia, | before the | General Convention | of the | Protestant Episcopal Church | of the States of | New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, De- | laware, Maryland, Virginia, and | South-Carolina;—

viz. | Serm. I. On Wednesday, July 29, 1789, at the Open- | ing of the said Convention. | Serm. II. On Tuesday, August 4, 1789, at the Fune- | ral of the Rev. David Griffith, D.D. late Bishop- |
Elect of the said Church, in the State of Virginia. | By William
Smith, D.D. | Provost of the College and Academy of Philadelphia. |
Both Sermons published at the Request and by Order of the Convention. | Philadelphia: | Printed by Dobson & Lang, in Second street. | M,DCC,LXXXIX. | 8vo, pp. (2), [5]-41. BA., HSP. 84675

The second sermon was reprinted in Smith's "Works," 1803, part 1 of vol. 1, pp. 38-51.

proposals xxiii. AAS., BA., C., CU. 84675A

This issue has a postscript on the verso of p. 41, referring to the "Proposals," which have the following heading:

Proposals | For Printing by Subscription, | A Body of | Sermons, | Upon the most important Branches of practical | Christianity. | By William Smith, D.D. | Provost of the College and Academy of Philadelphia. | [Colophon:] Philadelphia: | Printed by Benjamin Franklin Bache. | M,DCC,LXXXIX. | 8vo, pp. xxiii.

As the "Proposals" were printed by a different printer, it seems probable that they were issued separately. They were approved by the Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, in 1789, but on account of the yellow fever epidemic, and the death of three members of his family, Smith postponed the publication of the sermons until he began to print his collected "Works" in 1803.

SMITH. The Works of William Smith, D.D. Late Provost of the College and Academy of Philadelphia, consisting of Sermons on public occasions, in America; practical sermons; and academic writings, as well official, as intended to promote the establishment of seminaries of learning, and to assist in the dissemination of science, religion and civilization to the remotest parts of this new world. With an elegant engraving of the Author's Head, done by Edwin, from Stuart's celebrated portrait; and under his inspection.

Philadelphia: Printed by Hugh Maxwell, Columbia-House. 1802.
8vo, pp. lxii. NYH., P. 84677

This is merely a prospectus of Smith's "Works" which were published in 1803 after his death. Pp. [iii]–xv contain a "General Preface" by Smith; pp. xvi–xxi, "Table of Contents of the two first volumes"; pp. xxii–lxii, "Testimonies," inserted by the publisher, Maxwell, which includes a summary of what will appear in the later volumes, which were never published, and a reprint of Smith's diplomas from the University of Aberdeen, of Oxford, and of Dublin, etc.

+ [Another issue of the same without the portrait.]

AAS., CU., HSP., NYP., UP. 84678B

+ [Another issue of the same with a second title-page added in each volume as follows:] The Works of William Smith, D.D. Volume First. Part I. On Death, a Resurrection from the Dead, a Future Judgment, &c. Part II. Oration in Memory of General Montgomery, Eulogium on Benjamin Franklin, L.L.D. Address to the Supreme Being. And a General Idea of the College of Mirania. [Vignette.] Philadelphia: Printed by H. Maxwell, and Sold by William Fry, No. 25, North Second-Street. 1803. [Second title of vol. 2:] The Works of William Smith, D.D. Volume Second, on Public Occasions, Religious, Civil, and Military, during the Wars in America. [Vignette.] Philadelphia: Printed by H. Maxwell, and Sold by William Fry, No. 25, North Second-Street. 1803. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. (2), xvi, 221, 263; (4), iv, 570. Frontispiece portrait. HSP., P. 84678C

The order of the issues as given above is suggested for the following reasons: Since the prospectus of the collected works describes the portrait, it is evident that the earliest issue would contain it. A shorter imprint would probably be sufficient for a second issue, as the interest in other cities lessened. Possibly the first impressions of the portrait were exhausted so that an issue was published without it. Undoubtedly the more striking title-pages were added, and new impressions of the portrait were struck off to stimulate sales of the remaining copies. After the type for Sermon xx in vol. 2, pp. 444-482, was set up, it appears that Dr. Smith thought of making some additions to the text, as a variant of the set of pages containing that sermon is found separately in the library of the New York Historical Society. The page numbers of this excerpt are as follows: 443-482, 482A, 482B, 483c, verso blank. Beginning with p. 479 the running headings are omitted. Three pages of additional matter take the place of the three final lines of the second paragraph on p. 480 of the "Works," this accounting for the duplicate numbers. Of the seventeen copies of the "Works" which have been examined none contain the additional pages. The portrait has the inscription: G. Stuart Pinx. D. Edwin sc. William Smith D.D. Æt. 75. The same portrait re-engraved by John Sartain is included in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost.

Although Dr. Smith's "Proposals for Printing by Subscription, a Body of Sermons," 1789, were approved by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in that year, it was not until 1800 that he undertook the task of preparing his collected writings for publication. The two volumes here entered were still in press at the time of the author's death, but he had been able to read most of the proof, according to H. W. Smith's "Life" of his ancestor, vol. 2, p. 447. The latter also states that they form but a small part of the publications which Dr. Smith had in mind, and gives a list of other items. The publisher's prospectus, no. 84677 above, had suggested that five or six volumes might be needed to complete the work. Bishop White of Pennsylvania, who, according to Wilson's "Memoir" of him, 1839, p. 312, wrote the preface of the "Works," explaining therein that having been presented by Dr. Smith with the copyright of all of his compositions, he felt under obligation to proceed with the remaining volumes. Though the plans were not carried out, that some work had been done on a third volume is apparent from the fact that the pamphlet, "Select Sermons," described above, which closely resembles in style of printing the "Works," has sheet marks vol. III K to vol. III Cc, and the collation, pp. (2), [65]-196.

In H. W. Smith's list of the printed works of William Smith, included in his "Life" of the Provost, 1880, is noted an "Essay on the Liberty of the Press," London, July, 1750, evidently a contribution to some magazine. He also mentions an "Essay on Education," published in a New York paper, Nov. 7, 1752. This doubtful title would seem to refer to a commendatory notice, signed Philopatriæ, published in the supplement to Parker's "New-York Gazette" of that date, relating to Smith's own anonymous "Some Thoughts on Education," 1752, advertised in the "Gazette" for October 23rd preceding. It included further suggestions as to the proposed college to be established in New York. The above mentioned list includes several essays also upon the subject of education, said to have been published by Smith during 1754 in the "Antigua Gazette." The publication in Antigua was no doubt due to the connections in that island of Josiah Martin of Long Island, in whose family Smith was tutor from 1851 to 1853. A number of other anonymous contributions to newspapers of the time were from his pen. Smith's "A Philosophical Meditation, and Religious Address to the Supreme Being," which, according to a note in his "Discourses," 1759, p. 235, "was first composed for the use of young Students in Philosophy, and published in London 1754, at the end of a book of Ethics, written by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Johnson, president of the college of New York," (Probably Johnson's "Elements of Philosophy." Third Edition. London, 1754.) is reprinted in his "Discourses," 1759, pp. 235-246; in the appendix of "Discourses," 1762, pp. 147-160; and, in his "Works," 1803, part 2 of vol. 1, pp. 153-164. A letter written by Smith, "concerning the Office and Duties of a Protestant Ministry . . ." forms pp. v-xx of Barton's "Unanimity and Public Spirit," 1755. See our no. 3849, vol. 1. This letter is reprinted as the first appendix of Smith's "Additional Discourses," 1762, pp. 3-19; in the appendix to his "Discourses," 1762, pp. 3-19; in his "Works," 1803, vol. 2, pp. 1-16; and, in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 1, pp. 110-118. Henry Scougal's anonymous "Das Leben Gottes in der Seele des Menschen . . . Philadelphia, 1756, has a preface signed in the name of the Trustees-General of the Charitable Society by "Wilhelm Schmidt," who, according to the Pennypacker sale catalogue (S. V. Henkels auction no. 943, Dec. 14, 1905, part 1, lot 94, was Provost William Smith. Hildebrand 1500, our no. 78449, vol. 19. B., HSP.

In 1756 Dr. Smith prepared for the use of his students an adaptation of "Alfred: a Masque." The original work by James Thomson and David Mallet, with Dr. Arne's music, had been published in London in 1740, and a revised version by Mallet in the same city in 1751. Dr. Thomas L. Montgomery states that a copy of the latter with interleaved alterations in Dr. Smith's hand is in the library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. An account of the piece, which is said to have been performed several times during the Christmas holidays, was published in the four numbers of the "Pennsylvania Gazette" from January 20 to February 10, 1757. It includes long extracts with the alterations by the "Writer of this Account" indicated, and a new prologue and epilogue. A briefer description in the "Gentleman's Magazine," vol. 27, 1757, pp. 177-179, contains a few extracts, and the prologue and epilogue said to be written by "the Rev. Mr. Smith, Provost of the College of Philadelphia;" also poems addressed to Miss Hopkinson and to Miss Lawrence by Jacob Duché and Francis Hopkinson respectively, on their performance of the "vocal parts" on the occasion, which had previously appeared in the "Pennsylvania Gazette." It has been suggested that Hopkinson was the author of the altered parts of Alfred, but for a discussion of his part in the performance, see his "Life and Works," 1926, by G. E. Hastings, pp. 52-55. Smith's "Account of the College and Academy of Philadelphia" was first published in "The American Magazine" for October, 1758, a summary of his new curriculum having appeared in the "Pennsylvania Gazette" for Aug. 12, 1756. The Account was reprinted with slight changes, in his "Discourses," 1759, pp. 215-233; in the 1762 edition, appendix, pp. 107-127; in his "Works," 1803, vol. 1, part 2, pp. 230-248; in H. W. Smith's "Life," vol. 1, 1880, pp. 54-64; and, in Montgomery's "History of the University of Pennsylvania," 1900, pp. 519-529. When Thomas H. Montgomery was preparing this "History," he examined two pamphlets relating to the courses of study in the Universities of Aberdeen, printed in 1754 and 1755, and came to the conclusion that Smith was much influenced by the curriculum of those institutions in preparing his own for the College of Philadelphia. See "Scottish Notes and Queries," vol. 1, p. 137, Feb. 1888. Dr. Smith wrote the preface to Dickinson's "Speech," 1764, our no. 20049, vol. 5, this being evident from the fact that it is included among those writings mentioned in the 1802 prospectus of Smith's collected "Works," as to be published therein. It did not appear in the two volumes actually published. Isaac Hunt in his anonymous "An Humble Attempt at Scurrility," 1765, p. 13, refers to it as "Parson Pe [te]r's, Parson S[mi]th's, Parson Al[li]son's, and Parson Ew[ing]'s" anonymous Preface to Mr. Dic[kinson]'s Speech. Smith's interest in young poets is shown by the fact that he was instrumental in publishing after the death of their authors, Godfrey's "Juvenile Poems," 1765, our no. 27658, vol. 7, and Evans's "Poems on Several Occasions," 1772, our no. 23179, vol. 6, to both of which he wrote introductory notices. See Fisher's "Some Account of the Early Poets and Poetry of Pennsylvania," pp. 86-88, in Hist. Soc. Penn. "Memoirs," vol. 2, pt. 2, 1830.

A series of nineteen communications by Smith, entitled "The Anatomist," and written in reply to nineteen numbers of "The Sentinel," appeared partly in the "Pennsylvania Gazette," and chiefly in the "Pennsylvania Journal," from September 8th, 1768, to January 12, 1769. These were reprinted together with pieces called forth by them in "A Collection of Tracts from the late News Papers . . . On the Subject of the Residence of Protestant Bishops in the American Colonies," 1769, vol. 2, pp. 9-149, our no. 14395, vol. 4. The 1802 prospectus of Smith's "Works," mentioned these papers as to be included in that collection, but they are not in the volumes published in 1803. Smith was a member of the sub-committee, of which John Dickinson was the chairman, appointed by the Pennsylvania Committee of Correspondence, to prepare a draught of instructions for their representatives in assembly, July 16, 1774. A part of this draught was published as "An Essay on the Constitutional Power of Great Britain," 1774, our no. 20040, vol. 5. A series of eight letters by Smith under the signature of Cato appeared in the newspapers in the spring of 1776. These were among the writings mentioned in the 1802 prospectus of his collected "Works," though not published in the two volumes of 1803. In April, 1776, John Adams wrote that they were reported to be by Dr. Smith, ("Familiar Letters," 1876, p. 167). Francis Hopkinson also attributed them to "Dr. S——h," ("Miscellaneous Essays," 1792, vol. 1, p. 94). These letters were published in the "Pennsylvania Gazette," March 13–April 24, in "Dunlap's Pennsylvania Packet," March 11–April 29, in the "New-York Gazette," March 18–May 6, and in other papers. Cato advocated a conciliatory policy toward Great Britain, and replied to some of the arguments in Paine's "Common Sense." Many answers appeared, including those of James Cannon, and Paine, writing under the signatures of "Cassandra," and "The Forester." See Adams' "Familiar Letters," 1876, p. 167.

Smith was the chairman of the committee appointed by the General Convention of the Episcopal Church, in 1785, to suggest alterations in the Prayer Book, made necessary by the American Revolution and the consequent separation from the Church of England. Later with Dr. William White, President of the Convention, and Dr. C. H. Wharton, he was appointed to publish the revised book, with a preface explaining the changes. This edition referred to as the "Proposed Book" with the preface written by Dr. Smith, was published in 1786, our no. 6349, vol. 2. This preface in a shortened form still appears in the present standard version of the "Book of Common Prayer." See correspondence between White and Smith, in H. W. Smith's "Life" of the Provost, 1880, vol. 2; also, "Journals of the General Conventions of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the United States of America; from . . . 1784, to . . . 1814," 1817, pp. 5–6, 15. "The short-lived 'Proposed Book' was printed in Philadelphia, Hall & Sellers, MDCCXXXVI, 8vo, and 4,000 copies of it were ordered to be published. A few of these were handsomely bound in red morocco with gilt ornamentation. It was reprinted in London, England, MDCC,LXXIX, 8vo, and from a manuscript note in Bishop Stevens' copy, as mentioned in "The Historical Magazine," vol. 1, p. 221, we learn that there were only fifty copies of this English reprint published, and these were probably for the use of the English Bishops, who were then considering the request of the American Church for the 'Succession.'"—Mc Garvey's "Liturgiae Americanae," 1895, p. lv. The first volume of the "Transactions" of the American Philosophical Society, 1789, contains four papers on astronomical subjects by Smith, in the preparation of two of which he was assisted by others. His "Account of the terrestrial measurement of the difference of longitude and latitude, between the observatories of Norriton and Philadelphia" forms pp. 114–120 of vol. 1 of Amer. Philos. Soc. "Transactions," 1789; on pp. 162–180 of the same volume appears his "The Sun's Parallax deduced from a comparison of the Norriton and some other American observations of the transit of Venus, 1769." With the assistance of John Lukens, David Rittenhouse, and John Sellers, Smith prepared an "Account of the Transit of Venus over the Sun, June 3d, 1769, as observed at Norriton, in Pennsylvania," in the same volume, pp. 8–39; and with the assistance of Lukens, Rittenhouse, and Owen Biddle, he prepared an "Account of the Transit of Mercury over the Sun, Nov. 9th, 1769, as observed at Norriton," in the same volume, pp. 158–162.

For a biography of Smith, see H. W. Smith's "Life and Correspondence of the Rev. William Smith," 1880, our no. 82724, vol. 20, and C. J. Stillé's "Memoir of . . . Smith," 1869, below. A poem entitled "In Memory Of the ill-thought of, and much disesteem'd W[illiam] S[mith]" forms pp. 19–24 of "The Scribler," 1764.

SMITH. The Churchman's Choral Companion to his Prayer Book; consisting of Chants, Responses, and Anthems, with Scripture Hymns set to Appropriate Melodies; composed, selected, and adapted to the usage of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, In two, three, and four Parts, with thorough Bass, for the Organ or Piano Forte. By the Rev. William Smith, D.D. New-York: Printed for the Author. 1809. [On p. 8:] Printed by T. & J. Swords, No. 160 Pearl-Street. Folio, pp. 8, chants 45. NYP., Y. 84680

According to the preface, dated New-York, January 13, 1809, the Chants, Responses, and Anthems, are partly from English Cathedral services, others from anonymous works, and the "Harmonies have the names of the authors prefixed, when they could be ascertained." Several pieces were composed for the work by Messrs. Taylor and Carr of Philadelphia. The last chant was composed by Revd. W. Smith. Page 8 contains a recommendation by Benjamin Moore, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the State of New-York, to whom the book was dedicated. The musical score has the imprint E. Riley Engraver, 31 Dey Street, New York. On p. 6 of the author's "Assistant to the Evangelical Psalmist," 1816, is the following notice: "An improved Edition of the 'Churchman's Choral Companion,' in a neat pocket form, Tenor and Bass, is prepared, and will be put to press whenever the public may desire it. This work will be printed with musical types, for the sake of cheapness." This edition has not been seen.

In support of Anglican orders. For a reply to the sermon by the Rev. Samuel Blatchford, a Presbyterian, see our no. 5883, vol. 2. See also the following title.

SMITH. Doctor Smith's | Answer | to | Mr. Blatchford's | Letter. | . . . | Printed at Newfield, | By Lazarus Beach. | 1798. | 8vo, pp. 145, errata (1). AAS., B., HEH., NYP., Y. 84692

Blatchford's letter had disputed the statements in Dr. Smith's "Discourse," delivered, Oct. 18, 1797, on Anglican orders, and this Answer also deals with the question of apostolic succession. A printed slip is pasted on the upper half of p. 94, containing a corrected version of that part of the page. This is not mentioned in the list of errata on the verso of p. 145.

SMITH. An Office | of | Induction, | adopted by the | Bishop and Clergy of the | Diocese of Connecticut, | in Convocation, | at | Derby, Nov. 20th, 1790. | By the Reverend | William Smith, D.D. | Rector of St. Paul's Church, Norwalk. | Printed at New-Haven, | By Thomas Green and Son. | [1799.] 8vo, pp. 8. NYH. 84693

The copy at Columbia University is inside a cover improvised from a sheet of paper already printed on one side, on which is the following inscription: "To Doctor Johnson from his very humble servant the Author," and which is dated "Norwalk 28th Jan. 1800." Included in the same cover is another pamphlet, dated, "Norwalk, November 16th, 1799," and signed, William Smith, which has the following heading:

A letter from Connecticut to Elder | Elias Lee, Anabaptist Teacher in | the Vicinity of Ballstown, State of | New-York. | [n.p. 1799.] 8vo, pp. 4. Relates to a dispute as to the correctness of observing the 25th of December as the anniversary of Christ's birth.

Prepared at the request of the Diocesan Convention of Connecticut in 1799, and adopted at the Convocation of the Bishop and Clergy in November of that year, also by the Diocesan Convention of June, 1804. It was also adopted by the Diocese of New York in 1802, with slight alterations, and with still other changes in September, 1804, by the General Convention of the Church, the use being obligatory by canon. However, in 1808, it was made optional. The office is in most respects similar to that still included in the latest standard revision of the Book of Common Prayer, 1892. A comparison of the texts of the 1799, 1804, and 1808 editions, also the readings in various standard editions of the Book of Common Prayer, is found in McGarvey's "Liturgiae Americanae," 1895, pp. xxxiv, 450-471. According to this authority, it is not known whether it was an original composition of Dr. Smith or drawn by him from some earlier source. See the canons printed in the editions of 1804 and 1808, also the journals of the Conventions of 1804, 1808 and 1820, printed in the "Journals of General Conventions . . . 1785-1835," 1874, vol. 1.

1000 copies ordered printed by the Convention, see "Journals," 1874, vol. 1, p. 301. Pp. 15-16 have the heading: "The following Canons, passed in General Convention, 1804, having reference to the preceding Office of Induction, are here inserted." The use of the office is made obligatory.

[SMITH.] An Office of Institution of Ministers into Parishes or Churches, prescribed by the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America; Established in General Convention of the Bishops, the Clergy and Laity, 1804; and set forth, with Alterations, in General Convention, 1808. New-York: Printed by T. & J. Swords, No. 160 Pearl-street. 1808. 8vo, pp. 19. GTS. 84695

Improved title of our no. 56752, vol. 13. The use of the office was made optional by the Convention of 1808, which substituted the word, "Institution," for "Induction" in the name. The revised canons and an additional one form pp. 16-19.

SMITH. The Reasonableness of setting forth the most worthy praise of Almighty God, according to the usage of the Primitive Church; with Historical Views of the Nature, Origin, and Progress of Metre Psalmody. . . . By the Rev. William Smith, D.D. Late

Principal of the Episcopal Academy of Connecticut. New-York: Printed and sold by T. and J. Swords. No. 160 Pearl-Street. 1814. 12mo, pp. xxiii, 297. AAS., NYP. 84696

With binder's title: "Smith's Primitive Psalmody." The work is dedicated to the bishops, and the clergy of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America. The author's aim "is to revive the use of the proper and primitive psalmody of the church, and to bear testimony against a novelty, from which it hath never derived any advantage." P. 276 contains "The Authorities on which Metre Psalmody stands" in the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

For a biographical sketch, see Sprague's "Annals," vol. 5, pp. 345-349; also Updike's "History of the Episcopal Church in Narragansett," 1907, vol. 2, pp. 111-113, and 351-352.

[SMITH (William), Chief Justice of Cape Breton.] A Caveat against Emigration to America; with the State of the Island of Cape Breton, from the year 1784 to the present year; and Suggestions for the Benefit of the British Settlements in North America. London: Printed by Bentham and Warde, Furnivals-Inn Court, Holborn, for E. Lloyd, Harley-Street, Cavendish-Square. 1803. 8vo, pp. viii, 158. H. 84697

Though Smith's name does not appear on the title-page, this is not an anonymous work, chapter 2 being written in the first person, and containing a letter sent by the writer, dated Sydney, 25 March 1799, and signed by William Smith. In the Harvard copy between the title and the imprint are signs of erasure, possibly of printed words. Information from T. Franklin Currier. The following relate to the Caveat:

Letters to Lord  on a Caveat against Emigration to America with the state of the Island of Cape Breton, from the year 1784 to the present year; and suggestions for the benefit of the British settlements in America. Lately published By William Smith, Esq. formerly surgeon physical on the military establishment of that island, and late chief justice thereof. . . . London: Printed by T. Bensley, Bolt Court. 1804. 8vo, pp. 228. AMER. GEOG. SOC., H.

An uncut copy, said to be on Large Paper, was no. 2102 at a sale of books relating to America, the West Indies, etc., at Sotheby's May 25-June 2, 1860. No other record of the sale of a large paper copy has been found. The internal evidence shows the author of the letters to be Joseph Frederick Walsh, or Wallet, Desbarres, 1722-1824, author of our nos. 3606, 3608, vol. 1, and 19685, vol. 5, as he states, for instance, on p. 11 that he was appointed Lieutenant Governor of Cape Breton in 1784, at which date Desbarres was appointed to that office. Information from T. Franklin Currier. Smith was formerly a surgeon of the 33d Regiment when stationed at Sydney in 1784, and held a seat in the Council under Governor Desbarres. The Duke of Portland wrote in October 11, that William Smith had been appointed Chief Justice to put an end to internal disorders and re-establish the due administration within the island. He continued in office until September 1801, when he left for England without leave, later notifying the Duke that he did not intend to return. See Brown's "History of the Island of Cape Breton," 1869, pp. 414, 420 and 421.

SMITH (William), of Hopewell, New Jersey. The Easy Instructor or A New method of teaching sacred Harmony. Part II. Containing the Rudiments of Music on an improved plan.—With a choice collection of Psalm Tunes, a number of which are entirely new. By William Smith. [n. p. 1806.] Oblong 12mo, pp. (6), 72. AAS. 84698

In the Advertisement dated, "Hopewell, (New-Jersey;) near Trenton, 1806," is the following statement: "The Publisher of this work meeting with great encouragement in the first edition of the "Easy Instructor," is induced to publish a second edition, and having added the flats and sharps, so that the singer may take his choice, either to sing by characters or by line and space, he hopes to meet the approbation and patronage of the friends to Vocal Music." The pages with the music are engraved, not printed. The "Easy Instructor, or, a New Method of teaching Sacred Harmony," of which the above title forms the second part, was prepared by William Little and William Smith. An "Advertisement" appears in all the editions of that work, signed by them, and dated Philadelphia, August 15th, 1798. It states that upward of three thousand subscribers had been obtained and that a favorable reception was hoped for. No edition for that year has been seen and it is quite possible that none appeared until 1802 when the work was copyrighted in New York by William Little. It is advertised in the New York "Morning Chronicle," for December 22d of that year as published by G. & R. Waite, No. 64, Maiden Lane. The copyright was in the hands of Websters and Skinner and Daniel Steele of Albany, and they brought out many editions, the imprints of some showing that it was widely sold in various parts of the country. Editions were published in Harrisburg in 1818, in Utica in 1818 and 1820 and in Albany as late as 1831, a copy of which edition is in the American Antiquarian Society. Nearly all copies seen were from entirely different printings, with many changes and with the addition of many new tunes. F. J. Metcalf's "American Psalmody," 1917, p. 27, mentions eighteen editions and states that there were probably many others. There are several editions of this work in each of the following libraries: AAS., LC., NYP., Y. Later editions of the Easy Instructor include selections from the tunes in this [1806] edition of Part II.

SMITH (William), of Norwich, b. 1756, d. 1835. A Letter to William Wilberforce, Esq. M.P. On the Proposed Abolition of the Slave Trade, at present under the consideration of Parliament. By William Smith, Esq. Late Representative for the City of Norwich. . . . London: Printed by Richard Taylor and Co. Shoe Lane: and sold by Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme, Paternoster-Row. 1807. 12mo, pp. 48. BA., NYP. 84699

Contains an extract from a letter from the United States describing the unhappy conditions of slaves in that country, pp. 36-41.

SMITH (William), Schoolmaster in New York. Journal of a Voyage in the Missionary Ship Duff, to the Pacific Ocean in the Years 1796, 7, 8, 9, 1800, 1, 2, &c.: Comprehending authentic and circumstantial narratives of the disasters which attended the first effort of the "London Missionary Society. Interspersed with a variety of singular incidents and adventures, with an Appendix; Containing interesting circumstances in the life of Captain James Wilson, the commander of the Duff, when he was engaged in the wars in the East Indies, and taken prisoner by Hyder Ally's troops,—his bold attempt to escape, and subsequent difficulties. By William Smith. New York: Published and sold by Collins and Co. No. 189, Pearl-Street. 1813. 12mo, pp. iv, 288.

BA., C., H., HEH., NYP., WHS. 84700

The preface, dated New-York, July, 1813, stated that the object of the book was to show the purposes of the London Missionary Society, to describe the history of the first missionary ventures in the Pacific Islands, and to give some account of the islands and their inhabitants. The voyage down the east coast of South America forms pp. 9-13, p. 12 relating to the slave trade. After his stay in the islands, the writer returned to England in one of the East India Company's ships in 1802. Pp. 275-278 contain an account of his coming to America in 1804. After engaging in business for a while, he opened a school at 222 Greenwich Street, and because of his reputation as a schoolmaster was engaged as the superintendent of the first school started by the Society for establishing a Free School in the City of New-York, in 1806, on Bancker Street. The author is mentioned in Palmer's "The New York Public School," 1905, p. 24, as said to be a well-qualified teacher, the statement being evidently quoted from "An Account of the Free-School Society of New-York," New-York: Published by Collins and Co., 1814, p. 8.

SMITH (William), of Lower Canada, member of Council, b. 1769, d. 1847. History of Canada; from its first discovery, to the peace of 1763. By William Smith, Esquire; Clerk of the Parliament and Master in Chancery of the Province of Lower Canada. . . . [In two vols.] Quebec: Printed for the Author, by John Nielson, 1815. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. (6), iii, 383, 72; vol. 2, to the year 1791, pp. (2), 235, folded table of "Number of Souls, &c. in Canada, in 1784." C., HEH., JCB., NYP., WHS. 84701

It is evident from the preface that the author's original intention was to carry the account no further than the peace of 1763, the period covered by vol. 1, and the text of this volume ends with the word "Finis." The first sheet, including the title which had "Vol. I." upon it is of a different paper than the text and may have been printed after the plan was enlarged. On December 12th, 1811, Smith wrote in a letter to S. Sewell, printed in the magazine "Canadiana," vol. 1, no. 7, pp. 101-102, July 1889, that the work was to appear about the fifth of January of the following year. The date 1815 appears on the titles of both volumes but an examination of that in the first volume gives evidence of an erasure under the number 5, which is also out of line with the rest of the date. Moreover the impression of the figure 5 is found on a few succeeding leaves showing that it was put in with single type after the book had been folded. Probably the title-page had originally been printed with the date 1812 or one of the other years previous to 1815. Gagnon states that his copy had the following inscription in the hand of S. Neilson: "Sam Neilson 20th July 1826. This work printed in 1815 was not published before this time from motives not exactly known. The true motive was probably interest. Some expressions and opinions might affect his prospects or character. It was Mrs. Smith who at last gave orders for its publication at the moment that the author and she were embarking for England." The words, "End of the second volume" on p. 235 of that part, suggest a possible third volume, and Bibaud in his "Bibliothèque Canadienne," published about 1859, after describing the work in two volumes, says that there was a third volume covering the period to 1815. Gagnon has no record of this third volume. See his "Essai de Bibliographie Canadienne," 1895.

Smith states in his preface that his work is based on the "Colony Records, the Jesuits' Journals, and Charlevoix's History . . . and other authentic sources." He refers to these and other sources in the notes and prints a number of official documents, journals, etc. in the foot-notes of both volumes and in the appendix to vol. 1. William McLennan, F. R. S. C., in his note on the book in Larned's "Literature of American History," considers the interest greater in the later part of the work as nearer the period of the author's own life. The history was unpopular with the French Canadians, see La Terrière's "Political and Historical Account," 1830, p. 214, which speaks of its being well compiled but prejudiced. The footnotes on pp. 26-27 contain a eulogy upon Nathaniel Appleton Haven, a lawyer and author of Portsmouth, N. H., who died June 3, 1826.

[SMITH.] Some Remarks on the "Toleration Act" of 1819. Addressed to the Hon. John Taylor Gilman. By a Friend to the "Public Worship of the Deity." Exeter: Printed by Samuel T. Moses. 1823. 8vo, pp. 44. B., NYP. 84704

Criticizes some of the provisions of the act on the ground that every person should be forced to contribute to the support of some religious institution, though he should be free to choose which. The copy in the library of the New Hampshire Historical Society has a manuscript note on the title-page in the hand of Gov. Charles H. Bell of Exeter, attributing the pamphlet to William Smith. Smith collected much material for use in a history of Exeter, but was prevented by death from writing it. The data, however, were used by his father, Hon. Jeremiah Smith, in the preparation of his centennial address, 1838, and by Charles H. Bell in his "History of the Town of Exeter," 1888. For a biographical sketch, see the latter work, pp. 364-365. For earlier reports see Smith (Richard), of Cincinnati, O., b. 1823, d. 1898. Titles for 1854 and 1863 supplied by Miss Alice M. Dunlap, from copies in the Cincinnati Public Library. In the reports from 1866-1871 Smith's name did not appear on the title, but was signed to the superintendent's report. He was succeeded as superintendent by Sidney D. Maxwell, who submitted his first report in 1872. This series is still published. Smith was editor and proprietor of the "Cincinnati Price Current," of which Cornell U. has a nearly complete file, from 1854 until his death in 1872. According to a sketch of Smith in the "Cincinnati Daily Gazette," vol. 89, no. 4, July 6, 1872, p. [4], he was financial and commercial editor of the Cincinnati Commercial" for eight years, commencing in 1851.

Improved title of our no. 51456, vol. 12. In the Jeff Davis Piracy Cases the United States brought suit against members of the crew of that ship as pirates, not recognizing her as the privateer of an independent warring nation. William Smith was in charge of one of her prizes, the Enchantress, when she was retaken by the U. S. gunboat, the Albatross. The jury brought in the verdict of guilty. The argument of William D. Kelley, one of the counsel for the United States, was reprinted separately from the same type, see our no. 37272, vol. 9.

[SMITH (William), of Wisconsin.] Declaration of Independence From the Sale of the Democratic Party made by the Barnacles to Horace Greeley at the Cincinnati Convention. Made upon request of many Democrats who with the Author have stood in the Democratic ranks and voted the Democratic ticket for Fifteen Years. [Menasha, Wis.? 1872.] Large 8vo, pp. 4. HEH. 84729

No title-page, title from heading of p. 1. Signed and dated: "William Smith. (Generally called by Bro. Gabe, 'Billy.') Menasha, Aug. 24th, 1872." Title supplied by Willard O. Waters. Dissatisfaction was felt among Democrats because their leaders, desiring to defeat Grant at any cost, had forced upon the party the presidential candidate, Horace Greeley, and the platform, which had been previously adopted by the mass convention of the Liberal Republicans held in Cincinnati in May, 1872. SMITH (William A[ndrew]), b. 1802, d. 1870. At a term of the Circuit Court of the United States of America for the Southern District of New-York, in the Second Circuit, on the twenty-sixth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one. Present The Honourable Samuel Nelson, and the Honourable Samuel R. Betts, Judges. Between William A. Smith, a citizen of Virginia, Alexander L. P. Green, a citizen of Tennessee, and others, Complainants, And George Lane and Levi Scott, citizens of New-York, and others, Defendants. Decree. [New-York. 1851?] 8vo, pp. 7. NYP. 84738

The decree of the Court in the dispute between the Methodist Church, South, and the Methodist Book Concern. The Southern Church claimed that as its separation from the main body of the church in 1845 was constitutional, it had not lost its proportionate right in the property and income of the Book Concern. The Court upheld the complainants, and ordered the division of the property.

Some copies of the first issue have four instead of three pages of advertisements of the M. E. Church, South. Lectures originally delivered to classes in Randolph-Macon College, adapted somewhat for the general reader. They attempt to justify slavery from the moral standpoint. John H. Power, D. D., replied in his "Review of Lectures . . . on the Philosophy of Slavery," 1859, our no. 64773, vol. 15.

SMITH. The Methodist Church Property Case. Arguments of Messrs. Adam N. Riddle, Judge Lane, and Thomas Ewing, counsel for the defendants In the Suit of William A. Smith, and others, vs. Leroy Swormstedt, and others, heard before Hon. Judge H. H. Leavitt, in the Circuit Court, United States, for the District of Ohio, June 24-July 2, 1852. To which is appended the decision of the judge. Cincinnati: Published by Swormstedt & Poe, Corner of Main and Eighth Streets. R. P. Thompson, Printer. 1852. 8vo, pp. 155. H. 84743

The question involved was the amicable division of interests in the Methodist Book Concern in Cincinnati" growing out of the alleged division of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1845." J. R. Spann states in a biographical sketch in the "John P. Branch Historical Papers of Randolph-Macon College," vol. 4, no. 4, 1916, pp. 347-363, that in 1836 Dr. Smith was one of three to begin the publication of the "Virginia Conference Sentinel." See also W. T. Smithson's compilation, "In Memoriam," 1871, pp. 37-46.

A later edition, omitting the dialogues relating to the division in the church, and a German translation of the same were published with the following titles:

SMITH. What is Calvinism? Or the Confession of Faith, in harmony with the Bible and Common Sense, in a series of dialogues between a Presbyterian minister and a young convert. By the Rev. William D. Smith, D.D. Philadelphia: Presbyterian Board of Publication, No. 1334 Chestnut Street. [n. d.] 18mo, pp. 260.

This edition was copyrighted in 1854, an issue of that year appearing in Roorbach. The issue here given was apparently printed from the worn stereotype plates of that of 1854, but probably not before 1858, the first year when the Philadelphia directories locate the Presbyterian Book Store at 1334 Chestnut Street. The dialogues relating to the division in the church are omitted. A German translation has the following title:

Was ist Calvinismus? Oder: Das Westminster Glaubens-Bekenntniss in Uebereinstimmung mit der Bibel und dem gesunden Menschenverstande. . . Philadelphia. Presbyterianische Publikations-Behörde, 1334 Chestnut Strasse. [n. d.] 18mo, pp. 252, and printed cover. UTS.

Dr. Smith was one of the editors of the "Presbyterian of the West" from 1841-1845. For biographical notes, see the introduction to his "What is Calvinism," signed by James Wood, and the "Biographical and Historical Catalogue of Washington and Jefferson College," 1902.

According to the selections from notices found in vol. 1 of the first issue listed above, the work appeared originally in numbers, the fourth and last part of vol. 1 being the historical introduction found at the beginning of the complete volume. It was noted that the general map was to be issued upon the conclusion of the work, and this bearing the date, 1852, is in vol. 2 of the first issue, but in vol. 1 of the later issues. The copyright notice dated 1851 is included first in vol. 2 of the earliest issue, while appearing in both volumes of the later issues. The part of the business directory found in vol. 1 of the first issue covered only the counties treated in that volume. The author states in his preface that he has been led by the inaccuracy of the works relating to Canada, previously published, "to devote a year or two to the collection of a few more facts, that intending emigrants and future historians may have a correct view of the Province, as it exists at the present day; and also, that our own people may obtain some information respecting the productions and capabilities of places beyond their own doors. We have endeavored to accomplish our task, as far as relates to the present, by personally visiting all localities likely to yield any matter of sufficient interest to the public . . ." He regrets the scantiness of material relating to the past; as for the future, "with a fine climate, a fruitful soil, an inexhaustible supply of water power, valuable minerals in abundance," Canada requires nothing but the industry and perseverance of her sons. The introduction contains a history of Canada from its discovery to 1849. The author cites as authorities the writings of Champlain, Charlevoix, Kalm, La Potherie, Heriot, Warburton, Christie, and Bouchette. A number of tables of statistics are included, relating to population, revenue, shipping, imports and exports, and property subject to taxation. The main part of the book takes up the various counties, individually or in groups. Concluding pages give general information about the Province, and a comparison between it and the United States and the other British colonies for the benefit of intending emigrants from Great Britain. The added title-page engraved in line contains an unsigned view of Niagara Falls. Several of the county maps have the imprint of Thomas Maclear, but they bear the name of no cartographer. The general map, however, has the following title: "Map of Canada West or Upper Canada, compiled from Government Plans, Original Documents, and Personal Observation. By William H. Smith. . . . Toronto. Published by Thomas Maclear. 1852." The plates added in the third issue are wood-engravings of views of Canadian towns and villages, and of a few other scenes, several being unsigned and others having the names of F. C. Lowe, Allanson, J. Dynes, or E. Whitefield. Another issue of the map on a smaller scale was prepared "with alterations and additions to the present time for the Canadian Almanac 1855. Maclear & Co. Toronto." The almanacs for 1857 and 1858, also published by Maclear, contain other adaptations of the same map without Smith's name.

SMITH. Smith's Canadian Gazetteer; comprising statistical and general information respecting all parts of the Upper Province, or Canada West: distance tables; government and district officers and magistrates in each district; list of post offices, with their distances from some of the principal towns; stage and steamboat fares; principal hotels and taverns; rates of toll on the Welland Canal and some of the principal harbours; lists of exports; quantity of Crown Lands for sale in each township; names and addresses of land agents and forwarders; the leading features of each locality as regards soil, climate, &c., with the average value of land. With a mass of other desirable and useful information for the man of business, traveller, or emigrant. The whole collected from the best authorities, verified by personal observation and inquiries, during nearly three years devoted to the subject, in which time the author visited every district, town, and village, in search of information. With a Map of the Upper Province, compiled expressly for the work, in which are laid down all the towns and principal villages. By Wm. H. Smith. Dedicated by Permission to Lord Metcalfe, late Governor General of British North America. Toronto: Published for the Author, by H. & W. Rowsell. 1846. Price 10s. C., NYP., WHS. 84780

Title-page reset, the rest is the same setting of type. Copyrighted by William Henry Smith in 1846. The first four issues listed above all have the date 1846 on the title. In the earliest issue, the locations on the map, which is dated 1846, are marked with numbers, and pp. x are prefixed to the title, giving the place names to which they refer. By the second issue a new map with place names and the date, 1847, is substituted, and the key to the numbers omitted, while three plates are added. The third issue has four plates, and the fourth has six, one of them being a view of Oshawa, C. W., not included in the 1849 issue, which has only five plates. The author, in his preface to this work which he claims to be the first gazetteer of Canada ever attempted, makes the statement: "I have spared neither trouble, expense, nor personal fatigue; and, in the course of my travels, I have walked over more than three thousand miles of ground, through both the heats of summer and the snows of winter . . ." He hoped by spreading accurate information to prevent immigration from being diverted from Canada to the United States. Both editions of the folded map have the title: "Smith's Commercial and Travelling Map of Canada West, compiled expressly for Smith's Canadian Gazetteer." The earlier, printed by a lithographic process, and dated 1846, is without imprint, while the later, from a copper plate, has the date 1847, and the imprint, Published by H. Rowsell, Toronto. Probably the latter was also published separately, as an advertisement in the first issue announced that Smith's Pocket Commercial and Travelling Map of Canada West was in process of engraving on copper and would be put up in stiff covers. The plates are chiefly views of public buildings engraved in wood by F. C. Lowe.

[SMITH (William Henry), b. 1806, d. 1872.] The Drunkard; or The Fallen Saved. By the author of the moral drama of the same name which has been performed nearly one hundred times at the Boston Museum, to overflowing houses. Boston, published by E. P. Williams, No. 22 Congress Street, and for sale at all periodical depots. [1844.] 8vo, pp. 38, and printed cover. H. 84781

With front cover dated 1844, and with copyright of the same year. Written in the form of a story, two columns to a page. Title and information from T. Franklin Currier. According to the preface in later editions of the play itself, "Many inquiries have been made as to the authorship of the Drunkard and as rumor has named a dozen or more persons, some of whom have never troubled themselves to deny their identity . . . we give the following facts . . . 'The Proprietor of the Museum, . . . conceiving that a Drama might aid the cause of Temperance, and prove highly productive to his establishment, engaged a gentleman of known and appreciated literary acquirements to undertake the task. Unfortunately his production . . . was from want of theatrical experience, merely a story in dialogue, entirely deficient in stage tact and dramatic effect. Under these circumstances, the manuscript was placed in the hands of Mr. W. H. Smith, with the request that he would finish and prepare it for the stage. That gentleman revised what was written, altering what he considered ineffective, and introduced the entire underplot, together with the last scene of the second act, and the entire of the third, fourth and fifth parts. No claim is laid to originality of invention in the character of Cribbs, Agnes, or any other part in the piece. The object was not so much to prepare an original, as an effective drama. The piece was produced under direction of Mr. Smith, in the winter of 1844, and performed that season for upwards of one hundred and forty times, and is by all acknowledged to be the most successful play ever acted in Boston.'"

According to M. C. Crawford's "Romantic Days in Old Boston," 1910, p. 253, "On the bills for 1844 a prize of $100 was offered by the management 'for the best moral domestic drama adapted to the stock company of the Museum.' To win this prize there was sent in a play called 'The Drunkard' the authorship of which has never been accurately known, but which John Bouvé Clapp—who has made a special study of the Museum's history to which I am indebted for many of these facts—attributes to Rev. John Pierpont, then pastor of the Hollis Street Church. Pierpont was an ardent worker in the movement for temperance reform, and he was wont to thunder from his pulpit, Sunday after Sunday, against those who had built up fortunes by liquor manufacture. . . . Perhaps it was in the belief that he could preach temperance to a larger audience through the theatre than through the church that Mr. Pierpont turned his attention to the writing of a play."

The following statement was made by Mrs. Sol Smith, daughter of William Henry Smith, in the Des Moines Register for July 2, 1911, "my father's name was Sedley. He was educated for the ministry, but when he decided to go on the stage the family felt so badly that he changed it to Smith." For biographical sketches, see J. H. Payne's "Clari; . . . With . . . a memoir of W. H. (Sedley) Smith, the present stage manager of the Boston Museum," 1856, which is no. XLVI of "Spencer's Boston Theatre," and T. A. Brown's "History of the American Stage," 1870, pp. 341-342. An obituary notice appeared in the "New-York Times" for January 20, 1872.

Punctuation supplied. In 1870 the legislature of Ohio made an appropriation for the purchase of the St. Clair Papers, which had been preserved by his family, and in joint resolution of 1881 directed their publication. The Board of Library Commissioners appointed Smith, formerly Secretary of State of Ohio, to edit the papers, and Robert Clarke & Co. as publishers. Mr. Smith prefixed to the papers an account of the life of St. Clair, vol. 1, pp. 1-256. In the preparation of the volumes he made use of other manuscript sources in the archives of the State and War Departments, and in private hands. The portrait in vol. 1 is a fac-simile engraving of a drawing from life by Col. J. Trumbull, signed by J. B. Longacre and H. B. Hall; that in vol. 2 is an engraving by E. Wellmore from Longacre's drawing after the portrait by C. W. Peale. A paper by Smith on "The Pelham Papers—Loss of Oswego," was published in Am. Hist. Soc. "Papers," 1890, vol. 4, pp. 367-379, and one on the "First Fugitive Slave Case of record in Ohio," in the "Annual Report," for 1893, pp. 91-100; an address on "A Familiar Talk about Monarchist and Jacobins," appeared in the "Ohio Archæological and Historical Quarterly," for 1888, vol. 2, pp. 187-215. An account of his journalistic activities and a sketch of his life is included in Whitelaw Reid's introduction to Smith's "Political History of Slavery."

Dated at the end, "Philadelphia, May 1, 1794." Smith's reply to criticisms of his speech of January 13, 1794, opposing the commercial regulations proposed by Madison in his seven resolutions. He especially defends himself from the charge of undue partiality toward Great Britain. See below, "Speeches," 1794. Date of birth supplied by Miss Mabel L. Webber, from an entry in the contemporary diary of Mrs. Manigault. According to Matthews' "Journal of William Loughton Smith," 1917, pp. 20-21, Smith adopted his mother's surname as part of his own name about 1804, thereafter calling himself "William Loughton Smith."

The first edition was published in Charleston in July, 1795, and a copy was formerly in the Library of Congress, bound in a volume of pamphlets which is now missing. For a title, see our no. 10663, vol. 3. From the title-page it is known that the author was a South Carolinian, and from the added "Eyes Opened" title-page, that he was a member of the House. As all the representatives from that state voted against the treaty on April 30, 1796, except Smith and Harper, and as the latter in December, 1795, published under his own name the reasons for his position, Smith is apparently the author of the above pamphlet. See Matthews' "Journal of William Loughton Smith," 1917, p. 80. Announced in the New York "Daily Advertiser" of August 26, 1795, as follows: "This day is Published, and sold by James Rivington, The Eyes Opened . . . Under the title of A Candid Examination of the Objections to the Treaty, Lately effected with the Court of Great Britain, by his excellency Governor Jay, which was last week ratified by the President, and is now on its passage to London. On the appearance in print, of this valuable performance, the change produced by the perusal of it, in the opinions of the most violent of 12000 inhabitants of Charleston, opposed to the treaty, was incredible. It is read with equal avidity and conviction." Dated August 26.

The ratification of the treaty took place on August 15, 1795, after the title-page and first sheets had been printed, and it was decided to add a new title and a postscript both calling attention to the event. The half title of the postscript is part of the preceding signature, F, but the text, which with the following blank leaf, forms a complete sheet, is printed on different paper, now noticeably browner. Besides the announcement of the ratification of the treaty, the postscript contained extracts of published letters of Jay and Pinckney, written in November, 1794, the latter dated in error, 1795; a note from the New York "Minerva," of August 17, 1795, that the late British minister had sailed for England with the ratified treaty; and a letter from William Stephens Smith of New York, with two from Washington, reprinted from the New York "Daily Advertiser," of the 18th of that month.

SMITH. A | Comparative View | of the | Constitutions | of the | several States with each other, and with that | of the United States: | exhibiting in | Tables | The prominent Features of each Constitution, | and classing together their most important provisions under the | several heads of administration; | with | Notes and Observations. | By William Smith, of South Carolina, L.L.D. | and Member of the Congress of the United States. | Dedicated to the People of the United States. | Philadelphia, | Printed by John Thompson, and sold by all the Booksellers | in the United States. | 1796. | 4to, pp. (6), 4, 9-34. 6 folded tables.

AAS., BA., C., H., HEH., HSP., JCB., NYP., USC., UTEX. 84820

The preface is dated, Philadelphia, October 2, 1796, but the work was not issued till the next February, according to an advertisement in the "Gazette of the United States," for the sixth of that month, as follows: "Will be published, on Wednesday next, By Mess. Dobson, Carey, Campbell, Rice, and the other Booksellers, price One Dollar and twenty-five cents, elegantly printed on wove paper, and hot-pressed, by John Thompson, A Comparative View of The Constitutions of the several States, . . . N. B. A few Copies printed on an inferior paper, at 3-4ths of a dollar." Matthews calls attention to a letter from Smith to King in which he speaks of his plan to issue an enlarged edition, an intention which he never carried out. See "The Life and Correspondence of Rufus King," vol. 2, 1895, p. 167. The six folded tables supply the place of signatures C-H. Some copies have an inserted leaf preceding p. 1. Some copies have all the tables numbered; some have table V unnumbered; and others have tables V-VI unnumbered.

SMITH. A Comparative View of the Constitutions of the several states with each other, and with that of the United States: presenting the most prominent features of each constitution. By William L. Smith, L.L.D. formerly a member of Congress from South Carolina. Revised and extended by E. S. Davis, of South Carolina. City of Washington: Published by Thompson and Homans. 1832. [On verso of title:] Printed by Way and Gideon. 8vo, pp. 135, including tables, pp. [7]–[8] blank. Additional table on two leaves between pp. [110]–111. C., CHARLESTON L. S., NYH., P. 84821

Revised to such an extent as to be almost a different work. The dedication to the people of the United States, is signed, "E. S. Davis. Abbeville, South Carolina."

SMITH. A Dose for the Doctor. | Ecce iterum Crispinus! or in plain English, the Dr. has again intruded himself on the patience of the public. Finding that arguments have failed him, he is obliged to have recourse to misquotations, quibbles, distinctions without a difference, and to laws made to answer temporary purposes, which by no means apply to the present question. . . . [Signed and dated.] William Smith. Charleston, November 25, 1788. [Charleston. 1788.] Broadside, 11 x 8¾ in. H. 84822

Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier. Dr. David Ramsay questioned the legality of Smith's election to the House of Representatives in November, 1788, because he had not been a citizen of the United States for seven years, and on April 15th, 1789, presented a petition to the House to that effect. On May 22, Smith explained to that body that he was born in Charleston of a South Carolina family, and that his absence in Europe was due to his education and to delays for which he was not responsible. He was seated by a vote of 36 to one. See Annals of Congress, vol. 1, 1834, column 397–408. Later in the year Ramsay published "Observations on the Decision of the House . . . on the 22nd Day of May, 1789; Respecting the Eligibility of the Hon. William Smith . . .," our no. 67700, vol. 16.

SMITH. Friendship with Britain | the | True Interest of America. | The | Speech | of | Mr. Smith, | of | South Carolina, | delivered in the | House of Representatives | of the | United States, | In January 1794. | On the subject of certain | Commercial Regulations, | proposed by Mr. Madison, | in the Committee of the Whole on the report of | the Secretary of State. | Philadelphia Printed: | Edinburgh: Reprinted for Bell and Bradfute, | J. Simpson and W. Laing. 1794. | 8vo, pp. (2), 78. Folded table. B., NYP. 84823

In this edition the folded table omits the comparison of imports and some of the items concerning the exports. From the same setting of type as the Edinburgh edition of the "Speeches of Mr. Smith," listed below. Probably the sales under that title were disappointing, and the new one was adopted as more likely to attract attention.

SMITH. Journal of William Loughton Smith. 1790-1791. Edited by Albert Matthews. Cambridge. The University Press. 1917. 8vo, pp. (3), 20-88, and printed front cover. Frontispiece portrait and plate.

C., H., JCB., NYP. 84824

A separate from Mass. Hist. Soc. "Proceedings" for 1917, vol. 51, pp. 20-88. According to Mr. Matthews' note on p. 35, the journal is not printed from the original manuscript, which he was unable to locate, but from the version printed in the New York "Evening Post," in both the daily and semi-weekly editions, at intervals from April to June, 1888. It is edited with many references to contemporary and other authorities, and accompanied by a biographical introduction, and full annotated bibliography. The portrait of Smith is "From the Miniature by Trumbull in Yale University."

Smith moved to amend the constitution so "that the electors of a President and Vice-President be obliged, in giving their votes, to designate the person for whom they vote as President, and the person for whom they vote as Vice-President."

BA., H., JCB., NYH. 84827

The text is from the same setting of type as that of the first edition. The half title, in an oval frame, reads "Smith's Oration." The errata are corrected. Probably the second edition appeared in the same month. Matthews calls attention to the following passage in a letter from Smith to Rufus King, dated July 23, sending him a copy of the oration, "with a curious advertisement of the Vender, who says that the works which have lately had the greatest run in town, are Paine's Age of Reason & Smith's Oration." See "The Life and Correspondence of Rufus King," vol. 2, 1895, p. 65.

[SMITH.] The Numbers of Phocion, which were originally published in the Charleston Courier, in 1806, on the subject of Neutral Rights. Revised and Corrected. Charleston, S. C. Printed at the Courier Office, No. 1, Broad-Street. [1806.] 8vo, pp. 70.

BA., C., CLS., NYP., USC. 84828

The introduction, dated Charleston Courier-Office, June, 1806, states that there had been such a demand for the newspapers containing the numbers of Phocion that it had been decided to republish them separately. This series of articles signed by Phocion is written against the violation of neutrality by American ships in the carrying trade between France and her colonies, then at war with Great Britain. According to Matthews, they were published in the "Charleston Courier," from February 18 to May 31, 1806. On p. 5 it is stated that the first four numbers and part of the fifth were not reprinted as they did not relate to Colonial Trade. For an English reprint see above "American Arguments for British Rights," in the preface to which it is stated that the author is William L. Smith.

[SMITH.] Phocion's Examination of the Pretensions of Thomas Jefferson and his Refutation of the Charges against John Adams. Philadelphia: Published by William Cobbett, opposite Christ Church. 1797. 84829

Matthews calls attention to this title advertised in "Porcupine's Gazette," July 17, 1797, which may be a new edition of the "Pretensions of Thomas Jefferson," 1796, with a new title-page, or more probably a sale of left over copies of that edition. Cobbett's advertisement states that "These papers were originally published with a reference to the late important election of President, but the valuable information they contain must recommend them at all times to the attentive perusal of American citizens."

[SMITH.] The | Politicks | And Views | Of a Certain | Party, | displayed. | [Philadelphia?] Printed in the Year M,DCC,XCII. | 8vo, pp. 36. BA., C., CLS., JCB., M., NYP., P. 84830

Improved title of our no. 29973, vol. 8, in which the pamphlet was attributed to Hamilton. Smith's copy, now in the collection of the Charleston Library Society, has in his own hand the inscription, "By William Smith—1792." See Matthews' "Journal of William Loughton Smith," 1917, p. 77. An attack on Madison, Jefferson, and others of the anti-federalist faction, for their opposition to the financial policies proposed by Hamilton as Secretary of the Treasury, and charging them with inconsistency, and insincerity in their attitude toward those measures. Jealousy of Hamilton as a possible rival for the presidency, is suggested as one of Jefferson's motives.

BA., C., CLS., H., HEH., JCB., M., NYP., P., WHS. 84831

According to Matthews, part 1 is advertised as "This Day Published" in the "Gazette of the United States," for November 5, 1796. For part 2, see below.

 [3]-42. BA., C., CLS., H., HEH., JCB., M., NYP., P., WHS. 84832

Dated a month later than part 1.

The authorship has been most generally attributed to Smith, from the time of publication to the present, and it is to be noted that he later used the same pseudonym in his "Numbers of Phocion." For a careful study of the question, see Matthews' "Journal of William Loughton Smith," 1917, pp. 83-86. Among authorities cited is William Cobbett, a bookseller and publisher in Philadelphia, who had advertised an edition of the pamphlet in his "Porcupine's Gazette," July 17, 1797, and after his return to London, quoted passages from it stating that they were "Extracted from the Letters of Phocion, written by William Smith, Esq. of South Carolina." See "Cobbett's Annual Register," vol. 1, 1802, column 961-972. Matthews also includes quotations from numbers of the Charleston "City Gazette," of November and December, 1796, showing that Smith was mentioned as a possible author in his own home. One of the copies in the library of the New York Historical Society has an inscription on the title-page of the first part, stating that the pamphlet was "presented by Oliver Wolcott 30th Sept. 1813," which is in the handwriting of John Pintard, Recording Secretary at the time. He also wrote above the imprint "by Oliver Wolcott," and evidently later added "and William Smith of S. C." This indicates that Oliver Wolcott, who was Secretary of the Treasury in 1796, assisted in the composition.

This pamphlet is made up from a series of articles by "Phocion," which appeared, according to Matthews, in the "Gazette of the United States," October 14-November 24, 1796. They were written, according to part 1, p. [3], in answer to "a writer under the signature of Hampden, in the Richmond paper of the 1st instant," who favored Jefferson's election. The "Gazette" also published a series of letters in reply signed, "A Federalist," which were later issued in a separate pamphlet, our no. 23994, vol. 6.

The appendix, "Vindication of Mr. Adams's Defence of the American Constitutions," is signed and dated, "Union. Eastern Shore, Maryland, 26th Oct. 1796," and forms pp. 39-42 of part 2. It is reprinted from the "Gazette of the United States," for November 5, 1796. It is said that in the copy formerly owned by Smith, now in the collection of the Charleston Library Society, he wrote under the appendix "by William Vans Murray, now Min. Res. in Hold." See Matthews, p. 83. For a possible later edition, see above, "Phocion's Examination."

Folded table.

AAS., BA., C., H., HSP., JCB., M., NYP. 84835

Although the title reads "Speeches," only one delivered on January 13, 1794, is included. This is a reply to Madison's seven resolutions proposed January 3, pp. iii-vi of this pamphlet, and which are prefixed by the statement that "the interest of the United States would be promoted by further restrictions and higher duties, in certain cases, on the manufactures and navigation of foreign nations, employed in the commerce of the United States, than those now imposed." These regulations were intended as a retaliation for the British navigation laws, but Smith claimed that antagonizing Great Britain would react unfavorably on American commerce. Jefferson's opinion, which is generally accepted, that Smith was merely a mouthpiece for Hamilton is shown in the following extract from his letter to Madison, dated Monticello, Apr. 3, 1794: "I have been particularly gratified by the receipt of the papers containing yours & Smith's discussion of your regulating propositions. These debates had not been seen here but in a very short & mutilated form. I am at no loss to ascribe Smith's speech to it's true father. Every tittle of it is Hamilton's except the introduction. There is scarcely anything there which I have not heard from him in our various private tho' official discussions. The very turn of the arguments is the same, and others will see as well as myself that the style is Hamilton's. The sophistry is too fine, too ingenious, even to have been comprehended by Smith, much less devised by him. His reply shews he did not understand his first speech, as its general inferiority proves it's legitimacy, as evidently as it does the bastardy of the original." See "The Writings of Thomas Jefferson," edited by P. L. Ford, vol. 6, 1895, pp. 501-502. The table and the outline of the speech form pp. 80-95 of "The Works of Alexander Hamilton," edited by J. C. Hamilton, 1851, vol. 5, and pp. 423-441 of his "Works," edited by H. C. Lodge, vol. 3, 1885. For a reply by Madison, and a further answer by Smith, see Annals of Congress, for the third congress, columns 209-225, 401-410, and for a separate issue of the former, see our no. 43721, vol. 11, note.

The table shows the "Comparative Footing of the Commerce of the United States with the Dominions of France and Great Britain prior to the pending Revolution of France." According to Matthews' "Journal of William Loughton Smith," 1917, this pamphlet was advertised in the South Carolina State Gazette (Columbia) as late as Oct. 7, 1796.

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. Signed and dated "William Moore Smith. Philadelphia, January 8th, 1799." Smith was general agent to present the claims of British creditors before the commission appointed under the sixth article of Jay's treaty. The pamphlet contains his directions as to what documents and material the claimant in each case should forward to him. It may have been printed by James Humphreys, as the style of printing resembles that in several similar pamphlets relating to British claims which were printed by him.

The following documents relate to the claims of British creditors laid before the commission. Those marked with a star contain papers of Smith as agent.

Improved title of our no. 52562, vol. 13. Since William Richmond Smith, son of Robert Smith, 1723-1793, above, was the only William Smith in the Newcastle presbytery at the time, and since he customarily dropped his middle name, he was undoubtedly the moderator of this meeting in August, 1784. For a biographical note, see Sprague's "Annals," vol. 3, 1858, pp. 173-174. For date of death and middle name, see "Journal of the Presbyterian Historical Society," vol. 8, 1916, p. 160.

SMITH (William R[ichmond]), d. 1849?. The Duty of Supporting the Ministry. A Sermon, preached by appointment before the Northumberland Presbytery, at McEwensville, and published by their order. By Wm. R. Smith, Pastor of the Presbyterian Churches at Northumberland and Sunbury. Sunbury, Pa. Printed at the Office of the "Sunbury American." 1844. 8vo, pp. 22.

HEH. 84851

According to the "History of Northumberland Co.," 1876, p. 51, Mr. Smith was pastor of the Northumberland and Sunbury Churches at the time of his death. His name appears as still in charge in 1849 in the "Minutes of the General Assembly" for that year, and the following year they are listed as vacant.

SMITH. The History of Wisconsin. In three parts, Historical, Documentary, and Descriptive. Compiled by Direction of the Legislature of the State. By William R. Smith, President of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. . . Madison, Wis.: Beriah Brown, Printer. 1854. [Colophon:] Stereotyped by L. Johnson and Co. Philadelphia. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 432; 443.

AAS., C., H., JCB., NYP., P., WHS. 84861

Only vols. 1 and 3 were published. The work was compiled under grants from the legislature, and published at the expense of the state. "Part I.—Historical. Vol. I." takes up the narrative in 1512, giving a sketch of the history of the Mississippi Valley of the Northwest Territory, and carrying that of Wisconsin down to 1836, the date of her admission as a territory. The notes, pp. 301-432, are chiefly extracts of sources. "Part II.—Documentary. Vol. III." reproduces documents relating to the history, with some summaries by the author. Translations from the Jesuit Relations form pp. 9-112; an account of the Black Hawk War, pp. 113-186, contains extracts from Black Hawk's own narrative; pp. 187-354 are in the main other individual narratives, but include descriptions of Indian remains, pp. 236-265, and Annals of the Legislature and of the Constitutional conventions, 1836-1854, pp. 287-314, etc.; a history of the Milwaukee and Rock River canal, pp. 354-443, concludes the volume.

It was the author's plan to complete the first part in a second narrative volume, vol. 2, to be accompanied by another volume of documents, vol. 4 of the whole work, which would have been the end of the second part. The third part, which would have been vol. 5, was to have followed, and to have been a detailed description of the state at the time of publication. According to a letter from Lyman C. Draper, Corresponding Secretary of the Wisconsin Historical Society, dated, Madison, Wis., Apl. 28, 1864, the "Legislature of the State . . . refused to order the intended continuation, & thus the 2d & 4th vols. were never prepared; & Gen. Smith, now 78 year old, has long since abandoned the idea of continuing the work." Mr. R. G. Thwaites in his note in Larned's "Literature of American History," 1902, says that part of the manuscript of vol. 2 was prepared, the manuscript being now in the library of the Wisconsin Historical Society, while Mr. Smith's Report as State Historian for the year 1854, stated that he was then preparing the fifth volume.

SMITH. Incidents of a Journey from Pennsylvania to Wisconsin Territory, in 1837. Being the Journal of Gen. William Rudolph Smith, U. S. Commissioner for Treaty with the Chippewa Indians of the Upper Mississippi. To which are added Gen. Smith's Autobiography, 1787-1808. Letters Relating to the Commission. Brief Biographical Sketch, 1787-1868 by John Goadby Gregory. Wright Howes. Chicago. 1927. [Colophon:] The Collier Printing Co., Wooster, Ohio. 8vo, pp. 82, (1).

AAS., C., H., HSP., NYP., WHS. 84865

Compiled, with additional notes, from letters to the author's brother Richard Penn Smith, written during the summer of 1837. The "Preliminary" is signed, Wm. R. Smith. The map is "compiled and engraved" by J. H. Young, Philada., 1838, and includes an insert map of the "Entire Territory of Wisconsin as Established by Act of Congress, April 10, 1836."

SMITH. Report of Wm. R. Smith, State Historian, of the State of Wisconsin for the year 1854. Madison: Beriah Brown, State Printer. 1855. 8vo, pp. 5. 84866

Published in the "Governor's Message and Accompanying Documents," 1855. Relates to the publication of Smith's History. A paper by Smith, "Recollections of an Early Philadelphian," was published in the "American Historical Register," vol. 4, 1896, pp. 440-448 and 583-592, from notes originally written in 1819, and rewritten and revised by him in 1859. According to Allibone, Smith wrote the sketch on George Wythe in Sanderson's "Biography of the Signers to the Declaration of Independence," 1852, pp. 633-641. In 1810 he was one of the editors of the "Huntingdon Literary Museum, and Monthly Miscellany." HSP. For a biographical sketch of Smith by John Goadby Gregory, see pp. [3]-8 of "Incidents of a Journey," no. 84862 above.

SMITH ([William Russell]), b. 1815, d. 1896. The American Party, and its Mission. Speech of Mr. Smith, of Alabama, delivered in the U. S. House of Representatives, January 15, 1855. [Colophon:] Washington, D. C. Printed at the American Organ Office. 1855. 8vo, pp. 20. c., UTEX. + [Washington? 1855.] 8vo, pp. 16. c. 84867

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. "While serving in Congress in 1855-'56, when the American or Know-Nothing organization was striving for power as the rival of the Democratic party in public favor, Judge Smith was a member of it, and his name was suggested in some of the papers for the Vice-Presidency."—Garrett's "Reminiscences of Public Men in Alabama," 1872, p. 562.

[SMITH.] As it is. . . Albany: Munsell & Rowland. 1860.
12mo, pp. (4), 9-260, (1). C., HEH., NYP. 84868

Attributed to Mr. Smith in Owen's "Bibliography of Alabama," 1898. It is also entered under his name in the "American Catalogue" where he is given as publisher as well, and the place of publication as Tuscaloosa, Ala. It is probable that it was merely printed by Munsell and published by the author. The work is a novel the scene of which is laid in Washington at about the middle of the last century. On the last leaf is an announcement that a sequel to the book, with the title "Love's Apprenticeship" is in press and about to be published. No copy of this has been located.

SMITH. Assassination and Insanity: Guittau's case examined and compared with analogous cases from the earlier to the present times, by William R. Smith. . . Washington, D. C., 1881: William R. Smith, 122 East capitol street, and 456 Louisiana avenue. 8vo, pp. (6), 96, and printed covers. 84869

According to the "Note Preliminary" the work was "originally published in the Law-Central in numbers." Title from Owen.

SMITH. The Bachelor's Button: a monthly museum of Southern literature. . . Number V. William R. Smith, Editor. Tuscaloosa: Printed by Ferguson & Eaton, at the Office of the "Flag of the Union." 1837. 8vo. 84870

Title from Owen who states that he has seen besides this number only an imperfect copy of no. 2, which is dated January, 1837. He thinks it probable that the first four numbers which were published in Mobile were issued monthly. No. 5 was published "after a delay of some months," and contained an announcement that the sixth number would appear in December, 1837, and that beginning with January, 1838, it would be superseded by a new venture, "The Southern Magazine." Mr. Owen states that it is not known whether the latter ever materialized. Nos. 1 and 2 were paged separately, pp. 64 each, but evidently the remaining numbers were paged consecutively, the final page of no. 5 being 248. It is said to be the first periodical of the kind published in Alabama. Besides editing the magazine Mr. Smith contributed articles to it.

SMITH. The Bridal Eve. Tuscaloosa. 1833? 84871

Advertised on the first page of the author's "College Musings," 1833, as follows: "Notice. The Bridal Eve. Is in press, and will be published about the first of December. The delay has been occasioned by the difficulty of obtaining paper of a good quality." Mr. Easby-Smith, the son of the author, states that he has never been able to trace a copy. Information from Miss Elizabeth C. Spicer of Brown University.

SMITH. The Census Printing and Presidential Candidates: The Speech of Mr. Smith, of Alabama, delivered in the House of Representatives, March 18, 1852. [Washington. Colophon:] Printed at the Congressional Globe Office. 8vo, pp. 7 in double columns. NYP. 84872

[SMITH.] The Chief. A Poem, in ten epistles, containing some political hints. . . March 4, 1881. [Washington. 1881.] 8vo, pp. 37, (2). c. 84873

Copyrighted by Alpheus P. French. According to the printed card, in the Library of Congress copy there is inserted a letter from Mr. Smith to the President of the United States, dated March 10, 1881, revealing the authorship of the poem.

[SMITH.] College Musings, or Twigs from Parnassus. "A schoolboy freak, unworthy praise or blame, I'll print—for older children to do the same." Tuscaloosa: D. Woodruff—Broadstreet. 1833. [Verso of title:] D. Ferguson, Printer. Sq. 16mo, pp. 112. BU. 84874

[SMITH.] Hard Cider: a poem, descriptive of the Nashville Convention. [Aug. 17, 1840.] Louisville, Ky. 1840. 18mo, pp. 56. 84875

Our no. 30303, vol. 8. Owen states that it is modeled after Hudibras.

SMITH. "Hards" and "Softs." Speech of Mr. Smith, of Alabama, in the House of Representatives, Jan. 18, 1854, Upon the subject of the differences between the two branches of the Democratic Party of New York, and in reply to Mr. Cutting of New York. [Washington. Colophon:] Printed at the Congressional Globe Office. [1854.] 8vo, pp. 8 in double columns. UTEX. 84876

SMITH. The History and Debates of the Convention of The People of Alabama, Begun and held in the City of Montgomery, on the seventh Day of January, 1861; in which is preserved the Speeches of the Secret Sessions, and many valuable State Papers. By William R. Smith, one of the delegates from Tuscaloosa. Montgomery: White, Pfister & Co. Tuscaloosa: D. Woodruff. Atlanta: Wood, Hanleiter, Rice & Co. 1861. [Verso of title:] Printed for the Author, by Wood, Hanleiter, Rice & Co., Atlanta, Ga. 8vo, pp. 464, xii. C., H., NYP., UP., UTEX. 84877

The author states in the "Explanation," "My object has been to preserve the political features of the debates; and hence I have not attempted, as a general rule, to give the discussions on the ordinary subjects of legislation. Many of the ablest speeches delivered in the Convention were upon the changes in the Constitution of the State, not touching the political necessities of the new condition of things"; and in the "Preface," "The reader may rely upon the perfect authenticity of the historical parts of the book, and upon the accuracy of the speeches as to the sentiments uttered and the positions assumed by the speakers on the points arising in debate; for almost every speech in the volume, of any considerable length or importance, has been submitted to the inspection or revision of the speaker." The appendix contains the Reports of the Commissioners appointed by Governor Moore to the slave-holding states, etc.

SMITH. Ignipotence abroad. [n. p. n. d.] 8vo, pp. 9-80. 84878

No title-page, title from heading of p. 9. For private distribution. A satirical poem. Title from Owen, who places it in his chronological arrangement between titles of 1848 and 1851.

SMITH. Ingersollism and Better Brains: an address delivered before the Alumni of the University of Alabama, in June, 1889, by Wm. R. Smith, Sr. Published for the Alumni of the University of Alabama by Rufus H. Darby, Washington, D. C. [1889.] 8vo, cover-title, and pp. 25. 84879

Title from Owen.

SMITH. *The Justice of the Peace; containing a brief treatise upon all the duties and powers of that officer; with . . . direction how to proceed in civil and criminal cases; arranged under the Laws of Alabama, as now in force. BM. 84880

The Department of Archives and History of the State of Alabama was not able to locate a copy of this first edition.

SMITH. The Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in Civil and Criminal Cases; and the Office and Duties of Judges of Probate: with Explanations and Forms for the use of Executors, Administrators and Guardians, and the Commissioners of Roads and Revenue. To which is added the duties of every subordinate civil officer in commission in the State of Alabama, all arranged under the laws as now in force. By William R. Smith. With an Appendix, containing numerous forms for conveyancers, and the school law. Montgomery, White, Pfister & Co. 1859. [Verso of title:] Munsell & Rowland, Printers, Albany, N. Y. 8vo, pp. 558. 84881

This and the following title supplied by Mrs. Marie B. Owen, director of the Department of Archives and History of the State of Alabama, from copies in the library of the department.

SMITH. Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace and Office and Duties of Judges of Probate, etc., under the Laws of Mississippi. . . . Tuscaloosa: W. R. Smith. 1860. 8vo, pp. 5-255, Appendix—Laws of Mississippi 257-295, Index 297-304. 84882

Title from the "American Catalogue" of books in print in 1876, and collation from Owen's "Bibliography of Mississippi," 1900, where the issue is described without title in a note to the Alabama edition of 1859. He also describes what is an early issue of the third Alabama edition as being exactly similar to the Mississippi issue, except that the title-pages differ and that the Laws of Mississippi are omitted, making the collation pp. 5-255, index 297-304. As issued with corrected paging, it has the following title:

SMITH. The Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in Civil and Criminal Cases, with Forms for the Use of Executors, Guardians, Administrators, and Civil Officers, all Arranged under the laws of the State of Alabama, as now in force. By William R. Smith. Third Edition. With numerous forms for conveyancers. Montgomery:

Opposes Kossuth on the ground that he would involve the United States in a foreign war. See Garrett's "Reminiscences of Public Men in Alabama," 1872, pp. 559-562.

[SMITH.] Kossuth Coppered, or The Banquet at the Capital of Laputa. Containing Gulliver's Great Speech. Illustrated by F. Bellew. New York: Published by Thomas Frere, 87 Nassau Street. 1852. [Verso of title:] George W. Wood, Printer, No. 2 Dutch-street. 8vo, pp. 32, and printed cover. BA., C., NYP. 84886

Fuller title of our entry under Kossuth in note to no. 38269, vol. 9. Attributed to Mr. Smith by Owen in his "Bibliography of Alabama," 1898. On verso of title: "A portion of this poem appeared, some weeks ago, in the New York Herald." A satire upon the Congressional Banquet tendered to Kossuth on January 7th, 1852, and his speech on that occasion. The caricatures by F. [H. T.] Bellew found in the text are engraved in wood by T. Frere. The front cover reproduces one of "K*th Reviewing the New York Militia."

SMITH. The Law-Central, a monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the legal profession; edited by William R. Smith. Number One. [Contents.] *Washington, D. Copyrighted in 1889. Only one volume published. Contains biographical sketches of local interest, and, according to Owen, was originally published in the newspapers of Tuscaloosa County.

[SMITH.] The Royal Ape a Dramatic Poem. Richmond: West & Johnston, No. 145 Main Street, 1863. [Verso of title:] Printed at the South Carolinian book and job office, Columbia, S. C. 8vo, pp. 85, and printed cover. BA., C. 84892

Improved title of our no. 73783, vol. 18. Attributed on the authority of Owen's "Bibliography of Alabama," 1898. The poem, of which the scene is laid in Washington at about the time of the battle of Manassas, is in ridicule of Lincoln, his family and advisers, and their supposed panic at the reported march of the Confederate troops upon Washington. Robert Lincoln, who had allowed himself to be disguised as a woman in preparation for a flight to Philadelphia, closed with the words: "I played the girl, and dad, he played the ape." Title and information from Miss Clare C. Martin.

Albany, N. Y.: Munsell & Rowland, Printers. Sm. 4to, pp. 64, and printed cover. BU., NYP. 84895

A poem delivered before the society on July 11th, 1860. According to the Munsell catalogue there were 500 copies printed of a 64 page issue. Smith stated in his "Reminiscences," that besides those printed for the society, a small edition dedicated to F. A. P. Barnard was printed for the use of the author. This dedication is found in the issue with the Montgomery imprint, on the recto of the leaf following the title, while the verso contains a letter from a committee of the society. In the issue printed for the society, the letter is printed on the recto of the leaf and the verso is blank. Otherwise the text of the 64 page issues is the same. Information from E. W. Winkler of the University of Texas. A reprint forms pp. 345-375 of the "Reminiscences."

A., and was elected to the Confederate Congress at this election.]—Synopsis of Speech as Candidate for Governor of Alabama, at Selma. [In Selma (Ala.) Weekly Reporter, extra, Oct. 19, 1865.]

The originals being scarce because of the Civil War, Smith prepared a condensed edition, with notes and a digest, of the "Reports of Decisions in the Supreme Court of the State of Alabama," in 10 vols., Tuscaloosa, Ala.: William R. Smith, printed by Munsell of Albany, vols. 1-5, 1870, vols. 6-8, 1877, vols. 9-10, 1879. Vols. 4-5 have the imprint, Montgomery, Ala.: Joel White. Tuscaloosa: William R. Smith. On the verso of the fly leaf of vol. 6 is the statement that the "State of Alabama by Joint Resolution of the General Assembly, has purchased two hundred copies of each volume of these Reports, for the use of the State, at Six Dollars per volume. A limited number has been printed for the use of the profession which will be sold, in sets only, at the same price paid by the State." According to Soule's "Lawyer's Reference Manual," 1884, p. 16, the statements of cases, arguments, and citations are cut out, and in many instances decisions are entirely omitted as "unimportant." Information supplied by the Harvard Law Library. Mr. Smith's contributions to magazines are included in the list of his writings found in Owen's "Bibliography of Alabama," 1898, and a sketch of his life in the latter's "History of Alabama," 1921, vol. 4, pp. 1597-1598. Mr. Owen states that Mr. Smith became the editor of the Tuscaloosa "Monitor" in 1838, but does not mention how long he continued his connection with it.

[SMITH (William Stephens), b. 1755, d. 1816.]? Remarks on the Late Infraction of Treaty at New-Orleans. By Coriolanus. New-York: Printed by Vermilye and Crooker, No. 354, Water-Street. 1803. 8vo, pp. 44. BA., C., NYP. 84903

Improved title of our no. 16785, vol. 4. Attributed by Cushing to Col. W. Smith, as William Stephens Smith was frequently called. Colonel Smith's attitude towards Spain was influenced by his relations with Miranda, which began in revolutionary times and culminated in his cooperation in the expedition conducted by the latter against the Spanish in Venezuela, in 1806. Page 2 contains an "Advertisement" stating: "The following remarks on the subject of the late unwarrantable breach of compact by the Spanish government, in suspending the right of deposit at New-Orleans, were originally addressed to the Editor of the New-York Morning Chronicle." The first of the series of articles reprinted in this pamphlet appeared in the "Morning Chronicle" of Dec. 17, 1802, with an introductory note by the editor stating that since "our remarks of yesterday on the Spanish conduct at New-Orleans, a valuable country correspondent has furnished the following well digested remarks on that subject . . ."

SMITH. The Trials of William S. Smith, and Samuel G. Ogden, for Misdemeanours, had in the Circuit Court of the United States for the New-York District, in July, 1806. With a preliminary account of the proceedings of the same court against Messrs. Smith & Ogden, in the preceding April term By Thomas Lloyd, stenographer. New-York: Printed by and for I. Riley and Co. 1807. 8vo, pp. xxxiii, 287. AAS., B., H., HEH., NYP. 84904

Colonel Smith, the son-in-law of John Adams, who had been surveyor of the customs at New York, was tried on the charge of initiating the Miranda expedition of 1806. Ogden, a merchant who had furnished ships and supplies for the expedition, was also tried on this charge. The counsel for the defense attempted to show that Smith and Ogden, though they had taken part in the affair, had not actually begun it, that members of the government, including even Jefferson, were cognizant of Miranda's plans, and that moreover Spain and the United States were at the time practically in a state of war. Secretaries Madison and Robert Smith, and others in Washington, who were subpoenaed as witnesses for the defense, refused to appear, but the defendants were finally acquitted. In spite of the acquittal Colonel Smith was removed from his position. For other information as to the part played by him in the Miranda expedition, see W. S. Robertson's "Francisco de Miranda and the Revolutionizing of Spanish America," 1908.

Fragmentary orders of Lt. Col. William S. Smith, dated from December, 1777, to March, 1778, form pp. 103-117 of Worthington C. Ford's "General Orders issued by Major-General William Heath," etc., 1890, a compilation from manuscript orderly books. Also: Colonel William Smith and Lady. The Romance of Washington's Aide and Young Abigail Adams. By Katharine Metcalf Roof. . . . With Illustrations. Boston: Printed by The Riverside Press for Houghton Mifflin Company in Park Street near the Common. MDCCLXXXIX. [Verso of title:] The Riverside Press. Cambridge, Massachusetts. Printed in the U. S. A. 8vo, pp. xiv, 347. 7 portraits on 5 plates, 3 other plates, and 6 fac-similes. C., NYP. The work is made up largely of selections, some quite fragmentary, from contemporary letters and diaries, which are strung together on a thread of narrative. Besides using the writings of various members of the Adams family already published, Mrs. Roof includes many hitherto unpublished letters of John, Abigail, and John Quincy Adams, Jefferson and Lafayette. Longer or shorter selections from letters of Colonel Smith form about an eighth of the whole work. These include some correspondence with Washington. Of special interest are letters written during the colonel's stay abroad from 1785 to 1788 as secretary of legation at London under Mr. Adams. The description of his life and travels at that time shows the beginning of his acquaintance with Miranda and interest in Spanish American affairs.

*SMITH (Mrs. William Stephens), b. 1765, d. 1813. Journal and Correspondence of Miss Adams, Daughter of John Adams, second President of the United States. Written in France and England, in 1785. Edited by her Daughter. [Vol. I.] New-York & London: Wiley and Putnam. 1841. BA. [Verso of title:] New-York: Hopkins & Jennings, Printers, 111 Fulton-street. [Title of vol. II.:] Correspondence of Miss Adams, Daughter of John Adams, second President of the United States. Edited by her Daughter. Vol. II. [Same imprint.] 1842. 2 vols., 12mo, pp. xii, 247, (1), frontispiece portrait and plate; (2), xiii, 218, (1), frontispiece.
C., NYP. 84905

Improved title of our no. 168, vol. 1. Edited by Mrs. Caroline Amelia De Windt, whose preface is dated Cedar Grove, November, 1841. Mrs. De Windt includes on pp. 99-117 a memoir of her father, William Stephens Smith. The portrait of Mrs. Smith is engraved by H. S. Sadd, from the painting by Copley. The plate in vol. 1 is a view of the residence of John Adams at Quincy, Mass., engraved by Bennett from a sketch by Eliza S. Quincy. The frontispiece of vol. 2 is from a sketch taken from Trumbull's painting of the Battle of Trenton, in which Washington is directing Colonel William Smith to assist the wounded Colonel Rahl, commanding officer of the enemy. Vol. 2 was reissued from the same sheets, and without change of date on the title, but with a slightly different preface dated, Cedar Grove, April 3d, 1849. In this edition the correspondence of John Quincy Adams was added, prefixed to that of his sister, the former having a half-title as Part I., and the latter as Part II. Collation: 12mo, advertisements pp. (2), (2), vi, 214, 218, (1), and frontispiece portrait of John Quincy Adams, engraved by T. Doney.

C., CU. 84906

Signed by William Steuben Smith, son of Colonel Smith, and written in reply to the charges found on pp. 143-155 of Pickering's "Review," 1824, our no. 62658, vol. 15. These had accused John Adams of favoritism in appointing Colonel Smith, his son-in-law, to office, and the latter of being unfaithful to several private trusts, especially to one committed to him by Sir William Pultney. Pickering had also told of having himself prevented the confirmation of Colonel Smith's nomination as adjutant general in 1798, and ended by mentioning the part played by Smith in the Miranda expedition. The "Refutation" quotes testimony in favor of Smith's integrity, and the verdict of the jury which acquitted him of betrayal of trust. Appended are: the sworn statement re the account with Messrs. Pultney and Hornby; and letters from Alexander Hamilton, George Washington, John Sullivan, Baron de Steuben and Robert H. Livingston in testimony to Colonel Smith's excellent character. Title and information from Ernest Kletsch. For birth and death dates, etc., of William Steuben Smith, see "Correspondence of Miss Adams," (Mrs. William Stephens Smith), vol. 2, 1842, p. 64, and N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record, vol. 25, 1894, pp. 158-159.

SMITH. The History of Kentucky. From its earliest discovery and settlement, to the present date, embracing its prehistoric and aboriginal periods; its pioneer life and experiences; its political, social, and industrial progress; its educational and religious development; its military events and achievements, and biographic mention of its historic characters. By Hon. Z. F. Smith, Ex-Superintendent of Public Instruction of Kentucky. Sold by subscription only. Louisville: Courier-Journal Job Printing Company, Publishers. 1886. [Verso of title:] Engraving, electrotyping, printing, and binding executed at the Courier-Journal Job Printing Rooms, Louisville. 8vo, pp. xxvii, 824. Portrait, 7 plates, one of which contains a group of portraits, and one printed on both sides, and 2 folded maps. C., NYP., UTEX. + (Centennial Edition.) [Same imprint.] 1892. 8vo, pp. xxxi, 916. Portrait, 7 plates, and 2 folded maps. NYP. 84936

The introduction, pp. vii-xxi, contains a bibliography of Kentucky history. Phillips states in his "First Map of Kentucky," 1908, that the heliotype reproduction of John Filson's "Map of Kentucke" was made originally for Durrett's "John Filson," 1884, from the Harvard College copy of Filson's "The Discovery, Settlement And present state of Kentucke," 1784. The titles of the two reproductions differ, however. Smith's work also contains a map made for the Kentucky Geological Survey, and copyrighted in 1882, by Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co. It has the inscription, "L. B. Folger Sc. Cin. 85." The centennial edition is for the most part from the stereotype plates of the first, with a few revisions and the addition of pp. 825-873, covering the period from 1886 to 1892, the latter being the centennial year of the admission of Kentucky to the Union; and also, of pp. 874-916, containing lists of state officials, origin of the county names, additional biographical sketches, etc.

SMITH. The History of Kentucky from its earliest discovery and settlement to the present date, embracing its prehistoric and aboriginal periods; its pioneer life and experiences; its political, social, and industrial progress; its educational and religious development; its military events and achievements, and biographic mention of its historic characters. By Hon. Z. F. Smith, Ex-Superintendent of Public Instruction of Kentucky. The Prentice Press: (Courier-Journal Job Printing Company) Louisville, Ky., 1895. 8vo, pp. xxxi, 848. Frontispiece portrait, and 2 plates, one of which is a group of portraits, and the other printed on both sides.

AAS, C., H., NYP. 84937

The first part up to p. 527 is mainly from the same stereotype plates as the earlier editions. In the later part, however, though some of the same plates are used, there are many omissions and a few additions, the chief of which is a new chapter, pp. 809-827, carrying the history down to 1895. The two maps and several of the plates and illustrations are omitted in this edition.

UTEX. 84940

A revised edition of the "School History." Title and information from E. W. Winkler. According to information from Mr. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Hume Logan, he had in preparation at the time of his death a book on Barton W. Stone, which has never been published. For a biographical sketch, see the "Register of the Kentucky State Historical Society," vol. 9, 1911, no. 27. Mr. Smith contributed many articles to the "Register." See also "Who's Who in America," 1910-1911.

SMITH (Zemro Augustus), b. 1837. Roster of Company C. First Maine Heavy Artillery. 1887. 8vo, pp. 16. 84941

According to Williamson's "Bibliography of the State of Maine," 1896, vol. 2, p. 450, Smith was a Portland journalist. Title and date of birth also from Williamson. A letter from Capt. Z. A. Smith, of Ellsworth, Me., dated "Headquarters 1st Reg. Heavy Art'y. Maine Volunteers, Port Alexander, Md., May 16th, 1863," forms pp. 74-75 of William Bartlett Smith's "Memorial of . . . Machias," 1863.

SMITH & BARROW. . . . Smith & Barrow's Monthly Magazine. 1864. Richmond, Va. Smith & Barrow, proprietors. 1864. Large 8vo, cover title, and pp. 96. HEH. 84943

With heading: "Vol. I. Price two dollars. No. I. May." Title and information furnished by Willard O. Waters. The magazine was first advertised in the "Daily Richmond Examiner" on April 11th, 1864, as to be published on the 25th of the month, a similar advertisement appearing on the latter date. The delay in publication was explained in the magazine itself as the result of demands for military service made upon employees. No June number was advertised in the "Examiner," and it is probable that no more numbers were published. It was planned to include original and selected articles, the latter from the latest English periodicals received which would not be accessible to the general reader because of the blockade. The magazine was to contain tales, poetry, sketches of life and manners, official army and navy intelligence, instructive miscellany and articles on political economy. The rates were to be as above for a single number, five dollars for three numbers and twenty dollars a year.

The "Introductory" is signed: "Clarence L. Smith. Wallace W. Elliott. Oakland, Cal., June 1st, 1878." The plates are lithographs of residences, farms and business blocks, printed by Smith and Elliott.

SMITH & FORMAN. Smith & Forman's New-York & New-Jersey Almanac, for the year of Our Lord, 1808: being Bissextile or Leap-Year, And 33rd of the Independence of the United States of America. [Wood-cut.] Printed and sold wholesale and retail, by Smith

& Forman, No. 70 Vesey-street, and 213, corner of Greenwich and Barclay-streets: Where may be had, the New-York Sheet Almanac. 12mo, pp. (36). AAS., M., NJH. 84948

Calculated by Abraham Shoemaker. Apparently the earliest issue of this series. An almanac for 1807 in the library of the American Antiquarian Society which lacks its title-page was described by Mr. Wall in his "List of New York Almanacs," 1921, as being a Smith & Forman's New-York and New-Jersey Almanac for that year. A comparison with other New York almanacs for 1807 showed it to be a copy of "Oram's New-York Almanac," one of the issues of which had the imprint: Printed by James Oram, for D. Smith & Forman, No. 168, Greenwich Street New-York. Continued through the issue for 1817, with slight variations in the imprint. That for 1809 has the imprint: Printed and sold wholesale and retail, by Smith & Forman, No. 195 and 213 Greenwich-Street. The issues for 1810 and 1811 have a similar imprint, while from 1812-1815 they are Printed and sold wholesale and retail, by Smith & Forman at the Franklin Juvenile Bookstores, 195 and 213 Greenwich-Street. The imprints for 1816 and 1817 are the same except that the address becomes 190 and 195 Greenwich-Street.

The American Antiquarian Society has the most complete set, lacking only the issue for 1810. For locations of other copies, see Mr. Wall's "List of New York Almanacs," 1921.

The firm name of Smith & Forman, printers and stationers, appeared in the New York city directories for the first time in the issue for 1806-07. Smith was Daniel D. Smith, and under his own name was entered as a bookbinder and stationer, at 70 Vesey Street, one of the two addresses given for the firm. Forman appears to have been Aaron Forman, a printer, whose address under his own name in this directory was on Dey Street, corner of Greenwich. By 1811-12 Aaron Forman was located at 213 Greenwich Street, and Smith at 195 Greenwich, both numbers being given in the address of the firm. They evidently kept up two establishments, called after 1812-13 the Franklin Juvenile Bookstores. Smith & Forman almanacs for 1817 were printed, but the partnership appears to have been dissolved in that year as the name of Smith & Forman was not in the directory for 1817-18, though the partners were each listed separately at 190 and 195 Greenwich Street respectively. The next year Forman's name had disappeared. From 1807-1811 the names of Smith & Forman are found in the imprints of some issues of "Oram's Almanac" and "Hutchins' Revived Almanac" printed by others. Smith & Forman, themselves, printed issues of "Hutchins' Revived" for the years from 1812-1817, the calendar pages and some other pages from the same type as that of their New-York and New-Jersey Almanacs. Smith continued in business as bookseller and stationer and sold almanacs, having his name as publisher in the imprint of an issue of "Hutchins' Improved Almanac" as late as that for 1838, but the directory for 1838-39 gives his address as Peekskill.

Smith & Forman's New-York Pocket Almanac, for the year of Our Lord, 1811: being the third after leap year, And 36th of American Independence. [Wood-cut with inscription, Smith & Forman.] New-York: Printed and Sold by Smith & Forman, No. 195 & 213, Greenwich-Street. 24mo, pp. (46), the first and last being pasted to the paper cover. AAS., B., C., NYH. 84949

The second issue of this series, one for 1810 being advertised on the title-page of the New-York and New-Jersey Almanac printed by the same firm. Continued through the issue for 1817, which is advertised on the 1817 title of the same almanac. The only other issues of which copies have been located, those for 1813, 1814, and 1815, have, with slight variations merely, the imprint: New-York: Printed & Sold by Smith & Forman, At the Franklin Juvenile Bookstores, 195 & 213 Greenwich-Street. The American Antiquarian Society copies of these issues have been examined through the courtesy of Mr. Brigham. For the location of other copies, see Mr. A. J. Wall's "List of New York Almanacs," 1921.

Smith & Forman's New-York Sheet Almanac, For the Year 1810. [New York: Smith & Forman.] Folio broadside.

NYH. 84950

The third issue of the Sheet Almanac, one for 1808 being advertised on the title of the New-York and New-Jersey Almanac for that year published by the same firm. Includes besides the monthly calendars, tables of weights, coins, and interest, and information as to banks, mails, and stages. The only other issue located is that for the following year, but the Sheet Almanacs were advertised on the titles of the New-York and New-Jersey Almanacs as late as the issue for 1817. The 1811 issue has the imprint, Printed and sold by Smith & Forman, 195 and 213, Greenwich-Street, at the foot of the sheet.

[SMITH BROTHERS & Co.] Correspondence concerning the Purchase of Naval Supplies. [Boston. Alfred Mudge & Son. 1863.] 8vo, pp. (2), 14. H., HEH. 84955

Improved title of our no. 55877, vol. 13. According to T. Franklin Currier who has furnished this and the following titles, the pamphlet is evidently from the same press as those with the Mudge imprint. Contains correspondence between Eugene L. Norton, Navy Agent, and Franklin W. Smith, a partner in the firm of Smith Brothers & Company, dated at Boston, Dec. 1st and 11th, 1863, relating to the "best and most economical mode of purchase of supplies for the Navy."

SMITH. Correspondence with the Chairman of the Committee of the House of Representatives on Naval Affairs, the Secretary of the Navy, and Hon. D. W. Gooch. SMITH. Correspondence with the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks. [Verso of title:] Boston: Printed by Alfred Mudge & Son, 34 School Street, September 3, 1863. 8vo, pp. 15, and printed cover. H., HEH. 84960

Correspondence between Smith Brothers & Co., and Commodore Joseph Smith, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Washington, D. C., dated from Feb. 11 to March 4, 1862. The above titles and information supplied by T. Franklin Currier, who states that all of the pamphlets are obviously from the same press. They relate chiefly to controversies between the firm and various officials in connection with contracts for military and naval supplies. In June, 1864, Benjamin G. Smith and Franklin W. Smith, the co-partners, were arrested on a charge of fraud in their dealings with the Navy Department, were tried by a naval court-martial, sentenced to imprisonment for two years, and fined $20,000. The decision was approved by Secretary Welles, but Senator Sumner came to the defence of the brothers, and at the request of the President, drew up an opinion based on a study of the evidence, which so convinced Mr. Lincoln of their innocence, that the judgment and sentence were disapproved by him and the defendants fully discharged, in March, 1865. See Rhodes's "History," vol. 5, 1906, pp. 221-224. For other titles relating to the subject, see Smith (Franklin W.), our nos. 82571-82576, vol. 20, and Benjamin Franklin Thomas's "Argument for Defence," 1865.

H. + [Same title, imprint and date.] 8vo, pp. (8), 48, and printed cover.

C., H., NYP. 84961

The title is preceded by eight pages of information relating to the college, dated, Northampton, Mass., April 1, 1876. Three issues of the same edition. In the later issues the pages are rearranged, utilizing spaces left blank in the first issue. The eight preliminary pages in the last issue contain information about the origin and purpose of the college, the course of study, the faculty, etc., and are dated Northampton, Mass., April 1, 1876. The pamphlet contains addresses by Prof. W. S. Tyler, President Seelye, Governor Gaston, and Rev. A. P. Peabody, and a sketch of Miss Sophia Smith by Rev. J. M. Greene.

SMITH COUNTY, Kansas. Souvenir. Directions. Smith County Old Settlers Homecoming Association. Smith Centre, Kansas. September 25-26, 1912 [Smith Centre? 1912] 8vo, pp. (66), including portraits and views, slip of errata, and printed cover.

C., NYP. 84962a

Mr. Smithee was Commissioner of State Lands from 1874 to 1878, and during his term of office, issued two biennial reports. Mr. F. W. Allsopp mentions in the preface of his "History of the Arkansas Press," 1922, that he used in the preparation of that work, "a sketch of the press that was written by the late Col. J. N. Smithee in 1877." It seems probable that the sketch was published, but we have been unable to locate any copies. For a biographical sketch, see Allsopp, pp. 626-627. "Who's Who in America," 1906-1907, gives the date of Mr. Smithee's death as 1905, while Mr. Allsopp states that he committed suicide on July 4, 1902.

SMITHFIELD SEMINARY. Catalogue of Smithfield Seminary . . . 1845. Providence. 1845. 84977

Title from a catalogue card for a copy formerly in the Library of Congress. According to Bayles's "History of Providence County, Rhode Island," 1891, vol. 2, p. 499, Smithfield Academy, at Union Village, flourished from 1810 until about 1850; also, in October, 1846, a body of trustees was incorporated "for the purpose of erecting and supporting a Seminary of Learning in the town of Smithfield, in the vicinity of Woonsocket, by the name of the Smithfield Union Institute." Probably the catalogue was published by one of these institutions.

Since both C. C. Beaman in his "Historical Address delivered . . . July 4th, 1876," 1877, p. 49, and W. H. Tolman in his "History of Higher Education in Rhode Island," 1894, p. 66, refer to Smithville Seminary, see below no. 84997, as "Smithfield Seminary," there may have been only the one school, and the catalogue for 1845 may have been erroneously called "Catalogue of Smithfield Seminary."

SMITHMEYER (J[ohn] L.), b. 1832, d. 1908. An Essay on the Heating and Ventilation of Public Buildings, with special reference to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States. SMITHMEYER. Our Architecture, and its defects. A Critical Essay: prepared for the Association of Architects of Washington, D. C., and delivered there December 22, 1879. By John L. Smithmeyer, Associate Am. Inst. Architects. Washington, D. C. C. W. Brown, Printer, 1008 F Street. 1880. 8vo, pp. (2), 28, and printed cover. CU., WHS., Y. 84979

SMITHMEYER. Suggestions on Library Architecture, American and Foreign, with an examination of Mr. Wm. F. Poole's scheme for library buildings. J. L. Smithmeyer, Associate Am. Inst. Architects. Washington: Gibson Brothers, Printers. 1883. 8vo, pp. 31, and printed cover. C., NYP., UP., WHS. 84980

A reply to Mr. Poole's "Report on the Progress of Library Architecture . . . and Resolutions of the [American Library] Association concerning the Building for the Library of Congress," 1882, and for a continuation of the discussion, see the latter's "Remarks on Library Construction . . . to which is appended an examination of Mr. J. L. Smithmeyer's pamphlet entitled, 'Suggestions on Library Architecture, American and Foreign,'" 1884.

Mr. Smithmeyer was also the author of "Description of the Plans for a New Building for the Congressional Library," [1884], "Strictures on the Queen Anne Style of Architecture," 1881, and "The Competitive System in Government Architecture," 1894. See also his article, "The National Library Building.—The Proposed Plan," in the "Library Journal," vol. 6, 1881, pp. 77-81. The firm of Smithmeyer and Pelz drew the original plans for the building for the Library of Congress in accordance with the act of 1886, but by an act of 1888 the work was placed under the control of the Chief of Engineers of the Army. At his request Mr. Paul J. Pelz continued in charge of the artistic features until 1892. See the "Official Guide to the New Building," 1897, pp. 8-9. In the Library of Congress are a number of printed specifications of Smithmeyer and Co. dated 1883 in connection with the construction of the Army and Navy Hospital.

Mr. Smithmeyer's birth and death dates taken from "Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature," 1905-1909, edited by A. L. Guthrie, 1910, p. 2058.

. . . Smith's Dollar Magazine, A Monthly Journal of Choice Reading. New York: Pliny F. Smith. [1872.] 8vo, cover-title, pp. 64, and printed back cover. NYH. 84982

With heading: "Vol. I. July, 1872. No. 1. One dollar a year, single copies 15 cents." Copyrighted by Pauline L. Smith. The issue for September, which is numbered 3, contains a note explaining that owing to the pressmen's strike, no. 2 was not issued. The only other number belonging to the New York Historical Society is no. 7, January, 1873, which begins vol. 2. A prospectus of the magazine, also in this library, describes the publisher's plan to "institute a new order of things" by interspersing the advertisements with the reading matter. According to the New York directory for 1871-1872, Mr. Smith was also the publisher of the "Christian Year."

Smith's Hand-Book and Guide in Philadelphia, containing: a general view of the city; its government, public buildings, educational, literary, ecclesiastical, scientific, and benevolent institutions; places of public amusements, railroads, and routes from, and in the city; hotels, public parks and cemeteries. Smith's Weekly Volume. A Select Circulating Library for Town and Country, containing the Best Popular Literature. Vol. 1. January to July, 1845. Philadelphia: Published by Lloyd P. Smith, 19 St. James Street. 1845. [Verso of title:] C. Sherman, Printer. 19 St. James Street. Folio, pp. (4), 416. Continued.

B., C., HSP., NYP., P. 84984

Issued weekly from January 1, 1845, to March 25, 1846, vols. 1-3. The headings of the separate numbers of the first two volumes state that they are edited by the original editor of "Waldie's Library," i. e. John Jay Smith. The issues beginning with January 14, 1846, were published by King & Smith. The magazine was merged with the "Anglo-American," published by E. L. Garvin & Company of New York, the former publishers announcing in the last number that they were to devote themselves to the sale of legal and miscellaneous books.

SMITHSON (James), b. 1765, d. 1829. . . . The Scientific Writings of James Smithson. Edited by William J. Rhees. Washington: Published by the Smithsonian Institution. 1879. [Verso of title:] Judd & Detweiler, Printers, Washington, D. C. 8vo, pp. vii, 159, and printed cover. Frontispiece portrait.

C., NYP., UP. 84985

With heading: "Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections. 327," being a separate of article 2 of vol. 21, 1881, of that series, while 327 is the serial number in the publications of the Institution. The "Writings," reprinted from the "Philosophical Transactions" of the Royal Society of London, the "Philosophical Magazine," and Thomson's "Annals of Philosophy," are in the fields of chemistry, mineralogy, and geology; and are followed by "A Memoir on the Scientific Character and Researches of James Smithson," by Walter R. Johnson, pp. 123-141, reprinted from the edition of 1844, listed above; and by a paper "On the Works and Character of James Smithson," by

J. R. McD. Irby, prepared at the request of the Institution, September, 1878, pp. 143-155.

The work was also issued bound with the editor's "James Smithson and his Bequest," 1880, the two having the binder's title, "Life and Writings of James Smithson;" the frontispiece portrait of the "Writings" was omitted as duplicating one of the portraits in the biography. This issue and that in the bound volume of the "Miscellaneous Collections" do not have the printer's imprint on verso of the title.

SMITHSON. Biographical Sketch of James Smithson. Abridged from chapter on James Smithson by S. P. Langley in "The Smithsonian Institution, 1846-1896, The History of its First Half Century," 1897. (Publication 2276) City of Washington: 1914. [Verso of title:] The Lord Baltimore Press: Baltimore, Md., U. S. A. 8vo, pp. 17, and printed covers. Plate and 3 portraits.

For a reprint of the entire chapter, see "James Smithson," 1904, below.

Smithson, the founder of the Institution, was the illegitimate son of Elizabeth Keate Macie and Hugh Smithson, Duke of Northumberland. As late as 1794, he was known as James Lewis Macie, but by 1802 he had received permission, on petition to the Crown, to take the name of James Smithson.

SMITHSON. . . . James Smithson and His Bequest. By William J. Rhees. Washington: Published by the Smithsonian Institution. 1880. 8vo, pp. viii, 68. 5 portraits, 2 plates, one of which is folded, and 2 fac-similes, one of which is folded. C., NYP., UP. 84987

With heading: "Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections. 330," being article 1 of vol. 21, 1881, of that series, while 330 is its serial number in the publications of the Institution. "Catalogue of the Library of James Smithson. Deposited in the Smithsonian Institution," forms pp. 62-67. According to p. 10 of Langley's "James Smithson," 1904, the incorrect birth date, 1754, given by Rhees in this memoir was taken from an erroneous inscription on Smithson's tomb at Genoa.

The work was also issued bound with one issue of Rhees' edition of "The Scientific Writings of James Smithson," 1879, the two having the binder's title, "Life and Writings of James Smithson." It was again issued from the same stereotype plates, omitting the preliminary pages, portraits, plates, and fac-similes, in the "Annual Report" of the Institution for 1879, pp. 143-210.

SMITHSON. James Smithson. By Samuel Pierpont Langley. Reprinted from "The Smithsonian Institution, 1846-1896, the History of its First Half Century," edited by G. Brown Goode. [Publication] (1442) City of Washington. 1904. [Verso of back cover:] Judd & Detweiler, Printers: Washington, D. C. Large 8vo, pp. 25, and printed covers. Frontispiece portrait.
C., NYP. 84988

Reprinted from pp. 1-24 of Goode's "The Smithsonian Institution," 1897. For an abridged edition, see "Biographical Sketch of James Smithson," 1914, above.

Read before the National institute, Washington, April 6, 1844. Philadelphia, Barrett and Jones, printers, 1844. 8vo, pp. 25.

Reprinted in "The Scientific Writings of James Smithson," 1879, pp. 123-141.

SMITHSON. The removal of the remains of James Smithson. By S. P. Langley . . . Washington, Smithsonian Institution, 1904. 8vo, cover-title, and pp. 243-251. Portrait. C. 84990

Publication no. 1449, issued April 11, 1904. A separate from "Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections," vol. 45, (quarterly issue, vol. 1), 1903, pp. 243-251. The Library of Congress printed card states that this volume of the Miscellaneous Collections, with the title-page dated 1903, was issued four parts in two, with covers dated 1904. An abridgement, without portrait, forms pp. 7-10 of the Annual Report of the Institution for 1904.

B., MINN. HS., NYP., UTEX. 84994

According to Granbery's preface, Smithson was an active church worker in Lynchburg, Va., and later in Washington. His address as a broker, at 33 Wall Street, is given in Trow's New York City Directory for 1871-1872. He also published a short "History of the Kings and Queens of England," New York, 1869, pp. 27.

SMITHSONI (Don Carlos). "The Follies of the Day." A Satire, By Don Carlos Smithsoni. [n. p. 1865.] 8vo, pp. 12.

In verse. No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. The author announces on p. 12 that he submitted this satirical poem to the editor of the New York Herald, in competition for a $200 prize. However, according to him, the editor did not "keep good faith with the Authors of the country." Signed and dated: C. S., Yorkville, N. Y. Sept. 22nd, 1865.

SMITHSONI. An Ode, in honor of The Champion of our Constitutional Rights, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States. By Don Carlos Smithsoni, Yorkville, New-York. [n. p. 186-] 8vo, pp. 4.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

The works listed below under Smithsonian Institution are not a complete list of publications of that institution, most of which will be found entered under the individual authors or editors of the scientific papers, reports, etc. Amongst those of which the Institution itself may be considered the author, those which have a definite American interest are included and those which possess an historical value as early specimens of the types of publication which they represent. The greater number of circulars, instructions, lists, etc., are omitted. These may be found in the lists of publications published by the Institution. See below, Catalogue of Publications. After the first years, the publications which formed part of a regular plan were each given a serial number as Publication no. — of the Institution. Sometimes these numbers appear in the book or pamphlet, but sometimes that information can only be supplied from the official lists. Some of the early publications, not in this regular series, and with dates from 1846 to 1853, were afterward designated as Publications A-Q in these lists. A few titles, mostly of ephemeral interest, were published, which have no letter or number assigned to them.

Within the large series of Publications, most, though not all, works are issued in one or other of the three minor series, the Annual Reports of the Board of Regents, the Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge, or the Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections. In the two latter, the different articles are published each with its own dated title-page which has a series heading, and with separate paging, and may be had separately. Occasionally the individual papers are also issued separately without a series heading or number, but from the same stereotype or electrotype plates. When all the articles planned for a given volume have been printed, the complete volume is issued with its title-page, which may bear a date later than that of the individual papers. From time to time, though not regularly as in the case of the other two series, reprints of items in the Annual Reports are published. The Library of Congress in its printed cards has analysed the Contributions and Miscellaneous Collections, and some parts of the Reports. Certain publications, however, do not fall in any of the three minor series, though possessing a number in the general series of Publications.

Besides the regular reports and the scientific contributions, which form the bulk of the publications, certain types of pamphlets are issued from time to time for reference, lists of various kinds, circulars, instructions to observers, handbooks or guides to the Institution, etc. Those with information of the same kind may be issued differently in different years, sometimes appearing only separately, and sometimes as articles in one or another series, not always the same series. The titles also vary slightly so that it may not always be apparent that they are the issues for different dates of the same type of pamphlet.

With heading: "29th Congress, 2d Session. (Senate.) (211)." In the earlier reports the titles vary. The first two were printed without title-page and began with the word Report, as above. From 1848 on they are called Annual Reports, the Third to Tenth Annual Reports being so numbered, after which the numerals are omitted.

The act establishing the Institution required that the Board of Regents report annually to Congress, and the reports have always been printed in the Congressional documents. At first the usage varied as to the series in which they were issued. Found as a rule in the Miscellaneous Documents of one or both Houses, they, nevertheless, appeared a few times in the Executive Documents of the House. Since 1885 they are published in the House Miscellaneous Documents. The reports for 1849, and from 1853-1858, appeared in both Senate and House sets, and except for the fact that there were two editions of the report for 1853, and that the House set did not contain the full report for 1856, they were in general from the same plates. According to Rhees's "Catalogue of Publications of the Smithsonian Institution," 1882, the report for 1850 was first issued in an edition of 145 pages. It appeared later in an "extra edition" which contained a list of "Copyright publications prior to 1850," pp. 146-325. The House edition of the report for 1853 contained the minority report of the Special Committee of the Board of Regents relative to the distribution of the income of the Smithsonian fund, which had not been presented before the adjournment of the Board. This is not found in the Senate edition. Beginning with 1884, the Annual Report of the National Museum has been issued as a second volume. See also United States, National Museum. Extra copies of the whole report are also, furnished for distribution by the Institution.

The first seven volumes of the annual report of the Board of Regents, as issued for the Institution, were in paper covers, the eighth report, that for 1853 being the first to be bound in cloth. This contained as an appendix, reprints of the Secretary's report for the preceding six years, furnishing the most important material for the earlier years of the institution, and thus being sometimes considered as a satisfactory beginning to a set of the reports. It should be noted, however, that the first annual report of the Board of Regents which did not contain a Secretary's report is not represented and that other reports and articles are not reprinted.

The earliest reports contained chiefly the reports of the Secretary, and of committees, plans for future work, and a few brief scientific papers. In the report for 1854 was a General Appendix continued as a regular feature, and which came to include such items as reports of lectures, extracts from correspondence, translations of scientific articles, information about scientific organizations, reports of and instructions to observers, accounts of the progress of science, and scientific memoirs. For a number of years annual summaries were given of the progress in various fields of science, but in 1889 these summaries were given up, and more attention paid to the memoirs. American archæology and ethnology have been emphasized in the reports.

Contains the plan proposed by Charles C. Jewett, librarian of the Institution, for forming a general stereotype catalogue of public libraries in the United States. His system of cataloguing rules is also included, together with examples. The favorable report of a commission appointed by the Executive Committee to examine the plan, is prefixed, signed and dated: Edward Everett, Joseph G. Cogswell, Charles Folsom, Samuel F. Haven, Edward E. Hale, George Livermore. Boston, 26th October, 1850. For his later editions, partly from the same stereotype plates, see Jewett (C. Coffin), our no. 36108, vol. 9.

Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge. Vol. 1. . . . City of Washington: Published by the Smithsonian Institution. MDCCCXLVIII. [Verso of title:] Printed by Edward O. Jenkins, 114 Nassau street, New York. 4to, pp. xxxix, 306. 43 maps and plans, 26 of which contain two or more on one plate, and 9 other plates. Continued.

The plan followed in this quarto series was part of the "general plan of organization" submitted by Secretary Joseph Henry to the Board of Regents in 1847, and which is reprinted in all of the volumes of the Contributions. Each memoir was to contain a "positive addition to human knowledge, resting on original research," and was to be submitted to a commission of experts appointed by the officers of the Institution before being accepted. The various monographs appear first separately with their own title-pages and independent paging, and later, as all of the papers planned for a given volume are completed, they are issued in the bound volume of the Contributions.

With heading: "Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections. 328," being vol. 17 of that series. Issued also without the printer's name on verso of title. According to the Advertisement, the compilation was issued as the result of a request from the Board of Regents to Secretary Joseph Henry to prepare a history of the Institution. The original plan being interrupted by Professor Henry's death, Mr. Rhees, who had been entrusted with the task of gathering source material, continued the selection, and issued the papers thus assembled in two works, for the second of which, see below "Smithsonian Institution. Journals of the Board of Regents." The first group includes the will of Smithson, other legal papers and correspondence, etc., relative to obtaining possession of the bequest by the United States; an outline of legislative history of the Institution arranged by congresses, and consisting of reprints of legislation, memorials and plans presented to Congress, and committee reports, also summaries of debates and proceedings to Congress, taken from the "Congressional Globe" and "Congressional Record" and the documents of the two houses; extracts from the diary of J. Q. Adams, chairman for several years of select committees of the House on the subject; the account of the United States Treasury with the Smithson fund; proposed applications of the bequest, being replies to a circular letter from the Secretary of State, and other propositions; and Secretary Henry's programme of organization, 1847, and letters relative to it.

Issued separately and as vols. 42 and 43 of the Miscellaneous Collections, being a revised edition of the preceding title, covering the history down to 1899. The legislative history is more fully treated, additional documents being added even for the years covered by the first edition, and the summaries of proceedings in Congress being revised and rearranged. On the other hand the miscellaneous material at the end of the first edition is omitted. Lists of members of the "Establishment" of the Institution, of the Board of Regents, and of officers of the Institution are added.

With heading: "Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections. 329," being vol. 18 of that series. A second group of documents collected by Mr. Rhees, in accordance with instructions of the Board of Regents to the Secretary of the Institution. For the first group, see above, "The Smithsonian Institution. Documents relative to its Origin and History," 1879. The second group contains besides those papers mentioned in the title: eulogies of deceased members of the Board and collaborators; accounts of the Bache Scientific Fund, the Tyndall Trust, the Corcoran Gallery, the Toner Lectures, and the Hamilton Bequest; the report of the committee of the Board on the invention of the electro-magnetic telegraph; the report of the examination of Professor Henry by the scientific commission of the English government, etc.

... Smithsonian Institution. March 3, 1855—Laid upon the table and ordered to be printed. Letter of Hon. Rufus Choate resigning the office of Regent of the Smithsonian Institution. [Washington. 1855.] 8vo, pp. 218. C., H., NYP. 85081

With heading: "33d Congress, 2d Session. House of Representatives. Report No. 141." The letter, pp. 1-2, is followed by the report and documents of the committee of five of the House to which it was referred with instructions to inquire and report whether the Smithsonian Institution had been managed and its funds expended in accordance with the law establishing the Institution, and whether any additional legislation were necessary, etc. Mr. Choate's resignation was caused by the repeal by the Board of Regents of a compromise between those members who advocated the development of a library, and those interested in promoting scientific research and publication resulting therefrom. The act of establishment had made no definite provision for apportionment of appropriations except that a sum not exceeding 25,000 dollars was to be spent annually for the library. The compromise had divided the income evenly between the two lines of development, and the resolution adopted in its place provided that hereafter the appropriations should be apportioned according to the judgment of the Board in compliance with the law. Charles C. Jewett, the Librarian, had been removed by Secretary Joseph Henry because of his insistence on the development of the library. Mr. Choate, who agreed with Mr. Jewett, resigned because he felt out of harmony with the policy of emphasizing research at the expense of the library.

Mr. Upham, chairman of the committee, reported, pp. 3-27, in favor of restoring the compromise, of putting the Secretary in charge of scientific research and publications, the Librarian being made responsible for the library and museum, both officials to be subject to a common head, possibly the Secretary of the Interior, or the Board of Regents. Mr. Witte, another member, with the concurrence of Mr. Taylor, reported that the Regents were not exceeding their powers under the act in developing the research side, but working in conformity with Smithsonian's will, that no additional legislation was required, and that charges of maladministration brought against the Secretary because of his removal of Mr. Jewett, etc., were unjustified. This second report, pp. 27-43, was also issued separately, see Report of Hon. William H. Witte, below. Two members of the committee preferred not to sign either report. The journals of the committee and other documents are included. See also, Debate in the Senate of the United States, above.

AAS., RIHS. 85098

According to W. H. Tolman's "History of Higher Education in Rhode Island," 1894, pp. 66-71, Smithville Seminary was founded in 1839 at North Scituate, and continued under this name until about 1859, when it was closed for a number of years. From 1863-1875 it existed under the name of Lapham Institute. Perhaps the same institution as Smithfield Seminary, for which see our no. 84977 above.

SMITHWICK (Noah), b. 1808, d. 1899. The Evolution of a State or Recollections of Old Texas Days. By Noah Smithwick (Nonagenarian). Compiled by his daughter, Nanna Smithwick Donaldson. Austin, Texas: Gammel Book Company. [1900.] 12mo, pp. (10), 9-354. 4 portraits and 1 plate.

C., HEH., NYP., UP., WHS. 85099

Copyrighted by H. P. N. Gammel in 1900. The author went from Kentucky to Texas in 1827 as a boy of nineteen, fought in the Mexican War, and left the state in 1861, because of his Union sympathies. His daughter states that the first part of the memoirs was published in the Galveston-Dallas News. The author died before the final revision was completed.

SMOLLETT. The | Adventures | of | Roderick Random. | In two volumes. | By T. Smollett, M.D. | . . . | Philadelphia: Printed for Mathew Carey, | No. 118, Market-Street. | Sept. 24, 1794. | 2 vols., 12mo, pp. viii, 227, (6); (2), 255, (10). AAS. 85104A

Pp. 253 and 254 of vol. 2 are incorrectly numbered 254 and 255, thus making the collation of the text appear to be pp. 255 when in reality it is pp. 254. According to Evans, the work was printed on "two grades of paper." Title supplied by Clarence S. Brigham.

SMOLLETT. The | History | of | England, | from | the Revolution | to the | End of the American War, | and | Peace of Versailles in 1783. | In six volumes. | Designed as a continuation of Mr. Hume's History. | By T. Smollett, M.D. and others | Vol. I. | A new edition, | with corrections and improvements. | Philadelphia: Printed for Robert Campbell & Co. | By Henry Sweetzer. | M.DCC.XCVI. | 6 vols., 8vo. C., HSP., NYP. 85105

The titles of the first four volumes are as above. In vols. 5-6 the thirteenth line reads: "By a Society of Gentlemen." The volumes differ in imprint and date:

Vol. I. M.DCC.XCVI. pp. 576. Frontispiece.

Vol. II. M.DCC.XCVI. pp. 568. Frontispiece.

Vol. III. M.DCC.XCVII. pp. 586. Frontispiece.

Vol. IV. M.DCC.XCVII. pp. 584. Frontispiece.

Vol. V. Philadelphia: | Printed for Robert Campbell & Co. | By Richard Follwell. | M.DCC.XCVIII. | pp. 511. Frontispiece.

Vol. VI. Philadelphia: | Printed for Robert Campbell & Co. | By John Bioren. | M.DCC.XCVIII. | pp. (2), 452, appendix and index 59, subscribers' names (6), advertisement (1). Frontispiece.

The frontispiece portraits are as follows: Smollett, engraved by Samuel Seymour; George I, George II, George III, and Benjamin Franklin, by Samuel Allardice; and one of Washington, Publish'd by Conrad and Co., which is a late impression of Lawson's engraving after Stuart, according to Hart's "Catalogue of the Engraved Portraits of Washington," 1904, no. 409. It is apparent from the latter work that some copies of the book had the earlier impressions with the inscription, Barralet Direxit. —Lawson sc | Publish'd by R. Campbell and Co. | From a Copy Painted by J. Paul. | Vol. 4, pp. 513–584, contain the index to vols. 1–4, the index in vol. 6 covering only the last two volumes.

SMOLLETT. History of the War in America, Germany, and the East-Indies. Philadelphia: James Rivington. 1761. 85106

A factitious title, based on the following advertisement in the "Pennsylvania Gazette" for May 21, 1761: "James Rivington, Bookseller and Stationer from London, at the New London Book store, situated between Chestnut and Walnut-streets, in Front-street . . . published this Day, A new Edition of Smollett's History of the War in America, Germany, and the East-Indies, Vol. 1st and 2d, which brings the History down to the ever glorious Year 1759."

SMOLNIKAR (Andreas Bernardus), b. 1795. Denkwürdige Ereignisse im Leben des Andreas Bernardus Smolnikar, zehnjährigen Professors des Bibelstudiums neuen Bundes am k. k. Lyceum zu Klagenfurt in Kärnthen, dann Seelsorgers der deutschen katholischen Gemeinde in Boston, (Hauptstadt Massachusetts in Nordamerika:) oder: Geschichtlicher Beweis, dass Jesus Christus den genannten Professor und Seelsorger zum ausserordentlichen Gesandten zur Vereinigung der Völker in seine Kirche vorbereitete, und ihm nun als solchem öffentlich aufzutreten befahl. Mit Stereotypen gedruckt in der Buchdruckerei der Herrn Folsom, Wells und Thurston in Cambridge, bei Boston. 1838. 12mo, xvi, 461. c., NYP. 85107

Forms the first of the author's five volumes on "Memorable Events" in his life, published 1838–1842. Birth date from p. 1.

SMOLNIKAR. Denkwürdige Ereignisse im Leben des Andreas Bernardus Smolnikar, zehnjährigen Professors des Bibelstudiums &c. oder: Beleuchtung des Beweises, dass der Verfasser als ein durch hinlängliche Zeichen bestätigter, ausserordentlicher Gesandter Christi aufgetreten sey, und Erklärung der Geheimnisse, welche er auf Befehl des göttlichen Geistes zur Vereinigung der Christen aller Parteien in die Eine apostolische Kirche vollzogen hat. Mit einem Anbange [sic] über das Unchristliche des Papstthumes.

Zweiter Band. Philadelphia, Mit Stereotypen gedruckt im Jahre 1839. In Commission bei J. G. Wesselhoeft. [Verso of title:] Gesetzt bei Julius Bötticher Stereotypirt bei L. Johnson. 12mo, pp. xix, 606. c. 85108

This and the following title supplied by Miss Clare C. Martin.

SMOLNIKAR. Denkwürdige Ereignisse im Leben des Andreas Bernardus Smolnikar, dritter Band, oder Erklärung der Weissagungen, durch welche Christus der Herr bestätigt hat, dass er uns zur Erfüllung seiner Verheisungen, um sein Reich auf der ganzen Erde herzustellen und seinen Frieden allen Völkern zu geben, erschienen sei, und bei seiner Erscheinung den Verfasser zum ausserordentlichen Gesandten oder Apostel bestimmt und durch ihn alle Geheimnisse zur Gründung dieses Friedens vollzogen habe. Mit einer Einleitung zum leichten Verstehen der darauffolgenden Erklärung der Weissagungen und einem Nachtrage der Zeichen bei der Versammlung an den Ort, der auf hebräisch heisset Harnageddon. Offenb. 16, 16. New York: Mit Stereotypen gedruckt im Jahre 1840. Alle drei Bände in Commission Pearl-Street, No. 479, bei Georg Pfarre. [Verso of title:] Stereotypirt und Gedruckt bei H. Ludwig, No. 72 Vesey St., New-York. 12mo, pp. viii, 856. c. 85109

See also below, "Eines ist Noth," and "Friedensbotschaft an alle Völker," which the author apparently considered as the fourth and fifth volumes of this work.

SMOLNIKAR. Eines ist Noth, nämlich die glorreiche Erscheinung unsers Herrn Jesu Christi, wie sie sich in unsern Tagen durch vielfältige Zeichen, deren Erklärung in diesem Buche zu finden ist, zum allgemeinen Frieden für alle Völker wunderbar offenbaret, möglichst weit bekannt zu machen. Geschrieben von Andreas Bernardus Smolnikar, Professor des Bibelstudiums "Neuen Bundes" und Apostel Christi. Philadelphia, Mit Stereotypen gedruckt im Jahre 1841. Die Buchhandlungen siehe S. 5 und 6. [Verso of title:] Gesetzt und Gedruckt bei Julius Bötticher, Stereotypirt bei John Fagan, Philadelphia. 12mo, pp. 636. c. 85110

From allusions on pp. 4-6 it is evident that this is intended to form a fourth volume of the author's "Denkwürdige Ereignisse." Title and information supplied by Miss Clare C. Martin. For an English translation, see below "The One Thing Needful."

SMOLNIKAR. Either Great Destruction of Human Life and Property and Final Monarchy; or, Glorious Resurrection for Peace and Harmony and Universal Liberty. An Address to the Legislature and the Citizens of Ohio, and an Epistle to All Nations. By Andrew B. Smolnikar, formerly eighteen years Priest, Monk of the Benedictine Order and Imperial Royal Professor of Biblical Literature; afterwards, since A. D. 1838, representative of Messengers for the Introduction of the New Era, commonly called the Millennium. Columbus: Printed by the Ohio State Journal Company. 1856. 8vo, pp. 32. B., H., P. 85111

On p. 31 is the signature and date: "Andrew B. Smolnikar, Columbus, O., Feb. 2, 1856." Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier.

SMOLNIKAR. Friedensbotschaft an alle Völker. Philadelphia? 1842. 85112

Title from the "Catalogue" of the German Society of Pennsylvania, 1879, p. 190. The copy is now missing. This is probably the work of which he speaks on p. 10 of his "Grand Preparations," as being the fifth volume of his "Denkwürdige Ereignisse," and which he says was published in Philadelphia in 1842, in twenty-six numbers, several appearing in both German and English.

SMOLNIKAR. Glorious Message, to all citizens of the United States. Pacification and reconciliation of all political and ecclesiastical parties and sects, by their faithful co-operation in our great mission for the triumph of the republic against and over monarchy. Written by Andrew B. Smolnikar, from Illyricum. Romans xv, 19. His offices for the support of the Papal Imperial Royal Monarchy as well as his present mission for the introduction of the promised Universal Republic of harmony and peace will be perceived by attentive students of this pamphlet. Published in Cincinnati, by Roxana Kitchen, September, 1860. For the benefit of the Peace Union Centre in Tuscarora Township. Post Office, Donnelly's Mill, Perry Co., Pennsylvania. Cincinnati, O., Central Printing Office, cor. Fifth and Central Avenue. 1860. 8vo, pp. 32, and printed cover. B., NYH. 85113

SMOLNIKAR. Grand Preparations for the promised Peaceable Reign of Christ, which will be the Republic of Truth, Righteousness, Union and Peace of Nations, commonly although improperly called millennium. The whole is divided into two parts. The first part contains a synopsis of the grand preparations as they were gradually disclosed to the writer, and the second part, a "Momentous Epistle" to a judge, by whose assistance many secrets were made manifest to arouse judges, lawyers and officers of all political and ecclesiastical branches for a powerful co-operation to commence Christ's peaceable reign, which will be the genuine Universal republic. Written by Andrew B. Smolnikar, . . . Published in May, 1866, by the Peace-Union Trustees, And in commission at booksellers in Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., &c., who are inclined to support the Peace-Union Mission. Those who wish copies by mail or express, find direction at the end of this pamphlet. Baltimore: Printed by James Young, 144 W. Baltimore street. 1866. 8vo, pp. 48, and printed cover. NYP. 85114

SMOLNIKAR. The Great Encyclic Epistle, divided into two parts; The First of which was occasioned by the Death of President Abraham Lincoln, and The Second by the Capture of Jefferson Davis: Both being Preparatory to the Work, with the Title of the Manuscript: "The Heavenly Mission to all governments and all nations for the introduction of Christ's peaceable reign on earth. Written by Andrew B. Smolnikar, Representative of this Mission, which had been declared and confirmed by a long chain of signs and wonders according to prophecies, as those will be convinced who study the whole with due attention." Baltimore: Printed by S. S. Mills & Co. No. 24 S. Calvert Street. 1865. 8vo, pp. 32.

B., C., H., UP. 85115

Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier.

[SMOLNIKAR.] The Great Message to all Governments and all Nations, for the Introduction of Christ's Peaceable Reign on Earth, which will be the Promised Universal Republic of Truth and Righteousness. Also, an extraordinary case providentially prepared for judges, lawyers, courts and citizens of the States in general, to awaken and move them for co-operation with us to introduce the promised universal republic. The names of the writer and his Offices during the preparations to his present Mission as well his work in this Mission, are in convenient places of this volume. Read the whole patiently and thoroughly, and then judge soberly and act accordingly. Copies may be obtained by applying to Dr. S. M. Landis, No. 1312 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Further information is on the last page of this volume. Philadelphia: King & Baird, Printers, 607 Sansom Street. 1864. 8vo, pp. 96, and printed covers. B. 85116

The author's name, Andrew B. Smolnikar, is signed to the "further information" which is found on the back cover. The copy in the Boston Public Library lacks the front cover. According to p. 13 of "Grand Preparations," "the composition of that volume [The great Message] commenced in the printing establishment of 'King and Baird, of Philadelphia,' on the 28th day of June, . . . and ended on the 11th of July, . . . eighteen hundred and sixty-four."

Each of three articles is signed: Andrew B. Smolnikar. Contains a statement of his mission and asks for subscriptions to a proposed periodical, "The True Republican or the True Catholic." This is not found in the Union List of Serials. Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier.

[SMOLNIKAR.] Most Important Extra, for the Present and the Future Generations, to be communicated to the Governments and to the People. [Baltimore. 1861.] 8vo, pp. 14. B., HSP. 85121

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. Dated, Baltimore, April 18th, 1861; addressed to his Excellency Thomas H. Hicks, Governor of Maryland; and signed by Andrew B. Smolnikar. The letter is a request to the Governor to bring Mr. Smolnikar's book, "Secret Enemies," to the attention of Lincoln and his cabinet, and an account of the author's interviews with prominent officials in his attempt to carry on his divinely appointed mission of peace.

SMOLNIKAR. . . . Multum in Parvo: or, a brief view, of the great Anti-Christian Conspiracy, against Christ and True Republicanism. Published with the design to promote Conventions for Union of true Christians or true Republicans, to prevent so far as possible the approaching and impending great destruction of human life and property in these U. S. of America: also, To introduce more fully and establish the promised Universal Republic of Harmony and Peace, commonly called the Millennium. By Andrew B. Smolnikar, Formerly Priest of the Benedictine Order, and Imperial Royal Professor of Biblical Literature. [Pittsburg.] Revised and Published by the True American Christian Catholic Patriarch Hugh Kirkland, Virtute Clavorum et Clavium. 1853. 8vo, pp. 48, and printed covers. SG. 85122

With heading: "Price 25 cents." Mr. Smolnikar states in his "Pneumatology," below, that his pamphlet "Anti-Christian Conspiracy against the true Republicanism" was published at Pittsburg on December 21, 1853. He was evidently referring to this pamphlet. Rev. Hugh Kirkland, the publisher, was a street preacher, who made unauthorized additions on the title-page. See Smolnikar's "Glorious Message," p. 30, and "Grand Preparations," p. 16.

SMOLNIKAR. The One Thing Needful, namely, to Spread as rapidly as possible The Glorious Manifestation of Our Lord Jesus Christ, as the same is revealed wonderfully for the establishment of Universal Peace amongst all the nations of the earth in our days, by many signs, the explanation of which is given in this volume, written by Andreas Bernardus Smolnikar, Professor of the Biblical Study "Of The New Covenant," and Apostle of Christ. Translated from the German. Philadelphia: Barrett & Jones, Printers, 33 Carter's Alley, 1841. 12mo, pp. 630, errata (1). C. 85123

SMOLNIKAR. Pneumatology! Signs of the Times! A Great Debate! Important tenets for the introduction of the New Era of Universal Harmony and Peace, commonly called The Millennium, discussed in a debate the first lecture of which is to be delivered on Sunday, September 17, 1854, from 10 A.M. to 12½, and from 3 to 5½ o'clock, P.M., in Washington Temperance Hall, opposite Hanover Market of Baltimore, Maryland. Documents containing signs, to direct the attention of nations to the debate and the approaching great crisis. Written by Andrew B. Smolnikar, Of Illyria or Illyricum, Rom. xv. 19. Baltimore: Henry Taylor, Sun Iron Building. 1854. 8vo, pp. 48. H. 85124

Mentions eight points to be considered in a discussion of the question whether Mr. Smolnikar has been divinely appointed as a messenger of peace. Disastrous results are prophesied if he is not accepted, and financial support for his mission is requested. Title supplied by T. Franklin Currier.

[SMOLNIKAR.] Proclamation Of the true Union not only of the Thirty-four States of North America, but also of other States on the Globe, in the promised Universal Republic of Truth and Righteousness, Harmony and Peace. [n.p. 1861] Folio broadside. H. 85125

Printed on one side only in seven columns. In the last column: "On this 18th day of February 1861, compositors commenced to set in type this proclamation." Signed: "Andrew B. Smolnikar, Donnelly's Mill, Perry Co., Pa." Title and information from T. Franklin Currier.

SMOLNIKAR. Redemption of oppressed Humanity! Christ's Manifestation for the abolition of all kinds of Popery! Cincinnati: Published by Roxana Kitchen. 1856. 85126

Title from "Secret Enemies," p. 127. Imprint supplied from a note on verso of title of "Glorious Message."

SMOLNIKAR. Secret Enemies of True Republicanism, most important developmments [sic] regarding the inner life of man and the spirit world, in order to abolish revolutions and wars and to establish permanent peace on earth, also: the plan for redemption of nations from monarchical and other oppres[s]ive speculations and for the introduction of the promised new era of harmony, truth and righteousness on the wohle globe. Written by Andrew B. Smolnikar, formerly eighteen years priest Benedictine monk and imperial royal professor of Bib[1]ical literature; afterwards since A. D. 1838, by signs according to prophecies declared and confirmed representative of messengers for the introduction of the universal republic, commonly although improperly called the millennium. Published by Robert D. Eldridge, Springhill, Peace Union Center. Post Office Donnally's Mill, Perry Co.: Pa. 1859. 12mo, pp. 204. B., C., HEH., HSP., NYP. 85127 [SMOLNIKAR.] To the Reformers of the United States and elsewhere. A most important Convention of Reformers of every Description, will be held at the Trumbull Phalanx, Trumbull County, Ohio, to commence on the 12th of August next, for instructing and initiating the Messengers of Jesus Christ, into the Points and Methods by which the New Era of Universal Peace is to be realized upon earth is typified by the Mystery of the Marriage of the Lamb with his Bride. Revel. 19. i-ix. [Warren? 1847.] 8vo, pp. 8.

B., CU., H. 85128

The proclamation is signed on p. 7, "Andrew B. Smolnikar Messenger of the dispensation of the fullness of the times," and the "Notice" on p. 8 states that the convention will open August 12, 1847. The Trumbull Phalanx was founded near Warren, Ohio, in 1844, and lasted until 1847. According to Hillquit's "History of Socialism in the United States," 1903, p. 115, it was the most successful of the five Fourierist experiments in Ohio.

SMOLNIKAR. Treatise on the work which has now appeared in the German Language, in three volumes complete, and of which the third volume has the following title: "Memorable Events in the Life of Andreas Bernardus Smolnikar, Third Volume, or Explanation of the Prophecies by which Christ the Lord has confirmed, that, to fulfil his Promises to establish His Kingdom upon the whole earth, and to give His Peace to all nations, He has now appeared to us, and, with His appearance has appointed the author His Ambassador extraordinary, or Apostle, and through him has fulfilled all the mysteries for the foundation of this peace. With an Introduction for the easier understanding of the subsequent explanation of the prophecies, and an Appendix of the signs for the assembly in the place which in Hebrew is called Armageddon, Rev. xvi. 16. New-York, Printed with Stereotype, 1840. All three volumes in commission, Pearl-street, 479, at George Pfarre's." [New York. 1840.] 12mo, pp. 24. H. 85129

"Awful Treason against the Will of God" and "Christ's Peaceable Reign or the universal Republic of Truth and Righteousness," two pamphlets mentioned by Smolnikar in his "Proclamation of the True Union," have not been located.

Mr. Smolnikar established "Peace Union" on Tuscarora Mountain, Perry County, Pennsylvania, in 1859. He claimed to be a messenger of a new era of happiness, in which all people would live in harmony, each contributing his share to the common welfare. This first center was only a provisional one, incapable of accommodating all who might want to reside there, but anyone could join the Peace Union Association, "a union of co-operation for establishing peace," attend the conventions, and send their children there where "all intellectual and moral faculties . . . will be harmoniously developed." Every person who entered into the community was compelled to donate all his property. Robert D. Eldridge, the other trustee, and Smolnikar were unable to reside there all of the time, so Peter Bunney, a Philadelphia shoemaker, was appointed as watchman. They discovered later that Bunney was transforming their settlement into a Mormon center. Bunney died in 1863, and his wife and daughter robbed the Peace Union of some property in May, 1864. Smolnikar sought settlement in court, but received an unfavorable decision on October 31, 1865. In 1866 Eldridge and he were sued by Levi Carstetter, a farmer who was then taking care of the land at Peace Union, for unfairness in the division of the farm products. Smolnikar intended to establish a printing office at the settlement and publish a periodical called the "Peace Union Message," but it is improbable that this was ever accomplished. According to a quotation from the Phalanx of April, 1844, in Noyes's "History of American Socialisms," 1870, pp. 251-252, Smolnikar made an unsuccessful attempt to start a Peace Union Settlement in Limestown township, Warren County, Pennsylvania. See "Secret Enemies" and "Grand Preparations."

SMOOT (Joseph), d. 1857. Memorial of Captain Joseph Smoot, of the United States Navy. To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. The Memorial of Joseph Smoot, a Captain in the Navy of the United

SMUCKER. Mound Builders' Works, near Newark, Ohio. By Isaac Smucker. [n. p. 1883?] 16mo, pp. [5]—20. AAS., C., WHS. + [n. p. n. d.] 16mo, pp. 15, and printed cover. C. 85140

No title-page; title from heading of the first page, on which is found the note, "The substance of the following paper . . . appeared in the July number of The American Antiquarian." The presentation copy from the author, of the pp. [5]—20 issue, in the library of the American Antiquarian Society was received in 1883. The copy in the Library of Congress was also presented by the author, probably in 1884, the approximate date assigned when the book was first catalogued. Running title of this issue: "Mound Builders' Works, near Newark, Ohio." The issue with pages numbered [1]—15 is carelessly printed, and has the running title: "Near Newark, Ohio. Mound Builder's Works." It also has a cover lettered: "Presented by the Friends and Patrons of the Licking County Pioneer, Historical and Antiquarian Society, to the Members of the A. S. M." Information from Miss Clare C. Martin and Mrs. Mary R. Reynolds.

AAS., P. 85144

On p. 15: "By Isaac Smucker." From the "Annual Report of the Secretary of State" of Ohio, for 1877, Columbus: Nevins & Myers, State Printers, 1878. Mr. Smucker's "Report of a select committee on a Geological and Agricultural Survey of the State. December 26, 1838," forms pp. 8-13 of the appendix of the "Journal of the House of Representatives of the State of Ohio," 1838. He contributed a paper, "The Great Awakening," to the "Proceedings" of the American Antiquarian Society, April, 1874, pp. 59-67, which related to the religious revival in the middle west at the end of the eighteenth century and the beginning of the nineteenth. He also assisted N. N. Hill in the preparation of his histories of Licking and Coshocton counties. A paper entitled "Recollections of Newark," which Mr. Smucker read before the Licking County Pioneer, Historical and Antiquarian Society in 1868 was posthumously published in "Ohio Archæological and Historical Publications," vol. 20, 1911, pp. 240-247.

According to a biographical sketch of Mr. Smucker by a personal friend, Mr. A. B. Clark, in Hill's "History of Licking County, O.," 1881, pp. 769-771, he was a contributor to the "American Monthly Magazine," "American Historical Record," "Historical Magazine," "Ladies' Repository," "Scientific Monthly," and the "Western Monthly Magazine." A list of his writings is found on p. 289 of the same work, where it is stated that one of his earliest works, "An Appeal to Liquor Makers—Liquor Venders—and Liquor Drinkers," was published anonymously at Columbus.

SMUCKER (Samuel M[osheim]), b. 1823, d. 1863.

Because additional issues and titles have been located since the works of this author were entered under Schmucker, it has been simpler to repeat the entries under this form of the name.

WHS. + [Same imprint and collation.] 1859. Y. + *New York. 1860. 12mo. 85145

Copyrighted in 1857. There are irregularities in the paging apparently caused by the fact that the plates allowed for in the numbering are not all inserted at the places originally intended for them. The work is in the main a reissue, without acknowledgment, from the stereotype plates of the Buffalo edition of Simmonds's "Sir John Franklin and the Arctic Regions," our no. 81152, vol. 19. The "Introduction to the American Edition," pp. vii-xvii of that work, which is not found in Mr. Smucker's issue though included in the table of contents, would have supplied the gap in numbering between the preliminary pages and the text. Pp. 25-410 are from the plates of Simmonds's work, omitting his pages 358-362 and his last paragraph, a new heading being substituted on p. 361 of Smucker's issue. The latter adds on pp. 411-517 an account of expeditions in search of Franklin from 1852-1855.

SMUCKER. Arctic Explorations and Discoveries during the Nineteenth Century. Copyrighted in 1886, the publisher's preface being dated June 29 of that year. The first undated issue is presumed to be the earliest as it has a smaller number of plates, like the issues copyrighted in 1857. The other issues with the copyright date of 1886 add a list of illustrations, not found in the earlier issues. The issues found respectively in the Library of Congress and in that of the Wisconsin Historical Society are both in original binding. The former copy lacks three of the plates mentioned in the list but includes two others not mentioned therein, while the latter omits eight of those listed, and includes two not on the list. As in the case of the issues copyrighted in 1857 some of the plates included in the pagination are inserted wrongly, so that there appear to be gaps in the numbering of the pages, though the text is consecutive.

W. Bradley, 66 N. Fourth Street.* 1863. [Verso of title:] Stereotyped by S. A. George, 607 Sansom Street, Philadelphia. Printed by King & Baird. 8vo, pp. 512. 16 plates. AAS., C., NYP., P. 85151

Of the copies of this first issue of Part First which have been examined, the only one which is accompanied by a second volume is that belonging to the American Antiquarian Society. In this case the second volume lacks the title-page, and in the appendix the date Nov. 1, 1863 is mentioned, so that probably it is a copy of Part Second as copyrighted in 1864. Mr. Smucker died after the publication of the first volume which carried the history up to July, 1862. The copy at the University of Texas is the only one examined which has sixteen plates. According to Mrs. Mary R. Reynolds, the American Antiquarian Society copy in original binding has fourteen plates. The rebound copies in the Library of Congress, the New York Public Library, and in the Ridgway Branch of the Philadelphia Public Library, have six, twelve, and eight respectively. It seems probable that the volume was issued with varying numbers of plates. According to F. J. Shepard in Larned's "Literature of American History," 1902, the account is "undiscriminating, and . . . was written too early for the authors to know what was going on behind the scenes, especially on the Confederate side. But it presents the story of the conflict as it was read in the newspapers of the period and in a reasonably compact form."

SMUCKER. A History of the Civil War in the United States; with a Preliminary View of its Causes, and Biographical Sketches of its Heroes. By Samuel M. Schmucker, LL.D. author of "Lives of the Four Georges, Kings of England," "History of Napoleon III.," "Arctic Explorations and Discoveries," "Life of Alexander Hamilton," "History of Nicholas I. and the Crimean War," etc. . . . Philadelphia: Bradley & Co., 66 N. Fourth Street. 1864. [Verso of title:] Stereotyped by S. A. George, 607 Sansom Street, Philadelphia. Printed by King & Baird. [Imprint of vol. 2:] Philadelphia: Bradley & Co., 66 North Fourth Street. Cincinnati: C. F. Vent & Co., 38 West Fourth St. 1864. 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 512, 16 plates; 511, 8 plates and 8 maps. WHS. + Philadelphia: Bradley & Co., 66 North Fourth Street. Jones Brothers & Co., 71 West Fayette Street, Baltimore. [1865?] 2 vols., 8vo, pp. 512, 16 plates; 511, 8 plates and 6 maps. M. 85152

Vol. 2 has the copyright date of 1864, and brings the history down to the Fall of Vicksburg in July, 1863. It was completed by L. P. Brockett after Dr. Smucker's death. The publisher's preface mentions the possibility of adding a third volume, but this does not appear to have been attempted.

SMUCKER. The History of the Civil War in the United States: its Cause, Origin, Progress and Conclusion. Containing full, impartial and graphic Descriptions of the various Military and Naval Engagements, with the Heroic Deeds achieved by Armies and Individuals, touching Scenes and Incidents in the Camp, the Cabin, the Field and the Hospital. And Biographical Sketches of its Heroes. By Samuel M. Schmucker, LL.D. author of "Lives of the Four Georges, Kings of England," "History of Napoleon III.," "Arctic Explorations and Discoveries," "Life of Alexander Hamilton," "History of Nicholas I.," "The Crimean War," etc. Revised and completed by Dr. L. P. Brockett, author of "Our Great Captains," "Philanthropic Results of the War," "The Life of Abraham Lincoln," etc., etc. Illustrated with over One Hundred and Fifty Fine Portraits of Generals, Battle Scenes, Maps and Diagrams. Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Boston: Jones Brothers & Co. Chicago and St. Louis: Zeigler, McCurdy & Co. [Verso of title:] S. A. George. Stereotyper, Electrotyper and Printer. 124 N. Seventh Street, Philadelphia. [1865.] Large 8vo, pp. 1021. 2 frontispiece portraits, 38 plates, and 15 maps. CU. 85153

Copyrighted in 1865. Fourteen of the plates contain groups of portraits. The work was reissued, the list of illustrations including varying numbers of illustrations, plates and maps. The following libraries have issues with this copyright date. AAS., B., C., HEH., MINN.HS., WHS. For a German translation, see above, "Geschichte des Bürgerkriegs."

One of the copies of the work in the Boston Public Library lacks the title-page, and has a typewritten copy supplied, with the imprint of Livermore & Rudd, New York, 1856. Mr. Smucker's memoir of Col. Fremont forms pp. 5-72. The rest of the book is a reprint of Col. Fremont's official "A Report on an Exploration of the Country lying between the Missouri River and the Rocky Mountains," 1843, (Senate Doc. 243, 27th Cong., 3rd Sess.) See our nos. 25843 and 25845, vol. 7.

Copyright, 1883, by John W. Lovell Co. . . ." Part 2 has a similar cover title in which the publication is called tri-weekly.

[SMUCKER.] The Planter's Victim; or, Incidents of American Slavery. With illustrations. . . Philadelphia, published by Wm. White Smith, 195 Chestnut Street, 1855. [Verso of title:] Kite & Walton. 12mo, pp. 365, advertisements 6. 6 plates. c. 85166

Improved title of our no. 63325, vol. 15, supplied by Ernest Kletsch. The work was copyrighted by the publisher, Wm. White Smith, in 1855, and the same copyright is found in a later issue from the same stereotype plates with the title, "The Yankee Slave Driver," published by Dayton of New York in 1859. Probably for this reason the latter work was attributed to Mr. Smith by Cushing. However in the biographical sketch of Dr. Smucker in Appleton the "Yankee Slave Driver," Philadelphia, 1857, appears in the list of works.

Originally written by Henry Mayhew, edited by Charles Mackay, and published anonymously in London in 1851 under title of "The Mormons: or the Latter-Day Saints," our no. 47126, vol. 11. Mr. Smucker first added two chapters, and in an edition copyrighted in 1881, a third. The latter edition omits the preface and one of the appendices, and was reissued at least twice, as copies in the New York Public Library vary in the number of advertising pages at the end, and in one the imprint on the verso of the title is omitted.

AAS., C., CU., H., UP. 85169

With heading: "American Drama. No. 1." Also issued in printed paper covers, pp. (4). This play was among those taken over by Samuel French from Wm. Taylor and Co. and was advertised by him for a number of years on the printed covers of plays issued in his series of Standard Drama.

[SMUCKER.] The Yankee Slave Driver; or, the black and white rivals. With illustrations. . . . New York: H. Dayton, publisher, 36 Howard Street. Indianapolis, Ind.:—Asher & Company. 1859. 12mo, pp. (2), v-365. 5 plates. H. + [Same title and imprint.] 1860. 12mo, pp. (2), v-365. 85170

From the stereotype plates of the "Planter's Victim" above, with a dedication to Seward, pp. iii-iv, omitted. Title supplied by Mr. Franklin Currier. According to Mr. J. T. Gerould of Princeton University, there is no evidence that the copy of the 1860 issue in that library ever contained any plates, in spite of the statement on the title-page.

Mr. Smucker also wrote "Errors of Modern Infidelity," Philadelphia, 1848, vrs. which was reissued in 1853 with a new title-page, "Historic Doubt respecting Shakespeare"; "Memoirs of the Court and Reign of Catherine the Second," New York and Auburn, 1855; "Memorable Scenes in French History," New York, 1857, H.; and, "The Public and Private History of Napoleon the Third," Philadelphia, 1858. He wrote an introduction for an edition of the "Blue Laws of Connecticut," 1861. See our nos. 6010, vol. 2, and 15761, vol. 4. According to Allibone, Mr. Smucker also had in preparation, at the time of his death, a Biography of Prince Metternich and a History of the House of Medici from its Origin to its Extinction.

The Smuggler's Son; and other tales and sketches. In prose and verse. By A[gnès] W[oods] M[itche]ll. Philadelphia. Herman Hooker. No. 128 Chestnut Street, Opposite the Masonic Hall. 1842. 12mo, pp. viii, 299. BU. 85171

SMYLIE (James), b. 1780?, d. 1853. Brief History of the Trial of the Rev. William A. Scott, D.D. from its commencement before the late presbytery of New Orleans, in July, 1845, to its "termination" by the General Assembly, in May, 1847. With Important Documents and Grave Disclosures never before published. By James Smylie, a member of the presbytery of Louisiana. . . . New Orleans, Printed for the Author. 1847. 8vo, pp. vi, 74, and printed cover.

HEH., M., NYP., UTEX., Y. 85178

The question involved in the trial was the veracity of Dr. Scott, in connection with the statement he was said to have made during the presidential campaign of 1844, that he had seen Henry Clay playing cards on Sunday.

SMYLIE. A Review of a Letter, from the Presbytery of Chillicothe to the Presbytery of Mississippi, on the subject of Slavery. By Rev. James Smylie, A.M. A Member of the Amite Presbytery. . . . Woodville, Mi: Printed by Wm. A. Norris and Co. 1836. 8vo, pp. 79, errata (1).

C., NYP. 85179

Later issued with printed cover, having additional errata on inside of back cover. BA. The letter from the Presbytery of Chillicothe forms pp. 7-9, and is signed: "Jno. P. Vandyke. S. Clerk. Ohio, November 28, 1835." It advocates "the speedy and entire removal of this sin [slavery] from the Church." Smylie attempts to show in his reply that we "learn, from the word of God, the glad tidings that slavery, itself, is not sinful." For a criticism by Gerrit Smith of the "Review," see our no. 82645, vol. 20.

SMYLIE. [Same title, imprint and date.] 8vo, pp. 79, errata (1), supplement [81]-87, errata (1), and printed cover.

B., CU., HEH., WHS. 85180

Note on p. 81: "While the preceding Review was in press, and nearly finished, the author of the Review succeeded in obtaining a copy of the action of the Amite Presbytery on the Chillicothe letter, in which, by a regular vote, the Mississippi Presbytery, at its Stated Sessions in April 1836, cordially concurred. Hence the following Supplement constitutes the joint answer of both Presbyteries. . . . In consequence of the lateness of the time when the copy was obtained, this Supplement is appended only to the latter copies of the Review." For a biographical sketch, see Nevin's "Encyclopedia of the Presbyterian Church," 1884, p. 839.

C., HSP. 85183

On verso of title of both editions is a note by the Committee. In the later issue is an additional note stating that it was prepared at the dying request of Mrs. Susanna Rudisill, while a manuscript statement on the page preceding the title in the Library of Congress copy reads: "Written printed & published by Abraham Rudisill, tailor, in York, Pa."

SMYTH (Alexander), b. 1765, d. 1830. General Smyth to the Soldiers of the Army of the Centre: Companions in arms!—The time is at hand when you will cross the stream of Niagara, to conquer Canada, and to secure the peace of the American frontier. . . . Alexander Smyth, Brigadier-General, Commanding. Camp, near Buffalo, 17th Nov. 1812. [Buffalo? 1812.] Broadside. 85184

Title supplied from a reprint in Niles's "Weekly Register," vol. 3, 1812, pp. 216-217.

SMYTH. A | Letter | from | Alex. Smyth to Francis Preston. | [Richmond? 1795.] 8vo, pp. 14. C. 85185

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. "Dated: Wythe Courthouse (Virginia) 10th March, 1795. States the writer's reasons for opposing Preston's candidacy for re-election to Congress."—Library of Congress. See also his "Third and Last Letter" below.

SMYTH. Reasons for not planting the American Standard on the Canadian Shore agreeable to the Late Proclamation. [Buffalo? 1812.] Broadside. 85186

"A handbill . . . spread all over the State of New York," according to McMaster's "History of the People of the United States," vol. 4, 1895, p. 16, from which the title is also supplied.

[SMYTH.] Regulations for the Field Exercise, Manœuvres, and Conduct of the Infantry of the United States; drawn up and adapted to the organization of the Militia and Regular Troops. By an Officer of the Army. By order of the Secretary of War. With explanatory plates. Philadelphia: Printed by Fry and Kammerer: 1812. 8vo, pp. xv, (1), 225. 34 plans, 32 of which are folded.

Title from Toomey's "History of the Infantry Drill Regulations of the United States Army," 1917, pp. 8-9. Mr. Toomey states that the above compilation by Colonel Smyth was an improved and abridged edition of MacDonald's translation of the French tactics as modified by Napoleon in 1805, which was first published as "The System of Discipline and Manœuvres of Infantry," 1807, and had also been republished in 1809, and 1810. Included in Colonel Smyth's work is an order of Secretary Eustis dated March 30th, 1812, prescribing its use in the infantry of the United States army.

SMYTH. Regulations for the Field Exercise, Manœuvres, and Conduct of the Infantry of the United States; drawn up and adapted to the organization of the Militia and Regular Troops. By Col. AWC., NYH. 85188

The second edition with the compiler's name on the title. The leaf between the preliminary paging and the text was possibly not included in the first copies of the first issue of the edition, as it is not found in the Library of Congress or West Point copies, the latter of which is in original binding. The leaf gives Secretary Eustis's order of March 30, 1812, as in the first edition, and another order signed by Alexander Smyth, Brigadier and Inspector General, dated 11th July, 1812. On the reverse is a list of errata. General Smyth notes that the organization of the infantry having been changed by law since the issue of the first edition "it has been deemed necessary to conform the system . . . to this change; correct some inaccuracies in the work . . . and to assign the duties therein allotted to the lieutenant colonel, major, and adjutant, to the colonel, adjutant, and sergeant major."

SMYTH. The | Third and Last | Letter | from | Alexander Smyth | to | Francis Preston. | 1796. | 16mo, pp. 46.

C., NYP. 85197

Probably printed by Augustine Davis at Richmond since the open capitals in the title, and the ornament at the head of p. 3 are similar to those found in the Richmond edition of the United States Acts, 1st session, 4th Congress, printed by him in 1796. Dated: "Wythe County, 20th November, 1796." Mr. Preston in a recent letter had defended himself against the charges brought in Mr. Smyth's second letter, written at the time of the former's re-election to Congress in 1795. He had also brought a counter attack on Mr. Smyth's consistency, disinterestedness and patriotism. The latter repeated his attack on the conduct of Mr. Preston as legislator, impugning his motives even when agreeing with his vote, and continued the personal side of the controversy.

SMYTH. To the Freeholders of Washington, Wythe, Grayson, Russell, Tazewell, Lee, and Scott. Fellow Citizens—As the time approaches at which you are to elect a member to represent you in the Congress of the United States, it becomes expedient that you should know whether I will again be a candidate or not. . . . Your fellow citizen, Alexander Smyth. [Richmond? 1822.] Broadside. 85198

A printed "handbill," dated, "Washington City, 3d Dec. 1822." Title from the reprint in the "Richmond Enquirer" of December 7. In soliciting the votes of his constituents for his own re-election to the House, Mr. Smyth opposes John Quincy Adams's candidacy for the presidency, chiefly because of his votes in the Senate on bills relating to the Louisiana Purchase, the slave trade, and the protection of commerce against the Barbary pirates. A letter in reply by Mr. Adams, addressed to Mr. Smyth's constituents, was sent to the "Richmond Enquirer" and printed in the issue of January 4, 1823. Also reprinted in the following pamphlet:

Letter of the Hon. Quincy Adams, in reply to a letter of the Hon. Alexander Smyth, to his Constituents. Also, The Speech of Mr. Adams on the Louisiana Treaty, delivered in the Senate of the United States, Nov. 3, 1803. And a Letter from Mr. Jefferson to Mr. Dunbar. Relative to the Cession of Louisiana. Washington: Printed by Gales & Seaton. 1828. 8vo, pp. 16. NYP. An answer by Mr. Smyth, dated January 9, 1823, was published in the "National Intelligencer," tri-weekly edition, for January 11, and in the "Richmond Enquirer," for January 14.

SMYTH. To the Men of New-York. For many years you have seen your country oppressed with numerous wrongs. Your government, although above all others devoted to peace, has been forced to draw the sword and rely for redress of injuries on the valor of the American people. . . . Alexander Smyth, Brig. Gen. Camp, near Buffaloe, 10th Nov. 1812. [Buffalo? 1812.] Broadside. 85199

Title from a reprint in Niles's "Weekly Register," vol. 3, 1812, p. 203.

SMYTH. . . . Tomorrow at 8 o'clock, all the corps of the Army will be at the Navy yard, ready to embark. . . . Hearts of War! Tomorrow will be memorable in the annals of the United States. Alexander Smyth, Brig. Gen'l com'g. [Buffalo? 1812.] Broadside. 85200

Title, preceded by the date "Headquarters, Camp near Buffalo, 29th November, 1812," supplied from the "Buffalo Historical Society Publications," vol. 18, 1914, p. 234. Also: An Explanation of the Apocalypse, or Revelation of St. John. . . . Washington City: Way & Gideon, Printers. 1825. 12mo, pp. 59. AAS., B., C., P., UTS.

For a biographical sketch and an account of General Smyth's operations on the Niagara during the War of 1812, see "The Case of Brig. Gen. Alexander Smyth as shown by his own writings, some of them now first published, by Frank H. Severance," in the "Buffalo Historical Society Publications," vol. 18, 1914, pp. 213-255. The "petition of General Smyth . . . to retain his rank in the line of the Army as a Brigadier General," presented December 28, 1813, forms pp. 806-807 of the "Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States," 13th Congress, 2nd session, 1854.

SMYTH (Anson), d. 1886. The Beloved Physician. A Sermon occasioned by the death of Calvin Smith, M.D., preached at Toledo, Ohio, September 19, 1852, by Rev. Anson Smyth. Toledo: Printed by Hosmer, Andrews and Co. 1852. 8vo, pp. 16, and printed cover. NYAM., Y. 85201

SMYTH. The Departed of a Year. A Funeral Discourse occasioned by the deaths in the Congregational Society of Toledo, During the Year 1849. By Anson Smyth, Pastor of the Society. Published by request. Toledo, Ohio. Printed by S. T. Hosmer and Co. —Blade Office. 1850. 12mo, pp. 14, and printed cover.

One of the earliest known Toledo imprints, though there was printing in the town as early as 1834, and the "Blade" itself was established in 1836. Mr. Smyth was pastor of the First Congregational Church in Toledo from 1847-1850, and then became superintendent of schools in the same place, holding office until 1856, when for one year he edited the "Ohio Journal of Education" in Columbus. As Commissioner of Common Schools of Ohio, he issued the Annual Reports for the years from 1857-1862. From 1863-1866 he was superintendent of schools in Cleveland, and his "Christian Culture in Public Schools" is among the "Lectures" for 1861, published by the American Institute of Instruction, in 1862. He was also the author of an "Introduction to the American Edition" of Mrs. D. M. Mulock Craik's "A Woman's Thoughts about Women," Columbus, 1858, pp. v-xxiii. His sermon, "delivered on Sunday evening, July 4, 1875, in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Cazenovia," forms pp. 250-261 of "First Fifty Years of Cazenovia Seminary," 1877, edited by W. S. Smyth. For biographical sketches, see Joblin's "Cleveland, Past and Present," 1869, pp. 271-276, and Waggoner's "History" of Toledo, 1888, pp. 616-617.

SMYTH (Coke). Sketches in the Canadas, by Coke Smyth. London Published by Thos. McLean, 26, Hay Market. Printed at A. Ducôte's Lithographic Establishment, 70, St. Martins Lane. [1839.] Folio, pp. (4), and 22 plates. C., HEH., NYH. + [London. n. d.] Folio, pp. (2), and 22 plates. NYH., NYP. 85203

According to the "English Catalogue," the work was published by McLean in 1839, at two prices according to whether the plates were colored or not. Counting the vignette on the title-page, the work consists of 23 lithographs of scenes in Canada, together with a dedication leaf addressed to the Earl of Durham, which has a list of the plates on the verso. Gagnon states that the artist was in the employ of that nobleman during his mission to Canada in 1838. In the later issue the plates and the title-page are mounted, the imprint below the title being cut away, and in some cases at least, are laid not bound, in a portfolio, which is lettered on the front cover: "Sketches in the Canadas by Coke Smyth." The leaf with the dedication and list of plates is omitted in this issue. In Nagler's "Neues allgemeines Künstler-Lexikon," vol. 18, 1911, p. 531, the name of Charles Bentley is mentioned as cooperating in the work. The hand coloring of the lithographs found in the copies issued with colored plates may be his. The plates comprise: vignette on title; Falls of Niagara; Indians of Lorethe; Cape Tourment from Chateau Richet; Quebec; Quebec from the Chateau; Falls of Montmorency from St. Joseph's; Citadel, Quebec; Zitya Huron Indian; Huron Indian; Church at Beauharnois; Falls of Montmorency; Attack and Defeat of Rebels, Dickinson landing at Upper Canada; Buffalo Hunting; Engagement in the Thousand Islands; Rapids of St. Lawrence; Posting on the St. Lawrence during Winter; Indians bartering; Montreal; American Fort Niagara River; Entrance to Toronto; Moos Hunter; The Private Chapel of the Ursuline Convent, Quebec. Plates from other drawings of Mr. Smyth are in Lewis's "Illustrations of Constantinople," [1837], and in Planché's "Souvenir of the Bal Costumé given by Queen Victoria at Buckingham Palace, May 12, 1842." Coke Smyth has sometimes been confused with Frederic Cooke Smith, who died in 1839, but the former as shown by the preceding sentence was living in 1842. His works were included in exhibitions of the British Institution at intervals in the years from 1842 to 1867. See Graves's "The British Institution, 1806-1867," 1908, p. 504.

[SMYTH (David William)], b. 1764, d. 1837. A Gazetteer of the Province of Upper Canada: to which is added, an Appendix, describing the principal towns, fortifications and rivers in Lower Canada. New-York: Published by Prior and Dunning, No. 111 Water-Street. Pelsue & Gould, Print. 1813. 8vo, 42 leaves. Table, and Plan of the City of Quebec, both folded. NYP. 85204

A reprint of the gazetteer included in "A Short Topographical Description," below, with "material corrections and improvements furnished . . . by several gentlemen acquainted with the country." A copy in original wrappers in the New York Historical Society collection also has the above collation. Other copies were issued with a folded "Map of the Straights of Niagara from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario. 1813. Published by Prior & Dunning N. York. Drawn by I. H. Eddy N. York Robinson & Son, Sc." C., H., NYH., WHS.

The publishers also issued in connection with the work a separate folded map in board covers on which is pasted a printed slip, "Map and Gazetteer of Canada. Published by Prior & Dunning, 111 Water-street, New-York, 1813." The title of the map itself is: "Map of Upper Canada, describing all the New Settlements, Townships, &c. with the Countries Adjacent, from Quebec to Lake Huron. Compiled at the Request of His Excellency Major General John G. Simcoe, First Lieutenant Governor, By David William Smyth, Esqr. Surveyor General. [Verso of title:] Printed by Hamblin and Seyfang, Garlick-Hill, Thames-Street. 8vo, pp. (4), 123. Folded table. C., NYP. 85205

According to the "Advertisement" on verso of the title of the first edition, "The accompanying Notes and Gazetteer were drawn up by David William Smyth, Esq. the very able Surveyor-General of the Province of Upper Canada, at the desire of Major-General Simcoe, on the Plan of those of the late Capt. Hutchins, for the River Ohio and Countries adjacent. London, October 1st, 1799." A similar note in the second edition states that it has been "revised and corrected to the present time, by Francis Gore, Esq. Lieutenant Governor . . ." In the course of his reprint of the first edition published in "The Canadian Journal . . . conducted by the editing committee of the Canadian Institute," new ser., vol. 14, 1873-1875, the Rev. Henry Scadding notes within brackets the changes introduced in the second edition. For a reprint of the provincial gazetteer, see the preceding title.

A map prepared by Mr. Smyth to accompany the work was published in 1800 with the title: "A Map of the Province of Upper Canada, describing all the New Settlements, Townships, &c., with the countries adjacent from Quebec to Lake Huron. Compiled at the request of His Excellency Major General John G. Simcoe, First Lieutenant Governor, By David William Smith, Esqr., Surveyor General. London: Published by W. Faden, Geographer to His Majesty and to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. Charing Cross, April 13th, 1800. Accompanied by a topographical description." Two issues of a "Second Edition" appeared in 1813 and 1818, also with Faden's imprint. These as well as manuscript maps by Mr. Smyth in the Canadian Archives are described in Holmden's "Catalogue of Maps, Plans and Charts," 1912. Notes upon Mr. de Liancourt's Travels in Upper Canada, by an Angle-Canadian, form pp. 121-144 of a reprint of that part of La Rochefoucault's travels describing his visit to Canada, found in the report for 1916 of the Bureau of Archives for the Province of Ontario. These notes, written in Mr. Smyth's hand, were found in his copy of the work. On pp. 5-6 of the report is a brief account of Mr. Smyth, his name being spelled with an "i" which was the original form of his name.

SMYTH. A Dialogue between the Pulpit and Reading-Desk, wherein the most common Errors in Practical Religion are refuted.

Recommended to the serious perusal of the Laity and Clergy of the Episcopal church. Elizabeth-Town. 1794. 85207

Advertised by Shepard Kollock in his "New-Jersey Journal" for January 22, 1794, as follows: "This Day Published, and to be Sold by the Printer hereof, Price 3s A Dialogue" etc. Information from Elmer T. Hutchinson, and Miss Maud E. Johnson of the New Jersey Historical Society. The first London edition was published anonymously in 1767, without the recommendation by Edward Smyth. George Osborn in his "Outlines of Wesleyan Bibliography," 1869, page 155, stated that he was inclined on internal evidence to attribute the tract to Charles Perronet. James Everett, on the other hand, who had worked with the papers of William Green of Rotherham, definitely declared that it was from the latter. See his "Historical Sketches of Wesleyan Methodism in Sheffield and its Vicinity," 1823, vol. 1, pp. 218-219. The author of the recommendation lost his curacy at Ballyculter as the result of identifying himself with the followers of Wesley. Under these auspices he engaged in religious work in England, but afterward, while in charge of Bethesda Chapel in Dublin, he quarrelled with, and separated from the Methodists. In later years he was in charge of St. Clement's and St. Luke's, Manchester. See his own "An Account of the Trial of Edward Smyth," 1777, various references, in Wesley's journals and letters published in the collected "Works," and in Crookshank's "History of Methodism in Ireland," 1885-1886, also "Life and Times of Selina, Countess of Huntingdon," 1844, vol. 2, p. 213.

SMYTH. In the Matter of the Complaint against Egbert C. Smyth and Others, Professors in the Theological Institution in Phillips Academy in Andover. To the Reverend and Honorable, the Visitors of the Theological Institution in Phillips Academy in Andover: . . . [Boston. 1886.] 4to, pp. 11. AAS. 85212

Signed and dated: Egbert C. Smyth, Boston, Nov. 30, 1886. No title-page, title from heading of p. 1. Professor Smyth's reply in detail to the charges brought against him:

Dr. Smyth, with four of his colleagues at Andover Theological Seminary, Professors Tucker, Harris, Churchill and Hincks, founded the "Andover Review" in 1884 and continued it through 1893. In 1886, at the complaint of some conservative Congregationalists, the editors were tried before the Board of Visitors of the Seminary for their theological views, and the verdict ordered the removal of Professor Smyth. With the encouragement of the Trustees, the case was appealed to the Supreme Court of the state, and in 1891 was laid aside on a technicality. See Massachusetts Reports 154, May-Nov. 1891, pp. 551-569. When the question was brought again before the Board of Visitors, the personnel had changed, and by the dismissal of the case in 1892, Professor Smyth was practically acquitted. The following pamphlets relate to the controversy:

The Andover Case: with an Introductory Historical Statement; a careful summary of the Arguments of the Respondent Professors; and the full text of the Arguments of the Complainants and their counsel, together with the decision of the Board of Visitors. The | Effect | of the | Nitrous Vapour, | in | preventing and destroying | Contagion; | ascertained, from a variety of trials, | made chiefly by | Surgeons of His Majesty's Navy, | in prisons, hospitals, and on board of ships: | with an | Introduction | Respecting the Nature of the Contagion, | which gives rise to the | Jail or Hospital Fever; | and | the various methods formerly employed to | prevent or destroy this. | By | James Carmichael Smyth, M.D. F.R.S. | Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, | and Physician Extraordinary to His Majesty. | Philadelphia: Printed by Budd and Bartram, | For Thomas Dobson, at the Stone House, | No. 41, South Second Street.—1799. | 8vo, pp. 174. Folded table. BML., NYP., SG. 85232 at Winchester," London, 1795. The work contains a few brief references with an American interest. See footnotes on pages 43 and 170, the former relating to "The late dreadful mortality in the West-India islands, occasioned by a contagious fever imported from Boulam," and the latter to the fact that "the yellow fever, in America at least, is produced by imported contagion." Also, on pp. 101-105, a description of treatments of patients from the West Indies. Dr. Smyth received a reward of £5000 from the government in 1802 for his discoveries concerning the value of nitrous vapor. See "Reports from Committees of the House of Commons," 1793-1802, vol. 14, pp. 189-229, and "Journals of the House of Commons," 1801-1802, vol. 57, p. 662.

First published in London in the same year. According to p. xiii, the "Introduction" was formerly published in the author's "Description of the Jail Distemper . . .

SMYTH. The Effect of the Nitrous Vapour, in preventing and destroying Contagion; ascertained, from a variety of trials, made chiefly by Surgeons of His Majesty's Navy, in prisons, hospitals, and on board of ships: with an Introduction respecting the Nature of the Contagion, which gives rise to the Jail or Hospital Fever, and the various methods formerly employed to prevent or destroy this. A New Edition. By James Carmichael Smyth, M.D. F.R.S. Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, and Physician Extraordinary to His Majesty. Philadelphia: Published by James Webster. 1815. 8vo, pp. 174. Folded table. BML., NYAM., SG., UP. 85233

This issue is from the sheets of the Philadelphia edition of 1799, with a new title-page. Dr. Smyth published several other medical treatises. The biographical sketch in the "Dictionary of National Biography" states that his father's surname was Carmichael, and that he had adopted his mother's surname in addition.

SMYTH (James Carmichael), b. 1779, d. 1838. Copy of a Report to His Grace The Duke of Wellington Master General of His Majesty's Ordnance &c. &c. &c. Relative to His Majesty's North American Provinces by a Commission of which M. General Sir James Carmichael Smyth was President Lieut Colonel Sir George Hoste Captain Harris Members [London.] 1825. Folio, pp. (6), 138; appendix A, 32; appendix B, (4); appendix C, (11); appendix E, (4). .B. 85234

Lettered on cover: "North American Provinces Commissioners Report 1825." Dated on p. 1, "Halifax 9th September 1825," and signed on p. 138, "J: Carmichael Smyth M. General & President Geo: Hoste Bt. Major Royal Engineers John B. Harris Captn. Royal Engineers." According to Henry Stevens and Son's "Catalogue of Books & Pamphlets relating to America," no. 6, June, 1887, p. 129, this report was "of so important and secret a character that it was never printed, and only 25 lithographic copies of the MS. were made for the use of interested parties. It comprises an elaborate account of the canals, forts and defensive works of Canada, &c. then existing, with the recommendations of the Committee for placing the whole of the British Provinces in a complete state of defence." Following the heading of paragraph 52 on p. 135, "Vulnerable points of America," is the note, "His Grace the Master General has ordered that this paragraph is not to be lithographed." Miss Margaret Ray, who furnished information as to a copy in the Public Library of Toronto, states that according to a manuscript note in that copy it is "of extraordinary value as it contains a manuscript transcript of the lengthy paragraph . . . which was ordered not to be lithographed." The four appendices contain: "A. State of the different Fortifications, Barracks, Hospitals, Magazines, and Storehouses, in His Majesty's Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, as they appeared upon inspection in the Summer of 1825;" "B. Estimate of the probable Amount of the Expense which will be incurred in completing the Plan of a Water communication between Montreal and the Ottawa; and from the Ottawa to Kingston;" "C. Copy of Memorandums addressed by the Commission of which Major General Sir James Smyth is President, to Colonel Durnford, Commanding Royal Engineer in the Canadas;" "E. Statement as to the additional number of Engineer officers who will be required in the Canadas and Nova Scotia should the projected New Works be carried into execution."

SMYTH. Letter to a Member of the Bahamas Assembly upon the subject of Flogging Female Slaves. Nassau, Bahamas. 1831. 8vo. 85235

Title from the biographical sketch of Major General Smyth in the "Dictionary of National Biography." According to the memoir in the second edition of his "Precis," he "utterly abolished the brutal system of flogging women" in the Bahamas.

SMYTH. Precis of the Wars in Canada, from 1755 to the Treaty of Ghent in 1814. With military and political reflections. By Maj.-Gen. Sir James Carmichael Smyth, Bart. C.B. K.M.T. K.S.W. . . . London.—1826. [Colophon:] London: Printed by G. Roworth, Bell Yard, Temple Bar. 8vo, pp. xiii, (1), 185, (1). Dar F1032 565

C., H., HEH., JCB., NYP. 85236

On recto of the leaf preceding the title: "N. B.—This Volume is printed by desire of His Grace the Master-General [the Duke of Wellington], for the use and convenience of Official People only. It is requested it may be considered as confidential by those Persons to whom Copies may be sent." The dedicatory letter addressed to the Duke is signed by the author and dated, "Nutwood, Reigate, 15th August, 1826." General Smyth, a military engineer, was selected by the Duke of Wellington in 1825, to make a report on the military defences of Canada, and to offer recommendations as to the fortifications and works required along the frontier. Of his unpublished communications on the subject the most important is a report, dated March 31, 1826, which together with several others is listed in Cruikshank's "Inventory of the Military Documents in the Canadian Archives," 1910. He states in the dedicatory letter of the "Precis" that a study of past military operations in the province had been needed for an understanding of the present requirements for defence. The results of these researches are submitted to the Duke, with recommendations as to the strategic positions to be newly fortified or strengthened, in order to make impossible the conquest of Canada by the United States. The outlines of the plan "had been already traced by your Grace's own Hand."

SMYTH. *Precis of the Wars in Canada, from 1755 to the Treaty of Ghent in 1814. With military and political reflections. By the late Maj.-Gen. Sir James Carmichael-Smyth, Bart. BA., C., CU., HEH., WLC. 85237

A memoir of Major General Smyth forms pp. 7-21. According to p. 21, "In the present disturbed state of the great continent of North America, no one can foretell what complications may arise, or how soon the acts of some reckless and unprincipled adventurer may produce a rupture between the Federal States and this country."

SMYTH. Reflections upon the Value of the British West Indian Colonies and of the British North American Provinces in 1825. London. 1826. 8vo. 85238

SMYTH (John). Select Poems. By Sir John Smyth, L.L.D. & P.L. Toronto. 1841. 12mo, pp. 32. B. 85239

SMYTH. A Small Specimen of the Genius of Canada West and the Wonders of the World. By Sir John Smyth, Baronet, And Royal Engineer, Canadian Poet, L.L.D., P.L., and Moral Philosopher. Toronto. Printed by W. J. Coates, Star Office, King Street. 1845. 12mo, pp. 34. 85240

Title from an imperfect copy in the Public Library of Toronto, which lacks pp. 13-24. Of special interest is the section, pp. 25-32, "Railroad Communication. A West Proposed Line of Steam Communication from London in England, to China and the East Indies, &c. &c.," which is signed and dated, Sir John Smyth . . . City of Toronto, September 26th, 1845. On page 34 are two poems "by Lady Jane Smyth Cate wife of Sir John Smyth." In the preface to his "Select Poems," the author states that he was born and bred in Canada, followed the plough until he was forty-four years old and had never written a poem until that time. According to a manuscript note in a copy of that work in the Public Library of Toronto, "M. Teeff [a collector of Canadiana] knew poor old John Smyth well; he was at one time a sort of Land Agent—had an office in King Street, Toronto—but never was an active intelligent man;—was weak and silly—given to poetry ? and lovemaking—and became a butt for the 'young men about town'—in the latter years of his existence he was not able to walk; he had a carriage so constructed that he could propel himself along sitting in it—whenever he wished to go from one side-walk to the other, some person would assist him to cross the street by drawings him in his carriage over the 'crossing.' He assumed the title of 'Sir John' and everybody consented to recognise him (when speaking to him) as a Baronet (?)—and 'Poet Laureat' etc." According to Innis's "History of the Canadian Pacific Railway," 1923, p. 67, "In 1835 Sir John Smyth in the Christian Guardian suggested the possibilities of a short and direct line from New York to Montreal, thence to Toronto, the Mississippi, the Rocky Mountains and the Columbia River in developing the western trade as well as trade with India and China. Ten years later as a result of the rapid expansion of the western states, of the growth of the Red River Settlement and of the more promising situation in Canada after the Union, he elaborated on the earlier proposal." According to H. Scadding's "Toronto of Old," 1873, p. 177, "he brought out a lithographed map: its peculiarity was a straight black line conspicuously drawn across the continent from Fort William to the mouth of the Columbia river."

[SMYTH (John F.), of Albany.] Eighteenth Annual Report of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department. State of New York. . . Jerome B. Parmenter. State Printer. 1877. 2 parts, 8vo, pp. lxxxix, 561; xliii, 228. NYP. 85241

The report is divided into two parts each with a separate title-page. The first deals with fire and marine insurance, and the second with life and casualty insurance. The letter of transmissal is dated, "Albany, March 19, 1877," and signed, "John F. Smyth, Superintendent." Mr. Smyth issued similar reports for 1878, 1879, and 1880.

SMYTH. . . . Testimony taken before the Senate, on charges against John F. Smyth, Superintendent of the Insurance Department. [Albany. 1878.] 8vo, pp. 526, 37. CU., NYP. 85242

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1, preceded by the words: "State of New York. In Senate, March 7, 1877 [i.e. 1878] —10 a.m." Governor Robinson recommended Mr. Smyth's removal for violation of a statute, passed in 1873, relating to the examination of insurance companies. The Senate voted against his removal on March 27, 1878 and he continued in office until 1880, the close of his term. The final 37 pages of the volume contain the Journal of the Senate during the trial.

Mr. Smyth collaborated in the preparation of the eighth edition of "General Statute Laws of the State of New York relating to . . . Insurance Companies," 1877.

[SMYTH (John Ferdinand Dalziel), b. 1745, d. 1814.] The | Case | of | Ferdinand Smyth Stuart, | with his | Memorials | to | The King, | The Lords of the Treasury, &c. | and | Vouchers of his Public Services, Sufferings, &c. in the Cause of his Country, | during thirty-three years, | from | Many Persons | of the | Highest Rank and Character. | London: | Printed by Cox, Son, and Baylis, No. 75, Great Queen Street, | Lincoln's-Inn Fields. | 1807. | Folio, pp. (6), 5-27. Folded map of North America. HSP. 85243

The Harper copy in the Huntington Library contains between pages 16 and 19, as a substitute for pp. 17-18, a leaf without page numbers, having the heading "Different Tracts and Surveys of most valuable Lands, . . . belonging to J. Ferd. Smyth, Esq." and at the foot of the verso, the imprint of Cox, Son, and Baylis. The two copies of the "Case" at the Huntington Library, one purchased from Mr. L. C. Harper and one from the Museum Book Store, have additional leaves containing certificates, recommendations, depositions, etc., bound in. The arrangement of these leaves differs in the two copies. The Harper copy lacks three leaves containing pages numbered 3-10, found in the Museum Book Store copy. It contains, however, an unpaginated leaf of recommendations, etc., which has an imprint of Cox, Son, and Baylis, and is not included in the latter copy. A detailed collation of each follows:

1. Harper copy. Pp. (6), 5-16, "Different Tracts and Surveys" etc. (2), 19-27; "To the Right Honourable the Secretary at War. The Report (delivered according to General Orders from the War Office) of John Ferdinand Smyth," with the imprint of Cox, Son, and Baylis, (2); 3 unnumbered leaves, versos blank; 7 leaves numbered 11-17, versos blank; 1 leaf of recommendations with the imprint of Cox, Son, and Baylis, verso blank; 1 leaf numbered 18, verso blank; "Extreme Injustice and Hardships.—And an Explanation of the Names of Smyth and Stuart;—Stated in Letters to the Rt. Hon. William Pitt,—and the Earl of Moira," with the imprint of Cox, Son, and Baylis, (2).

2. Museum Book Store copy. Pp. (10) including the Report to the Secretary at War, and the pages relating to "Extreme Injustice" and the "Explanation of the Names of Smyth and Stuart"; 5-16, 19-27; 3 unnumbered leaves, versos blank; pages numbered 3-10; 8 leaves numbered 11-18, versos blank. The following manuscript inscription is found on the verso of leaf 18: "To Constantine Wentworth Stuart Smyth-Stuart * Born 11th Augt. 1805, presented by Ferdinand Smyth-Stuart to remind him of his father and his misfortunes. London 31 Hart Street Bloomsbury Square 24th May 1807."

The copies of the "Case" which have been examined appear to have been issued bound following the poem, "Destiny and Fortitude," 1808, as is the case with the Huntington Library copies in apparently contemporary boards, the descriptions of which were furnished by Willard O. Waters. Probably it was first issued separately in 1807.

The "Explanation of the names of Smyth and Stuart (J. Ferdinand Dalziel Smyth—Ferdinand Smyth Stuart)," is embodied in two letters to the Earl of Moira, dated at Billericay, Essex, on August 2 and 26, 1806, and signed, Ferdinand Smyth Stuart. These describe his descent from the house of Stuart through his grandfather, the Duke of Monmouth. The father of the writer had received the name of Smyth from his foster father, a friend of the Duke. Dr. Smyth, himself, states in his letters that about ten years previously he had added the name of Stuart to his own, "for, indeed, what was the name of Smyth to me?"

The petitioner brings forward his claims for losses incurred as a loyalist officer during the American Revolution. The Board of Treasury and later the Commissioners for American Claims, on the close of the war had allotted him a pension, but in 1784 it was discontinued because, as he claimed, he had refused to give secret information in regard to other loyalists before the Commissioners. The vouchers are signed by both American and British persons of influence, including Peyton Randolph, General Andrew Lewis, the Earl of Dunmore, Lieutenant-Colonel Connolly, General Howe, Ex-Governor Tryon, Lord North, the Earl of Carlisle, and others. For other papers relating to his claims, see his "Memorial," of 1784, and "Petition," 1811.

The folded map has the title, "North America and the West Indies with the latest discoveries," and the imprint, London, Published by Laurie & Whittle, Fleet Street. Oct. 1st. 1801.

HEH., HSP., NYP. 85244

"Verses Addressed to Ferdinand Smyth Stuart, Esq. on the poem, entitled Destiny and Fortitude," signed D. E., form pp. iii-iv, and in the New York Public Library copy are followed by two unnumbered leaves containing a satirical poem, "The Bursted Chase," not found in the other copies examined. This is mentioned on page 51 of the author's notes as "very rare and scarce, but strictly and literally true." It is listed in the table of contents as beginning on page 53, and was possibly misplaced when this copy was rebound. As the two Huntington Library copies, which according to Mr. Waters are in old boards, and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania copy do not contain the satire, some copies may have been issued without it.

The sixteen elegies which form the main part of the book relate chiefly to the author's own misfortunes, and incidentally to those of various members of the house of Stuart, to which he claimed to belong as a grandson of the Duke of Monmouth. Pp. 33-52 contain explanatory notes. Elegies 6-9, and 14, are especially connected with his American experiences. In the note on elegy 15 a reference is made to the author's claims against the British government which are "related and explained in the annexed Case." See the preceding title, some copies of which were issued with the poem. The final leaf contains: "Proposals for publishing A Genealogical Chart of the Descendants of the Royal House of Stuart . . . down to the year 1809 . . . Accompanied by an interesting poem, entitled Destiny and Fortitude: being an historical detail of the misfortunes of this illustrious family; Embellished with a fine Portrait of Mary Stuart, Queen of Scotland and France. By Ferdinand Smyth Stuart, the nearest descendant. . . Orders and Subscriptions are received by Messrs. Nornaville and Fell, New Bond-street; Mr. Egerton, Whitehall; Mr. White, Fleet Street; and Mr. Hatchard, Piccadilly; where authentic information concerning any part of the Family will be considered as a favour. Cox, Son, and Baylis, Printers, Great Queen Street." Probably not enough subscribers were obtained to warrant the publication of the "Genealogical Chart."

The plates are both stipple engravings. The portrait of Mary, Queen of Scots, which is said to be from an "Original Painting in the possession of (J. F. Smyth) Ferdinand Smyth Stuart Esq.," has the inscription, Fred. Zuchari Pinxt: I. Singleton Sculpt: The portrait of "(J. F. Smyth) Ferdinand Smyth Stuart, Esqr." is unsigned.

SMYTH. A Letter to Lord Henry Petty, &c. on a Motion in Parliament on the subject of Coercive Vaccination . . . London. 1807. 8vo. 85245

Title from Watt. Probably from the same sheets as the following:

SMYTH. A Letter to Lord Henry Petty, &c. On a Motion in Parliament, on the Subject of Coercive Vaccination; or, Compelling the Human Race to be inoculated with Cow-Pox, a Disease of Beasts, Filthy, Dangerous, and often Fatal, instead of Small-Pox, a Disease of Mankind, Mild, Safe, and Well Understood. Of the highest Importance to all Ranks of Men. . . Second Edition. By Ferdinand Smyth Stuart. With an emblematic Frontispiece. London: Printed for White, Fleet-Street; Wilkie and Robinson, Paternoster-Row; Asperne, Cornhill; Hatchard, Piccadilly; Callow, Crown-Court; Egerton, Whitehall; and all Booksellers. 1807. [Verso of title:] Printed by Cox, Son, and Baylis, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-Inn-Fields. 8vo, pp. (2), ii, 85, leaf of Proposals. Frontispiece. NYAM. 85246

Signed and dated on page 85: "Ferdinand Smyth Stuart. London, 19th January, 1807." It is probable that it is from the sheets of the first edition, and identical with it except for the edition note on the title-page, and only entry in Watt having the same date. Contains an attack on vaccination as opposed to inoculation. One of Dr. Smyth Stuart's children had died after a long illness following vaccination in 1802. A letter by him describing the case and his own treatment of it had been published by Robert Squirrell in his anti-vaccination tract, "Observations . . . on the Cow-Pox," 1805. Robert John Thornton, in his "Vaccinæ Vindicia," 1806, pp. 335-344, ridiculed the inferences drawn from the case by the unfortunate father, who it was reported "might have been a negro-doctor in America," and by Dr. Squirrell, and implied that the death was due to the ignorant treatment of the case. The above contains a reply by Dr. Smyth Stuart and a further attempt to prevent legislation in favor of vaccination. In the course of the work there are a few American references, including on page 1 a quotation from a letter to Congress printed in the author's "Tour," 1784, which he declares had saved the life of a British officer twenty-eight years before; a brief account of experiences with the yellow fever in San Domingo and the United States between 1795 and 1796, pp. 29-30; and a reference to a description by Mr. Daniel Stephenson of Baltimore of the safety of inoculation as practised in America, p. 74.

The final leaf contains: "Proposals for publishing a Genealogical Chart of the Royal House of Stuart . . . From James VI. and I. down to the Year 1807. With Tables of Descent above 2000 Years back . . . Accompanied by an interesting Poem, entitled Destiny and Fortitude . . . By a Descendant. . . ." A leaf similar to but differing slightly from that in the author's "Case" of the same year.

The frontispiece is entitled "Vaccination," and has the inscription, Pubd. by Fd Smyth Stuart Esqr No. 63 Fleet Street. It is an engraving colored by hand of a terrible monster with wide opened jaws into which Dr. Jenner and his fellow workers in the guise of demons are emptying baskets full of infants. The approach to the Temple of Fame in the background is defended by the anti-vaccinationists, Mosely, Squirrell, Rowley, Birch and Lipscombe. Description from the folded plate in "£30,000 for the Cow-Pox!!!," a later issue of the same sheets with an appendix. The copy in the library of the Academy of Medicine lacks the frontispiece, but it is probable that this is the "emblematic frontispiece" mentioned in the title.

SMYTH. The | Memorial | of | John Ferdinand Dalziel Smyth, Esq., | late | Captain Commandant of the Royal Hunters, and of the | Queen's American Rangers, | With | Affidavits, | and | An Account of Expenditures properly proved and certified before the Mayor of | New York, with the Great Seal affixed thereto; a Schedule of his Property; | an Account of personal effects lost or carried away during the Rebellion; | and | Copies of Certificates, Extracts of Letters, and Testimonials, in Support | of, and ascertaining his Pretensions, annexed; from the following Persons. | [A list of authors of testimonials, numbered 1-22, and probably an imprint which has been trimmed off in the Library of Congress copy. London. 1784.] Folio, pp. (8), 8 numbered leaves, one of which is folded. c. 85247

The 4th and 7th leaves are wrongly numbered 14 and 17. The memorial, pp. (2), follows the title, and is signed: "J. F. D. Smyth. Milbank-Row, Westminster, Jan. 1, 1784." After this is No. 1 of his accounts, those numbered 2-6 being omitted. Manuscript notes, evidently written by Dr. Smyth, in the Library of Congress copy, state that "No. 2, No. 3, No. 4, No. 5, No. 6 and the different Estates in land are not inserted here." On the next page is a printed statement that "The surveys of the greatest number of these lands are at present in the hands of Lord Southampton," followed by another manuscript note, "of which His Lordship gave a certificate in 1784—but as they were then mislaid they could not be produced—but they have all been since then found by His Lordship and returned in Jan'y 1795." Although only 22 testimonials are listed on the title-page, there are 27 in the pamphlet, the last three being printed on the large folded leaf with a certificate: "True copies compared with the originals. T. Uncle. American Office, Sept. 13 1784." A draft of the "Memorial," including the missing accounts and the Estates in Land, but lacking the testimonials, is found among the manuscript "... Transcripts of the Manuscript Books and Papers of the Commission of Enquiry into the Losses and Services of the American Loyalists ... preserved amongst the Audit Office Records in the Public Record Office of England 1783-1790," made for the New York Public Library. Title and information from Mr. George A. Schwegmann, Jr.

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1, preceded by the words: "Capt. Smith, late of Maryland, who has | been a Prisoner among the Rebels | ever since Nov. 1775, having lately | escaped from them, the following is | a Sketch of his Narrative or Journal, | which is so well authenticated, that | it may be relied on." | Signed and dated at the end: "J. F. D. Smyth, Captain Queen's Rangers. New-York, Dec. 25, 1777. Philadelphia, Feb. 25, 1778." The account first appeared in Hugh Gainé's "New-York Gazette" for April 14 and 21, 1777. Mr. Hildeburn, in his "Sketches of Printers and Printing in Colonial New York," 1895, pp. 82-83, states that the pamphlet, was also from the same press, but a comparison of the typography with that in three of Gainé's contemporary publications reveals no striking similarity. The narrative is altered and enlarged from that in the "Gazette." Reprinted in the "Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography," vol. 39, 1915, pp. 143-169.

SMYTH. £30,000 for the Cow-Pox!!! An Address (to Ld. H. P., and) to the British Parliament, on Vaccination; (Of the greatest Importance to Mankind.) Wherein The Report of the College of Physicians is Completely Confuted. . . . By Ferdinand Smyth Stuart, Esq. Second Edition, with an Appendix and Plates. London: Sold by Hatchard, Piccadilly; Budd, Pall-Mall; Egerton, Whitehall; Wilkie and Robinson, Paternoster-Row; Asperne, Cornhill; Callow, Crown-court; Maxwell and Jordan, Strand; and all Booksellers.—1807. [Colophon:] Printed by Cox, Son, and Baylis, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-Inn-Fields. 8vo, pp. (4), ii, 85, appendix xxi, (1), advertisement (2). Frontispiece and folded plate. NYAM. 85250

From the sheets of the "Letter to Lord Henry Petty," with a new title-page and half title, and the addition of an appendix. The latter contains first a reply to an attack on his book by Rowland Hill published in the "Medical and Physical Journal" of April, 1807; the author then proceeds to "confute" the Report of the College of Physicians to Parliament which recommended compulsory vaccination, and appeals to the latter body not to be influenced by it. On page xxi is a protest at an additional £20,000 (making £30,000 in all) just granted to Dr. Jenner by Parliament for introducing vaccination, the grant having been made since the first part of the appendix was written. The advertisement at the end announces that "This Day is Published" the "Literary Panorama" for August, 1807.

This issue has a new frontispiece, an engraving of Mrs. Smyth Stuart holding her child, who according to its father, was the victim of vaccination. The inscription refers to the pages where the child is mentioned, and has the imprint: Pubd. Augt. 3rd. 1807 by F. S. Stuart, No. 63 Fleet Street. The "emblematic" engraving of Vaccination described in the "Letter to Lord Henry Petty" is also included.

This translation of extracts from the author's "Tour" is evidently an excerpt from a larger work, possibly published in numbers. A number of German collections of voyages in the New York Public Library have been examined without identifying its source. The last decade of the eighteenth century is suggested by the Library of Congress as the date of publication.

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. Signed: "Regulus." In the Library of Congress copy this pseudonym is scratched out and the signature I. Ferd. Smyth written above it by hand. This copy has a manuscript note above the title heading as follows: "Memorial presented to Ld. Shelburne in Sept. 1783 by I. Ferd Smyth and now Apl 15th 1795 in full force"; and at the end another note stating that "In consequence of the above Mem'l the Grand Posts & Back Country were retained by Britain and the fur trade by that means preserved—until Mr. Jay came over to London from America in 1794 upon which another Mem'l, was presented to Lord Granville on the 24th and 30th Dec. 1794." Title and information supplied by George A. Schwegmann. The author claims credit for his representations to the government on this subject on page 7 of his "Petition," 1811.

A restatement of the claims presented above in the "Memorial," of 1784, and the "Case," 1807, brought up to date, and with additional vouchers and recommendations. The author also includes an account of his services in making a survey of the Bahamas in 1783, and his achievements in combatting a yellow fever epidemic in St. Domingo while stationed there as Assistant Barrack Master General in 1795-1796, etc. These claims were never recognized by the government, and when he was killed in an accident in 1814, his family were left in poverty. AAS., BA., C., HEH., JCB., MINN. HS., NYP., P. 85254

The author first describes his arrival in America, his travels in Virginia, the Carolinas, and Kentucky, his voyage down the Ohio and Mississippi to New Orleans, his coasting trip along West and East Florida, and his return through Georgia and the Carolinas to Virginia. After mentioning his brief settlement in that province, he tells of taking up farming in Maryland. He includes a short account of the Dunmore War of 1774, in which he served under General Andrew Lewis. The latter half of the second volume relates chiefly to Dr. Smyth's experiences as a loyalist during the Revolution, his wanderings and imprisonments in Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland, his escape in a British ship off Delaware Bay to join the British army in New York, and the impressions he formed of New York and New Jersey while in that service. New England, which he had seen only while taking part in the Danbury expedition, is covered in a brief chapter.

John Randolph in 1822 wrote on a flyleaf of his copy, "This book, although replete with calumny and falsehood, contains the truest picture of the state of society and manners in Virginia (such as it was about half a century ago) that is extant. . . ." See the reprints of extracts relating to Virginia in the "Virginia Historical Register," vol. 6, 1853, pp. 11-20, 77-90, 131-148. A contemporary criticism in the "Monthly Review," vol. 72, 1785, pp. 112-121, stated that "though this performance by no means answers the high expectations designed to be raised by the title-page, yet those who only wish to know enough of America, and its late revolutions, to enable them to join in the conversation of the day, may here be supplied with information that may possibly be sufficient to answer that end." Besides describing the Indian tribes met during his travels, the author includes in chap. 44 of vol. 1, "A List of the Names of all the different Indian Nations on the Continent of North-America, with their Situations, and the Number of Gun-men or Warriors in each Nation." This he claims to have taken "from the best authority I have been able to collect." Winsor states that the source is unknown, and notes that it is essentially the same list as those appearing in Trumbull's Indian Wars, and Buchanan's "Sketches of the History, Manners, and Customs, of the North American Indians," 1824. Some differences in the latter lists may be explained by errors in copying. An examination proves that Dr. Smyth has taken his statistics from Appendix IV of William Smith's anonymous "Historical Account of the Expedition against the Ohio Indians," 1865, which was "drawn up by a French trader, a person of considerable note who has resided many years among the Indians, and still continues at Detroit . . ." This would not at first be suspected as the order in which the tribes are given is reversed, and the spelling of the names varies, but the estimated number of fighting men is the same in all but a few cases, while many even of the phrases describing the tribes are either the same or similar.

An abridged version of the "Tour in the United States," in which the translator's dedication to Madame de Marson, née de La Fontaine, is signed "C. de B.—" This was the Vicomte Charles Paul Nicolas Barentin de Montchal, 1737-1824, according to the sketch of his life in "La grande encyclopédie." Apparently he had other Christian names, as the initials on the title-page of his "Géographie ancienne et historique," 1807, are L. B. D. M., Michaud's account is under Louis Barentin de Montchal, with the same dates of birth and death, and the Bibliothèque Nationale entry is under Charles A. Louis Barentin de Montchal. For a biographical sketch of Smyth, see the "Dictionary of National Biography," under Stuart.

SMYTH (Patrick), d. 1796. The | Present State | of the | Catholic
 Mission, | conducted by the | Ex-Jesuits in North-America. | . . . |
 By the Rev. Patrick Smyth. | Dublin: | Printed by P. Byrne, No.
108, Grafton-street. | M.DCC.LXXXVIII. | 8vo, pp. 48.

H., NYP. 85257

Dated on p. 46, November 12, 1788. Father Smyth, a secular priest, came to America in 1787, and was stationed at Frederic-Town, Maryland. Dissatisfied with the treatment accorded him by Bishop Carroll, a former Jesuit, and his reception by the Catholics of Maryland, he returned to Ireland in May, 1788, and soon after published this pamphlet. He criticises the Bishop for his lack of enterprise in carrying on missions, and the Jesuits for their unapostolic and luxurious mode of life. A reply by Bishop Carroll, which he was persuaded not to publish, is in the Cathedral Archives in Baltimore, and has been printed in Guilday's "Life and Times of John Carroll," 1922, pp. 313-321, and in Am. Cath. Hist. Researches, new ser., vol. 1, 1905, pp. 193-206. For biographical information, see Cogan's "Ecclesiastical History of the Diocese of Meath," 1867-1874.

SMYTH (Ralph D.). See Smith (Ralph Dunning), and Steiner (Bernard Christian).

[SMYTH (Robert [Stewart] Carmichael), b. 1800?, d. 1888.] The Employment of the People and the Capital of Great Britain in her own Colonies, by undertaking a Great National Work; and thus opening the shortest road to the most extensive regions of wealth ever before at the command of any nation in the world . . . All this fully explained in (a letter) [Title continued on recto of second leaf:] A Letter to the Author of "The Clockmaker," containing Thoughts on the Subject of a Railway Communication between the Atlantic and the Pacific, from the magnificent Harbour of Halifax, in Nova Scotia (North-eastern America), to the mouth of Frazer's River, in New Caledonia (North-western America), or such other port as may be determined upon. . . . London: W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 1849. 8vo, pp. viii, 59. HEH. 85258

The Huntington Library copy has the following manuscript inscriptions on the first and second pages of the title, respectively: "press and other [erro]rs not yet corrected"; and, "By Major R. Carmichael Smyth 93d Sutherland Highlanders." Although there are references to 48 notes in the text, only 45 appear in the appendix, pp. 45-59. Titles and other information concerning works of this author in the Huntington Library supplied by Willard O. Waters. According to a review in "The Athenæum," London, for October 6, 1849, p. 1011, "We recommend the study of this scheme to such of our readers as are interested in the history of extraordinary hallucinations."

SMYTH. The Employment of the People and the Capital of Great Britain in her own colonies, at the same time assisting emigration and penal arrangements by undertaking A Great National Work; and thus opening the shortest road to the most extensive regions of wealth ever before at the command of any nation in the world (not regions of gold, but for commerce and industry), so that at no future period (within at least the imagination of man) will Great Britain have to complain either of too great a population on her soil, or too small a market for her labour. All this fully explained in (a letter) [Title continued on the recto of the second leaf:] A Letter from Major Robert Carmichael-Smyth to his friend the author of "The Clockmaker," containing Thoughts on the Subject of a British Colonial Railway Communication between the Atlantic and the Pacific, from the magnificent harbour of Halifax, in Nova Scotia (North-Eastern America), to the mouth of Frazer's River, in New Caledonia (North-Western America), or such other port as may be determined upon. . . . London: W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 1849. [Colophon:] London: printed by W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 8vo, pp. viii, 68. CANARCH., HEH. + London: W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 1849. [Colophon:] Printed by W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 8vo, pp. viii, 68, and printed cover. Folded map. C., HEH., MHS., UP. 85259

The issues of this edition contain a "Conclusion," pp. 46-48, not found in the preceding one, and the number of notes is increased to 67. Signed on page 48, "Robert Carmichael-Smyth. Junior United Service Club, February 28th, 1849." According to Mr. Waters, the issue with the map has the preface and pp. 65-66 reset, though the text is the same. The latter issue has a cover title as follows:

"The Employment of the People and Capital of Great Britain in her own Colonies, explained in a Letter from Major Robert Carmichael-Smyth to his friend the Author of 'The Clockmaker' containing Thoughts on the Subject of a British Colonial Railway Communication between the Atlantic and the Pacific, at the same time assisting emigration and penal arrangements. With a map by Wyld. London: W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 1849. Price two shillings and sixpence." The map has the following title and imprint: "The world on Mercator's Projection. Shewing the Lines of Communication that would result from the carrying out of the suggested British Colonial Railway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans." James Wyld. Charing Cross East. London.

[SMYTH.] The Employment of the People and the Capital of Great Britain in her own Colonies, at the same time assisting Emigration, Colonization and Penal Arrangements, by undertaking the construction of a Great National Railway between the Atlantic and the Pacific, from Halifax Harbour, Nova Scotia, to Frazer's River, New Caledonia. . . London: W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 1849. [Colophon:] London: Printed by W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. 8vo, pp. viii, 75, (1). 2 folded maps.

B., CANARCH., HEH. 85260

The text of this pamphlet is entirely different from that in the preceding titles. Signed on p. 47: "Robert Carmichael-Smyth, Author of a Letter lately published on this subject to the Author of 'the Clockmaker.'" One of the maps is an issue of that by Wyld, see above; the other has the title and imprint: "Skeleton Map to Shew the Probable Line of Railway Communication from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the North American British Provinces. . . Metchim, lith. 20, Parliament St.

[SMYTH.] A Letter to the Right Honourable Earl Grey on the subjects of Transportation and Emigration as connected with an Imperial Railway Communication between the Atlantic and the Pacific. London: Published by W. P. Metchim, 20, Parliament Street. MDCCCL. 8vo, pp. 29. HEH. 85261

Signed on p. 29: "Robert Carmichael-Smyth. Junior United Service Club, 23rd January, 1850." Major Smyth was one of the first to suggest the building of a trans-Canadian railway. He was also the author of a "Memorandum on the necessity of a Secretary of State," London, 1852. For biographical information, see Paul's "The Scots Peerage," vol. 4, 1907, p. 571. According to the "Annual Register . . . for the year 1888," part 2, p. 150, he died May 13, 1888, aged 88.

SMYTH. Autobiographical Notes, Letters and Reflections. By Thomas Smyth, D.D. Edited by his granddaughter Louisa Cheves Stoney. Charleston, S. C.: Walker, Evans & Cogswell Company. 1914. 8vo, pp. (8), 784. Frontispiece portrait, besides 12 portraits and 1 illustration included in the paging.

C., NYP., UP., UTS. 85264

According to the editor's prefatory note, the "memoranda from which this volume has been compiled were collected by Dr. Smyth in three bulky volumes with the evident intention of some day writing the full story of his eventful and unusual life. The greater part of the early recollections was written apparently in the Summer of 1839, but was largely added to by notes and interpolations when the work was resumed in the Summer of 1859." The collection includes letters and papers relating to Dr. Smyth and his family, as well as his own correspondence and recollections. Papers relating to Secession and the War—1860-1865 form pp. 547-675. A genealogy of the Smyth, Adger and Ellison families is found on pp. 743-751. The frontispiece portrait of Dr. Smyth is a reproduction of that included in his "Unity of the Human Races," Edinburgh, 1851.

SMYTH. The Battle of Fort Sumter. Its Mystery and Miracle: God's Mastery and Mercy. A Discourse preached on the Day of National Fasting, Thanksgiving and Prayer in the First Presbyterian Church, Charleston, S. C., June 13, 1861. By Thos. Smyth, D.D. Columbia. 1861. 8vo. Printed cover. 85264A

Title from the Henkels catalogue of the "Valuable American Historical Library of the late Major Edward Willis . . . to be sold . . . Oct. 29 & 30, 1914," no. 106. Reprinted in the "Southern Presbyterian Review" for October 1861, vol. 14, pp. 365-399.

SMYTH. By whom is the world to be Converted? or Christians Christ's Representatives and Agents for the Conversion of the World. By Thomas Smyth, D.D. Published by Request of the Synod of South Carolina. Philadelphia: Presbyterian Board of Publication. No. 265 Chestnut Street. [1856?] 18mo, pp. 108.

NYP., PTS. 85265

Binder's title: "Conversion of the World." Copyrighted in 1856 by James Dunlap. A later edition, with additions and omissions, of "Christians Christ's Representatives," above. Mr. Smyth wrote in August, 1860, "I have revised for Stereotyping my Conversion of the World." See his "Autobiographical Notes," 1914, p. 491. It is uncertain whether the above is the edition as copyrighted in 1856, or the stereotyped edition of 1860. Also issued with advertisements at the end, according to the reprint in the Works, vol. 7, pp. 91-92.

SMYTH. Calvin and His Enemies. A Memoir of the Life, Character, and Principles of Calvin. . . . New Edition, revised and enlarged. Philadelphia: Presbyterian Board of Publication. 265 Chestnut Street. [Verso of title:] Printed by William S. Martien. [1856.] 18mo, pp. 180. C., NYP., PTS. 85266

SMYTH. . . . Claims of the Christian Ministry to an Adequate Support. By the Rev. Thomas Smyth, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. Charleston, S. C.: Published by the author, and for sale at the depository, Chambers-St. [Pr]inted by B. B. Hussey, 36 Broad Street. 1840. 12mo, pp. 34. UTS., WHS. 85271
With heading: "Tracts on Presbyterianism. No. 4." See below.

SMYTH. Claims of the Christian Ministry to an Adequate and Liberal Support; also a Plea For the Preaching of the Gospel to the Poor, but Not by the Poor. . . . By the Rev. Thomas Smyth, Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. Charleston, S. C.: Printed by R. B. Hussey, 36 Broad Street. 1860. 85272

Title from Smyth's "Complete Works," vol. 6, in which this tract is reprinted, pp. 623-670. The date on that reproduction of the title is 1840, but this is probably a typographical error for 1860, as, according to p. 658, the "Plea" is "Substantially an Unwritten Address Delivered for the Synodical Society Connected with the Synod of South Carolina, at its Session in Columbia, November, 1859." The author states in some notes dated "August 1860": "I have prepared for press a tract on . . . the support of the Ministry, to which I have appended an Apology or Plea for the liberal maintenance of it, which I composed." See his "Autobiographical Notes," 1914, p. 490.

SMYTH. The Claims of the Free Church of Scotland to the sympathy . . . of American Christians. . . . With a prefatory note by . . . J. G. Lorimer. Edinburgh: J. Johnstone. 1844. 8vo, pp. 32. BM. 85273

For the American editions, see below the "Exodus of the Church of Scotland."

SMYTH. . . . Claims of the Presbyterian Church. By the Rev. Thomas Smyth. Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. *Charleston, S. C.: Published by the Publication Fund of the Second Presbyterian Church, and for sale at the depository, Chambers St. Printed by B. B. Hussey, 36 Broad Street. 1840. 12mo, pp. 38. SMYTH. Collections for Charitable and Religious Purposes, a part of the Service of God, a Means of Grace, and therefore an essential part of Christianity. By Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D. Third Edition. Charleston: James, Williams & Gitsinger. Steam Book Presses, 3 Broad-St., MDCCCLV. 12mo, pp. ix, 54, and printed cover. NYP. 85275

The New York Public Library copy is imperfect, lacking pp. 41-46. According to the preface, "another edition of this pamphlet being required, it is enlarged by a prefatory chapter, and some corrections and additions. It was first printed about eight years since . . ." Probably the first and second editions were printed in 1846 and 1850. See Dr. Smyth's "Autobiographical Notes," pp. 248 and 297.

SMYTH. Complete Works of Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D. Edited by Rev. Prof. J. Wm. Flinn, D.D. New Edition. With Brief Notes and Prefaces. Biographical Sketch in Last Volume. . . . Columbia, S. C. Reprinted by The R. L. Bryan Company. 1908 [-1912.] 10 vols., 8vo, pp. (10), v-xxx, 568, 8, 3, (1); (8), v-285, 284*-285*, 286-568; (8), ii, iii, 590; (8), v-629; (10), vii-643; viii, (2), 7-780; vi, (4), 9-761; (8), 7-782; vi, (2), 7-733; vi, (2), 7-813. C., NYP., UP. 85276

Contains reprints of most of the author's separately published works with their title-pages, and also of his contributions to periodicals. A number of sermons, etc., are here published for the first time. Each volume contains the Editorial Note, "Dr. Smyth's Complete Works comprised in these volumes are published under written instructions left by him. The cost of publication is paid by a fund which he provided. The Editor's work has been confined mainly to proof reading and to occasional recensions of the printed text. The works are re-issued not for the general book-market, but for donation to public libraries. J. Wm. Flinn." The following is added to the preceding note in vol. 10, "After the death of the Rev. Prof. J. Wm. Flinn, D.D., [in 1907] the work of editing these volumes was carried on by his daughter, Jean Adger Flinn, a granddaughter of the Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D." Rev. G. R. Brackett's memoir of Dr. Smyth, "The Christian Warrior Crowned," forms pp. 751-813 of vol. 10.

SMYTH. Forms of Doxology and Benediction with Concluding Prayers. Selected and prepared by the Rev. Thomas Smyth. Charleston, S. C.: Printed B. B. Hussey, 36 Broad Street. [1840?] 85294

Title from the reprint in the author's "Complete Works," vol. 9, pp. 717-733. It would seem that this work was published about the same time as the "Form for the Solemnization of Matrimony," 1841, from the following statement in a letter to Dr. Smyth from Daniel Stewart, dated "Dec. 2 1845": "Permit me to make you my acknowledgements for the package you sent me containing your 'Form of Marriage' and other pamphlets. I have read them with much interest and one of them I carry constantly in my hat. I mean the collection of 'Doxologies and Benedictions.'" See: "Autobiographical Notes," p. 247.

SMYTH. The fundamental Doctrines of Christianity, the true and only required Basis of Charity and united Christian Effort. A Discourse, delivered at Philadelphia, on the twenty-second Anniversary of the American Sunday-School Union, May 17, 1846. WHS. 85296

Title of the first edition from the reprint in the author's "Complete Works," vol. 5, pp. 495-527. The 1851 edition has the following series note stamped on the covers: "Carter's Cabinet Library, fourth series." Dr. Smyth's sermon has the caption title: "God's Providence the just ground of confidence, love and gratitude." Information from Miss Iva A. Welsh. The storm occurred in September, 1846, during Dr. Smyth's return from Great Britain. According to p. 398 of his "Autobiographical Notes," referring to the pamphlet, "The Discourse in it and plan &c., I prepared on board, lying on the Saloon table seats. Mr. Carter [the publisher] was on board."

Binder's title of first edition: "Smyth's Lectures on the Apostolical Succession." Some copies were issued without the advertisements at the end. Mr. Smyth states on p. 221 of his "Autobiographical Notes," "My work on 'Apostolical Succession' be it remembered was the first published in this country, and distinctively in any other, by a presbyterian, and to any great extent by others." According to an Advertisement on the third leaf, the later lectures of this series were issued under the title of "Presbytery and not Prelacy." Information, concerning the last edition, supplied from the reprint of that edition, which forms vol. 1 of the author's "Complete Works." Since the R. L. Bryan Company reissued "Presbytery and not Prelacy" in 1905, it seems probable that they also reissued this work at the same time. On p. 296 of the list of Dr. Smyth's works in his "Autobiographical Notes," 1914, a Glasgow 1844 edition is included, but as the British Museum, the Faculty of Advocates, and the University of Dublin have his other British printed works, and not this, it seems possible, at least, that there was no Glasgow edition actually published, and that the editor of "Autobiographical Notes" assumed there was from the following statement by Dr. Smyth, which appears on p. 217 of the "Autobiographical Notes": "When I arrived in Glasgow in 1844, I found Mr. Collins, . . . had already published my work on Presbytery and Prelacy, and was then reading my work on the Apostolical Succession with a view to publish it." On the final page of advertisements in the author's "Ecclesiastical Catechism," fourth edition, 1844, an abridged edition of this work prepared by the Rev. Joseph Tracy is mentioned as "preparing for publication," but we have been unable to prove that such an edition was ever issued by locating a copy. On the leaf facing the half title of Smyth's "Unity of the Human Races," 1850, appears a list of "Works by the same Author," which includes "Apostolical Succession. 8vo. Boston. 1842," but it seems probable that this is an error for 1841, as we have found no other record of an 1842 edition.

SMYTH. Presbyterianism, the Revolution, the Declaration, and the Constitution. By Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D. [Columbia. 1848.] 8vo, cover title, slip of errata, and pp. 47.

AAS., C., NYP., PTS. 85313

A separate from the "Southern Presbyterian Review," vol. 1, no. 4, 1848, pp. 33-79. "And we believe further, that all the essential principles which lie at the basis of the Government of the United States . . . are clearly and prominently presented in the system of doctrine and government adopted by the Presbyterian Church . . .," p. 2. See also Dr. Smyth's earlier article, "The True Origin and Source of the Mecklenburg and National Declaration of Independence." According to S. B. Weeks's "Bibliography of the Historical Literature of North Carolina," 1895, a supplementary notice of the Mecklenburg Declaration printed in the "Southern Presbyterian Review" for March, 1849, was evidently furnished by the same author. "It gives Mr. Bancroft's letter of July 4, 1848, to Gov. Swain, also extracts from two letters from an Episcopalian correspondent who approves the idea that the Mecklenburg and National Declaration had a common origin in the teachings and examples of the Scotch reformers and English Puritans."

SMYTH. Presbytery and not Prelacy the Scriptural and Primitive Polity, proved from the testimonies of scripture; the fathers; the schoolmen; the reformers; and the English and Oriental churches. Although we have been unable to locate any issues earlier than the 1846, it would seem evident from the following note by the editor in "Autobiographical Notes," p. 335, that there were at least two earlier editions: "Dr. Smyth's two sermons [on the death of his two daughters, Sarah Ann and Susan, in 1837] became a tiny book, 'Solace for Bereaved Parents,' which was revised and added to on the death of the second son, Augustine, [in 1841] . . ." On p. 300 of "Autobiographical Notes," "N. Y., Chas., 1840, 1848" are given as imprints. The work is listed in the advertisements at the end of "Ecclesiastical Republicanism," 1843. The 1846 edition was copyrighted in 1846, and the preface is dated: "Charleston, Dec. 1845." The author in some notes dated "August 1860" made the following statement: "continued preparations for a new and altogether revised edition of Bereaved Parents, the stereotype plates of which I now hold back from printing." See Smyth's "Autobiographical Notes," 1914, p. 490. We have been unable to locate any editions later than the 1852.

"On occasion of preaching my two Discourses on the opening of the new Theatre in 1838 there was great excitement, as they were advertised and preached before the evening of its opening, and the work alluded to in them had been going on during that very Sabbath. I was threatened with an assault if I preached the Second in the evening. A few of my people, Mr. Fanning among the number, insisted on accompanying me home, which we reached without any interruption. In view of preaching on that occasion I endeavoured to secure a cooperation of ministers, especially our own, in preaching on the subject in their own pulpits or on a union occasion, but all declined. Two scurrilous replies were attempted. Mr. Abbott the manager however, as was told, discouraged them, saying that a heavy blow had been struck & they had better not provoke another." The six tracts have separate title-pages and paginations, in addition to the main pagination, and were evidently also issued separately. See above the following titles: "Claims of the Presbyterian Church;" second edition of "The Eldership of the Presbyterian Church;" "A Form of Public Christian Confession;" "Claims of the Christian Ministry;" "The late Charleston Union Presbytery;" and, "The Ecclesiastical Catechism." According to the preface of the first tract, the "Publication Fund of the Second Presbyterian Church, in Charleston, has been commenced for the purpose of publishing such Discourses, Tracts, or Essays, as its funds may warrant, and which may be adapted to communicate to its own members, and to those who may desire information, a correct knowledge, and where necessary, a just defence of the true principles of Presbyterian polity and doctrine."

Title from "Autobiographical Notes," 1914, p. 300. Not reprinted in the author's "Complete Works."

SMYTH. The True Origin and Source of the Mecklenburg and National Declaration of Independence. (Extracted from the Southern Presbyterian Review, by request.) By Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D. Columbia, S. C. I. C. Morgan, Printer. 1847. 8vo, pp. 29, and printed cover. AAS., HEH., NYP., P., PTS., WHS., WLC. 85333

A reprint of the greater part of the author's article in the "Southern Presbyterian Review," vol. 1, no. 2, 1847, pp. 30-57, which reviewed W. H. Foote's "Sketches of North Carolina," 1847. The same type was used, but the lines in the first few pages rearranged. On p. [3]: "To the Reader. With the Introductory Remarks, the following argument was substantially delivered by the Author to his Congregation on Sabbath morning, July 4th, 1847, and was, by many of them, requested for publication. As however, it was written for the Review, it was given to it, and appears in a separate form by permission of the Editors. The Author would only further state, that he was encouraged to present the argument to the public by the favor with which a partial presentation of it was received by the Literary Club of Charleston, to whom he had submitted it." Mr. Smyth declares that the spirit and the wording of both the Mecklenburg and National Declaration of Independence were much influenced by the "Confessions, Covenants and Bands, adopted by our Presbyterian forefathers in Scotland and in Ireland." See also, Winsor, vol. 6, pp. 256-257. For a further treatment of the subject, see Dr. Smyth's "Presbyterianism, the Revolution," etc., above.

SMYTH. . . . Two Discourses on the occasion of the Great Fire in Charleston, on Friday night, April 27th, 1838. Delivered in the Second Presbyterian Church, on Sabbath, May 6, 1838. By the Rev. Thomas Smyth. With an Appendix. Charleston: Published by John P. Beile, bookseller, No. 296 King-street. 1838. [Verso of title:] Printed by Jas. S. Burges, No. 85 East-Bay. 8vo, pp. 40, and printed covers. Map of Charleston, showing the burned district, on inside of back cover. C., NYH., PTS. 85334

With heading: "(Second Edition.)" The appendix, pp. 23-40, contains an account of the fire from the Charleston Courier, a list of buildings destroyed, the action taken by the Council and Mayor, and a list of donations.

SMYTH. Union to Christ, and to His Church; or, the duty and privilege of all to believe in Christ, to confess Christ, and to become communing members of the Church of Christ. By the Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Charleston, South Carolina. Edinburgh: W. P. Kennedy, St. Andrew St. Glasgow: D. Bryce. London: Hamilton, Adam and Co. Dublin: W. Curry, Jun. and Co. MDCCCXLVI. [Verso of title:] Edinburgh: Andrew Jack, Printer, Niddry Street. 12mo. BM. 85335

Title from the author's "Complete Works," vol. 6, in which this tract is reprinted, pp. 31-88. According to his "Autobiographical Notes," p. 315, this work, which "constituted the nucleus, and is in substance embodied in 'The Well in the Valley,'" was written during his voyage to Great Britain in 1846.

SMYTH. The Unity of the Human Races proved to be the doctrine of Scripture, Reason, and Science. With a review of the present position and theory of Professor Agassiz. By the Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D., member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. . . . New-York: George P. Putnam, 155 Broadway. 1850. [Verso of title:] John F. Trow, Printer, 49, 51 & 53 Ann-st. 8vo, advertisements (2), xxvi, [13]-404.

AAS., B., C., NYP., P., PTS. 85336

According to p. 221 of Dr. Smyth's "Autobiographical Notes," "It was certainly timely and needed, for it very soon, though published at $3, was out of print, it has been so for many years, and is now [1859] sought after from abroad."

SMYTH. The Unity of the Human Races proved to be the doctrine of Scripture, Reason, and Science: with a review of the present position and theory of Professor Agassiz. By Thomas Smyth, D.D., member of the British and American Associations for the Advancement of Science. From the American edition, revised and enlarged by the author. . . . Edinburgh: Johnstone and Hunter. M.DCCC.LI. [Colophon:] Edinburgh: Printed by Johnstone and Hunter, High Street. 8vo, Introductory Letters and Opinions of the Press pp. 27, viii, (2), 408, list of books (2). Frontispiece portrait and 2 plates.

B., NYP., PTS. 85337

In the Preface to the English Edition, which is dated, Edinburgh, September 1851, the author states that "The whole work has been rearranged, with the addition of two new chapters at the beginning of the volume, and several valuable additions . . . A few pages of matter irrelevant to the general question discussed, have been omitted, and the Inquiry into the Former Civilization of Black Races, has been thrown into an Appendix, in order that differences of opinion on that subject may not affect the reader's judgment of the direct arguments of the work. And that the book may not appear to force itself rudely upon the notice of the British public, some Introductory Letters from eminent men who have examined it, are prefixed." The portrait of Dr. Smyth has the inscription, W. & A. K. Johnston, Sc., and is reproduced as the frontispiece for his "Autobiographical Notes."

SMYTH. The Voice of God in Calamity: or, Reflections on the Loss of the Steam-Boat Home, October 9, 1837. A Sermon: delivered in the Second Presbyterian Church, Charleston, On Sabbath morning, October 22, 1837: By the Rev. Thomas Smyth, Pastor. Charleston: Printed and Published by Jenkins & Hussey, No. 36, Broad-Street. 1837. 8vo, pp. 32, and printed covers., HEH., P., PTS., UTS. + Second Edition. [Same imprint, date and collation.] UTS. + Fourth Edition. [Same imprint, date and collation.]

B., H., NYP. 85338

The text of all the editions listed are from the same setting of type with slight variations in the preliminary pages. The appendix, pp. 23-31, contains an account of the loss of the "Home" on its voyage from New York to Charleston, written by Mr. B. B. Hussey, one of the passengers. Lists of passengers, saved and lost, are found on p. 32. Notice on back cover: "Should any profits arise from the sale of this Sermon, they will be given (as most appropriate to the subject,) to that most useful and benevolent Institution, the Charleston Port Society, to assist in the erection of the new Seamen's Chapel."

SMYTH. The War of the South Vindicated and The War against the South Condemned. A Discourse Preached on Occasion of the Appointment by the Now Sectionalized General Assembly of the O. S. Presbyterian Church of the Fourth of July as a Day of Prayer for the Lincoln Usurpation. By Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D. [Charleston? 1861?]

Title from the reprint in the author's "Complete Works," vol. 7, pp. 563-698, which includes many relevant proceedings and newspaper articles. Although on p. 299 of his "Autobiographical Notes," Charleston 1861 is given as the imprint of this work, we have been unable to locate any separate issue. The discourse was delivered in 1861, but it is possible that it was never printed until it appeared in the "Southern Presbyterian Review" for April, 1863, vol. 15, pp. 479-514.

PTS. 85340

The first edition was copyrighted in 1857, and advertised in the "American Publishers' Circular," April 25, 1857, while the later edition was copyrighted in 1860. According to Dr. Smyth's "Autobiographical Notes," p. 315, his Union to Christ "constituted the nucleus, and is in substance embodied in 'The Well in the Valley.'"

SMYTH. Why Do I Live? By the Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Charleston, South Carolina. Published by the American Tract Society, 150 Nassau-Street, New York. [1857.] 16mo, pp. 206. AAS., PTS., Y. 85341

Advertised in the "American Publishers' Circular" for March 21, 1857. In Dr. Smyth's earliest publications his name appears on the title-pages spelled with an "i." According to his "Autobiographical Notes," p. 4, "My Father changed his name to Smith, but, as he told me, without any reason except for the trouble of the letter y. The old family Bible still preserves my Grandfather's name in his constant orthography of Smyth. . . . I resumed the y in 1837 while at the General Assembly at Pittsburgh."

Dr. Smyth edited in 1833 a few numbers of the "Missionary Paper No. II [etc.] Charleston Juvenile Missionary Society June 1833" [etc.] Charleston. Observer Office Press. 1833, according to "Autobiographical Notes," p. 139. He was also a contributor to the "American Messenger," "Baltimore Literary and Religious Magazine," "Biblical Repertory and Princeton Review," "Central Presbyterian," "New York Observer," "Southern Presbyterian Review," and several other religious periodicals. *Also: The Christian Warrior Crowned. Professor Smyth was the author of several other works, including a series of lectures on the French Revolution, and "English Lyrics," the fifth edition of which, published in 1850, contains a memoir of the author by his brother, Rev. Thomas Smyth, according to the biographical sketch in the "Dictionary of National Biography."

[SMYTH (William), Editor, b. 1797, d. 1868.] Advocate of Freedom. . . . Vol. I. Brunswick, Maine, Thursday, March 8, 1838. No. 1. . . . Semi-Monthly. Published under the direction of the executive committee of the Maine Anti-Slavery Society. Thomas W. Newman, Printer, No. 2, Forsaith's Block. [Brunswick. 1838.] Folio, pp. 4. Continued. BOWDOIN. 85345

Professor Smyth was the Corresponding Secretary of the Maine Anti-Slavery Society at this time, and, according to A. S. Packard in his "Address" on the former, 1868, p. 20, he edited the "Advocate" for one year. After the completion of the first volume, the journal was issued weekly, and beginning with vol. 2, no. 23, September 28, 1839, the name of Austin Willey appears as editor.

Vol. 1, nos. 1-25, March 8, 1838-February 21, 1839, were printed at Brunswick by Thomas W. Newman; vol. 2, nos. 1-14, April 25-July 25, 1839, at Augusta, by William Noyes; vol. 2, nos. 15-51, August 3, 1839-April 11, 1840, at Augusta, by Thomas E. Noyes; vol. 2, no. 52-vol. 3, no. 52, April 18, 1840-April 29, 1841, at Hallowell, by Thomas W. Newman. An extra number was issued June 12, 1841, after which the "Advocate of Liberty" was succeeded by the "Liberty Standard," edited by Joseph C. Lovejoy, and printed weekly at Hallowell, by Thomas W. Newman, the first number appearing July 12, 1841. According to the prospectus on page 3 of the first number of the "Advocate," the journal was intended to explain and defend the principles held by the society and the measures approved by it, to be a vehicle of the anti-slavery intelligence of the day, and a repository of facts and arguments on the subject of slavery and the measures for its speedy and peaceful removal. Title and information from Kenneth J. Boyer. Professor Smyth was also the author of several textbooks on mathematics, a number of which are listed in Williamson's "Bibliography of the State of Maine," 1896. For a biographical sketch, see the following title improved from the note on our no. 58096, vol. 14: Address on the life and character of William Smyth, D.D., late professor of mathematics and natural philosophy in Bowdoin College; delivered before the alumni of the college, July 7, 1868; by Alpheus S. Packard, D.D. Brunswick: Joseph Griffin. 1868. 8vo, pp. 37, and printed cover. Frontispiece portrait. c., uts.

SMYTH (W[illiam]), b. 1800, d. 1877, and LOWE (F.). Narrative of a Journey from Lima to Para, across the Andes and down the Amazon: undertaken with a view of ascertaining the practicability of a navigable communication with the Atlantic, by the rivers Pachitea, Ucayali, and Amazon. With title heading: "Smythe's School Grammar." In a letter to Dr. Wiley, dated July 27, 1864, Mr. Smythe referred to his "First Latin Book," the printing of which was then being done by "Hufham," of the Biblical Recorder, in Raleigh. See Weeks's "Confederate Text-Books," 1900, p. 1152. According to the biographical sketch in Leonard's "History of Catawba College," 1927, pp. 70-72, Professor Smythe was professor of mathematics and science in that institution before starting his own private high school in Lexington. His full name and the date of his death are taken from the "General Catalogue of Bowdoin College," 1912, p. 147.

According to J. W. Albright's "Greensboro," 1904, pp. 79-80, "In 1861 Richard Sterling and Jas. D. Campbell, . . . formed a copartnership with Jas. W. Albright—who had to suspend The Times for want of mail facilities, putting his printing office into a company known as Sterling, Campbell & Albright, book publishers and printers. In February, 1862, the firm purchased an Adams book press in Columbia, S. C., and an improved Ramage hand press in New Orleans. No engine could be had to run the Adams press, and a horse-power made by A. P. Boren, near Pomona, for running cane-mills and threshing-machines, was purchased and placed in position in the rear of the printing office, which was in the brick building 218 West Market street. A horse was purchased—C. F. Thomas, now one of Greensboro's leading job printers, was a lad and acted as motorman. Thus equipped, with Joseph H. Fetzer, Wm. H. Curtis, and D. N. Sherwood as printers, the work of issuing books began . . . There was no limit to the sale, as few other school books were printed in those troublesome days—and there were many thousands of each book printed. . . . The greatest trouble the firm had was to get paper—white rags not being on the market save for hospitals. Much of the paper was made at the Salem and Wake Forest Mills, and mostly from raw cotton, damaged chiefly by water or fire in its owner's effort to keep it out of harm's way. The firm sent J. J. Ayers, a Frenchman who was a teacher in Edgeworth Female Seminary, to Liverpool, England, where he had the books stereotyped and succeeding in getting them back on the Advance on its first return trip from the Bermudas."

SMYTHE (H[enry]). Historical Sketch of Parker County and Weatherford, Texas. By H. Smythe. St. Louis: Louis C. Lavat, Book and Job Printer, 16 South Fifth Street. 1877. 12mo, advertisements pp. xvi, vii, 476. C., HEH., HSP., NYP., WHS. 85356

Mr. Smythe's first name is supplied from Raines's "Bibliography of Texas," 1895. According to Mr. Raines's collation, (pp. 441, 35,) the "Directory of Weatherford" and the index, (pp. 443-476,) must have been paged separately in the copy he described. The journal kept on General Sherman's tour of inspection through Texas in 1871 by Inspector General R. B. Marcy forms pp. 250-264. H. Smythe is listed in the directory as "editor Weatherford Times."

[SMYTHE (James M.).] Ethel Somers; or, The Fate of the Union. By a Southerner. Augusta, Ga. H. D. Norrell. 1857. 12mo, pp. 382. C. 85357

Copyrighted by James M. Smythe, who was editor of the "Daily Chronicle and Sentinel" of Augusta for several years. See Jones and Dutcher's "Memorial History" of that city, 1890, pp. 287-289, which contain an account of Augusta journalism "written some few years since by Colonel . . . Smythe."

SMYTHE (Samuel). Strokes and Strictures. By Samuel Smythe. . . . Boston: Office of the New England Galaxy. No. 8, Congress Street. 1830. 16mo, pp. 15 BA. 85358

On p. 15: "End of Part I." Probably no more published, as we have been unable to locate any additional parts. The pamphlet is "a diatribe on the pursuit of Mammon as exemplified in American manners of the time," according to Miss Elinor Gregory, who supplied the title. According to W. J. Snelling's "Truth," 1831, p. 10, "I ought to mention here, for the benefit of those who are so unhappy as not to have seen the production, that a very kind and gentle satire was published in Boston some months since, with the title of 'Strokes and Strictures.' It purported to be by Alexander Smythe [an evident mistake for Samuel Smythe], but was written by [Rufus] D[a]wes. It was not puffed, even by the Traveller!"

[SMYTHE (William Herbert).] The Bible and the Common Schools, or The question settled. By the author of "The Church, Rome and Dissent." . . . Detroit: John H. Caine & Co. New York: Pott & Amery, E. P. Dutton & Co. Chicago: Mitchell

Copyrighted in 1870 by W. Herbert Smythe.

SMYTHE. A Treatise on the relations of the Church, Rome and Dissent, being amicably discussed by the Rev'd. W. Herbert Smythe; incumbent of Christ Church, Tamworth. Published: Kingston, John Creighton: New York, H. B. Durand. [1867. Colophon:] Printed by Henry ‡ Bro., Book and Job Printers, Napanee, Ontario. 12mo, pp. (8), [7]–72, 61–327, errata (1). GTS. 85360

Copyrighted in 1867, and dated on p. 327: "St. Andrew's Day, 1867." According to a biographical sketch of the author's son, Edward H. Smythe, in Rose's "Cyclopædia of Canadian Biography," 1886, p. 305, the former was "of the diocese of Huron, and subsequently of Tamworth, diocese of Ontario." The author's first name is supplied from Morgan's "Canadian Men and Women of the Time," 1898, p. 955.

[SNAGG (William), editor, d. 1878.] The Laws of Antigua: consisting of the Acts of the Leeward Islands in force in Antigua and the Acts of Antigua from 20 Car. 2., 1668, to 28 Vict., 1864, with table of acts, index of subject matter, and alphabetical index. By Authority. London: Printed by George E. Eyre and William Spottiswoode, Printers to the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty. 1865. 4to, pp. xxxi, 859, (1). C., H., NYP. 85361

According to the preface, pp. iii–iv, which is signed by the commissioners, W. Snagg, John Gray, R. Weston Mara, G. C. Davis, and E. D. Baynes, the work was supervised by "Sir W. Snagg, the Chief Justice of the Colony."

SNAGG. The Laws of Grenada, and the Grenadines; from the year 1766, to the year 1852: with a table of acts, and a tabular and general index. Edited by William Snagg, Esq., of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; Her Majesty's Attorney-General for Grenada. Printed for, and under the direction of, D. J. Davison, Public Printer of Grenada. 1852. [Verso of title:] Leonard Seeley, Printer, Thames Ditton, Surrey. 8vo, pp. xxxvi, 552. C., H., NYP. 85362

The preface contains an account of earlier compilations of Grenada laws. According to the biographical sketch in Oliver's "History of the Island of Antigua," vol. 3, 1899, p. 321, Justice Snagg died April 17, 1878, aged 71, at Cleveland, Demerara.

The Snake in the Grass. London. 1696. BM. 85363

This and the following are improved titles of our entry under the author, Charles Leslie, no. 40195, vol. 10. Leslie attempts to refute the doctrines of George Fox and other early Quakers, as well as their later interpretation by William Penn and his contemporaries. There are a number of incidental references to the Quakers in America. Two replies were made: George Whitehead's "Antidote," 1697, and Joseph Wyeth's "Anguis Flagellatus," 1699. For Leslie's defences, see the supplement to the second edition of "Snake in the Grass," and nos. 40196 and 40197, vol. 10.

Snatch Fleeting Pleasures | A Favorite Song Translated from the German. | New York Printed & Sold by G. Gilfert. No. 177 Broadway. | [1798?] Broadside. NYP. 85371

G. Gilfert's address is given as 177 Broadway in the New York City directories for 1797-1802. The original German song is entitled "Gesellschaft" and begins "Freut euch des Lebens." The words and melody were composed by Martin Usteri and Hans Georg Nägeli, respectively, in 1793, and were printed together in the "Musenalmanach" for 1796, p. 27. See Böhme's "Volksthümliche Lieder der Deutschen," 1895, pp. 230-231.

History of the Third Georgia Regiment, and the career of its first commander, Gen. Ambrose R. Wright. Augusta, Ga.: Chronicle and Sentinel Job Printing Establishment. 1874. 8vo, pp. 11, and printed cover. HEH. 85373

Title supplied by Willard O. Waters. The dates of the author's birth and death are taken from a transcript in L. L. Knight's "Georgia's Landmarks, Memorials and Legends," 1914, vol. 2, p. 332, of the inscription on Judge Sned's tombstone in the city cemetery at Augusta. For a biographical sketch, see St. Clair-Abrams's "Manual and Biographical Register of the State of Georgia," 1872, pp. 89-90.

SNEAD (Thomas L[owndes]), b. 1828, d. 1890. The Fight for Missouri. From the election of Lincoln to the death of Lyon. By Thomas L. Sned, A.D.C. of the Governor; acting Adjutant-General of the Missouri State Guard; Chief of Staff of the Army of the West; Member of the Confederate Congress. With maps. New York. Charles Scribner's Sons. 1886. [Verso of title:] Press of J. J. Little & Co. Astor Place, New York. 12mo, pp. viii, 322, list of books (6). 2 maps, one of which is folded. AAS., B., C., H., HEH., MINN.HS., NYP., UP., UTEX., WHS. + [Same title and imprint.] 1888. 12mo, pp. xiv, 322, list of books (6). 2 maps, one of which is folded. C., CU., MINN.HS. 85374

The same stereotype plates were used for the 1888 edition with a table of contents, pp. ix-xiv, added. According to the biographical sketch of Colonel Snead by Edward A. Allen in "Library of Southern Literature," vol. 11, 1909, p. 5009, this work was intended as "the first volume of a projected history of the war in the trans-Mississippi department." He also states that the former was the editor and proprietor of the St. Louis Bulletin from 1860-1861, and managing editor of the "New York Daily News" from 1865-1866. Mr. Paul in his "Memorial," listed below, adds that he was connected with the establishment of the "Globe" in New York, and published several anonymous and pseudonymous books, among them a "Life of Washington." He also contributed three articles to Johnson and Buel's "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War," 1887-1888, and a sketch of Alexander William Doniphan to the "Magazine of American History," vol. 13, 1885, pp. 187-193.

Ye Sneak yclepid Copperhead. A satirical poem. . . Philadelphia: A. Winch, 505 Chestnut St.; Willis P. Hazard, 724 Chestnut St.; F. Leyboldt, 1323 Chestnut St. 1863. 18mo, pp. 30, and printed cover.

B., H., HSP., PRINCETON, WHS. 85375

According to a letter to Mr. S. A. Chevalier of the Boston Public Library from Mr. A. P. C. Griffin of the Library of Congress, dated December 9, 1920: "The Copyright records show that the work* [Ye Sneak yclepid Copperhead] referred to in your letter of November 19, was entered on July 30, 1863 by Rev. I. J. Stine as author." Joseph Jackson states in his "Bibliography of the Works of Charles Godfrey Leland," 1927, p. 42: "Although this work was issued anonymously, it is not only known that Leland was its author, but the copy in the library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, bears an autographic inscription from him, presenting it to the institution." Two copies in HSP. have been examined, but on neither has been found this inscription. Since Mr. Jackson also states that the work was illustrated by Leland, this may account for the presentation inscription.

SNEDECOR (V[ictoria] Gayle), b. 1824, d. 1888. A Directory of Greene County for 1855-6, embracing the names of voters in the County generally, alphabetically arranged, their occupation, residence and post office; numerous tables of County statistics, a short sketch of the early settlement of the County; advertisements, &c. &c. [SNEED (Achilles).] To the People of Kentucky. [Colophon:] Robinson, pr. Kentucky. [1825.] 8vo, pp. 37.

BA., C. 85376

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. Signed on p. 37: "Achilles Sneed. Frankfort, Ky. June, 1825." A protest against the "new Court party" of Kentucky, which had attempted to reorganize the old Court of Appeals. Mr. Sneed had been for many years clerk of the Court. For an account of the controversy and the final triumph of the "old Court party," see Connelley and Coulter's "History of Kentucky," 1922, vol. 2, pp. 630-646. A letter from Mr. Sneed to Thomas Jefferson, dated "Ky., Frankfort, April 20th, 1825," forms pp. 292-294 of W. C. Ford's "Thomas Jefferson Correspondence," 1916. He pleads with the former president to make clear his views on the subject, declaring that the opposition has misinterpreted some of Jefferson's writings. The editor states that no reply is known. However, Jefferson writes in a letter to George Thompson, dated "Monticello, June 22, 25," in his "Correspondence," pp. 294-295, that he does not wish to take sides in the Kentucky question at his advanced age.

According to Chief Justice Robertson's statement in Collins's "History of Kentucky," 1874, vol. 1, p. 498, Mr. Sneed was the editor of the "Decisions of the Court of Appeals of the State of Kentucky, from March 1, 1801, to Jan. 18th, 1805," Frankfort, 1805, which was the first of the official series of Kentucky reports. A second edition was prepared by H. Myers and published in Cincinnati in 1869.

SNEED (John L[ouis] T[aylor]), b. 1820, d. 1901. The Issues of the Presidential Election. Speech of John L. T. Sneed, Of Shelby County, Tenn. Delivered at Somerville, Tennessee, August 23rd, 1884. . . . Knoxville, Tenn.: Mitchell & Jackson, Printers. 1884. 8vo, cover title, and pp. 27. NYP. 85377

SNEED. Tennessee and her bondage. A vindication and a warning. Speech of Hon. John L. T. Sneed, of Shelby County, on the state debt question. Delivered at La Grange, Tenn., Nov. 26, 1881. Memphis, Tenn.: Printed at the office of the Public Ledger. 1881. 8vo, pp. 16, and printed cover. c. 85378

Mr. Sneed, as State Reporter, edited the five volumes of the Tennessee "Reports" for the years 1853-4 to 1857-8, Nashville, 1855-1859, which were later reissued with other volumes of the Tennessee Reports.

SNEED (William C.), d. 1862. A Report on the History and Mode of Management of the Kentucky Penitentiary, from its origin, in 1798, to March 1, 1860. Prepared by William C. Sneed, M.D., of Frankfort, Ky., former president of the Kentucky State Medical Society, member of the American Medical Association, one of the surgeons to the Ky. Penitentiary, &c., &c. Ordered to be printed by the Senate of Kentucky, at the session of 1859-60. Frankfort, Ky.: Printed at the Yeoman Office. Jno. B. Major, State Printer. 1860. 8vo, pp. viii, 614. 2 portraits and 4 plates.

C., H., NYP., UTEX. 85379

According to the biographical note in Johnson's "History of Franklin County, Ky.," 1912, p. 159, Dr. Sneed "contributed many valuable articles to leading medical journals."

SNELGRAVE (William). A New | Account | Of some Parts of | Guinea, | And the Slave-Trade, | containing | I. The History of the late Conquest of the | Kingdom of Whidaw by the King of Dahomè. | The Author's Journey to the Conqueror's | Camp; where he saw several Captives sacri- | ficed, &c. | II. Folded map. B., C., JCB., NYP., PEAB. 85380*

Pages 82-83, 86-87, 90-91, and 94-95 are wrongly numbered 66-67, 70-71, 74-75, and 78-79, respectively. The map has the inscription: "A New Map of that part of Africa called the Coast of Guinea From the River Senegal in Lattd. 16d. No: To Cape Lopez in 1d. 00'. So. with the Inland Countries from the Sea so far as the Great Rivers, Senegal and Niger." The author makes several references to his trips to "Antegoa," i.e., Antigua, in connection with the slave trade.

A condensation forms pp. 485-519 of Astley's "A New General Collection of Voyages and Travels," vol. 2, 1745; a French and a German translation of this summary appear in Prévost's "Histoire générale des voyages," vol. 4, 1747, pp. 548-611, and "Allgemeine Historie der Reisen zu Wasser und Lande," vol. 3, 1748, pp. 538-594, respectively. A reprint of the French translation is found in Walckenaer's "Collection des relations de voyages . . . en différentes parties de l'Afrique," 1842, vol. 8, pp. 385-510. A summary of Snelgrave's experiences with the pirates is found in Ellis's "West African Stories," 1890, pp. 188-217. Dow in his "Slave Ships and Slaving," 1927, pp. 113-131, devotes a chapter to Captain Snelgrave, including long extracts from the "Account." Boucher de la Richarderie and Watt mention a London edition of 1727, which we have been unable to locate, and there is nothing in the 1734 issue to suggest an earlier publication, while there are several references to occurrences of a later date than 1727.

SNELGRAVE. Nouvelle Relation de quelques endroits de la Guinée, et du commerce d'esclaves qui s'y fait, contenant, 1°. l'histoire de la dernière conquête du royaume de Juida, par le roi de Dahomé; le voyage de l'auteur au camp de ce conquérant, qui y fit sacrifier plusieurs esclaves, etc. . . . : 2°. la manière dont les nègres deviennent esclaves, le nombre que l'on en transporte tous les ans de Guinée en Amérique: 3°. la relation de tout ce qui est arrivé à l'auteur, lorsqu'il fut pris par les pirates, et de plusieurs autres dangers auxquels il s'est exposé: traduit de l'anglais du capitaine Guillaume Snelgrave en français, par A. P. de Coulanger. Amsterdam. 1765. 12mo. Map. 85382

Title from Boucher de la Richarderie's "Bibliothèque universelle des voyages," vol. 4, 1808, p. 145. A copy advertised in an old catalogue of a French bookseller is said to contain a map. It is possible that the author of this work was the William Snellgrave, of the Navy Office, whose death on November 20, 1763, is noted in the "Gentleman's Magazine," vol. 33, 1763, p. 566.

A factitious title, based on the following statement in Cushing's "Discourse" on Dr. Snell, 1862, p. 25: "Dr. Snell experienced a paralytic shock, April 15, 1855. His sermon on the sixtieth anniversary of his settlement was preached more than three years afterward, (June 27, 1858,) and was the only one which he attempted to write after that calamity had befallen him. Learning that this discourse was not altogether satisfactory to his people, and thinking that it must have been misunderstood, he had a small edition printed; but, perceiving afterward that there were sentences in it which were liable to an interpretation which he did not anticipate or intend, he suppressed the edition."

SNELL. A Sermon, delivered By Rev. Dr. Snell, on the last Sabbath in June, 1838, which completed the fortieth year of his ministry; containing a Brief History of the Town, and especially of the Church and Parish, of North Brookfield, from 1798 to the present time. . . . *Brookfield: E. and L. The preface is signed: "Clarissa. Boston, December, 1850." On the title page of the Harvard copy is written in pencil, "By Miss Snelling, of Boston." Cushing also attributes the work to her. The Harvard copy has the collation, pp. (4), 13-79, but Mr. Currier states that from an examination of the signatures he believes the collation of a perfect copy would be pp. 79.

SNELLING (Anna L.). Kabaosa; or, the Warriors of the West. A Tale of the Last War. By Mrs. Anna L. Snelling. . . . New-York: Printed for the publisher by D. Adee. 1842. 12mo, pp. 320.

2 plates. B., C., HEH., MINN.HS., NYP., WHS. + London: Bruce and Wyld. 1846. 8vo, pp. 112. [Colophon:] Printed by Bruce and Wyld, 84, Farringdon-street. C. 85411

The story deals with the war of 1812 and is "laid in the country bordering on Lakes Michigan, Erie, and St. Clair." Copyrighted by Henry H[unt] Snelling, the husband of the author. According to a sketch of his mother in Ellet's "Pioneer Women of the West," 1873, p. 334, he married "Miss Putnam, the sister of the publisher, a lady of high literary ability and intelligence." She was a frequent contributor to the "Photographic Art Journal," which was edited by Mr. Snelling. According to information from George Haven Putnam, a nephew, Mrs. Snelling "died in New York about 1859." The "Conclusion," pp. 314-320 of the first edition, is signed "H. H. S.," and was, according to the last page, previously printed in the "Boston Notion." It relates a conversation between Kabaosa and Mr. Snelling in 1831 near Detroit. At end of the preface in the second edition: "The Novel Newspaper.—No. 460."

[SNELLING (George Henry), b. 1801, d. 1892.] . . . Memorial To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Memorial of the undersigned, an Inhabitant of the City of Boston, respectfully represents: [Boston. 1859.] 8vo, pp. 16. C., H., NYP. 85412

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1, preceded by the words: "Senate—No. 186. Commonwealth of Massachusetts." Signed on p. 9: "Geo. H. Snelling. Boston, April 5, 1859." Pp. 10-16 contain two letters from Edward Jarvis. Reprinted on pp. 1-10 of the two issues of the following title.

According to M. A. D. Howe's "Boston," 1924, pp. 358-359, this "plea, embodying the belief that 'water is to the landscape what the eye is to the face,' was that the plan of the Commissioners should be modified by substituting for Commonwealth Avenue and the house-lots on each side of it a broad basin of water running east and west through the lands of the state. The prevalence of southwest winds in summer was warmly urged as a reason for leaving this space unfilled. The plan received the cordial support of certain newspapers and men of influence. A letter from Charles Sumner expressed his gratitude for Mr. Snelling's 'timely intervention to save our Boston Common, by keeping it open to the western breezes and to the setting sun.' But the Common was reserved for subsequent salvations, and the Commissioners' plan remained unaltered."

[SNELLING.] Proposed Modification of the plan of building on the Back Bay Territory. Boston: Printed by Damrell & Moore, 16 Devonshire Street, 1860. 8vo, cover title, pp. viii, 30. Frontispiece. A note on p. [i] of the first edition states that a series of books for children on travel by Solomon Bell is to appear, including one volume which will "exhibit the Polar Regions, and detail the substance of the several narratives of Parry, Franklin, Lyon, &c." As the "Polar Regions," 1831, has Snelling's name on the title page, it is probable that the other volumes in this series were also by him. The map has the inscription: "Copyright secured by S. G. Goodrich 1830. Geo. Boynton Sc." The title of the 1836 edition was supplied by Miss Isabel L. Henderson from a copy in the Brooklyn Public Library. "Tales of Travels in the north of Europe," 1831, AAS., C., and "Tales of Travel in Central Africa," 1831, B., H. also belong to the series. In the preface of the former the author states that he was a soldier and fought in the battle of Tippecanoe, which facts would seem to fit Mr. Snelling.

SNELLING. Trial of William J. Snelling, for a libel on the Honorable Benjamin Whitman, Senior Judge of the Police Court. Commonwealth vs. Snelling. Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, December 27th, 1833. Before the Hon. Samuel Putnam, Justice. Honorable James T. Austin, Attorney General, and Samuel D. Parker, County Attorney for the Commonwealth. Franklin Dexter and Samuel E. Sewall, Esquires, for the Defendant. . . . Boston: Printed for the Reporter. MDCCCXXXIV. [Verso of title:] John Emmes Dill, Printer, Cornhill, Boston. 8vo, pp. 82, erratum (1). C., H., MHS., NYH. 85430

Mr. Snelling was pronounced guilty of publishing a libel against Judge Whitman in the New England Galaxy of May 11, 1833, and at a second trial in the March, 1834, term of court, the same verdict was returned.

[SNELLING.] Truth; A New Year's Gift for Scribblers. . . . Boston: Printed by Stephen Foster. 1831. 16mo, pp. 52, small slip of errata between pp. 50 and 51.

AAS., B., C., H., HEH., NYP., UTEX. 85431

A satire on contemporary poets, including Whittier, Richard Penn Smith, and N. P. Willis. The latter replied in the Statesman, according to S. G. Goodrich's "Recollections of a Lifetime," 1856, vol. 2, p. 267, with the following lines, quoted from Warner and Foote's "History of Hennepin County," 1881, p. 97.

"Oh, smelling Joseph! Thou art like a cur.
I'm told thou once did live by hunting fur:
Of bigger dogs thou smellest, and, in sooth,
Of one extreme, perhaps, can tell the truth.
'Tis a wise shift, and shows thou know'st thy powers,
To leave the 'North West tales,' and take to smelling ours."

[SNELLING.] Truth, a Gift for Scribblers; with additions and emendments. Second edition. . . . Boston: Printed for the Author. 1831. 8vo, pp. v, (2), 51. B., H. 85432

SNELLING. Truth, A Gift for Scribblers. Second edition, with additions and emendations, by William J. Snelling. . . . Boston: Published by B. B. Mussey, 63, Cornhill. Leonard W. Kimball—Printer. 1832. 18mo, pp. 72.

B., C., H., HEH., MINN.HS., NYH., UTEX., WHS. 85433

According to p. 8, "A new edition of 'Truth' was printed some time since, but was so badly executed that the author was obliged to suppress it." According to the "Catalogue of the Private Library of Samuel G. Drake," 1845, lot no. 544, and the sketch of William Apes in the "Dictionary of American Biography," vol. 1, 1928, edited by Allen Johnson, Mr. Snelling at least revised for publication Apes's "Indian Nullification," 1835, our no. 1736, vol. 1. He contributed chapter XV to the "Annals of the Minnesota Historical Society," 1856, which was reprinted in an abbreviated form under the title of "Running the Gantlet—A Thrilling Incident of early days at Fort Snelling," in that society's "Collections," vol. 1, 1872, pp. 439-456. According to p. 439, "The above very interesting and graphic article, originally appeared in an eastern periodical a number of years ago, and was copied by others quite extensively." It was also published in its full form under the title of "Early Days at Prairie du Chien, and the Winnebago Outbreak of 1827" in the "Report and Collections of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin," vol. 5, 1868, pp. 123-153. His article on the "Oregon Territory," which appeared in the "New-England Magazine," vol. 2, 1832, pp. 123-132, is reprinted in the "Magazine of History," extra no. 67, 1919, pp. 89-104. Specimens of his work are also found in the "Boston Book," 1836 and 1837, Griswold's "Poets and Poetry of America," 1893, etc. According to E. A. Perry's "The Boston Herald and its history," 1878, p. 17, in "1833 he was associate editor with Joseph T. Buckingham, in the management of the 'New England Galaxy' . . . [and] edited the Herald with signal ability, from the summer of 1847 to the time of his death, on Sunday morning, December 24, 1848." For a biographical sketch, see G. J. Foran's "Notes on the Life of Wm. J. Snelling," 1915. BA.

MDHS. 85435

Title supplied by Miss Margaret Crompton of the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore. She states that a corner of the title-page of the Maryland Historical Society copy is torn off, making it impossible to distinguish what appeared after Harrod's name. However, it is probable that "Baltimore street" followed the street number, since, according to directories of the period, he was located there.

SNETHEN. A Discourse on the Death of the Rev. Francis Asbury, late Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States of America. By Nicholas Snethen. *Baltimore:—Printed by B. Edes. Title supplied by Ernest Kletsch. James O'Kelly had charged Mr. Asbury and others with being "ecclesiastical tyrants." Mr. Snethen prepared this pamphlet in answer to him at the request of the General Conference of 1800. In the biographical sketch in Sprague's "Annals of the American Pulpit," vol. 7, 1861, pp. 243-253, W. G. Snethen mentions another pamphlet by his father, entitled "Answer to O'Kelly's Rejoinder," probably published in 1801, no copy of which has been located.

SNETHEN. Salvation by Grace through Faith: a Discourse delivered at a quarterly meeting of the German United Brethren, near Frederick City, Frederick County, Maryland, May, 1827. By Nicholas Snethen. . . . Frederick: Printed by John P. Thompson. 1827. 8vo, pp. 16. HEH. 85440

Title supplied by Willard O. Waters.

SNETHEN. Sermons of the late Nicholas Snethen, Minister of the Gospel, in the Methodist Protestant Church. Written by himself, in the sixty-ninth year of his age. [Same imprint, date and collation.]

C., NYP., PTS. 85441

According to a letter on p. [xi] from the author to his son, the editor, dated Princeton, Indiana, October 31st, 1843, "A combination of circumstances led to the neglect of writing those discourses down at the time I delivered them, but the main one I have mentioned in the preface;—namely, I was not fully aware how memory would be affected by age. So, when I made this attempt to commit them to paper, I remembered that I had forgotten, and found that the primary feelings were past never to return."

SNETHEN. Snethen on Lay Representation, or Essays on Lay Representation and Church Government, collected from the Wesleyan Repository, the Mutual Rights, and the Mutual Rights &

Christian Intelligencer, from 1820 to 1829 inclusive, and now re-published in a chronological order, with an introduction, by the Rev. Nicholas Snethen. Baltimore: John J. Harrod. 1835. [Verso of title:] Lucas and Deaver, Printers. 12mo, pp. 384.

B., C., GTS., PTS. 85442

The essays were first published under various pseudonyms: An Old Man on the New Side, Opiner, Consistency, Anticipator, Thousands, Senex, Adynasius, etc. According to a note on p. xxxii of the introduction, "The original overran the calculation. The remaining essays in the 'Intelligencer' are omitted, as they would have made the volume disproportionately thick."

SNETHEN. Substance of a Discourse delivered in the Methodist Protestant Church Wentworth-St. Charleston, South-Carolina. On Friday evening, April 24, 1835. By Rev. Nicholas Snethen, of Baltimore. Published by request. Charleston. Printed by T. A. Hayden, 44 Queen-St. 1835. 8vo, pp. 24. P. 85443

W. G. Snethen, in the following excerpts from his sketch of the author in Sprague's "Annals of the American Pulpit," vol. 7, 1861, pp. 243-253, mentions some works by his father which we have been unable to locate: "In the winter of 1800-01, he proposed to give a course of Lectures on 'Preaching the Gospel,' but his health was so feeble that he only finished his 'Introductory,' which was published in 1822. . . . In July, 1802, he preached a sermon, the first which has been preserved, in Light Street Church, Baltimore, on the 'Education of Daughters.' . . . The Methodist Protestants of New York, in 1836, stirred up by his appeals in behalf of Education, essayed to start a College for the instruction of candidates for the ministry, and invited Mr. Snethen to take charge of it. He accepted the invitation, and delivered a course of Lectures on Biblical subjects, at the Broome Street Church, but the scheme failed of success . . . Some of these Lectures were published at the time." Mr. Snethen was a contributor to the "Christian World," "Methodist New Connexion Magazine," "Wesleyan Repository," and other religious periodicals of the day. According to his son, he was co-editor with Rev. Asa Shinn of the "Methodist Protestant" in 1834.

SNETHEN (Reybold). The Fly Sheet; or, The Evils of Intemperance. By Reybold Snethen. Philadelphia: Printed for the Author. 1854. 12mo, pp. 28, and printed cover. NYP. 85444

SNETHEN (Worthington G[arrettson]). The Black Code of the District of Columbia, in force September 1st, 1848. By Worthington G. Snethen, Counsellor at Law. New York: Published for the A. & F. Anti-Slavery Society, By William Harned, 61 John Street. 1848. 8vo, pp. 61, verso blank, advertisements (1), and printed cover. AAS., B., C., H., NYP., P., WHS. 85445

On the last page appears the following: "Note. The author . . . has nearly completed for publication, the Black Code of each of the States of the Union. That of Maryland will next make its appearance." Evidently no more were published. The author's full name is supplied from the title-page of Nicholas Snethen's "Sermons," 1846, above, which he edited.

[SNETHEN.] Department of Agriculture, and United States Agricultural Academy. [Colophon:] Towers, printer, Washington City. [1850?] 8vo, pp. 16.

B., H., NYP., UTEX., U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE LIB. 85446

The manuscript note, "Rec'd Aug 3, 1852. By mail," appears on the Harvard copy. The British Museum catalogue gives 1845 as the approximate date of publication, but since the author states in his "Black Code," 1848, that he "practises in the Supreme Court of the United States . . .", and in this pamphlet announces that he "continues to practice Law exclusively in the Supreme Court . . .," it seems probable that the latter was published after the "Black Code." The following caption titles are found on pp. 3 and 12, respectively: "Department of Agriculture. A Proposed Bill For establishing an Executive Department, to be called the Department of Agriculture, by Worthington G. Snethen" and "United States Agricultural Academy. A Proposed Bill, by Worthington G. Snethen, For establishing an Agricultural School in the County of Washington in the District of Columbia, to be called the United States Agricultural Academy, with a model farm and plantation attached thereto."

UTEX. 85447

At head of p. 3: "To the Members of the Louisville Commercial Convention." Signed at the end by Mr. Snethen, and dated: "Office of the Memphis, El Paso and Pacific R. R. Co. No. 90 Broadway, New York; and No. 51 Rue de la Chaussée d'Antin, Paris, France. October 9th, 1869." Title supplied by Mr. E. W. Winkler.

According to W. G. Bryan's "History of the National Capital," 1916, vol. 2, p. 417, Mr. Snethen was editor of the National Whig, a daily, which was published in Washington from 1847 to 1849.

SNIDER (Benjamin S.), b. 1821. The Life and Travels of Benjamin S. Snider, three years a soldier, his call to the Gospel—his persecution, fifteen times a prisoner, etc., etc., Written by Himself. . . . Washington, D. C.: Published for the Author. 1869. 12mo, frontispiece portrait, pp. 3-114, and printed covers.

C., NYH. 85448

Mr. Snider, a religious and patriotic fanatic, was born in Rushville, New York, and spent most of his life as an itinerant preacher in the East and South. He served as a private in the Civil War. In 1868 he made a trip to England. He was continually persecuted, and in several instances was thrown into jail. In 1868 he issued at least three proclamations and petitions, which he "freely distributed," but no copies have been located.

SNIDER (Benjamin S.). A New Year's Address, delivered to the citizens of Centerville, Allegany Co. N. Reprinted as the appendix in his "The State specially the American State psychologically treated," [1902], pp. 497-561.

SNIDER. Clarence. A Drama. By D. J. Snider. St. Louis: E. F. Hobart & Co., 615 Chestnut Street. 1872. 8vo, cover title, and pp. (2), 45. BU., C., H., NYP., P., UTEX., Y. 85451

Originally appeared in the "Inland Monthly," vol. 2, 1872, pp. 470-482, 542-556, 631-649. Mr. Snider states on p. 359 of his "A Writer of Books," in which this poem is reprinted pp. 456-511, that at "Oberlin I had seen only the one side [of the Civil War], but now I had gotten the other side, and the two sides started to clashing within me till I ejected them into a dramatic poem, called Clarence." For a partial list of Mr. Snider's many works, see the biographical sketch in "Who's Who in America," 1924-1925.

SNIDER (Jacob), Junior. The Gospel according to Saint Mark. Designed, Executed and Printed, for the use of the Pupils of "The Pennsylvania Institution for the Instruction of the Blind," located in the City of Philadelphia, Established February 21st. 1833, conducted by Julius R. Friedlander, Principal. By Jacob Snider Jun: Rec: Sec. November 1833. [Philadelphia. 1833.] 4to, pp. (2), 160. P. 85452

On verso of title: "The Blind are indebted to Nathan Dunn and Edward Coleman, for their munificence in voluntarily aiding the execution of the present work: Being the first printed in the United States of America for their use. Philadelphia November 15: 1833." The following manuscript note is found in the copy belonging to the Library Company of Philadelphia: "Phila: January 1st 1838. To the 'Philadelphia Library Company' from Jacob Snider Jun: Inventor & Maker 'The plates engraved—the making of the paper superintended—and Forty Copies of this Work printed by the Inventor, in leisure moments from business in the Year 1833.'" According to the "Second Annual Report of the Managers of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Instruction of the Blind," 1835, p. 8, Mr. Snider "offered . . . to have printed" the Gospel according to St. John, but the managers felt their funds were more urgently needed for building purposes. Jacob Snider, junior, is listed in the Philadelphia directories as a wine merchant until as late as 1858.

Galerie d'Orléans, 13. 1858. Droit de Traduction réservé. [On page facing title:] Imp. Bénard et Ce, 2, Rue Damiette. 8vo, pp. 487. 10 plates. NYP. † [Same title and imprint.] 1859. 8vo, pp. 487. 10 plates. c. 85453

Punctuation on title partly supplied. Pp. 304-340 deal with the formation of America. A list of Mr. Snider-Pellegrini's works is found on the final page of his "Nouvelle Théorie," 1861. He states on p. 17 of his "La Justice en Autriche," 1861, that he was ten years old in 1812. According to the introductory note in a catalogue of his "Collection of oil paintings, drawings & etchings," which were offered at auction in New York December 4-6, 1876, the "owner, Mr. A. Snider Pellegrini, is an old citizen of the United States, and has traveled during the past 53 years in all parts of the world. . . . In conclusion we would state that the collection is of undoubted excellency, and is now offered for sale without reserve, as Mr. Pellegrini purposes returning to his early home in Italy."

According to p. 8 of the author's "La Justice en Autriche," 1861, the following work was printed in London, probably in 1847, in four different languages, English, French, Italian, and German, but we have been unable to locate a copy: "The Austrian Government compromised by its officials, with a sketch of the life and sufferings of A. Snider, proprietor, merchant, and shipowner at Trieste. London. J.-C. Newby, publisher, Mortimer Street Cavendish square."

SNIPE (Simon), Esq., pseud. The Sports of New York. By Simon Snipe, Esq. Containing: A Peep at the Grand Military Ball "Hewlett at Home!" Simon in Regimentals! SNIVELY (Jacob). Field Notes of Thirteen Leagues of Land, (60, 968 Acres,) in Coryell County, Texas. By Jacob Snively Esq., Surveyor. Washington, D. C. Buell & Blanchard, Printers. 1858. 12mo, pp. 155. Folded map. c., CU., UTEX. 85455

According to the advertisement, pp. 3-4, the land described was for sale by Joseph W. Webb of Washington, D. C. The map is lithographed from Mr. Snively's plan of the land, and has the following inscription, "Plan of 60, 968 Acres of Land Situated on Cow House Creek, Coryelle County, State of Texas. C. B. Graham, lithr. Washn. D. C."

A Col. Jacob Snively, in command of about one hundred and seventy-five other Texans, made an unsuccessful attack on a caravan of Mexicans traveling along the Santa Fe trail in the spring of 1843. See H. Yoakum's "History of Texas," 1856, vol. 2, pp. 399-405; and also, Col. Snively's official report to the Department of War and Marine, dated "Camp on Elmn Creek, July 9th 1843," which appears in the "Annual Report of the American Historical Association for the year 1908," vol. 2, 1911, pp. 218-220. According to J. H. Brown's "History of Texas," vol. 2, 1893, p. 291, he "afterwards died in Arizona, while a citizen of California." It is probable that he was the author of this work.

SNIVELY (Joseph), b. 1786, d. 1872. Genealogical Register. [n.p. 1863?] 85456

The above title is made up from the following note, which appears on p. 6 of W. A. Snively's "Genealogical Memoranda," 1883: "For the Record of the first three generations exclusive credit must be given to IV. 5 Joseph Snively . . . whose publication of a Genealogical Register, about twenty years ago, saved many of the older date from oblivion, and suggested the present effort to bring the Family Record down to a more recent date. Such an effort is the more needed because copies of the original pamphlet cannot now be obtained.

Continued from September, 1838, to June, 1839, vol. 2, no. 6. The caption title of each number is: "American Museum of Literature and the Arts." Dr. Snodgrass and Dr. Nathan C. Brooks, the editors, wrote several of the articles and poems. Edgar A. Poe was also a contributor. According to Mott's "History of American Magazines," 1930, p. 345, this periodical was a continuation of the "North American Quarterly." The plate of the Westchester Young Ladies' Seminary and the portrait of Washington Irving have the following inscriptions, respectively: "Painted by Thos. B. Ashton. Engraved by J. Sartain. Printed by I. Sansom" and "Painted by G. S. Newton Esqr. R.A. Engd. by G. Parker." Dr. Snodgrass was connected with other Baltimore periodicals of the period, including the Phoenix and Budget, and the Saturday Visitor. He contributed a sketch of Benjamin Lundy to the "Northern Monthly," vol. 2, 1868, pp. 501-520.

The New York Public Library has a copy of vol. 1, but lacks vol. 2. The collation of vol. 2 is supplied from the ". . . Catalogue of the Icelandic Collection" in the Cornell University Library, 1914, p. 535. According to C. G. Warmholtz's "Bibliotheca Historica Sveo-Gothica," vol. 5, 1790, no. 2627, vol. 2 has a different title, without place or date, as follows: "Heims Kringlans, eller Snorre Sturlusons Andra Band, innehallandes Historierna om Kon. Magnus then Gode, och the följande Norlåndska Konungar. Sive, Historiarum Regum Septentrionalium Tom II, continens res præcipue gestas Magni cognomento Boni, Haraldis Hardradii, Olavi Kyrres, seu Placidi, Magni Barfots, seu Nudipedis, Sigurdi Jorsalofarares, seu Peregrinatoris Hierosolymitani, ejusque fratrum Osteni atq. Olavi Regum; ut et Magni Blindes, seu Coeci, ac Haraldis Gilles, Sigurdi, Ingvonis atq. Osteni filiorum Haraldis, Haqvini vulgo Hårdabredz, seu latis humeris cognominati, ac Magni Erlingi filii: ex Sturlonidæ contextu antiqvo, versione gemina illustratus a Joh. Peringskiöld."

This edition contains three versions—Swedish, Latin, and the original Norse. Warmholtz states that the Swedish version is by Gudmund Olofsson, revised by Peringskiöld, while the Latin translation was made entirely by the latter.

Although the expeditions of the Norsemen to America were not mentioned in the manuscript copies of Sturluson's sagas, Peringskiöld introduces references to these expeditions in vol. 1, pp. 325-348.

For other editions of the Heimskringla, see H. Hermannsson's "Bibliography of the Sagas of the Kings of Norway" in "Islandica," vol. 3, 1910, pp. 19-30. For a biography of Sturluson, see Samuel Laing's edition of the "Heimskringla," London, 1844, vol. 1, pp. 188-210.

AAS., B., C., HSP., MINN.H.S., NYP., WHS. + Second Edition. Boston: Published by Abel Bowen, No. 2, Congress-Square, Congress-Street. 1828. 8vo, pp. 427. 18 plates, and 3 maps. NYP. + [Same title, imprint and collation.]

AAS., B., C., H., M., NYH., NYP., PEAB. 85489

Originally issued in sixteen numbers of twenty-four pages each with cover titles, excepting the first and the fourteenth, which contained thirty-two pages each, and the last, which contained the general title and the preface in addition to pp. 377-400. According to the preface which is dated "October 20, 1825," the first number appeared July 1, 1824. The covers of the first six numbers are dated 1824, while the later ones bear the date of 1825. Information concerning the original numbers supplied from a set in the library of the American Antiquarian Society by Clarence S. Brigham. The author's copy of page proof of the first edition, with his manuscript corrections, is located in the Boston Public Library.

The 1828 edition is in the main a reissue of the sheets of the 1825 edition, but, aside from the preface, pp. iii-iv, being rewritten, the addition of the "Summary of Events since October 1825," pp. 395-424, the changes in the index, and the omission of the list of plates and cuts, a few pages of the text were reset—i.e., the title-page, pp. 41-42, 55-56 in the later issue of the second edition, 379-380, 385-386, and 393-394.

The chief difference between the two issues of the second edition is that in the first issue pp. 55-56 were not reset. Probably only a few of these were published before the publisher decided to correct the error in line 6 of p. 56, which is listed in the errata on p. 398 of the 1825 edition.

Although the "Errata" is omitted in both issues of the second edition, some of the mistakes remain uncorrected, while others are corrected in the "Notes to the Index" on p. 427. The error on p. 42 is the only one which is corrected in the text in both issues.

Mr. Bowen issued several "Proposals" concerning the publication of the work. In one of those dated "April 17, 1824," in which the author is referred to as "A Citizen of Boston," Mr. Snow's name not being mentioned, Mr. Bowen states that "It is about two years since proposals for a History of the City of Boston, were issued by the subscriber, and a contract made with Mr. John Foster, Jr. to write the same, but it was soon found that a good and correct History could not be written without infringing on the Copy Right of Mr. Shaw's work, which, together with the refusal of Mr. Foster, to complete and furnish the copy according to agreement, has delayed the work until the present time. Having purchased the copy right of Mr. Shaw's Description of Boston, and engaged the assistance of Literary Gentlemen to compile and write a New History, the work will soon appear . . ." Mr. Snow mentions in the preface that Mr. Bowen "was disappointed in his expectation of the assistance of other gentlemen . . ."

The maps and sixteen of the plates were engraved by Mr. Bowen, the publisher. "The Plan of Boston in 1722" was reduced from the one drawn by Capt. John Bonner, engraved and printed by Francis Dewing, and first issued by Bonner and William Price in 1722. See Shurtleff's "Topographical and Historical Description of Boston," 1872, p. 92. According to p. 399 of the "History," some corrections were made on the plan from an old book of charts. The second edition contains an engraving of "Hanover Church," facing p. 419, in addition to all of the plates and maps found in the first edition. For a biographical note, see the "Historical Catalogue of Brown University," 1914, p. 90.

SNOW (Cha[rl]e[s] A[ndrew]), b. 1829, d. 1903. The Historical Discourse given on the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Baptist Church, South Abington, Mass. November 6th, 1872. By Chas. A. Snow, Pastor. With an appendix containing report of exercises connected with the occasion. (Published by the church.) South Abington: J. W. McDonald, Printer. 1873. 8vo, cover title, and pp. 32. B., H., HEH., NYP. 85490

According to the biographical sketch in the "Collections of the Old Colony Historical Society," no. 7, 1909, pp. 210-211, Mr. Snow "was the author of various published sermons and addresses, and at the time of his decease he was engaged in writing the history of the Third Massachusetts Regiment," in which he served as chaplain during the Civil War.

SNOW (Chauncey H.), b. 1833?, d. 1893. Preliminary Report to the President of the United States on the location, construction, and management of the Union Pacific Railroad by Chauncey H. Snow, Government Director Union Pacific Railroad. March 10th, 1869. Washington: Intelligencer Printing House, 401 and 403 D Street, near 7th, 1869. 8vo, cover title, and pp. 17.

HEH. 85492

Title supplied by Leroy S. Boyd from a copy in the library of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The date of March 10 in the title is a typographical error for March 5. Reprinted in the Senate Executive Documents, 49th Congress, 1st session, no. 69, 1886, pp. 56-64. Mr. Snow was appointed a government director of the Union Pacific Railroad Company on January 9, 1869. His report was very unfavorable, occasioned, according to the testimony of Oliver Ames, by the refusal of the company to be blackmailed by him. See p. 290 of the report of "Mr. Jeremiah Wilson, from the Select Committee (No. 2) on the Credit Mobilier," which forms no. 78 of the House Reports, 42nd Cong., 3rd sess., 1873. According to W. G. Bryan's "History of the National Capital," vol. 2, 1916, p. 573, Mr. Snow was a partner in the firm of Snow, Coyle & Company, which controlled the National Intelligencer after the death of W. W. Seaton in 1865. For an obituary notice, see "Engineering News," vol. 29, 1893, p. 486.

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. Dated at the end: "Boston, Mass. Sept. 13, 1841."

SNOW. E. Snow's Reply to the Self-Styled Philanthropist, of Chester County. [Philadelphia. 1840.] 8vo, pp. 16. H. 85509

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. According to a notice "To the reader" on p. 1, "Early in the Spring, a pamphlet was published, bearing no other signature than a 'Philanthropist of Chester Co.,' said pamphlet was composed of little, or nothing else, than falsehoods, . . . and slander of the doctrines and characters of the Latter Day Saints, reproachfully called Mormons. Dr. S. Bennett of Philadelphia, soon replied to the 'Philanthropist,' exposing his falsehoods, . . . since which, little has been heard from the unknown writer, until late this fall. Dr. Bennett having left the country he has ventured to creep from his hiding place, and set up a hideous hissing no doubt with the intention of redeeming his character from the black catalogue of crimes and falsehoods, with which it is stained. . . . But being informed that he was a Methodist preacher, by the name of Caleb Jones, a would-be popular man, spreading his infamous pamphlets through the country . . . I have been induced . . . to write the following pages, . . ." Mr. Snow published the pamphlet soon after his arrival in Philadelphia in November 1840. See the "Historical Record," vol. 6, 1887, p. 151.

SNOW. One Year in Scandinavia: Results of the Gospel in Denmark and Sweden—Sketches and Observations on the Country and People—Remarkable Events—Late Persecutions and Present Aspect of Affairs. Title of the 1852 edition from T. H. Erslew's "Supplement til Almindeligt Forfatter-Lexicon . . . indtil . . . 1853," vol. 3, 1868; and the 1862 edition from H. Linnström's "Svenskt Boklexikon . . . 1830-1865," vol. 2, 1884.

SNOW. En Sandheds-Røst. Til de Oprigtige af Hjertet. Oversat. Kjöbenhavn. 1850. 8vo, pp. 16. + Kjöbenhavn. 1852. 8vo, pp. 16. SLC. + 4 Opl. Kjöbenhavn. 1854. 85512

Titles of the 1850 and 1854 editions from T. H. Erslew's "Supplement til Almindeligt Forfatter-Lexicon . . . indtil . . . 1853," vol. 3, 1868. Title of the 1852 edition supplied by Mr. Joseph Fielding Smith. For a Swedish translation, see the following title. Although "Oversat [Translated]" appears on the title, no English edition has been found, and from the following quotation in the "Historical Record," vol. 5, 1886, p. 159, it would seem that this Danish edition was the original version: "In September 1850 Apostle Snow wrote an interesting pamphlet entitled 'En Sandheds Røst' (A Voice of Truth) . . . Nearly 200,000 copies of that little work has [sic] since been published in the Danish and Swedish languages."

[SNOW.] En sanningsröst till de uppriktiga af hjertat. Om evangeliets första grundsattser eller herrans väg till att frälsa människorna. Syndafallet och försoningen. 4 uppl. Kjöbenhavn. 1861. 8vo, pp. 16. 85513

Signed: "Erastus Snow." Title from H. Linnström's "Svenskt Boklexikon . . . 1830-1865," vol. 2, 1884, in which an anonymous edition of 1860 is also listed. For the Danish version, see the preceding title.

Apostle Snow commenced the publication of the "Skandinaviens Stjerne," a monthly which was soon changed to a semi-monthly, in October, 1851, and edited the "St. Louis Luminary" from 1854-1855. At Copenhagen in 1851 he published a Hymn Book in Danish, a copy of which is in the official church library at Salt Lake City. See also our nos. 83115 and 83215, vol. 20. For a biographical sketch, see the "Historical Record," vol. 5, 1886, pp. 145-161. His date of death is supplied from Andrew Jensen's Church Chronology," 1899, p. 162.

SNOW (Fran[cis] H[untington]), b. 1840, d. 1908. A Catalogue of the Birds of Kansas. Contributed to the Kansas Academy of Science, by Frank H. Snow, Professor of Natural History and Meteorology in the University of Kansas, at Lawrence. Topeka, [Topeka. 1876.] 8vo, pp. 14, and printed cover.

AM. MUS. NAT. HIST., C. 85514

The second edition is reprinted, with no additions, but dated at the end, "April 7th, 1873," in the "Transactions of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, . . . [for] 1872," 1873, pp. 375-386. The American Museum of Natural History possesses a separate of the Transactions reprint, repaged 1-12. Reprinted again in the "Transactions of the Fifth Annual Meeting of the Kansas Academy of Science, (1872), . . . Reprint, 1895," 1895, pp. 21-29.

The third edition is dated on p. [3], "January, 1876," and is a separate from the "Fourth Annual Report of the State Board of Agriculture . . . of Kansas . . . For the Year ending November 30, 1875," 1875, pp. 128-139.

The first edition lists 239 specimens; the second, 282; and the third, 295. Mr. Snow made further additions to his catalogue, which appear from time to time in the Transactions of the Kansas Academy of Science for later years. For a bibliography and memorial addresses, see "Transactions of the Kansas Academy of Science," vol. 22, 1909, pp. 19-45.

SNOW (Geo[rge] K[nowles]), b. 1826, d. 1885. . . . The Pocket Carpet-Bag: A Miniature Monthly Magazine of Choice Literature, embracing tales, sketches, poetry, witticisms, etc. April, 1853. Boston: Published by Geo. K. Snow, 5 Washington Street. [1853.] 24mo, pp. 96. M. 85515

With heading: "Old Series, No. 205. New Series, No. 1." Title supplied by Mr. Julius H. Tuttle. A continuation of the "Carpet-Bag; A Literary Journal; published weekly, for the amusement of its readers," from March 29, 1851 until March 26, 1853, by Wilder, Pickard & Co., George K. Snow, and others, at No. 5 Washington Street. The "Old Series, No. 205" note is evidently a mistake for no. 105.

Mr. Snow was the publisher of the Boston Monthly Express List, which began in 1849, and also published and edited the Pathfinder Railway Guides for many years. For an obituary notice, see the "Proceedings of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society," 1886, p. 20.

SNOW (George Washington), b. 1809, d. 1900. Poem read before the Bangor Debating Club. [Bangor?] 1835. 4to, pp. 10. 85516

No title-page; title from heading of p. 1. "200 copies printed." Title and note from Williamson's "Bibliography of the State of Maine," 1896. Mr. Snow contributed to the "Ladies' Companion," "Christian Union," and other periodicals of the period. In 1885 he published an historical poem, "The Martyrdom of Jacques De Molay;" see Williamson. For a biographical sketch, see G. B. Griffith's "Poets of Maine," 1888, p. 125. His date of death supplied by Mr. Elmar T. Boyd, librarian of the Bangor Public Library.

Title supplied by Willard O. Waters. According to Jensen's "Supplement to Church Chronology, . . . 1899-1905," p. 11, Mr. Snow was president of the Church from 1898 until his death on October 10, 1901. In 1852 he published his Italian translation of the Book of Mormon, see our no. 83134, vol. 20. For a biography of him, see above under Snow (Eliza Roxcy). See also the note on her "Correspondence of Palestine Tourists." The following relates to the author:

His Ten Wives. The Travels, Trial and Conviction of the Mormon Apostle, Lorenzo Snow. From Nauvoo to the Penitentiary. From the Record. Butte, Montana: M. Koch, Publisher. 1887. S[NOW] (S[amuel] S[heffield]). The flaming Sword! Methodists in trouble. [New York. 1848.] 8vo, pp. 4. 85538

"Regarding Snow's quarrel with the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church at Gowanus, Brooklyn." Title and note from a copy formerly in the New York Public Library, but now lost.

[SNOW.] The Overflowing Scourge! The Serpent defeated. [New York. 1848.] 8vo, pp. 4. NYP. 85539

No title page; title from heading of p. 1. Mr. Snow describes a quarrel with Edgar Neville on July 21, 1847 in the latter's office at No. 56 Gold Street, in which Neville accused Snow of assaulting him and stealing a book. At the trial Snow was pronounced not guilty. Reprinted with slight alterations from the "Morning Star," of which Snow was the editor, vol. 1, January, 1848, p. 7. On p. 4 of the pamphlet is a "Proclamation . . . That the Six Thousand Years limited in the counsels of Almighty Jehovah . . . are ended," which is signed: "Samuel Sheffield Snow, Premier of King Jesus. New York, May 12, 1848."

SNOW. The Voice of Elias: or, Prophecy restored. Being a complete and truthful exposition of the Visions of the Prophet Daniel and the Book of the Revelation. Frontispiece portrait. B., NYP. 85540

Allibone mentions a London 1863 edition, but as it is not in the British Museum, Faculty of Advocates, Bodleian, or London libraries, and Allibone does not list the New York edition, it may be a mistake. Mr. Snow was probably the author of the "Book of Judgment," which he advertises in the "Morning Star" for January, 1848, p. 4, as "just published."

[SNOW (Samuel T.), d. 1901.] Memorial upon the Free Admission of Foreign Copper Ores. [Boston. 1866.] 8vo, pp. 8. AAS., C., NYP. 85541

No title page; title from heading of p. 1. Signed and dated at the end: "S. T. Snow, Agent of the Revere Copper Company. Boston, May 1, 1866." Mr. Snow states in his "Fifty Years with the Revere Copper Co.," 1890, that he had been connected with that company since March 23, 1840. According to the "Boston Directory" for 1902-1903, he died on November 10, 1901.

Title of the 1806 edition from Williamson's "Bibliography of the State of Maine," 1896; the 1807 and 1817 titles supplied by the Rev. F. T. Persons from a copy in the Congregational Library in Boston, and by Mr. Willard O. Waters, respectively. Mr. Snow was requested to renounce his doctrine of free communion by the elders of the Baptist Council in October, 1803. After a great deal of correspondence and argument, he finally sent them a letter of withdrawal from the church, stating his intention of joining the Congregationalists, which he evidently did for he is listed in "Contributions to the Ecclesiastical History of Connecticut," 1861, p. 172, as having been one of the missionaries employed by the [Congregational] Missionary Society of Connecticut.

AAS., B. 85546

Title supplied by Clarence S. Brigham. Mr. Snow was rector of St. Thomas' Church in 1854. For a biographical note, see Emery's "Ministry of Taunton," 1853, vol. 2, p. 126. According to the "Journal of the Proceedings of the . . . Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, assembled in a General Convention," 1865, p. 402, Mr. Snow was editor of the "Christian Witness" at that time. The author's death is announced in the "Journal of the Eighty-Third Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Massachusetts," 1873, p. 38.

SNOW. The Patagonian Mission Society and Some Truths connected with it. Addressed to the Subscribers and Friends of Missions. By W. Parker Snow, late commander of the Mission Yacht "Allen Gardiner;" author of "A Voyage in the Arctic Seas in search of Sir John Franklin," and "A Two Years' Cruise in the South Seas." . . . London: Printed by Spottiswoode and Co. New-Street Square. 1857. 8vo, pp. 77, (1). UTS. 85556

Mr. Snow relates many of his difficulties with the Patagonian Missionary Society. According to the "Review of Reviews," vol. 7, 1893, p. 393, his refusal to kidnap native children was the reason for his dismissal from the employ of that body. A pamphlet with the following title was published in defence of the society:

A Brief Reply to Certain Charges made against the Patagonian, or South American Missionary Society, by W. Parker Snow, Late Master of the "Allen Gardiner" Mission Schooner. By the Committee. Bristol: I. E. Chillcott, 26, Clare Street. London: Wertheim and Macintosh, 24, Paternoster Row. 1857. Price Sixpence. SNOW. Southern Generals, their Lives and Campaigns. By William Parker Snow. New York: Charles B. Richardson. 540 Broadway. 1866. 8vo, pp. (6), 9-500, advertisements (3). 17 portraits. AAS., BA., C., H., HEH., NYP., WHS. 85557

For the first edition, see the following title. The text is from the same plates, except that additions have been made at the end of several of the sketches, and General Lee's name is corrected to Robert Edward from Robert Edmund. For an 1867 edition, see above "Lee and his Generals."

[SNOW.] Southern Generals, Who they are, and What they have done. New York: Charles B. Richardson, 540 Broadway. 1865. 8vo, pp. (6), 9-473, verso blank, advertisements (3). 17 portraits. AAS., B., C., NYP., WHS. + London: Sampson Low, Son, and Marston, Milton House, Ludgate Hill. 1865. 8vo, pp. (6), 9-473. 17 portraits. B. 85558

Some copies of the New York edition have only two pages of advertisements at the end. Title of the London edition supplied by Mr. S. A. Chevalier. For later issues, see the preceding title, and "Lee and his Generals."

SNOW. A Two Years' Cruise off Tierra del Fuego, the Falkland Islands, Patagonia, and in the River Plate: A Narrative of Life in the Southern Seas. By W. Parker Snow, Late Commander of the Mission Yacht "Allen Gardiner;" Author of "Voyage of the Prince Albert in search of Sir John Franklin." With charts and illustrations. In two volumes. . . . London: Longman, Brown, Green, Longmans, & Roberts. 1857. The right of translation is reserved. [Colophon:] London: Printed by Spottiswoode & Co. New-street Square. 2 vols., 12mo, pp. xv, (1), 376, folded map and 3 plates; viii, 368, folded map and 3 plates. All plates and maps are colored. B., C., HEH., NYP. 85559

Evidently illustrated by the author, since all of the plates bear the inscription: "W. P. Snow, Delt."

SNOW. Voyage of the Prince Albert in search of Sir John Franklin: A Narrative of Every-Day Life in the Arctic Seas. By W. Parker Snow. London: Longman, Brown, Green, and Longmans. 1851. [Verso of title:] London: Spottiswoodes and Shaw, New-street-Square. 8vo, pp. xvi, 416. Folded map and 4 plates, all colored. B., C., MINN.HS., NYP. 85560

Evidently illustrated by the author, since all of the plates bear the inscription: "W. P. Snow, Delt." Some of Mr. Snow's letters and plans relating to the search for Sir John Franklin form pp. 138-141 of no. 107 in the Parliamentary "Accounts and Papers," vol. 35, 1850; and pp. 99-104 of no. 97 in vol. 33, 1851. According to the sketch of Mr. Snow in the "Review of Reviews," vol. 7, 1893, pp. 371-386, he had been an amanuensis to Lord Macaulay and to C. F. Hall. He was a contributor to "Chambers's Journal," the "National Reformer," and other periodicals of the period.

The title of the 264 pp. issue is supplied from F. W. Faxon's "Literary Annuals and Gift-Books," 1912, no. 759. Mr. Faxon states that it was copyrighted in 1855, and is a reissue of an undated edition of "Moss Rose," his no. 568.

It seems probable that the pp. (8), 11-260 issue, which is a reissue of "Magnolia," 1836, omitting pp. 261-300, and having different plates, preceded the issue which has the Leavitt and Allen street address, since the latter differs from all of the other literary Snow Flake gift books, being distinctly religious in tenor.

Leavitt and Allen were located at 379 Broadway, only between the years 1856 and 1860, so this issue must have appeared sometime within that period. All three of the Leavitt and Allen issues must have been published prior to 1862, since the firm is not listed in the New York directories after that date.

Snow Fork Valley Railroad Company. AAS., C., H., HEH., HSP., NYP., WLC. 85589

The preface is dated: "Newton, Gloucester County, in the State of New Jersey, September 17th, 1793." The name of "Richard Snowden, Schoolmaster near Woodbury [Gloucester County]" is recorded in a list of names found in the account books for 1782 of Samuel Mickle, a merchant of Woodbury. See "Stewart's Genealogical and Historical Miscellany, No. 1," 1918, p. 4. On p. 9 under the date 1791, another reference is made to Mr. Snowden. In the diary of Mr. Mickle, published in F. H. Stewart's "Notes on Old Gloucester County," vol. 1, 1917, the following appears in the entry for March 31, 1825, on p. 234: "Richard Snowden of Phila formerly of this town deceased last evening." Other references to Mr. Snowden are found on pp. 186-187. It seems at least probable that Mr. Mickle was referring to our author, since the latter in his preface stated that he intended the work to be "principally for the use of schools."

SNOWDEN. The American Revolution: Written in Scriptural, or, Ancient Historical Style. . . . By Richard Snowden. Baltimore: Printed by W. Pechin, No. 10, Second-street. [1802.] 12mo, pp. 360, 44. The Baltimore edition is unfavorably reviewed in the "American Review," vol. 2, 1802, pp. 23-26. The "Columbiad" forms the final 44 pages of the Baltimore edition, and the separate group of 38 pages in the Clinton edition. For complete titles, see below. It is evident that the two were issued together from the following note which appears in both editions at the end of the table of contents of the first part: "To which is added, The American War—A Poem, by the same Author." Title of the Clinton edition supplied by Mr. Ernest Kletsch. For an 1823 edition of the "American Revolution," see below the "History of the American Revolution."

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE, LONDON. An | Account | of the | Society | For Promoting | Christian Knowledge. | London: | Printed by M. Downing, in Bartholomew-Close. | M.DCC.XL. | 4to, pp. (2), 63, (1). AAS. 85848

This account was apparently issued with Thomas's "Sermon preach'd in the Parish-Church of Christ-Church, . . . May the 8th, 1740," as it is mentioned on the title-page of that work. However, the pagination and signatures are separate.

There were earlier and later accounts of the society, which devoted more of its attention in colonial days to work in England and other parts of the world rather than in America. This account has American interest in that it mentions the assistance given by the society to the Salzburgers, especially to their colony in Georgia. The appendix contains two letters of thanks from them dated, Ebenezer in Georgia, 26th Octob. 1739. For a list differentiating missionary societies with somewhat similar names, see the introductory note to the titles entered under the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts.

SOCIETY FOR PROPAGATING THE GOSPEL IN NEW ENGLAND AND THE PARTS ADJACENT. Incorrectly used for the name of two closely related bodies, the "Corporation in England . . . by the name of the President and Society for propagation of the Gospel in New England," created by act of Parliament, 1649, reorganized by charter in 1662 as the "Company for Propagation of the Gospell in New England, and the parts adjacent, in America." For an account of these bodies, see Winship's "The New England Company of 1649 and John Eliot," Publications of the Prince Society, 1920, pp. v–lxvi, and for a list distinguishing them from other organizations with similar names, see our introductory note to the titles entered under the “Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts.”

The Corporation first, and afterward the Company, were the publishers of the later numbers of the group of narratives commonly called the “Eliot Tracts,” beginning with Whitfield’s “Strength out of Weakness,” 1652, the sixth, and ending with Eliot’s “Brief Narrative,” 1671, the eleventh. For a list of these tracts see the Church Catalogue, no. 458. Our titles are under, Eliot, Shepard, Whitfield, etc.

According to the "History of the Operations of the Society," [1862?], above, pp. 18-19, "from year to year, there has been a steady accumulation of discourses, addresses, and essays by distinguished men, together with the Annual Reports in course. [Original copies of] These have been bound in three volumes, under the title of 'Permanent Documents,' . . ."

Each volume has a general title-page, and table of contents. There was also an undated issue of vol. 1, the imprint of which reads, New York: John F. Trow, Printer, 377 & 379 Broadway, corner of White St. NYP. As this is the printer's address appearing in vol. 2, which is also undated, the issue in NYP. was evidently later than the one described above. Trow was at a still different address when vol. 3 was printed in 1860.

Both the dated and undated issues of vol. 1 contain 24 discourses, reports, etc., which are all listed in the table of contents of the first. However, in the latter issue only 17 are mentioned in the "Contents."

The last seven pamphlets in vol. 1 are again included as the first seven in vol. 2, and are so listed in the table of contents to that volume. In the NYP. copy of the undated issue of vol. 1, a slip, cut from the first seven items in the table of contents of vol. 2, is pasted on the verso of its "Contents" leaf in order to make it a complete index.

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL IN FOREIGN PARTS, LONDON, INCORPORATED, 1701.

Because of the fact that several organizations with more or less similar names took part to a considerable extent in evangelistic work in the American colonies of Great Britain, it is proposed here before entering the titles under this the more important of them all to give a list distinguishing those which are most frequently confused.

1. "Corporation in England . . . by the name of the President and Society for propagation of the Gospel in New England," London, created by act of Parliament, 1649.

Founded by English Puritans under the Commonwealth, and losing its legal status by the Restoration in 1660, the same group with others procured from Charles II., in 1662, a charter in which the name appears as:

2. "Company for propagation of the Gospell in New England, and the parts adjacent, in America," chartered, 1662.

These two organizations are practically the same body, usually known as "The New England Company," which is described in Winship's "The New England Company of 1649 and John Eliot," Publications of the Prince Society, 1920, pp. v-lxvi. As The New England Company it is still engaged in missionary work in eastern Canada, adjacent to New England.

This Corporation, later Company, published the sixth to eleventh of the group of narratives commonly called the Eliot Tracts, beginning with Whitfield's "Strength out of Weaknesse," 1652, and ending with Eliot's "Brief Narrative," 1671. For a list of these tracts variously entered under author, etc. in this Dictionary, see no. 458 of the Church Catalogue.

The "Act," 1649, and "Copy of the Charter," 1662, are our nos. 52600, and 52624, vol. 13.

3. "The Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians and others in North America," incorporated in Massachusetts, 1787.

After the "New England Company" had refused to resume the support of mission work in the revolted United States (1782), a number of gentlemen in the neighborhood of Boston were asked by the Society in Scotland for Propagating Christian Knowledge, here described as no. 6, to administer certain funds. This stimulated them to organize an American society to take the place of no. 2. It carried on work among Indians and illiterate whites. See "A brief Account of the present State of the Society," 1790, and Hunnewell's "Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians and others," 1887.

4. "The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge," founded 1698.

This well-known Anglican society was formed by Thomas Bray and others in England. The same group with other "Persons of Distinction in Church and State" was incorporated as the "Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts," in 1701. This second society at that time was especially interested in mission work in the American colonies. As members of the original body were interested in home missions and in work in other parts of the world, they continued the parent organization as well. Among its activities were the printing and distribution of religious books. The special American interest lies in the fact that Bray and the society were instrumental in sending libraries to clergymen in this country. It also furnished assistance to the Salzburger colony in Georgia. See "An Account of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge," 1740, and Steiner's "Rev. Thomas Bray and his American Libraries," Am. Hist. Rev. 1896, vol. 2, pp. 59-75. Also Rawlinson's "Short Historical Account" of Bray edited by Steiner in Md. Hist. Soc. Fund Pub. no. 37, 1901.

5. "The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts," incorporated, 1701.

The important Anglican society, which was in its origin an offshoot of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, and which during colonial days was especially devoted to mission work in the American colonies.

6. "The Society in Scotland for Propagating Christian Knowledge," incorporated, 1709.

Organized by Scotch Presbyterians "about the year 1700," for work in Scotland, the society later administered funds given for the instruction of Indians in America. David Brainerd was a missionary of this body, which also assisted Eleazar Wheelock in his Indian school. See "State of the Society . . ." appended to Robertson's "The Situation of the World at the time of Christ's Appearance . . . a Sermon . . . before the Society . . ." 1755.

7. "Society of the United Brethren for Propagating the Gospel among the Heathen," incorporated in Pennsylvania, 1788.

Organized in 1745 as the Society for the Furtherance of the Gospel. See our titles under Society of the United Brethren.

Caption title, improved from our no. 99, vol. 1. This is the first report of the society, and was prepared by the Rev. Mr. Philip Stubs, according to a note at the foot of p. 4. Reprinted by Richard Clay in London, 1851. NYP. See also our no. 101, vol. 1. Annual reports have been printed from this date up to the present. Until 1853 they usually appeared as appendices to the anniversary sermons. There were no reports for 1707-1709 beyond the information contained in the body of the anniversary sermons themselves. See C. F. Pascoe's "Two Hundred Years of the S. P. G.," 1901, vol. 2, p. 814.

Anniversary Sermons.

For an account of these sermons which until 1853 usually contained as an appendix an annual report of the progress of the society, see C. F. Pascoe's "Two Hundred Years of the S. P. G.," 1901. Those which are entered in this Dictionary are found under the name of the preacher, as has been the custom in library catalogues, and which makes it difficult to check the completeness of their files. The old John Carter Brown printed catalogue has a list of that library's complete set given under the year 1754, where it is stated that BU. has also a complete file. Another good set from the De Puy library is at HEH., and still another in NYP. Good sets are not uncommon.

[Charter.] Whereas we are credibly informed that in many of our Plantations, Colonies and Factories beyond the Seas, belonging to our Kingdom of England, the provision for Ministers is very mean, and many other of our said Plantations, Colonies and Factories are wholly destitute and unprovided of a Maintenance for Ministers . . . know ye therefor, that we have for the consideration aforesaid . . . Willed, Ordained, Constituted and Appointed, and by these Presents, for Us, our Heirs and Successors, do Will, Ordain, Constitute, Declare and Grant, that the most Reverend Father in God, Thomas Lord Archbishop of Canterbury [and numerous others] . . . and their Successors, to be Elected in manner as hereafter directed, be, and shall for ever hereafter be, and by Virtue of these Presents shall be one Body Politick and Corporate in Deed and in Name, by the Name of The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts . . . Title and the information in the following note from Henry Stevens, Son & Stiles's Catalogue, new ser. no. 3, 1929, lot no. 664, another copy being located at HEH.

Printed in black letter, p. 1 having a large ornamental initial letter, and being surmounted by the Royal Arms. The charter was granted June 15, 1701, and at the opening meeting of the society on the 27th of the month 500 copies were ordered printed "under the superintendence of Serjeant Hook and Mr. Comyns, who arranged it in paragraphs and added the marginal notes." In BM. are two issues of 1702, and an undated edition, all with the imprint of J. Downing in Bartholomew Close, and containing additional material. Pascoe in reprinting the charter in his "Two Hundred Years of the S. P. G." has side notes supplied from "the earliest printed edition now available, viz. that of 1706."

and note of fact of payment, pledge of subscribers printed across verso of first leaf and recto of second. 86037

First minute dated 30th of the 9th Month, appoints a committee of forty-three to consider "whether a fund might not be fitly appropriated for the desirable purpose of promoting the civilization and well-being of the Indians." Minute dated 2nd of the 10th Month gives report of committee that it believes that "there are loud calls for our benevolence and charitable exertions to promote amongst them the principles of the Christian religion, as well as to turn their attention to school learning, agriculture, and useful mechanic employments, especially as there appears in some of the tribes, a willingness to unite in the exercise of endeavours of this kind . . ." and recommends that a committee be appointed by the yearly meeting to raise a fund for the purpose, and also that the matter be mentioned in the Epistles to the respective yearly meetings. Minute dated 3rd of the 10th Month gives committee appointed for the purpose, followed by one of the committee on the 3rd of the 11th Month 1795 giving the Epistle composed by them on the subject to the Quarterly and Monthly Meetings belonging to the said Yearly Meeting. Appended are speeches and letters of Indians of the Delaware, "Senneca," and "Mohiconick" tribes asking for help in learning how to gain a livelihood, pp. 4-8.

The pledge agrees to pay to— (name filled in in manuscript, "Clement Hale or order") the sum agreed upon at the date respectively specified, for the purposes agreed upon in the preceding minutes.

An Exhortation & Caution | To | Friends | Concerning buying or keeping of Negroes. | [New York: William Bradford. 1693.] 4to, pp. 6. 86057

Improved title of our no. 37193, vol. 9, from Hildeburn's "Issues of the Press in Pennsylvania," which gives the following note: "'Given forth by our Monthly Meeting in Philadelphia, the 13th day of the 8th Month, 1693, and recommended to all our Friends and Brethren, who are one with us in our Testimony for the Lord Jesus Christ, and all others professing Christianity.' In 1688 the settlers of Germantown, to the successive embarrassment of a Monthly, Quarterly and Yearly Meeting, presented a written protest against slavery, which was finally disposed of by the last as 'not so proper for this meeting to give a Positive Judgment, It having so general a relation to many other parts, and, therefore, at present they forbore it.' It remained for the Philadelphia Meeting of Keithian Quakers, to put forth, in this 'Exhortation,' the first protest against slavery printed in America. Joseph Smith in his Catalogue of Friends' Books, describes it as having been printed at Philadelphia; but as Bradford removed to New York about June, 1693, and the 'Exhortation' was not 'given forth' by the Meeting till October 13th, it must have been printed in New York." A copy is in the Friends' Library in London.

The copyright date is so blurred that it is illegible. Title supplied by E. W. Winkler, who suggests 1860 as the approximate date of publication.

Sol Smith Russell's "Jeremy Jollyboy" Songster. Containing an immense number of the most popular songs and ballads of every style; and among them are those "Specialties" written by or for that unapproachable mimic and actor-vocalist, Sol Smith Russell. This book also contains the following droll pieces, set to music, as sung by Mr. Russell: . . . To which are added a large number of popular songs, set to music expressly for this work. New York: The De Witt Publishing House, No. 33 Rose Street. (Between Duane and Frankfort Streets.) Copyright, 1876, by Robert M. De Witt. 16mo, pp. (2), 5-176, advertisements (12). NYP. 86221

Several other collections of songs sung by Sol Smith Russell were published.

HISP.SOC.AMER. 86222

The 27 leaves are numbered only on the recto. Medina, in "Bibliografía de las Filipinas," lists the work in a group without date under 1659. Retana includes it under same date in his "Imprenta en Filipinas"; and Pérez and Güemes include it in their "Adiciones y continuación" of Medina's "La Imprenta en Manila," but give the date, "vers 1640," with which Andrade agrees in his "Catalogue," no. 1731. The "Informe" includes several references to the commerce of Peru and Mexico. According to A. and A. de Backer's "Écrivains de la Compagnie de Jésus," vol. 4, 1858, Sola lived in Mexico in the 17th century in the capacity of "Procureur" of the Philippine Islands.

Although the "Polyhistora" of Solinus was first printed in Venice in 1473, this 1520 edition edited by Camers is the first to have any American interest. It contains the woodcut map of the world prepared by Petrus Apianus, which was considered until the discovery of the somewhat similar Waldseemüller map of 1507, to be the earliest engraved map on which the name "America" appeared. It has the following title: "Tipvs Orbis Vniversalis iuxta Ptolomei Cosmographi traditionem et Ame | rici Vespucii aliorqve Ivstrationes a Petro Apiano Leysnico Elvcvbratvs | An. Do. M.DXX." North and South America are represented as narrow strips of land separated by a wide channel. The northern continent is called merely "Terra incognita," but the southern has the inscription: "Anno d 1497 haec terra cum adiacētibus insulis inuenta est per Columbum Ianuensem ex mandato regis Castellae America prouincia." In the above inscriptions we have filled in several of the abbreviations. A facsimile of the map is found in part 1 of the old John Carter Brown catalogue.

Other works which contain the Apianus map are noted in Winsor, vol. 2, 1886, p. 182, and HARRISSE'S "Bibliotheca Americana Vetustissima," 1866, no. 108. See also the latter's "Discovery of North America," 1892, no. 126.

The 1520 Solinus is sometimes found bound with the 1518 edition of Pomponius Mela issued by the same publisher, our no. 63956, vol. 15. It is also often bound with the Basle, 1522, edition of the latter. HARRISSE states that the Apianus map was issued with this Basle edition of Pomponius Mela, but that when bound with the Solinus it is usually inserted between the two. See the "Discovery," no. 126.

There were many later editions of Solinus. BM. has over 30, 27 of which were issued before 1600. The first English edition was that of London, 1587. The maps in these later issues have no importance for American cartography.

C., JCB., NYP. 86428

Included in vol. 1 of Pieter van der Aa's "De Gedenkwaardige en al-om Beroemde Voyagien der Spanjaarden," which is part of a rearrangement of the "Naaukeurige Versameling," grouped by nationality, printed in 1706 and 1707, in eight volumes, and reissued in 1727. This folio edition is from the same setting of type as the octavo, rearranged to make two columns to a page, the columns being numbered 5-18. The title page and blank verso were evidently counted as columns [1]-[4]. The "Register" appears on the verso of the fifth leaf.

SOLIS AGUIRRE (Ambrosio de). SOLIS [AGUIRRE]. Vida, muerte y funeral del Illmo. Sr. D. Feliciano de la Vega, Arzobispo de México. Por. D. Ambrosio Solis. Mexico, por Juan Ruiz. 1643. 4to. 86431

The title in Medina is followed by a note which cites a similar work listed by Beristain under D. Pedro Solis, entitled "Elogio fúnebre del Illmo. Sr. D. Feliciano de la Vega, Arzobispo de México," printed by Juan Ruiz, but without date. Medina suspects this of being a part of the above by Ambrosio de Solis, which is also listed in Beristain. Andrade, in his "Ensayo-Bibliográfico Mexicano," 1899, lists only the "Elogio" under the date, 1642, with Beristain as his sole authority.

Aumentada con un resúmen histórico, desde la rendicion de Méjico hasta el fallecimiento de Hernan Cortés, é ilustrada con notas por Don José de la Revilla, individuo de varios cuerpos literarios. Paris, Baudry, libreria europea, No. 3, quai title:] Paris.—En la imprenta de Fain y Thunot, calle Racine, 28, Malaquais, cerca del Puente des Arts, . . . 1844. [Verso of half title:] Paris.—En la imprenta de Fain y Thunot, calle Racine, 28, cerca del Odeon. 8vo, pp. viii, 492. Frontispiece. C., Y. 8647 I

The editions listed above have titles conforming in the main with that of Madrid, 1819. Variations occur in the following words: "Méjico" in some cases appears in the place of "México," "Progressos" in the place of "Progresos," and "Setentrional" in the place of "Septentrional." Also, in the 1838, 1842, and 1844, editions, the words, "su Magestad" appear in full, in place of the abbreviation, "S. M."

The Madrid, 1819, edition has on the verso of the half-title of vol. 5: Se hallará en Lyon, libreria de Cormon y Blanc. A slip from a sale catalogue, probably of Puttick & Simpson, lists a Madrid, 1817, issue to which we have found no other reference, and which is probably an error.

The Madrid, 1820, edition was included in a manuscript list of editions of Solis compiled by Wilberforce Eames.

The AAS. copy of the Paris, 1824, edition lacks vol. 3. Collation from a copy formerly in the N. Y. Mercantile Library.

The Madrid, 1825, edition has an abridged title as follows: "Historia de la Conquista de Méjico por Dn. Antonio de Solis. . . ." There are added engraved title pages.

The Merwin-Clayton catalogue for October 19-21, 1909, no. 458, lists a Paris, 1827, edition, in 18mo, 2 vols. in one, but we have not seen it listed elsewhere.

The title of the Madrid, 1828, edition, is supplied from Brunet, according to whom it is part of a series.

Binder's title of the Madrid, 1829, volume: "Conquista del Nuevo-Mundo. Solis. Mexico." According to the "Catálogo de la biblioteca de Salvá," vol. 2, no. 3347, in the last note, this edition forms vol. 1 of the series.

The title for the Paris, 1837, edition is supplied from O. Rich's "Bibliotheca Americana Nova," vol. 2, 1846, p. 300. The publisher, Baudry, is supplied from a bibliography in Mme. J. Lucie-Lary's edition of Solis' "Historia," [1896?], in the "Coleccion de E. Mérimée."

The Barcelona, 1840, title is from Brunet.

The Cádiz, 1843, title is from Dufosse's catalogue, 5th series, nos. 3-5, lot no. 28228.

The Paris, 1844, edition has the following half-title: "Coleccion de los mejores autores españoles. Tomo IV."

SOLIS Y RIBADENEYRA. . . Historia de la conquista de Méjico poblacion y progresos de la América Septentrional conocida por el nombre de Nueva España. Escrita por Don Antonio Solis. Lorenz' "Catalogue," vol. 9, 1886, p. 433, gives the following title for an edition of selections from Solis: Morceaux choisis de la Conquête du Mexique. Publiés avec notice et argument analytique, par J. G. Magnabal. Hachette et Cie. 1876. 16mo.

+ Terza Impressione Veneta. [Same title and imprint, with the addition of a comma after "Messico," line 3, and a semicolon after "Spagna," line 7.] MDCCXXXIII. 4to, pp. (16), 624, 2 portraits, and 6 plates. C., JCB., NYP. 86486

In the Firenze, 1699, edition, p. 151 is mispaged 141. Twenty illustrations which appear as vignettes in this edition are reproduced in the issue of Venezia, 1704, in groups of four on the five plates.

According to the BM. catalogue, the translator was Filippo Corsini.

The 1699 edition is often mistaken for one of 1690, because the date is printed as "MDCIC," instead of in the usual form, "MDCXCIX." See the BM. catalogue. It is probable that the date, 1701, in J. R. Smith's "Bibliotheca Americana," 1853, no. 1322, is also caused by a misreading of the same Roman numerals.
